(2) Dispose of property so as to make it unlikely that the owner will recover it;

(3) Accept, use, or appropriate money, property, or services, with purpose not to give proper consideration in return for the money, property, or services, and without reasonable justification or excuse for not giving proper consideration.. . .

(K) "Theft offense" means any of the following:

(1) A violation of section 2911.01, 2911.02, 2911.11, 2911.12, 2911.13, 2911.31, 2911.32, 2913.02, 2913.03, 2913.04, 2913.041, 2913.05, 2913.06, 2913.11, 2913.21, 2913.31, 2913.32, 2913.33, 2913.34, 2913.40, 2913.42, 2913.43, 2913.44, 2913.45, 2913.47, former section 2913.47 or 2913.48, or section 2913.51, 2915.05, or 2921.41 of the Revised Code;

O.R.C. § 2913.02 Theft.

(A) No person, with purpose to deprive the owner of property or services, shall knowingly obtain or exert control over either the property or services in any of the following ways:

(1) Without the consent of the owner or person authorized to give consent;

(2) Beyond the scope of the express or implied consent of the owner or person authorized to give consent;

(3) By deception;

(4) By threat;

(5) By intimidation.

(B)(1) Whoever violates this section is guilty of theft.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in this division or division (B)(3), (4), (5), (6), (7), or (8) of this section, a violation of this section is petty theft, a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the value of the property or services stolen is five hundred dollars or more and is less than five thousand dollars or if the property stolen is any of the property listed in section 2913.71 of the Revised Code, a violation of this section is theft, a felony of the fifth degree. If the value of the property or services stolen is five thousand dollars or more and is less than one hundred thousand dollars, a violation of this section is grand theft, a felony of the fourth degree. If the value of the property or services stolen is one hundred thousand dollars or more and is less than five hundred thousand dollars, a violation of this section is aggravated theft, a felony of the third degree. If the value of the property or services is five hundred thousand dollars or more and is less than one million dollars, a violation of this section is aggravated theft, a felony of the second degree. If the value of the property or services stolen is one million dollars or more, a violation of this section is aggravated theft of one million dollars or more, a felony of the first degree.

O.R.C. § 2921.41 Theft in office.

(A) No public official or party official shall commit any theft offense, as defined in division (K) of section 2913.01 of the Revised Code, when either of the following applies:

(1) The offender uses the offender's office in aid of committing the offense or permits or assents to its use in aid of committing the offense;. . .

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of theft in office. Except as otherwise provided in this division, theft in office is a felony of the fifth degree. If the value of property or services stolen is five hundred dollars or more and is less than five thousand dollars, theft in office is a felony of the fourth degree. If the value of property or services stolen is five thousand dollars or more, theft in office is a felony of the third degree.

(C)(1) A public official or party official who pleads guilty to theft in office and whose plea is accepted by the court or a public official or party official against whom a verdict or finding of guilt for committing theft in office is returned is forever disqualified from holding any public office, employment, or position of trust in this state.

(2)(a) A court that imposes sentence for a violation of this section based on conduct described in division (A)(2) of this section shall require the public official or party official who is convicted of or pleads guilty to the offense to make restitution for all of the property or the service that is the subject of the offense, in addition to the term of imprisonment and any fine imposed. A court that imposes sentence for a violation of this section based on conduct described in division (A)(1) of this section and that determines at trial that this state or a political subdivision of this state if the offender is a public official, or a political party in the United States or this state if the offender is a party official, suffered actual loss as a result of the offense shall require the offender to make restitution to the state, political subdivision, or political party for all of the actual loss experienced, in addition to the term of imprisonment and any fine imposed.

1. Conspirators acted as thieves in the theft of Newsome's property/possessions located at 1109 Alfred Street – Unit 173, Cincinnati, Ohio 45214. Therefore, Newsome is requesting through this instant Complaint that an investigation into the claims and allegations set forth herein and that those found to have acted in such unlawful/illegal manner be prosecuted and indicted for said legal wrongs.

2. Conspirators unlawfully/illegally feloniously stole Newsome's property/possessions and took her storage unit away from her. Upon committing such theft, may have dumped Newsome's property/possession on the street or given property to others to hide their efforts to rid themselves of the criminal activities committed against Newsome. The details of what occurred are to be obtained through he investigation of the crimes addressed in this Complain. Deliberate actions were taken to done to destroy and get rid of the evidence. Conspirators having foresight and knowledge that they were committing a crime and that theft of Newsome's property/possession were prohibited by statutes/laws. In an effort to prevent from getting caught with Newsome's property/possession, they tossed it out on the street and/or provided to another to hide their crime – doing so without legal/lawful authority and without Newsome's permission. Conspirators committed such criminal acts of theft with the purpose of depriving Newsome of her property/possession and storage unit. Conspirators breaking the lock on the storage unit in which Newsome stored her property. Conspirators committing such crime of theft to keep Newsome from returning her storage unit.

3. Newsome's storage unit and property/possessions were unlawfully/illegally seized through false pretenses.

4. While Conspirators relied upon "theft by deception" to burglarize Newsome's storage unit and steal her storage unit and property/possession from her, said acts were done for purposes of (a) creating or reinforcing a false impression; (b) obstruct, prevent and/or withhold information from one that would affect one's judgment about the action and services requested - however, it is important to note that such a one may or may not have had knowledge that Newsome had filed a Counterclaim requesting injunctive relief, etc.; (c) failed to reveal or disclose that Conspirators were acting in violation prohibiting the removal/eviction of Newsome from her storage unit.

5. Conspirators committed "theft by extortion" by larceny to obtain Newsome's storage unit/property: (a) to subject her to further injury/harm, harassment, humiliation, duress, oppression, discrimination, prejudices, threats, coercion - all which were foreseeable; (b) coerced other officials/persons to engage and/or participate in the theft of Newsome's property/possessions and to help themselves to same; (c) brought about unwarranted/unauthorized action by distorting and/or ignoring the laws/statutes prohibiting such criminal actions; (d) deliberately withholding information to obtain unlawful/illegal entry of Newsome's storage unit and to steal and/or commit burglary and theft of her storage unit and property/possession.

6. Newsome through the filing of this instant Complaint seeks an investigation and the prosecution and indictment of Conspirators found through said investigation to be guilty of the crime of theft, conspiracy to commit theft, and/or their participation in such theft set forth herein against Newsome's property/possessions. Moreover, all Conspirators that knew and/or had knowledge that said theft was about to be committed and/or being committed and did nothing to prevent - having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done was about to be committed, and having the power to prevent or aid in the preventing of such criminal acts; however, neglected or refused to do so.

7. Conspirators knowingly deceived another or caused another to be deceived by the use of Writ of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment that they knew to be false, NULL/VOID and unenforceable. By using Writ of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment mislead through representation and presentation of said documents, withholding information that Writ of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment was NULL/VOID and had been obtained through unlawful/illegal actions (i.e. bribery, blackmail, extortion, etc.), or by any other conduct, act or omission that creates, confirms and perpetuates a false impression to another, including a false impression as to law, value, state of mind, or other objective or subjective fact.

8. Conspirators knowingly obtained by deception Newsome's storage unit and personal property contained therein which has caused not only detriment to her; but now has opened Hamilton County up for a civil lawsuit because those in a position, authority and power to prevent failed to deter such crimes but provided components of the object [i.e. Conspiracy, Public Corruption, Complicity, Corruption, Aiding and Abetting, Extortion, Blackmail, Bribery, Coercion, Retaliation, Pattern of Conduct, Intimidation, Deprivation of Rights, Power/Failure to Prevent, Stalking/Menacing by Stalking, Burglary, Trespass, Breaking and Entering, Theft, Larceny, Invasion, Unlawful Entry/Forcible Action, Obstruction of Justice, Color of Law, Conspiracy Against Rights, Conspiracy to Interfere With Civil Rights] needed to bring about the completion of the object/goal [i.e. COVER-UP and destroying evidence through criminal acts of Stor-All in the unlawful/illegal seizure of Newsome's storage unit and property without legal/lawful authority. Said cover-up and destroying of evidence could not be accomplished without: (a) Stor-All obtaining an unlawful/illegal Entry by Judge West on or about April 29, 2009, Granting Bifurcation and Remand. Once Judge West completed his role in the conspiracy – with knowledge that Municipal Court lacked jurisdiction – Stor-All pounced on such criminal acts of Judge West and filed in the Hamilton County Municipal Court (Case No. 09CV01690) its Motion for Partial Summary Judgment With Affidavit of Leslie Smart Attached; and (b) Judge Allen on September 9, 2009, executed NULL/VOID Writ of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment. Once Judge Allen completed her role in the conspiracy, Stor-All and other Co-Conspirators moved swiftly to act Allen's rulings. As a direct and proximate result of Judge West's and Judge Allen's role in the conspiracy, they aided and abetted the commission of a series of crimes to be carried out by other Conspirators. Judge West and Judge Allen aided and abetted with knowledge they were engaging in criminal activity – moreover, the record evidence will support that courts were timely, properly and adequately notified through filing of Newsome of criminal acts. To no avail. Judge Allen and Judge West willingly and knowingly authorized the carrying out of criminal acts against Newsome. Having the power to prevent, elected instead to engage in the crimes of their Co-Conspirators.] which was accomplished. - - - Now Stor-All is attempting to use the NULL/VOID of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment as a defense to obtain a lifting of a court-ordered stay and dismissal of Newsome's counterclaim. Such efforts are memorialized in Stor-All's pleadings in the Hamilton County Court of Common Pleas (Case No. A0901302) submitted for filing: September 10, 2009 Motion to Lift the Court Ordered Stay and September 18, 2009 12(B)(6) Motion to Dismiss and/or Motion for Summary Judgment on Defendant Newsome's Counterclaim With Affidavits of Leslie Smart and Lori Whiteside Attached] – to support charges in FBI Criminal Complaint. Conspirators with power to prevent crimes committed against Newsome, failed to deter said wrongs for the purposes of achieving the object of the conspiracy leveled against her.

9. Conspirators are withholding property of Newsome permanently as a direct and proximate result of Newsome's refusal to be blackmailed, give in to extortion demands and/or practices, threats, etc. for monies Conspirators where claiming was due them.

10. Conspirators disposed of Newsome's property so as it is unlikely that she will be able to recover it.

11. Conspirators caused to be accepted, taken and used Newsome's personal property for the purposes of not allowing her equal protection of the laws, due process of laws, deprivation of rights, etc. secured under the Constitution (Ohio and U.S.) and other applicable statutes/laws governing said matters.

12. Conspirators with purpose to deprive Newsome of her property knowingly obtained and exerted control over Newsome's storage unit and property.

13. Conspirators with purpose to deprive Newsome of her property knowingly obtained and exerted control over Newsome's storage unit and property without her consent or person authorized to give consent on behalf of Newsome.

14. Conspirators with purpose to deprive Newsome of her property knowingly obtained and exerted control over Newsome's storage unit and property which was beyond the scope of the express or implied consent of Newsome or person authorized to give consent on behalf of Newsome.

15. Conspirators with purpose to deprive Newsome of her property knowingly obtained and exerted control over Newsome's storage unit and property through the acts of deception.

16. Conspirators with purpose to deprive Newsome of her property knowingly obtained and exerted control over Newsome's storage unit and property through the acts of threats.

17. Conspirators with purpose to deprive Newsome of her property knowingly obtained and exerted control over Newsome's storage unit and property through the acts of intimidation.

18. Judge Allen and Judge West either used or usurped/violated judicial powers to aid Conspirators in the committing of criminal offenses which were the object [i.e. theft in office, etc.] of conspiracy leveled against Newsome.

19. Judge Allen and Judge West either used or usurped/violated judicial powers to aid Conspirators in the theft of Newsome's property.

20. Newsome through the filing of this instant Complaint seeks an investigation and the prosecution and indictment of Conspirators found through said investigation to be guilty of violations under this section and/or their participation in such acts set forth herein against Newsome. Moreover, all Conspirators that knew and/or had knowledge that said crime was about to be committed and/or being committed and did nothing to prevent - having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done was about to be committed, and having the power to prevent or aid in the preventing of such criminal acts; however, neglected or refused to do so.

21. Newsome demands that the applicable charges be filed of and against Conspirator(s) found through the investigation of this Complaint to have committed said crime(s); moreover, that said Conspirators be indicted and if applicable that the maximum penalty [i.e. fine and imprisonment] be sought if the evidence supports a PATTERN-OF-PRACTICE and/or PATTERN-OF-CONDUCT by Conspirator(s) who committed said crime(s). Newsome further seeks any and all applicable relief known to the FBI, its Agents/Investigators, etc. to deter such criminal acts and to protect the public and/or citizens.

XVII. TRESPASS:

87 CJS Trespass § 2

> Trespass – In a general sense any invasion of another's rights is a trespass. In law, "trespass" has a well ascertained and fixed meaning, embracing every infraction of a legal right, that is a wrong against the right of possession. Thus, the term "trespass" in its broadest sense means any act which exceeds or passes beyond the bounds of any rights which have been legally granted, any invasion of the interest in exclusive possession of property, or any misfeasance, transgression, or offense which damages another's person, health, reputation, or property. As a tort, "trespass" may be included in alienation of affections, libel, or negligence.
>
> Forcible Trespass - A forcible trespass is the highhanded invasion of the actual possession of another who is present and forbidding.
> Trespasser – One who does an unlawful act, or a lawful act in an unlawful manner, to the injury of the person or property of another. Thus, a trespasser is one who makes an unauthorized entry on another's property, without the privilege to do so created by the possessor's consent or otherwise. . . . Alternatively, a trespasser is one who unlawfully enters or intrudes upon another's land, or unlawfully and forcibly takes another's personal property

1. As a matter of law, Conspirators acted as trespassers in the unauthorized entrty of Newsome's storage unit located at 1109 Alfred Street – Unit 173, Cincinnati, Ohio 45214. Therefore, Newsome is requesting through this instant Complaint that an investigation into the claims and allegations set forth herein and that those found to have acted in such unlawful/illegal manner be prosecuted and indicted for said legal wrongs.

2. Newsome learned of the criminal actions of Conspirators upon contacting the Clerk of Court's Office in the Hamilton County Municipal Court on September 10, 2009.

3. Newsome through the filing of this instant Complaint seeks an investigation and the prosecution and indictment of Conspirators found through said investigation to be guilty of violations under this section and/or their participation in such acts set forth herein against Newsome. Moreover, all Conspirators that knew and/or had knowledge that said crime was about to be committed and/or being committed and did nothing to prevent - having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done was about to be committed, and having the power to prevent or aid in the preventing of such criminal acts; however, neglected or refused to do so.

4. Newsome demands that the applicable charges be filed of and against Conspirator(s) found through the investigation of this Complaint to have committed said crime(s); moreover, that said Conspirators be indicted and if applicable that the maximum penalty [i.e. fine and imprisonment] be sought if the evidence supports a PATTERN-OF-PRACTICE and/or PATTERN-OF-CONDUCT by Conspirator(s) who committed said crime(s). Newsome further seeks any and all applicable relief known to the FBI, its Agents/Investigators, etc. to deter such criminal acts and to protect the public and/or citizens.

XVIII. LARCENY:

> Larceny - The unlawful taking and carrying away of someone else's personal property with the intent to deprive the possessor of it permanently. *Common-law larceny has been broadened by some statutes to include embezzlement and false pretense, all three of which are often subsumed under the statutory crime of "theft."
> > "The criminal offence of larceny or theft in the Common Law was intimately connected with the civil wrong of trespass. 'Where there has been no trespass,' said Lord Coleridge, 'there can at law be no larceny.' Larceny, in other words, is merely a particular kind of trespass to goods which, by virtue of the trespasser's intent, is converted into a crime. Trespass is a wrong, not to ownership but to possession, and theft, therefore, is not the violation of a person's right to ownership, but the infringement of his possession, accompanied with a particular criminal intent."
>
> Aggravated Larceny - Larceny accompanied by some aggravating factor (as when the theft is from a person).
> Grand Larceny - Larceny of property worth more than a statutory cutoff amount, usu. $100.

Mixed Larceny - (1) Larceny accompanied by aggravation or violence to the person. (2) Larceny involving a taking from a house.

1. Conspirators committed larceny by unlawfully/illegally carrying away Newsome's property/possessions located at 1109 Alfred Street – Unit 173, Cincinnati, Ohio 45214 and the taking away of her storage unit and property/possession with full intent to deprive her permanently of said storage unit and property. Conspirators knew and/or should have known that they were trespassing. By committing such legal wrongs Conspirators infringed upon the Constitutional and Civil Rights of Newsome. Therefore, Newsome is requesting through this instant Complaint that an investigation into the claims and allegations set forth herein and that those found to have acted in such unlawful/illegal manner be prosecuted and indicted for said legal wrongs.

2. Newsome files the instant Complaint and request investigation of and against Conspirators for aggravated larceny. Said criminal actions being committed for purposes of (a) unlawfully/illegally depriving Newsome of her storage unit and property/possession; (b) for the theft and/or unlawful/illegal action to take monies to which they are not entitled to in excess of $3,000.00; (c) the value of property stolen from Newsome exceeds $100.00; (d) for the unlawful/illegal taking of Newsome's storage unit; (e) to commit aggravated larceny, grand larceny and/or mixed larceny against Newsome.

3. Newsome through the filing of this instant Complaint seeks an investigation and the prosecution and indictment of Conspirators found through said investigation to be guilty of violations under this section and/or their participation in such acts set forth herein against Newsome. Moreover, all Conspirators that knew and/or had knowledge that said crime was about to be committed and/or being committed and did nothing to prevent - having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done was about to be committed, and having the power to prevent or aid in the preventing of such criminal acts; however, neglected or refused to do so.

4. Newsome through the filing of this instant Complaint seeks an investigation and the prosecution and indictment of Conspirators found culpable through said investigation to be guilty of the crime of larceny, conspiracy to commit larceny, and/or their participation in such larceny set forth herein against Newsome. Moreover, Conspirators that knew and/or had knowledge that said larceny was about to be committed and/or being committed and did nothing to prevent - having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done was about to be committed, and having the power to prevent or aid in the preventing of such criminal acts; however, neglected or refused to do so. Conspirators allowed said crimes to be committed for their own personal and financial gain.

XIX. INVASION:

Invasion - (1) A hostile or forcible encroachment on the rights of another.

> Intentional Invasion - A hostile or forcible encroachment on another's interest in the use or enjoyment of property, esp. real property, though not necessarily inspired by malice or ill will.

Invasion of Privacy - An unjustified exploitation of one's personality or intrusion into one's personal activities, actionable under tort law and sometimes under constitutional law.

Invasion of Privacy by Intrusion - An offensive, intentional interference with a person's seclusion or private affairs.

Intrusion - (1) A person entering without permission. (2) In an action for invasion of privacy, a highly offensive invasion of another person's seclusion or private life.

Intruder - A person who enters, remains on, uses, or touches land or chattels in another's possession without the possessor's consent.

1. Conspirators for (a) Invasion; (b) Invasion of Privacy; (c) Invasion of Privacy by Intrusion in that:

> (i) Conspirators acted with hostile intent as well as forcible encroachment and/or allowed others to forcibly encroach upon the protected rights of Newsome. Rights secured under the Constitution (Ohio and United States), Civil Rights Act, Landlord & Tenant Act and other statutes/laws governing said matters; (ii) said invasion was "intentionally" done with hostility, anger, envy, jealousy, prejudice, discrimination, ill intent, malice, corruption, etc. and/or forcible encroachment on Newsome's interest in the use of enjoyment of her property/storage unit; (iii) said crime was an invasion of Newsome's privacy and was an unlawful/illegal and unjustified exploitation of Newsome's life, intrusion into Newsome's personal life, liberties and pursuit of happiness, as well as other rights secured/guaranteed under the Constitution, Civil Rights Act and other statutes/laws governing said matters; (iv) said criminal acts being an invasion of privacy by intrusion which being offensive and an intentional interference with Newsome's seclusion and/or private life/affairs; (v) Conspirators intruding and/or unlawfully taking and/or participated in the unlawful taking of Newsome's storage unit and property/possessions and continue to use her storage unit to destroy evidence, and cover up their crime.

Said invasion/intrusion took place at Newsome's storage unit located at 1109 Alfred Street – Unit 173, Cincinnati, Ohio 45214. Therefore, Newsome is requesting through this instant Complaint that an investigation into the claims and allegations set forth herein and that those found to have acted in such unlawful/illegal manner be prosecuted and indicted for said legal wrongs.

2. Newsome through the filing of this instant Complaint seeks an investigation and the prosecution and indictment of Conspirators found through said investigation to be guilty of the intrusion/invasion, conspiracy to commit intrusion/invasion, and/or their participation in such acts set forth herein against Newsome. Moreover, all Conspirators that knew and/or had knowledge that said invasion/intrusion was about to be committed and/or being committed and did nothing to prevent - having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done was about to be committed, and having the power to prevent or aid in the preventing of such criminal acts; however, neglected or refused to do so.

3. Newsome demands that the applicable charges be filed of and against Conspirator(s) found through the investigation of this Complaint to have committed said crime(s); moreover, that said Conspirators be indicted and if applicable that the maximum penalty [i.e. fine and imprisonment] be sought if the evidence supports a PATTERN-OF-PRACTICE and/or PATTERN-OF-CONDUCT by Conspirator(s) who committed said crime(s). Newsome further seeks any and all applicable relief known to the FBI, its Agents/Investigators, etc. to deter such criminal acts and to protect the public and/or citizens.

XX. UNLAWFUL ENTRY/FORCIBLE ACTIONS:

> Unlawful Entry - (1) The crime of entering another's real property, by fraud or other illegal means, without the owner's consent.
>
> Forcible - Effected by force or threat of force against opposition or resistance.
>
> Forcible Detainer - (1) The wrongful retention of possession of property by one originally in lawful possession, often with threats or actual use of violence.
> Forcible Entry and Detainer - (1) The act of violently taking and keeping possession of lands and tenements without legal authority. (2) A quick and simple legal proceeding for regaining possession of real property from someone who has wrongfully taken, or refused to surrender, possession.
> Forcible Entry - (1) The act or an instance of violently and unlawfully taking possession of lands and tenements against the will of those in lawful possession. (2) The act of entering land in another's possession by the use of force against another or by breaking into the premises.

1. Conspirators unlawfully entered Newsome's storage unit located at 1109 Alfred Street – Unit 173, Cincinnati, Ohio 45214. Therefore, Newsome is requesting through this instant Complaint that an investigation into the claims and allegations set forth herein and that those found to have acted in such unlawful/illegal manner be prosecuted and indicted for said legal wrongs.

2. Conspirators committed crime of entering Newsome's storage unit by fraud, other illegal means and without Newsome's consent. Prior to entering, Conspirators knew and/or should have known that they were committing a crime/felony; however, elected to participate in the actual crime itself and/or the allowance of the crime in which they could have prevented.

3. The taking of Newsome's storage unit being by force and excelled to the vandalizing of Newsome's storage unit to obtain access and destroy her property/possession and evidence.

4. Newsome was subjected to the violent taking and keeping of certain property/possessions without legal authority.

5. Newsome was subjected to the unlawful entry of her storage unit by the use of excessive force and the breaking into her storage unit.

6. Stor-All, their attorneys, Judges and Co-Conspirators knew that such acts were criminal, nevertheless, they made a conscious, deliberate and willful decision to allow said crimes to be committed of and against Newsome.

7. Newsome through the filing of this instant Complaint seeks an investigation and the prosecution and indictment of Conspirators found through said investigation to be guilty of violations under this section and/or their participation in such acts set forth herein against Newsome. Moreover, all Conspirators that knew and/or had knowledge that said crime was about to be committed and/or being committed and did nothing to prevent - having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done was about to be committed, and having the power to prevent or aid in the preventing of such criminal acts; however, neglected or refused to do so.

8. Newsome through the filing of this instant Complaint seeks an investigation and the prosecution and indictment of Conspirators found through said investigation to be guilty of the crime of theft, conspiracy to commit theft, and/or their participation in such theft set forth herein against Newsome's property/possessions. Moreover, Conspirators knew and/or had knowledge that said theft was about to be committed and/or being committed and did nothing to prevent - having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done was about to be committed, and having the power to prevent or aid in the preventing of such criminal acts; however, neglected or refused to do so.

XXI. OBSTRUCTION OF JUSTICE/PROCESS:

Obstruction of Justice - Interference with the orderly administration of law and justice, as by giving false information to or withholding evidence from a police officer or prosecutor, or by harming or intimidating a witness or juror. *Obstruction of justice is a crime in most jurisdictions.

Obstruction of Process - Interference of any kind the lawful service or execution of a writ, warrant, or other process. *Most jurisdictions make this offense a crime.

O.R.C. § 2921.52 USING SHAM LEGAL PROCESS.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Lawfully issued" means adopted, issued, or rendered in accordance with the United States constitution, the constitution of a state, and the applicable statutes, rules, regulations, and ordinances of the United States, a state, and the political subdivisions of a state.

(2) "State" means a state of the United States, including without limitation, the state legislature, the highest court of the state that has statewide jurisdiction, the offices of all elected state officers, and all departments, boards, offices, commissions, agencies, institutions, and other instrumentalities of the state. "State" does not include the political subdivisions of the state.. . .

(4) "Sham legal process" means an instrument that meets all of the following conditions:

(a) It is not lawfully issued.

(b) It purports to do any of the following:

(i) To be a summons, subpoena, judgment, or order of a court, a law enforcement officer, or a legislative, executive, or administrative body.

(ii) To assert jurisdiction over or determine the legal or equitable status, rights, duties, powers, or privileges of any person or property.

(iii) To require or authorize the search, seizure, indictment, arrest, trial, or sentencing of any person or property.

(c) It is designed to make another person believe that it is lawfully issued.

(B) No person shall, knowing the sham legal process to be sham legal process, do any of the following:

(1) Knowingly issue, display, deliver, distribute, or otherwise use sham legal process;

(2) Knowingly use sham legal process to arrest, detain, search, or seize any person or the property of another person;

(3) Knowingly commit or facilitate the commission of an offense, using sham legal process;

(4) Knowingly commit a felony by using sham legal process.

(C) It is an affirmative defense to a charge under division (B)(1) or (2) of this section that the use of sham legal process was for a lawful purpose.

(D) Whoever violates this section is guilty of using sham legal process. A violation of division (B)(1) of this section is a misdemeanor of the fourth degree. A violation of division (B)(2) or (3) of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree, except that, if the purpose of a violation of division (B)(3) of this section is to commit or facilitate the commission of a felony, a violation of division (B)(3) of this section is a felony of the fourth degree. A violation of division (B)(4) of this section is a felony of the third degree.

(E) A person who violates this section is liable in a civil action to any person harmed by the violation for injury, death, or loss to person or property incurred as a result of the commission of the offense and for reasonable attorney's fees, court costs, and other expenses incurred as a result of prosecuting the civil action commenced under this division. A civil action under this division is not the exclusive remedy of a person who incurs injury, death, or loss to person or property as a result of a violation of this section.

1. Newsome files this instant Complaint and request an investigation to determine whether there has been an obstruction of justice in the carrying out and/or commission of the criminal actions of Conspirators of and against Newsome. Furthermore, whether Conspirators interfered with the orderly administration of law and justice, as by giving false information, acting without legal authority, bribery, blackmail, withholding evidence, tampering and/or obstructing service of process, withholding evidence from those they engaged to carry out criminal acts on their behalf, furthering the subjection of Newsome to harm/injury, harassment, threats, intimidation, humiliation, discrimination, prejudices, deprivation of protected rights, etc. for her election to exercise her rights under the Constitution, Civil Rights Act and other governing statutes/laws.

2. Obstruction of Process - Investigation into the handling of the of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment and/or document Conspirators relied upon on or about September 9, 2009, to commit the crimes rendered against Newsome. Moreover, to determine whether there was an obstruction of process wherein Conspirators interfered with service and/or obtained an unlawful/illegal Warrant of Possession and/or the document they relied upon to Newsome unlawfully/illegally removed from her storage unit. Furthermore, whether said handling of process was in compliance with the statutes/laws governing said matters. Whether said process was handled in a manner to deliberately, willfully and maliciously deprive Newsome equal protection of the laws and due process of laws. Whether said process was handled in a manner to infringe upon the protected rights of Newsome.

3. False Pretense - Investigation into whether a crime was committed through false pretenses - for the purpose of fraud and knowingly obtaining Newsome's storage unit/property by misrepresenting the facts, clearly violating statutes/laws made known to Conspirators, that give them sufficient notice that they were acting in violation of statutes/laws and that said actions were criminal in nature. Therefore, Newsome is requesting through this instant Complaint that an investigation into the claims and allegations set forth herein and that those found to have acted in such unlawful/illegal manner be prosecuted and indicted for said legal wrongs.

4. Newsome through the filing of this instant Complaint seeks an investigation and the prosecution and indictment of Conspirators found through said investigation to be guilty of obstructing justice and/or their participation in such obstruction of justice set forth in this instant Complaint against Newsome. Moreover, all Conspirators that knew and/or had knowledge that said justice was being obstructed through criminal acts and/or behavior and did nothing to prevent - having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done was about to be committed, and having the power to prevent or aid in the preventing of such criminal acts; however, neglected or refused to do so.

5. On September 9, 2009, Judge Allen and David Meranus engaged in the creation and/or initiation of Writ of Execution and/or Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment wherein they knew was neither legal nor lawful and could not lawfully be enforced.

6. Judge Allen and David Meranus caused to be created and/or initiated Writ of Execution and/or Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment - sham legal process – which was not legally nor lawfully issued.

7. Judge Allen and David Meranus caused to be created and initiated instruments - Writ of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment - that failed to be lawfully issued for purposes of obstruction of justice for purposes of commanding the "Bailiff of the Hamilton County Municipal Court to engage in criminal activity to acquire through an unauthorized search and unauthorized seizure to give "plaintiff(s) restitution of the same; also, that you levy of the goods and chattels of said defendant(s), and make the costs aforesaid, and all accruing costs." Actions taken by Judge Allen and Meranus were done to make another person believe that Writ of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment were lawfully issued.

8. Conspirators knew and or should have known that Writ of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment were sham legal process. Moreover, Bailiff and/or Co-Conspirators had a duty and obligation to determine whether or not the statutes/laws were followed in the issuance of Writ of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment. Because Bailiff and/or Co-Conspirators failed to determine whether or not Writ of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment were legal and/or lawfully authorized he/she engaged and/or aided and abetted such criminal acts; therefore, providing the components of the object [i.e. Conspiracy, Public Corruption, Complicity, Corruption, Aiding and Abetting, Extortion, Blackmail, Bribery, Coercion, Retaliation, Pattern of Conduct, Intimidation, Deprivation of Rights, Power/Failure to Prevent, Stalking/Menacing by Stalking, Burglary, Trespass, Breaking and Entering, Theft, Larceny, Invasion, Unlawful Entry/Forcible Action, Obstruction of Justice, Color of Law, Conspiracy Against Rights, Conspiracy to Interfere With Civil Rights] needed to bring about the completion of the object/goal [i.e. COVER-UP and destroying evidence through criminal acts of Stor-All in the unlawful/illegal seizure of Newsome's storage unit and property without legal/lawful authority. Said cover-up and destroying of evidence could not be accomplished without: (a) Stor-All obtaining an unlawful/illegal Entry by Judge West on or about April 29, 2009, Granting Bifurcation and Remand. Once Judge West completed his role in the conspiracy – with knowledge that Municipal Court lacked jurisdiction – Stor-All pounced on such criminal acts of Judge West and filed in the Hamilton County Municipal Court (Case No. 09CV01690) its Motion for Partial Summary Judgment With Affidavit of Leslie Smart Attached; and (b) Judge Allen on September 9, 2009, executed NULL/VOID Writ of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment. Once Judge Allen completed her role in the conspiracy, Stor-All and other Co-Conspirators moved swiftly to act Allen's rulings. As a direct and proximate result of Judge West's and Judge Allen's role in the conspiracy, they aided and abetted the commission of a series of crimes to be carried out by other Conspirators. Judge West and Judge Allen aided and abetted with knowledge they were engaging in criminal activity – moreover, the record evidence will support that courts were timely, properly and adequately notified through filing of Newsome of criminal acts. To no avail. Judge Allen and Judge West willingly and knowingly authorized the carrying out of criminal acts against Newsome. Having the power to prevent, elected instead to engage in the crimes of their Co-Conspirators.] which was accomplished. - - - Now Stor-All is attempting to use the NULL/VOID of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment as a defense to obtain a lifting of a court-ordered stay and dismissal of Newsome's counterclaim. Such efforts are memorialized in Stor-All's pleadings in the Hamilton County Court of Common Pleas (Case No. A0901302) submitted for filing: September 10, 2009 Motion to Lift the Court Ordered Stay and September 18, 2009 12(B)(6) Motion to Dismiss and/or Motion for Summary Judgment on Defendant Newsome's Counterclaim With Affidavits of Leslie Smart and Lori Whiteside Attached] – to support charges in FBI Criminal Complaint.

9. The use of the Writ of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment was for no lawful or legal intent; moreover, was done in furtherance of conspiracy to obstruct the administration of justice, deprive Newsome rights, infringe upon Newsome's protected rights, etc.

11. Newsome demands that the applicable charges be filed of and against Conspirator(s) found through the investigation of this Complaint to have committed said crime(s); moreover, that said Conspirators be indicted and if applicable that the maximum penalty [i.e. fine and imprisonment] be sought if the evidence supports a PATTERN-OF-PRACTICE and/or PATTERN-OF-CONDUCT by Conspirator(s) who committed said crime(s). Newsome further seeks any and all applicable relief known to the FBI, its Agents/Investigators, etc. to deter such criminal acts and to protect the public and/or citizens.

XXII. COLOR OF LAW:

> The appearance of semblance, without the substance, of a legal right. *The term u.s.u. implies a misuse of power made possible because the wrongdoer is clothed with the authority of the state.

Color of Law

U.S. law enforcement officers and other officials like judges, prosecutors, and security guards have been given tremendous power by local, state, and federal government agencies—authority they must have to enforce the law and ensure justice in our country. These powers include the authority to detain and arrest suspects, to search and seize property, to bring criminal charges, to make rulings in court, and to use deadly force in certain situations. . . .

Preventing abuse of this authority, however, is equally necessary to the health of our nation's democracy. That's why it's a federal crime for anyone acting under "color of law" willfully to deprive or conspire to deprive a person of a right protected by the Constitution or U.S. law. "Color of law" simply means that the person is using authority given to him or her by a local, state, or federal government agency.

The FBI is the lead federal agency for investigating color of law abuses, which include acts carried out by government officials operating both within and beyond the limits of their lawful authority. . .

During Fiscal Year 2005, the FBI investigated more than 1,100 color of law cases. Most of these crimes fall into five broad areas:

- excessive force; . . .
- false arrest and fabrication of evidence;
- deprivation of property; and
- failure to keep from harm.

False arrest and fabrication of evidence: The Fourth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution guarantees the right against unreasonable searches or seizures. A law enforcement official using authority provided under the color of law is allowed to stop individuals and, under certain circumstances, to search them and retain their property. It is in the abuse of that discretionary power—such as an unlawful detention or illegal confiscation of property—that a violation of a person's civil rights may occur.

Fabricating evidence against or falsely arresting an individual also violates the color of law statute, taking away the person's rights of due process and unreasonable seizure. In the case of deprivation of property, the color of law statute would be violated by unlawfully obtaining or maintaining a person's property, which oversteps or misapplies the official's authority.

The Fourteenth Amendment secures the right to due process; the Eighth Amendment prohibits the use of cruel and unusual punishment. During an arrest or detention, these rights can be violated by the use of force amounting to punishment (summary judgment). The person accused of a crime must be allowed the opportunity to have a trial and should not be subjected to punishment without having been afforded the opportunity of the legal process.

Failure to keep from harm: The public counts on its law enforcement officials to protect local communities. If it's shown that an official willfully failed to keep an individual from harm, that official could be in violation of the color of law statute.

Filing a Complaint
To file a color of law complaint, contact your local FBI office by telephone, in writing, or in person. The following information should be provided:

- all identifying information for the victim(s);
- as much identifying information as possible for the subject(s), including position, rank, and agency employed;
- date and time of incident;
- location of incident;
- names, addresses, and telephone numbers of any witness(es);
- a complete chronology of events; and
- any report numbers and charges with respect to the incident.

You may also contact the United States Attorney's Office in your district or send a written complaint to:

Assistant Attorney General
Civil Rights Division
Criminal Section
950 Pennsylvania Avenue, Northwest
Washington, DC 20530

FBI investigations vary in length. Once our investigation is complete, we forward the findings to the U.S. Attorney's Office within the local jurisdiction and to the U.S. Department of Justice in Washington, D.C., which decide whether or not to proceed toward prosecution and handle any prosecutions that follow.

Civil Applications
Title 42, U.S.C., Section 14141 makes it unlawful for state or local law enforcement agencies to allow officers to engage in a pattern or practice of conduct that deprives persons of rights protected by the Constitution or U.S. laws. This law, commonly referred to as the Police Misconduct Statute, gives the Department of Justice authority to seek civil remedies in cases where law enforcement agencies have policies or practices that foster a pattern of misconduct by employees. This action is directed against an agency, not against individual officers. The types of issues which may initiate a pattern and practice investigation include:

- Lack of supervision/monitoring of officers' actions;
- Lack of justification or reporting by officers on incidents involving the use of force;
- Lack of, or improper training of, officers; and
- Citizen complaint processes that treat complainants as adversaries.

CUT & PASTED FROM: http://www.fbi.gov/hq/cid/civilrights/statutes.htm
Title 18, U.S.C., Section 242
Deprivation of Rights Under Color of Law

This statute makes it a crime for any person acting under color of law, statute, ordinance, regulation, or custom to willfully deprive or cause to be deprived from any person those rights, privileges, or immunities secured or protected by the Constitution and laws of the U.S.

This law further prohibits a person acting under color of law, statute, ordinance, regulation or custom to willfully subject or cause to be subjected any person to different punishments, pains, or penalties, than those prescribed for punishment of citizens on account of such person being an alien or by reason of his/her color or race.

Acts under "color of any law" include acts not only done by federal, state, or local officials within the bounds or limits of their lawful authority, but also acts done without and beyond the bounds of their lawful authority; provided that, in order for unlawful acts of any official to be done under "color of any law," the unlawful acts must be done while such official is purporting or pretending to act in the performance of his/her official duties. This definition includes, in addition to law enforcement officials, individuals such as Mayors, Council persons, Judges, Nursing Home Proprietors, Security Guards, etc., persons who are bound by laws, statutes ordinances, or customs.

Punishment varies from a fine or imprisonment of up to one year, or both, and if bodily injury results or if such acts include the use, attempted use, or threatened use of a dangerous weapon, explosives, or fire shall be fined or imprisoned up to ten years or both, and if death results, or if such acts include kidnapping or an attempt to kidnap, aggravated sexual abuse or an attempt to commit aggravated sexual abuse, or an attempt to kill, shall be fined under this title, or imprisoned for any term of years or for life, or both, or may be sentenced to death.

1. Through this instant Complaint, Newsome request that an investigation be had to determine whether Conspirators acting under color of law, misused, abused, usurped, etc. their authority/power for purposes of subjecting Newsome to criminal actions. Moreover, whether those acting under color of law knew and/or should have known they were committing criminal acts and lacked jurisdiction and/or authority to proceed in the manner in which they did. Newsome further seeks through this Complaint that an investigation be had to determine whether Conspirators acting under color of law acted with malice, corrupt motive, ill intent, discrimination, prejudices, etc. towards Newsome for her exercising rights secured/guaranteed under the Constitution and/or statutes/laws governing the matters before them. If any such criminal violations and/or acts are found by those acting under color of law, that said Conspirators be prosecuted and indicted in accordance with the statutes/laws governing such criminal wrongs and injustices.

2. Newsome through the filing of this instant Complaint seeks an investigation and the prosecution and indictment of Conspirators found through said investigation to be guilty of violations under this section and/or their participation in such acts set forth herein against Newsome. Moreover, all Conspirators that knew and/or had knowledge that said crime was about to be committed and/or being committed and did nothing to prevent - having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done was about to be committed, and having the power to prevent or aid in the preventing of such criminal acts; however, neglected or refused to do so.

3. sNewsome demands that the applicable charges be filed of and against Conspirator(s) found through the investigation of this Complaint to have committed said crime(s); moreover, that said Conspirators be indicted and if applicable that the maximum penalty [i.e. fine and imprisonment] be sought if the evidence supports a PATTERN-OF-PRACTICE and/or PATTERN-OF-CONDUCT by Conspirator(s) who committed said crime(s). Newsome further seeks any and all applicable relief known to the FBI, its Agents/Investigators, etc. to deter such criminal acts and to protect the public and/or citizens.

XXIII. CONSPIRACY AGAINST RIGHTS:

1. Newsome requests through the filing of this instant Complaint and investigations as to whether or not there has been a conspiracy against her rights pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 241. Conspiracy Against Rights:

> If two or more persons conspire to injure, oppress, threaten, or intimidate any person in any State, Territory, Commonwealth, Possession, or District in the free exercise or enjoyment of any right or privilege secured to him by the Constitution or laws of the United States, or because of his having so exercised the same; or
> If two or more persons go in disguise on the highway, or on the premises of another, with intent to prevent or hinder his free exercise or enjoyment of any right or privilege so secured—
> They shall be fined under this title or imprisoned not more than ten years, or both; and if death results from the acts committed in violation of this section or if such acts include kidnapping or an attempt to kidnap, aggravated sexual abuse or an attempt to commit aggravated sexual abuse, or an attempt to kill, they shall be fined under this title or imprisoned for any term of years or for life, or both, or may be sentenced to death.

If so, Newsome through the filing of this instant Complaint and investigation seeks the prosecution and indictment of Conspirators found through said investigation to be guilty of conspiracy against rights. Moreover, all Conspirators that knew and/or had knowledge that said conspiracy was being committed and did nothing to prevent - having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done was about to be committed, and having the power to prevent or aid in the preventing of such criminal acts; however, neglected or refused to do so.

2. Conspirators, under color of their office or authority, knowingly deprived or conspired to deprive Newsome of constitutional and statutory rights.

3. Conspirators, under color of their office or authority, knowingly interfered with Newsome's civil rights.

4. Newsome through the filing of this instant Complaint seeks an investigation and the prosecution and indictment of Conspirators found through said investigation to be guilty of violations under this section and/or their participation in such acts set forth herein against Newsome. Moreover, all

Conspirators that knew and/or had knowledge that said crime was about to be committed and/or being committed and did nothing to prevent - having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done was about to be committed, and having the power to prevent or aid in the preventing of such criminal acts; however, neglected or refused to do so.

5. Newsome demands that the applicable charges be filed of and against Conspirator(s) found through the investigation of this Complaint to have committed said crime(s); moreover, that said Conspirators be indicted and if applicable that the maximum penalty [i.e. fine and imprisonment] be sought if the evidence supports a PATTERN-OF-PRACTICE and/or PATTERN-OF-CONDUCT by Conspirator(s) who committed said crime(s). Newsome further seeks any and all applicable relief known to the FBI, its Agents/Investigators, etc. to deter such criminal acts and to protect the public and/or citizens.

XXIV. CONSPIRACY TO INTERFERE WITH CIVIL RIGHTS:

1. Newsome requests through the filing of this instant Complaint and investigations as to whether or not there has been a conspiracy against her rights pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1985. Conspiracy to Interfere With Civil Rights:

> (2) Obstructing justice; intimidating party, witness, or juror:
>
> > If two or more persons in any State or Territory conspire to deter, by force, intimidation, or threat, any party or witness in any court of the United States from attending such court, or from testifying to any matter pending therein, freely, fully, and truthfully, or to injure such party or witness in his person or property on account of his having so attended or testified, or to influence the verdict, presentment, or indictment of any grand or petit juror in any such court, or to injure such juror in his person or property on account of any verdict, presentment, or indictment lawfully assented to by him, or of his being or having been such juror; or if two or more persons conspire for the purpose of impeding, hindering, obstructing, or defeating, in any manner, the due course of justice in any State or Territory, with intent to deny to any citizen the equal protection of the laws, or to injure him or his property for lawfully enforcing, or attempting to enforce, the right of any person, or class of persons, to the equal protection of the laws;
> (3) Depriving persons of rights or privileges:
> > If two or more persons in any State or Territory conspire or go in disguise on the highway or on the premises of another, for the purpose of depriving, either directly or indirectly, any person or class of persons of the equal protection of the laws, or of equal privileges and immunities under the laws; or for the purpose of preventing or hindering the constituted authorities of any State or Territory from giving or securing to all persons within such State or Territory the equal protection of the laws; or if two or more persons conspire to prevent by force, intimidation, or threat, any citizen who is lawfully entitled to vote, from giving his support or advocacy in a legal manner, toward or in favor of the election of > any lawfully qualified person as an elector for President or Vice President, or as a Member of Congress of the United States; or to injure any citizen in person or property on account of such support or advocacy; in any case of conspiracy set forth in this section, if one or more persons engaged therein do, or cause to be done, any act in furtherance of the object of such conspiracy, whereby another is injured in his person or property, or deprived of having and exercising any right or privilege of a citizen of the United States, the party so injured or deprived may have an action for the recovery of damages occasioned by such injury or deprivation, against any one or more of the conspirators.

O.R.C. § 2921.45 Interfering with civil rights.

> (A) No public servant, under color of his office, employment, or authority, shall knowingly deprive, or conspire or attempt to deprive any person of a constitutional or statutory right.
> (B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of interfering with civil rights, a misdemeanor of the first degree.

Moreover, to determine whether there was a conspiracy to (1) deprive Newsome of protected rights; (2) injure, oppress, threaten, or intimidate Newsome whose storage unit is located in the State of Ohio, City of Cincinnati, County of Hamilton in the free exercise or enjoyment of protected rights or privileges secured by her under the Constitution and laws of the United States, or because of her so exercising her right to seek justice for the wrongs complained of in lawsuit and/or actions brought by her. (3) whether Conspirators went into the storage unit of Newsome with intent to prevent or hinder her from the free exercise or enjoyment of her storage unit and exercise of right or privilege to live in a place of her choice. Moreover, whether Stor-All, their counsel, Judges and others engaged in criminal activities to force Newsome to abandon her storage unit and deprive her rights secured under the Landlord & Tenant Act and other applicable statutes/laws governing said matters.

If so, Newsome through the filing of this instant Complaint and investigation seeks the prosecution and indictment of Conspirators found through said investigation to be guilty of conspiracy against rights. Moreover, all Conspirators that knew and/or had knowledge that said conspiracy was being committed and did nothing to prevent - having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done was about to be committed, and having the power to prevent or aid in the preventing of such criminal acts; however, neglected or refused to do so.

XXV. FACTS PERTINENT TO UNDERSTANDING CLAIMS/ALLEGATIONS:

INTRODUCTION

1. Vogel Denise Newsome is Newsome's full name. Born in Heidelberg, Germany. Newsome's greatest accomplishment is accepting Jesus Christ as her Lord and Savior approximately 20 years ago. Newsome is a Christian (taking living such a life very seriously and is not a hypocrite). Graduate of Florida A&M University with a B.S. Degree. Making Who's Who Among American High School Students. State Champion in Track & Field. Ranked amongst this country's best and competed with this country's best in Track & Field – i.e. Long Jump, 600 Meters, 4x400 Relay. Qualifying for Olympic Trials and competing in the 1988 Olympic Trials – with this country's best/elite.

2. The top three people that have inspired Newsome are: (a) Jesus Christ – the son of a carpenter and a person who is said to have been a carpenter by trade himself; however, he was perceived to be a counselor, lawyer, prophet, etc.; (b) her great grandfather (Milligan Newsome) whose life was wrongfully taken at an early age by a white man who was a racist and like Stor-All and those whom they have conspired with took was not legally and/or lawfully theirs to take. (See EXHIBIT "5" attached hereto and incorporated herein by reference as if set forth in full herein); and her Aunt Naomi Newsome Brookins - who is the Author of Naomi's Story: You Don't Have To Be Broken. (See EXHIBIT "6" attached hereto and incorporated herein by reference as if set forth in full herein). Therefore, Newsome will rely upon the Word of God (Bible – King James Version) and the statutes/laws of this country and State of Ohio to address issues set forth herein. If doing so is taken as labeling Newsome as a Christian fanatic – so be it because Newsome will not be ashamed of the Gospel nor the testimonies obtained from the trials and tribulations she has had to endure awaiting justice – 2 Timothy 1: 7-9.[25] However, it will support why those who have come against Newsome have failed and have resorted to evil and wicked tactics to destroy her life and obtain undue advantage in matters brought against her and/or by her. Moreover, will support that Newsome is abiding by the laws of the land which are not for her but those who are opposing her and have subjected her to such discriminatory and unlawful/illegal practices – 1 Timothy 1:5-13.[26] It is good to be able to believe and serve a God that has delivered Newsome from such destructive ways. For how can one profess to be a Christian (to be Christ-like) and not go through a transformation but continue to do the same evil and wick deeds to others. For one will know a person by the fruit that he/she bears. There is no way one that is professing to be a Christian (or whatever their faith or religion is - unless it is a racist group such as the Klu Klux Klan) would be engaged in the criminal and unlawful/illegal practices leveled against Newsome. Just no way.[27]

3. If Newsome's setting forth and exposing the truth regarding corrupt practices, discrimination, prejudices, etc. cause resentment and hatred, so be it – Galatians 4: 16.[28] The truth is what it is. While this county (the United States) has the inscription "In God We Trust" on its currency, it is a nation plagued with hypocrisy, discrimination and do not treat all citizens/people equally nor does it equally apply the law when it involves African-Americans and/or people of color. Whites are given preferential treatment over African-Americans and/or people of color and many standby supporting and partaking in such injustices – 1 Timothy 5:20-21.[29] Accepting bribes from those who are much wealthier, their insurance providers, lobbyist, etc. to cover up such discrimination, prejudices and unlawful/illegal actions – James 2:1-10.[30] Either financing such bribes or strengthening the hands of such evildoers by paying for the services to oppress the lives of African-Americans, people of color and/or the poor – Jeremiah 23:14;[31] therefore, said evildoers continue to engage in such criminal practices because they have repeatedly gotten away with it. Nevertheless, like so many habitual criminals, their crimes eventually catch up with them – Ecclesiastes 8:11.[32]

PATTERN OF CORRUPT ACTIVITY

CHARACTER/ETHICAL PRACTICES

4. In that it is obvious the evil and wicked has sought to destroy Newsome's life, slander her name and project her as a serial litigator and/or vexatious litigator, it is important to address such attacks against her. For it is apparent that the good that Newsome is working towards is being evil spoken of by those whom thrive and do the biding of their father (the Word of God calls their father the Devil)– John 8: 39-45.[33] Nevertheless, if because of the justice and good that Newsome seeks for all men/women is to 5Hearken, my beloved brethren, Hath not God chosen the poor of this world rich in faith, and heirs of the kingdom which he hath promised to them that love him?

6But ye have despised the poor. Do not rich men oppress you, and draw you before the judgment seats?
7Do not they blaspheme that worthy name by the which ye are called?
8If ye fulfil the royal law according to the scripture, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself, ye do well:
9*But if ye have respect to persons, ye commit sin, and are convinced of the law as transgressors.*
10*For whosoever shall keep the whole law, and yet offend in one point,* he is guilty of *all.

[31] 14I have seen also in the prophets of Jerusalem an horrible thing: they commit adultery, and walk in lies: they* strengthen also the hands of evildoers*, that none doth return from his wickedness; they are all of them unto me as Sodom, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorrah*.

[32] 11*Because sentence against an evil work is not executed speedily*, therefore the heart of the sons of men is fully set in them to do evil.*
12Though a sinner do evil an hundred times, and his days be prolonged, yet surely I know that it shall be well with them that fear God, which fear before him:
13But it shall not be well with the wicked, neither shall he prolong his days, which are as a shadow; because he feareth not before God.

[33] 39 They answered and said unto him, Abraham is our father. Jesus saith unto them, If ye were Abraham's children*, ye* would do the works of Abraham.
40 But now ye seek to kill me, a man that hath told you the truth*, which I have heard of God: this did* not Abraham.
41 Ye do the deeds of your father. Then said they to him, We be not born of fornication; we have one Father, even God.
42 Jesus said unto them, If God were your Father, ye would love me: for I proceeded forth and came from God; neither came I of myself, but he sent me.

be evil spoken of – so be it (look at the lives of those who persecute her for such) – I Peter 4:12-19.[34] Look at what great lengths the evil and wicked will go to destroy Newsome's life. The racial injustices and prejudices leveled against African-Americans and/or people of color is no secret – neither is it of those who commit to do such wrongs. In fact, Stor-All and its Co-Conspirators may to go to church (or some religious service) just about every Saturday, Sunday, etc (whenever their service is) to project a form of godliness, to appear holy, sanctimonious, pious, religious, etc. for purposes of deceit and to further his/her evil intentions in the persecution of Christians/Saints. Moreover, some only for the sole purposes of getting votes on Election Day if they are running for public office – some for the purpose of getting clients. For many you do not see until it's time to get your vote. Then they leave and continue in their same old mess- evil and wickedness.

5. Yes, Newsome professes to be a Christian. So how is she living her life before others and how are her work ethics with employers. See for yourself through references given by those who have had an opportunity to be blessed to work with Newsome over the years:

> This letter is to confirm and recommend Ms. Vogel Newsome to a position of Executive Assistant, Administrative Assistant or greater. While working with Lash Marine, she performed the duties of Executive Assistant with skill and energy. Her spirit and motivation acted as a beacon of light to others. Her leadership and training of others was a great service. Always willing to share; she possess a unique ability to teach complex skills to the beginner and bring them quickly up to speed. In addition, being a caring and concerned citizen she put aside her time to train and work with Training, Inc. employees to develop their office skills for a better future.
> She is an asset and will be sorely missed at Lash Marine. - - ROBERT K. LANSDEN (VICE PRESIDENT)

> I have been very, very pleased with Vogel, not only in terms of her work product, but also in terms of her attitude and personality. I would rate her as one of the best legal secretaries with whom I have ever worked. I would highly recommend her to any one who is looking for a full-time legal secretary. If my previous secretary were not rejoining me, I would want Vogel to be my new permanent secretary.
> If any one would care to discuss Vogel with me, please do not hesitate to give them my name and number. I will be more than happy to

17For the time is come that judgment must begin at the house of God: and if it first begin at us, what shall the end be of them that obey not the gospel of God?

18And if the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and the sinner appear?

19Wherefore let them that suffer according to the will of God commit the keeping of their souls to him in well doing, as unto a faithful Creator.

I am not certain of the exact day when my previous secretary will rejoin me. It could be immediately, or, it could be a couple of weeks. In light of that, we would like to request that we be allowed to continue to work with Vogel until further notice. However, the last thing I want to do is have Vogel miss another good opportunity that might lead to permanent employment. Therefore, if she must be reassigned, I will understand, but grudgingly so.. . . . - - RALPH B. GERMANY, JR. (ATTORNEY)

I was first introduced to Ms. Newsome over five (5) years ago. Since that time, she has been a Woman of integrity and intelligence. Ms. Newsome always has presented herself in a professional manner and has always addressed me and others with the uttermost of respect. Ms. Newsome outgoing personality and personal strengths would make her an excellent additional to anyone's staff. I have had the opportunity to work with Ms. Newsome and she has demonstrated flexibility in working outside of her field of endeavor and doing an excellent job is a strong indicator of how well she will do in her chosen field of endeavor. Ms. Newsome demonstrated a willingness to perform any task assigned to her promptly and correctly with little supervision. Ms. Newsome is a very pleasant person to associate with, works as a team player, and would truly be an ASSET to your organization because she is the best one for the job. - - LISA J. WASHINGTON (COORDINATOR)

6. Through an investigation in the handling of this matter, you will find how those who have opposed Newsome in court on behalf of employers, and others have attempted to paint her as a "serial litigator," "vexatious litigator," etc. because they are unable to successfully defend against her lawsuits and/or claims submitted countering their clients. Such defense tactics are used by those opposing Newsome to also attempt to paint her as: a) a serial litigator, b) paranoid, b) boy-who-cried-wolf, c) crazy and/or mentally unstable, d) potential murderer, e) hostile, etc. – evidenced in the Hamilton County

Court of Common Pleas (Case No. A0901302) in Stor-All's pleading entitled, Motion for Protective/Restraining Order Against Defendant Denise V. Newsome. Nevertheless, through this instant filing, the evidence will support to the contrary and how those persecuting/opposing Newsome have gone to great lengths to cover-up criminal and civil wrongs – relying on corrupt attorneys, corrupt insurance companies and their representatives, lobbyists, etc. to get them off and keep such crimes/civil wrongs hidden from the public. Therefore, supporting, it is Newsome's opponents that are "vexatious litigators," obsessed with committing criminal acts against her and HABITUAL LAWBREAKERS! Using bribery tactics to obtain rulings from corrupt judges and/or corrupt public officials whose duties it is to enforce and uphold the laws. Instead, they turn aside for filthy gain, bribes, perverted rulings, their own lusts/desires, etc. for special favors (willing to sell their souls – like Judas - if necessary) - I Samuel 8:1-5.[35] Would one who claims to be a Christian and/or serve a higher spiritual being – striving to live right and treat all men equally/fair – engage in such crimes, evil and wicked acts, and unlawful/illegal behavior? NO!! Therefore, those supporting judges and/or public officials, etc. engaging in such unlawful/illegal practices do not follow the ways of God and neither can they claim to be Christians or whatever they claim to be under their faith/religion. As the citizens in the times of old did not support such practices, so it is today. However, such corruption in our courts, on Capitol Hill, Legislature/Congress exist and then when exposed, actions are taken to destroy the life, liberties and pursuit of happiness of individuals exposing such corruption – i.e. such as Newsome's life.

7. It is important to note that the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals and others have attempted to cover-up the corrupt practices of government officials and the exposure of such corruption. Also important to note how said court instructs Newsome not to bring legal action against government agencies for such corrupt practices and instructed Newsome instead to bring legal action against her employer(s). Government agencies such as the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, Wage & Hour Division, etc. are required to enforce the statutes/laws under which they are created. However, because said government agencies MANDATORILY (not a matter of discretion) are not required to do so, so many citizens' civil and constitutional rights are violated. All a part of a system to evade the laws and deprive citizens equal protection of the laws and due process of the laws – those being targeted the most for such injustices are African-Americans and/or people of color. Newsome directs the factfinder's attention to Newsome v. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, 301 F.3d 227, wherein she brought a Mandamus action against the EEOC. The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals instructed:

> Newsome also is not entitled to the writ because she has another adequate remedy available, i.e. she could file suit in court against her employer*. . . .*

[EMPHASIS ADDED] See EXHIBIT "9"attached hereto and incorporated by reference. This information is important in that those who have opposed Newsome, brought legal action against Newsome and employers who have subjected Newsome to employment violations as a defense will attempt to use the Fifth Circuit's decision against her. Attempting to use said decision as the Fifth Circuit to mean that said court asserts through Newsome v. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, that all court filings brought by Newsome are ALL frivolous actions – to which the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals was not saying. Preying on the weaknesses, envy, hatred, bias, jealousy, etc. that factfinders may harbor against Newsome for no justifiable reasons and because of her ability to draft and defend against legal actions filed by her, on her behalf or against her. Newsome's ability to do so with or without legal counsel. Indeed, the Fifth Circuit advises Newsome she may bring legal lawsuits directly against her employers – covering up the corrupt practices of the government agencies.

8. Because those opposing Newsome have taken it upon themselves to slander her name and to project her as a serial litigator, vexatious litigator, etc. it is important to determine upon what evidence this is based. Newsome is very confident that there is no documentation and/or evidence to sustain the application of such titles to her. All actions brought by Newsome having merits; however, have been subject to conspiracies and corrupt practices. Moreover, it is equally important to note that the United States Supreme Court clearly states that such "serial/vexatious" litigator arguments if true (when they are not) would not support denying Newsome the right to bring lawsuits against her employers or others in the future – because such ruling would be a violation of Newsome's Constitutional Rights. Neither would the United States Supreme Court support closing the doors of courts to Newsome for the purposes of precluding her from exposing such criminal/civil wrongs leveled against her. Taking In re McDonald, 489 U.S. 180, 109 S.Ct. 993 (1989) the United States Supreme Court found:

> Petitioner is no stranger to us. Since 1971, he has made 73 separate filings with the Court, not including this petition, *181 which is his eighth so far this Term. These include 4 appeals,. . . 33 petitions for certiorari, . . . 99 petitions for extraordinary writs,. . . 7 applications for stays and other 995 injunctive relief,*182 044FN;B0055FN;B0066

I do not agree, however, that he poses such a threat to the orderly administration of justice that we should embark on the unprecedented and dangerous course the Court charts today. . . .

> Chessman v. Teets, 354 U.S. 156, 77 S.Ct. 1127, 1 L.Ed.2d 1253 (1957) - [n.5] Prolonged delay in administration of criminal justice will not deter Supreme Court from granting relief that is clearly called for.
> [n.6] Requirements of due process must be respected no matter how heinous the crime in question may be and no matter how guilty an accused may ultimately be found to be after guilt has been established in accordance with procedure demanded by the Constitution. U.S.C.A.Const. Amend. 14.

Why, because justice DEMANDS that each matter be determined individually and on the merits of each lawsuit and not clumped together or predetermination made without hearing the facts, evidence and legal conclusions sustaining the lawsuit and/or legal action brought because a litigant is involved or has been involved in other lawsuits – look at Stor-All and the malicious/vexatious lawsuit it has brought against Newsome. Then Stor-All failed to defend its lawsuit in the time permissible by statutes/laws because it had placed all of its eggs in the "serial/vexatious" litigator basket – to its demise. Then when Newsome brings the applicable PRIVATE legal actions against her employers and/or others, those opposing her claims resort to relying upon special favors, ties and relationships with those on the bench and/or working in the judicial system to obtain an undue/unlawful/illegal advantage. While it is supposed to be a court of law, opposing parties REPEATEDLY *are not required to argue the laws, present evidence for facts to support any defenses raised against Newsome's claims. LAWSUITS INVOLVING NEWSOME ARE PUBLIC RECORD SO SEE FOR YOURSELF! Not only that, the record evidence will support how the courts are attempting to close its doors to Newsome so that she will not bring legal actions against her employers for employment violations as the Fifth Circuit has instructed her to do or bring lawsuits against those who have violated the rights of Newsome although timely, proper and sufficient NOTICE OF INTENT TO SUE has been provided by Newsome; however, ignored . Prior to Newsome bringing legal actions, she notifies the proper persons placing them on notice that a lawsuit will be forthcoming. Therefore, such labeling of Newsome is unacceptable! Moreover, attempts by courts to close their doors in efforts to aid criminals and/or those committing criminal/civil wrongs against Newsome is prohibited as a matter of law. SUCH ACTS WHICH ARE CLEARLY UNCONSTITUTIONAL. What is this country coming to if the courts are allowed to close its doors to prevent citizens from recovering damages from injury/harm sustained? Ohio Courts finding:

> McClure v. Fischer Attached Homes, 882 N.E.2d 61 (Ohio.Com.Pl.,2007) - It is the nature of the conduct, not the number of actions, that determines whether a person is a vexatious litigator. R.C. § 2323.52. -- The vexatious litigant statute is not designed to prevent vexatious litigators from proceeding on legitimate claims, but instead establishes a screening mechanism under which the vexatious litigator can petition the court for a determination of whether the proposed claim is legitimate. R.C. § 2323.52.
> *Roo v. R.C. § 2323.52.

Well look at Stor-All responded to Newsome when it lost on her Motion to Transfer. Desperate to get its way it acted with Co-Conspirators (i.e. Judge West and Judge Allen and others) to get a ruling to which it knew and/or should have known. The record evidence will sustain that there is sufficient facts, evidence and legal conclusion in the record of the Court to sustain that all willing participants in the conspiracy leveled against Newsome, was fully aware of the role he/she was to play and were willing participants in the conspiracy leveled against Newsome to fulfill the OBJECT of the conspiracy. Moreover, a reasonable mind may conclude that Judge Allen's ruling on or about July 10, 2009, Judge Allen executed Order Granting Motion to Transfer For Jurisdiction. See EXHIBIT "10" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein. The Clerk's entry on the Docket states, "This cause is hereby transferred to the Court of Common Pleas. Judge: Nadine Allen Counter-Claim exceeds jurisdictional limits. To be transferred on consideration and guidance. See Entry for all details." See EXHIBIT "11" – Case Summary Docket (Municipal Court) attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein. A decision that was in compliance with the statutes/laws governing said matters; however, Judge Allen lacked jurisdiction to even make such a ruling and the matter is already properly before the Hamilton County Court of Common Pleas and the Appeal process in that matter has already begun.[36]

> Ohio Farmers Ins. Co. v. McNeil, 143 N.E.2d 727 (Ohio.App.1.Dist. Hamilton.Co.,1956) - In action by liability insurer of insured under right . . . where defendant filed a cross-petition in the Municipal Court claiming damages . . . arising out of the collision involved, the Municipal Court thereupon lost ALL jurisdiction and was REQUIRED to certify the case to the Court of Common Pleas. R.C. § 1901.22.

One may conclude that later on and upon agreement with Stor-All and/or other Conspirators, Judge Allen on or about August 6, 2009, Vacated the July 10, 2009 Order Granting Motion to Transfer for Jurisdiction. See EXHIBIT "12" – Case Summary Docket (Common Pleas) Moreover, doing so later upon determining what her role was to be in the conspiracy, vacated said ruling for the purposes of aiding and abetting in the crimes committed on or about September 9, 2009 and to aid in providing Stor-All and Co-Conspirators with a defense to Newsome's Counterclaim filed in the Hamilton County Municipal Court.

> Mayer v. Bristow, 740 N.E.2d 656 (Ohio,2000) - Vexatious litigator statute seeks to prevent abuse of the system by those persons who persistently and habitually file lawsuits without reasonable grounds, and/or otherwise engage in frivolous conduct in trial courts. R.C. § 2323.52. Also see, Cent. Ohio Transit Auth. v. Timson, 724 N.E.2d 458 (Ohio.App.10.Dist.,1998)

There is no evidence in the record of Hamilton County Court of Common Pleas, Hamilton County Municipal Court or any other courts to sustain the labeling of Newsome as a "serial/vexatious" litigator. Stor-All relies on such labeling for slanderous, defamatory and libel purposes. In the lawsuit in which the recent criminal acts arose, Stor-All was the one that brought the lawsuit. Therefore, as a matter of right, Newsome filed her Counterclaim to recover from the injury/harm/damages sustained. Stor-All did so because it thought such labeling of Newsome would provide them a victory. However, such criminal acts and civil wrongs have opened the door for additional legal action to be brought against Stor-All and its Co-Conspirators as well as IMPRISONMENT, SANCTIONS, DISBARMENT, ETC. for those who engaged in such conspiracy with it leveled against Newsome.

Stor-All and Co-Conspirators knew or should have known that Newsome's testimony would be inevitable and necessary to expose the PATTERN-OF PRACTICE/PATTERN-OF-CONDUCT underlying the conspiracy leveled against her. To Stor-All and its Co-Conspirators disappointment, Newsome had filed a Complaint with the United States Legislature/Congress in July 2008, and in December 2008, went to Washington, D.C. to determine the status of the Complaint and is doing so through the appropriate avenues. Now that there is a new Administration (Barack Obama) – who has promised CHANGE - in office, Newsome has approached the Administration to assist her in finding out the status of her July 2008 Complaint – Newsome would not be surprised if Stor-All's insured's attorneys and others are pressuring their lobbyist hard to keep their criminal acts from being exposed. On or about June 19, 2009, Newsome obtained correspondence from one of President Barack Obama's Assistant and responded accordingly. See. EXHIBIT "13" – June 19, 2009 Letter attached hereto. The Stor-All matter has also been brought to the attention of President Barack Obama and the appropriate Cabinet to address the conspiracy and Stor-All's engagement in the one it has initiated as well as its role (if any) in furtherance of conspiracies initiated by others against Newsome. Said cover-up and destroying of evidence could not be accomplished without: (a) Stor-All obtaining an unlawful/illegal Entry by Judge West on or about April 29, 2009, Granting Bifurcation and Remand. Once Judge West completed his role in the conspiracy – with knowledge that Municipal Court lacked jurisdiction – Stor-All pounced on such criminal acts of Judge West and filed in the Hamilton County Municipal Court (Case No. 09CV01690) its Motion for Partial Summary Judgment With Affidavit of Leslie Smart Attached; and (b) Judge Allen on September 9, 2009, executed NULL/VOID Writ of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment. Once Judge Allen completed her role in the conspiracy, Stor-All and other Co-Conspirators moved swiftly to act Allen's rulings. As a direct and proximate result of Judge West's and Judge Allen's role in the conspiracy, they aided and abetted the commission of a series of crimes to be carried out by other Conspirators. Judge West and Judge Allen aided and abetted with knowledge they were engaging in criminal activity – moreover, the record evidence will support that courts were timely, properly and adequately notified through filing of Newsome of criminal acts. To no avail. Judge Allen and Judge West willingly and knowingly authorized the carrying out of criminal acts against Newsome. Having the power to prevent, elected instead to engage in the crimes of their Co-Conspirators.] of the conspiracy needed by Newsome to support the motive behind the criminal actions and the OBJECT of the conspiracy and crimes leveled against Newsome.

Newsome believes through the investigation of the FBI it may be found that Stor-All and Co-

Conspirators relied upon NOTICE OF INTENT TO ENFORCE LIEN ON STORED PROPERTY PURSUANT TO RC §5322.01, ET SEQ. through the use of sham legal process to unlawfully/illegally seize and take the property from tenants. Moreover, Stor-All may have carried out numerous crimes under USING SHAM LEGAL PROCESS through issuances of said Notice of Intent to Enforce. . . to tenants who were not aware that their rights were being violated and from contents of such Notices of Intent to Enforce. . . which stated in part:

> 5. UNLESS PAYMENT IS MADE WITHIN TEN DAYS FROM THE DATE THIS NOTICE IS DELIVERED, THE PERSONAL PROPERTY WILL BE ADVERTISED FOR SALE AND WILL BE SOLD BY AUCTION AT OWNER'S FACILITY WHERE THE PROPERTY IS STORED ON January 7, 2009 at 12:00 NOON. IF NO PERSON PURCHASES THE PERSONAL PROPERTY IT MAY BE SOLD AT A PRIVATE SALE OR DESTROYED.

If Newsome received said Notices, most likely other tenants did also. Moreover, that Stor-All committed such crimes without following the statutes/laws governing Landlord and Tenant matters (i.e. first bringing forcible entry and detainer action), but putting the cart-before-the-horse and fulfilling the threats set forth in its Notice of Intent to Enforce. . . Stor-All did so with knowledge that tenant(s) may believe such actions were lawful – when they were not. Newsome through corresponding with Stor-All's representatives (Lori Whiteside and Leslie Calhoun) advised that such practices were prohibited by law. Newsome is confident that an investigation into her FBI Criminal Complaint filed will support that Stor-All and its Co-Conspirators are HABITUAL offenders of the law and obtain tenants' property (as it did on or about September 9, 2009 with Newsome's) through criminal activity through sham legal process.

O.R.C. § 2921.52 USING SHAM LEGAL PROCESS.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Lawfully issued" means adopted, issued, or rendered in accordance with the United States constitution, the constitution of a state, and the applicable statutes, rules, regulations, and ordinances of the United States, a state, and the political subdivisions of a state.

(2) "State" means a state of the United States, including without limitation, the state legislature, the highest court of the state that has statewide jurisdiction, the offices of all elected state officers, and all departments, boards, offices, commissions, agencies, institutions, and other instrumentalities of the state. "State" does not include the political subdivisions of the state.. . .

(4) "Sham legal process" means an instrument that meets all of the following conditions:

(a) It is not lawfully issued.

(b) It purports to do any of the following:

(i) To be a summons, subpoena, judgment, or order of a court, a law enforcement officer, or a legislative, executive, or administrative body.

(ii) To assert jurisdiction over or determine the legal or equitable status, rights, duties, powers, or privileges of any person or property.

(iii) To require or authorize the search, seizure, indictment, arrest, trial, or sentencing of any person or property.

(c) It is designed to make another person believe that it is lawfully issued.

(B) No person shall, knowing the sham legal process to be sham legal process, do any of the following:

(1) Knowingly issue, display, deliver, distribute, or otherwise use sham legal process;

(2) Knowingly use sham legal process to arrest, detain, search, or seize any person or the property of another person;

(3) Knowingly commit or facilitate the commission of an offense, using sham legal process;

(4) Knowingly commit a felony by using sham legal process.

(C) It is an affirmative defense to a charge under division (B)(1) or (2) of this section that the use of sham legal process was for a lawful purpose.

(D) Whoever violates this section is guilty of using sham legal process. A violation of division (B)(1) of this section is a misdemeanor of the fourth degree. A violation of division (B)(2) or (3) of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree, except that, if the purpose of a violation of division (B)(3) of this section is to commit or facilitate the commission of a felony, a violation of division (B)(3) of this section is a felony of the fourth degree. A violation of division (B)(4) of this section is a felony of the third degree.

(E) A person who violates this section is liable in a civil action to any person harmed by the violation for injury, death, or loss to person or property incurred as a result of the commission of the offense and for reasonable attorney's fees, court costs, and other expenses incurred as a result of prosecuting the civil action commenced under this division. A civil action under this division is not the exclusive remedy of a person who incurs injury, death, or loss to person or property as a result of a violation of this section.

Once Newsome exposed Stor-All of its criminal activities, in an effort to cover-up such crimes, Stor-All held what it called an "Amnesty Weekend" wherein it advised in part:

I appreciate your providing the applicable Landlord Tenant portions of the law. I have actually contacted Dave Meranus in Cincinnati, Ohio and forwarded our file on your unit for his review and instruction to see if we would be better off to move forward with a Forcible Entry and Detainer action. Dave is to get back with me next week.

However, in lieu of taking these steps and trying to bring this matter to a close, Stor All Alfred is in the process of scheduling an > amnesty weekend of January 9, 10, and 11, 2009, at which time we are going to have a moving truck and driver available for any of the tenants that wish to vacate the premises at absolutely no cost to the tenant. . . .

See EXHIBIT "14" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. Stor-All was timely notified that it was acting in the violation of the law in the taking of Newsome's storage unit and property. To no avail. See EXHIBIT "15" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. Nevertheless, Stor-All wanted Newsome to believe that it was a good deal – Newsome smelled a rat and was not going to bite and waive any such rights to which she may be entitled to. Had Newsome participated in the Amnesty Weekend, she would have waived said rights to bring her counterclaim. Neither was Newsome required to give into Stor-All's extortion/blackmail demands. Stor-All was already in illegal/unlawful possession of Newsome' storage unit and property.[37] However, the question would go to how many other tenants were victimized by Stor-All's criminal activities and its using sham legal process through Notice of Intent to Enforce. . . that were not properly and/or lawfully executed and were carried out by Stor-All without bringing the required Forcible Entry and Detainer action as required under the laws first to have tenant removed. Moreover, as with Newsome, Stor-All and Co-Conspirators may have unlawfully/illegally seized other tenants' property without legal and lawful process. Newsome believes all of this will come out in the wash and those committing such crimes will be INDICTED as required in that they are "SERIAL/HABITUAL" violators of the laws.

Stor-All and its Co-Conspirators relying on the ignorance in the law of their victims and destroying the life of their victims based on their victims lack of knowledge in the statutes/laws of Ohio. Stor-All's Lori Whiteside making it known to Newsome her experience in the legal field – well the FBI Complaint will determine the depths of such experience and how she and others used it to knowingly commit criminal acts against citizens and/or the public for the purposes of benefiting her employer (Stor-All) and Co-Conspirators having an interest in the crimes being committed.

STOR-ALL MATTER:

9. In the lawsuit giving rise to the criminal wrongs rendered on or about September 9, 2009, it was the Landlord (Stor-All Alfred, LLC) that brought a frivolous lawsuit against Newsome on or about January 20, 2009, which was met with Newsome's Answer to Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer; Notification Accompanying Counter-Claim; Counter-Claim and Demand for Jury Trial. It is Stor-All and its counsel/representatives that are vexatious litigators. While Newsome has advised the courts through filings of Stor-All's vexatious behavior and requested sanctions against Stor-All and its counsel, to date nothing has been done. Instead, Stor-All has relied upon its knowledge of Newsome's engagement in protected activities to carry out such criminal/civil wrongs against Newsome. Such

A notice by the landlord that the tenancy is being terminated, combined with a demand by him or her for possession of the premises, and voluntary compliance therewith by the tenant without protest, is not an eviction for which damages may be recovered. (Greenberg v. Murphy, 16 Ohio C.D. 359, 1904 WL 1147 (Ohio Cir. Ct. 1904)). [Practice Guide: If the tenant is rightfully in possession and entitled to remain, the tenant SHOULD AWAIT legal proceedings that are threatened, and make defense thereto, RATHER THAN COMPLY with the demand*, and then bring an action for alleged damages that perhaps never would have resulted. (Greenberg)]

Where a tenant, upon request or notice to vacate, VOLUNTARILY abandons the premises without protest, no action for damages against the landlord, based on fraud or misrepresentations as to the reasons for such request can be maintained under rights recognized by the common law, or any statute of Ohio. (Ferguson v. Buddenberg, 87 Ohio App. 326, 42 Ohio Op. 488, 57 Ohio L. Abs. 473, 94 N.E.2d 568 (1st Dist. Hamilton County 1950)).

In an eviction action for nonpayment of rent brought by a landlord pursuant to RC Ch 1923, a tenant MAY RESPOND by asserting any legal defense he has to that action, pursuant to RC 1923.061(A), and/or by filing a COUNTERCLAIM for damages caused by the landlord's breach of the rental agreement and/or the landlord's breach of his duties under RC 5321.04. Smith v. Wright (Ohio App. 1979) 65 Ohio App.2d 101, 416 N.E.2d 655, 19 O.O.3d 59.

criminal/civil wrongs are racially motivated and fueled by Stor-All's and/or its representatives' knowledge of Newsome's engagement in protected activities involving Civil Rights violations (i.e. Title VII, Fair Housing Act, etc.). In fact, the record evidence of the courts will support Stor-All's and/or its counsel/representative's knowledge of Newsome's engagement in protected activities. See February 6, 2009, letter to Stor-All's counsel (David Meranus) memorializing Stor-All's and/or its counsel's knowledge of Newsome's engagement in protected activity. Moreover, such acknowledgement addresses matters Newsome is engaged in New Orleans, Louisiana – EXHIBIT "1" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein. Now a reasonable mind may conclude from said evidence that Stor-All and its counsel's filing of lawsuit against Newsome was for ill and unlawful/illegal purposes. Roo v. Sain, 2005 -Ohio- 2436 (Ohio.App.10.Dist.,2005). Said lawsuit brought by Stor-All against Newsome was met with a timely Counterclaim.

10. Stor-All's filing of Forcible Entry and Detainer action was filed for purposes of extorting and blackmailing monies from Newsome to which it knew and/or should have known it was not entitled to. The good thing about it, is that the record evidence supports that Stor-All and its Co-Conspirators were timely, properly and adequately placed on notice of criminal activities it was engaging in. Nevertheless, made a conscious, willful and deliberate decision to proceed on such a destructive course.

11. Stor-All's nosiness and prying into affairs which was none of its concerns has cost it deeply. Oh, let Newsome not forget to quote where this law is found – I Peter 14:15 (But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evildoer, or as a busybody in other men's matters.) So one can see where Stor-All is.

12. While Stor-All was aware that Newsome had filed a lawsuit and the damages claimed, it failed to file an Answer to Newsome's Counterclaim in the time allowed under the statutes/laws governing said matters. Instead, Stor-All relied upon its insurance provider (Liberty Mutual Insurance) to attempt to file a pleading in the lawsuit through Liberty Mutual's counsel (Molly G. Vance) without her making an appearance in the lawsuit on behalf of Stor-All and/or Liberty Mutual. Vance relying on such frivolous defense tactics which have proven to be fatal to Stor-All's defense to Newsome's Counterclaim because of their defense to bank on the "serial/vexatious" litigator defense. Vance knew and/or should have known that Ohio law MANDATORILY requires an Entry of Appearance be filed; however, with said knowledge she made a conscience decision not to enter one perhaps because Newsome is pro se and thought that Newsome would not challenge such dilatory tactics used to obstruct justice as well as bringing Stor-All's insurance carrier (Liberty Mutual Insurance) into the jurisdiction of the court. A defense strategy which has backfired against Stor-All and has been very beneficial to Newsome's Counterclaim:

> Partin v. Pletcher, Case No. 08CA5, COURT OF APPEALS OF OHIO, FOURTH APPELLATE DISTRICT, JACKSON COUNTY, 2008 Ohio 6749; 2008 Ohio App. LEXIS 5637, December 12, 2008, Date Journalized
> For a court to acquire jurisdiction there must . . . an entry of appearance, and a judgment rendered without proper service or entry of appearance is a nullity and void. A decision entered without jurisdiction is unauthorized by law and amounts to usurpation of judicial power.

Vance having approximately six (6) years of experience as an attorney; therefore, a reasonable mind may conclude that she knew and/or should have known that she was not allowed to file any pleadings/documents in the lawsuit Stor-All brought against Newsome without filing the proper Appearance Form/Entry of Appearance.

> The Court: Well, you haven't even entered an appearance. How can you ask for a continuance?
> {¶ 14} Our review of the record reveals that at the hearing on May 22, 2008, attorney Warner advised the trial court that he was admitted to the Ohio bar and licensed to practice before the courts in the state of Ohio. Additionally, attorney Warner is employed by Javitch, Block & Rathbone, L.L.P., which is the same firm that employs attorney McCann, whose name appears on the pleadings in this case on behalf of FIA. Furthermore, we note that the appearance of attorney Warner as substitute counsel for attorney McCann was in no way prejudicial to the appellee in this case.
> {¶ 15} Based on the foregoing, as the appearance of attorney Warner as substitute counsel was in no way prejudicial to the appellee, we find that the trial court abused its discretion by dismissing FIA's case for failure to prosecute pursuant to Civ.R. 41(B)(1). Accordingly, FIA's sole assignment of error is sustained.

In Stor-All's lawsuit, Meranus filed the Forcible Entry and Detainer action on behalf of his client. Meranus is with the law firm of Schwartz Manes Ruby & Slovin. Molly G. Vance at the time of filing of pleading in the Hamilton County Court of Common Pleas, was not an attorney with the law firm of that Meranus is employed by. In fact, Vance is simply an attorney for the insurance company (Liberty Mutual). Therefore, as a matter of law, Vance was to file an Entry of Appearance. Any ruling on pleadings filed by Vance are deemed NULL/VOID and are unenforceable. While Newsome had no duty to notify opposing counsel of such error – if that, in that Stor-All's failure to correct may leave a reasonable mind to conclude that such actions was a dilatory and defense tactic used by Stor-All which has led to its demise in the Forcible Entry and Detainer action because of its failure to timely respond to Newsome's Counterclaim and cannot provide good cause for said failure. Moreover, a reasonable mind may conclude that Stor-All relied upon the "serial/vexatious" litigator defense and placed all of its eggs in that basket which has also come up against a brick wall and is a matter which now goes to support Newsome's Complaint that she has taken to Washington, D.C. and awaiting status thereof – supporting Stor-All's role in furtherance of conspiracies known to it that has been leveled by others against Newsome.

In fact the Hamilton County Court of Common Pleas handling of this matter entering a ruling without requiring Entry of Appearance be filed by Vance goes against its own rulings and that of other courts shown above and as follows:

> Collins v. Collins, 844 N.E.2d 910 (Ohio.App.1.Dist.Hamilton. Co.,2006) - For a court to acquire personal jurisdiction, there must be . . . an entry of appearance, and a judgment entered without . . . an entry of appearance is null and void.
> Miami Exporting Co. v. Brown, 6 Ohio 535 (Ohio,1834) - *A judgment without notice, and without the appearance of the party against whom it was rendered, is a nullity.
> State ex rel. Estate of Miles v. Village of Piketon, 2009 -Ohio- 786 (Ohio,2009) - For a court to acquire jurisdiction there must be. . . an entry > of appearance, and a judgment rendered without proper . . . entry of appearance is a nullity and void.

Nevertheless, when dealing with this matter, the courts have allowed Stor-All, its counsel and others to violate the laws and by doing so, have infringed upon the rights of Newsome. Clearly supporting partiality on behalf of the Hamilton County Court of Common Pleas through Judge West and the Hamilton County Municipal Court through Judge Allen to infringe upon the Constitutional rights of Newsome and its deliberate efforts to evade the statutes/laws governing said matters to provide Stor-All and its representatives with an unlawful/illegal and undue advantage in the lawsuit over Newsome.

13. The record evidence will support that on or about February 25, 2009, Stor-All was timely, properly and adequately placed on notice through Newsome's filings entitled - (a) Defendant's Objection to Plaintiff's Motion for Enlargement of Time; and (b) Defendant's Motion to Strike Plaintiff's Motion for Leave to File Memorandum in Opposition to Motion for Rule 11 Sanctions – Submitted by Attorneys David Meranus and Molly G. Vance on Behalf of Plaintiff; and Requests for Rule 11 Sanctions - with this Court of its errors/mistakes (if any – could have been defense strategy that backfired) that an appearance for Vance was lacking in the record. Supporting Stor-All being timely notified with approximately 12 days still remaining before its March 9, 2009 deadline to answer or otherwise plead expired. Although Stor-All was notified, it failed to take immediate action to preserve any such defense and/or rights that it may have to file its answer or otherwise plead.

14. The decision of the higher courts are clear that a motion for leave (as that filed by Vance) to answer or otherwise plead did not submit Stor-All to the jurisdiction of this Court and neither could Judge West grant relief sought through filings submitted by Vance. Nevertheless, Judge West, determined to fulfill is role in the conspiracy and engagement in criminal activity, granted the relief Stor-All was not entitled to for purposes of depriving Newsome equal protection of the laws, due process of laws, interfering with civil right, and infringing upon the rights of Newsome. Without the Vance's entry of appearance because she wanted to prevent/avoid bringing Liberty Mutual into the jurisdiction of the court, knowing that Liberty Mutual is Stor-All's insurance carrier, a reasonable mind may conclude that Vance deliberately and knowingly failed to file the required appearance document to preserve any rights that Stor-All may assert. The record evidence is clear that Meranus abandoned Stor-All in defense to Newsome's Counterclaim – moreover, because of a possible conflict of interest. Therefore, a reasonable mind may conclude Vance's failure to do so may also be contributed to her knowledge of a conflict of interest[38] in this lawsuit as well. As found by the Ohio Supreme Court:

> A defendant "appears" in an action when he or she asserts a motion against the merits of the plaintiff's pleading (Handy v. Insurance Co., 37 Ohio St 366; Smith v. Hoover, 39 Ohio St 249; Klein v. Lust, 110 Ohio St 197); however, a motion for leave to move or otherwise plead does not submit the defendant to the jurisdiction of the court. Maryhew v. Yova, 11 Ohio St 3d 154, 11 Ohio BR 471, 464 NE2d 538 (1984) – request by defendant to trial court for leave to move or otherwise plead is not motion or responsive pleading contemplated by Civ R 7, and obtaining of such order does not constitute waiver under Civ R 12(H) of any affirmative defenses, nor does it submit defendant to jurisdiction of court).
> Maryhew v. Yova, 464 NE2d 538 (1984) – [HN 11] Obtaining a stipulation to extend time in which to answer is not a waiver of the defense of lack of jurisdiction of the person.[39] . . .
> An exception to the general rule that an appearance does not waive objections to jurisdiction is when the defendant's appearance gives rise to some prejudice or detriment to the plaintiff, such as the expiration of the statute of [38] A reasonable mind may conclude that Vance's failure to enter an appearance was a direct and proximate result of her knowledge that any said entry may present a CONFLICT OF INTEREST in that she appears to be counsel for Stor-All's insurance carrier, Liberty Mutual, as well as not wanting to subject Liberty Mutual to the jurisdiction of the court. Liberty Mutual, which recently settled a claim with Newsome regarding one of its other insured – See EXHIBIT "__" attached hereto. Liberty Mutual which may have an interest in other matters relating to Newsome which is outside this lawsuit and may therefore, present a conflict of interest and further support the "Pattern-of-Practice"/"Pattern-of-Conduct" asserted in this instant filing. Thus, most likely the insurance carrier Stor-All's counsel (David Meranus) on February 6, 2009, advised Newsome would be the one that would be making payment for any damages/injury she has sustained in its lawsuit brought against her. – See EXHIBIT "__" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein. Thus, a reasonable mind may conclude that Vance's actions in this matter was simply to make Newsome aware of who the insurance carrier was because of Liberty Mutual's recent settlement with her in another matter. Therefore, Vance may have hoped that such knowledge and that provided by Meranus of her engagement in protected activities in matters outside this litigation, would cause Newsome to abandon her Counterclaim (in which she did not).

[39] [543] Finally, in Spearman v. Sterling Steamship Co. (E.D. Pa 1959), 171 F.Supp. 287, 289, [*159] the court stated the general rule that [HN11] "obtaining a stipulation to extend time in which to answer is not a waiver of the defense of lack of jurisdiction of the person. . .

> limitations. Blank v. Bitker, (7th Cir. 1943), 135 F.2d 962; Spearman v. Sterling Steamship Co., supra, at 289.
> To conclude otherwise is to give carte blanche to keen defense lawyers to play a jurisdictional game of cat and mouse, promoting judicial chicanery, frustrating justice and the application of substantive law. It does violence to a basic tenet from the Apostle Paul: "The letter of the law killeth; the spirit giveth life."

Vance may have thought she was being keen in not entering her appearance in hopes that Newsome would not know that it is a mandatory requirement under the laws of the State of Ohio; however, to Stor-All's demise, Newsome researched the issue and indeed found that such an appearance is required before a court can obtain jurisdiction over a party to the action. Moreover, enter a judgment on a motion filed by Vance. The record evidence is further silent by any such defense being asserted in a motion for leave submitted by either Meranus or Vance. Apparently as with the Ohio Supreme Court's decision in Maryhew, it relies on the Good book and quotes from the Apostle Paul – addressing the importance of the law. It's just good to live right. It was Stor-All who filed the lawsuit against Newsome which was met by her Counterclaim. Stor-All should have never jumped into the ocean (brought the lawsuit against Newsome) if it wasn't going to swim – especially without a life jacket.

15. Meranus elected to abandon Stor-All on Newsome's Counterclaim. Therefore, when Meranus decided to abandon his client, it was up to Stor-All's insurance company, Liberty Mutual, to insure counsel and pay for counsel for Stor-All and for itself. Moreover, to retain an attorney and have said attorney enter an appearance. Doing so within the time allowed under the rules and procedures governing said matters. The record evidence will support that Liberty Mutual was aware of Newsome's Counterclaim and that it was timely, properly and adequately placed on notice that no appearance on behalf of Stor-All had been entered by an attorney (Vance) who it allowed to walk in off the street and file a pleading on its behalf. Even with such courtesy notices advising of said failure through filings by Newsome, Stor-All elected to ignore her warnings and file the required documents to preserve any such rights it may have had in the lawsuit it brought against Newsome. Stor-All doing so based on its knowledge of Newsome's engagement in protected activities; moreover, its intent to use as a defense its knowledge of Newsome's engagement in protected activities to prejudice the court(s) against Newsome. In so doing, the actions of Stor-All's counsel has proven to fatal and detrimental to any such defenses it may have wanted to assert.

> Red Head Brass, Inc. v. Buckeye Union Ins. Co., 735 N.E.2d 48(Ohio.App.9.Dist.Wayne.Co.,1999) - When an insurer's interests and those of its insured are mutually exclusive, the insurer must pay for counsel for the insured as well as for its own counsel.

16. Stor-All failed to answer within the time allowed. Furthermore, it failed to move by an appropriate motion for an enlargement of time showing "excusable neglect" to support said failure. The record evidence will support that through filings submitted by Newsome in Stor-All lawsuit, Stor-All was timely, properly and adequately placed on notice that the time for it to file its answer was still running. Newsome in good faith took the time to advise Stor-All of its errors/mistakes (if that). To no avail. Stor-All failed to correct any such errors/mistakes (if any) timely brought to its attention. Said failure clearly supporting Stor-All's deliberate and intentional acts to waive any such rights that it may assert – moreover, any defense as to excusable neglect. Therefore, Stor-All is barred from filing its Answer to Counterclaim. Thus, warranting said Answer to Counterclaim to be stricken from the record – which Newsome has requested to be done through the proper motion timely, properly and adequately filed with court.

> Notably then, a defendant seeking to file an answer after time has already expired must show "excusable neglect" by an appropriate motion; if the defendant fails to demonstrate "excusable neglect," that defendant is barred from filing an answer. Farmers & Merchants State & Savings Bank v. Raymond G. Barr Enterprises, Inc., 6 Ohio App 3d 43, 6 Ohio BR 153, 452 NE2d 521 (1982).

17. Stor-All's remedy for its counsel's neglect is through a malpractice action of and against its counsel, rather than continuing to burden, harass, vex, etc. Newsome through such malicious and frivolous practices which requires Newsome to file the appropriate actions in preservation of her rights.

> Arnold & Caruso, Ltd. v. Nyktas, 2005 -Ohio- 5566 (Ohio.App.6.Dist. Lucas.Co.,2005) - Client who sought to set aside default judgment that was entered after he failed to respond to law firm's complaint to recover unpaid legal fees did not allege facts establishing that his failure to respond to complaint was due to excusable neglect, and thus trial court did not abuse its discretion by denying motion for relief from judgment without a hearing; client alleged that he was out of the country, did not speak English, and relied on newly-hired attorney to respond to complaint, none of which constituted excusable neglect, and client's remedy for new attorney's failure to respond to complaint was a malpractice action, rather than the revival of law firm's action.
> Huffer v. Cicero, 667 N.E.2d 1031(Ohio.App.4.Dist.Highland. Co.,1995) - Default judgment was properly entered against attorney in legal malpractice action; attorney repeatedly refused service of process and ignored mandates of Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure, attorney's answer was untimely, and trial court found that attorney offered no grounds for excusable neglect.

18. Stor-All and/or its counsel/representatives failed to file timely pleadings in the lawsuit brought against Newsome because it was confident that addressing and exposing Newsome's engagement in protected activities would seal their fate in obtaining an undue and unlawful/illegal advantage over Newsome. Therefore, Stor-All and/or its counsel/representative(s) felt they had no need to defend against Newsome's Counterclaim. Stor-All and its counsel/representatives doing so because it was aware of the conspiracy leveled against Newsome and knew of its role in a conspiracy entered into with others was in furtherance of conspiracy. A conspiracy that is racially motivated and conspiracy initiated against Newsome for exercising protected rights and seeking damages/liability from the injury/harm sustained from the unlawful/illegal acts rendered.

19. The January 20, 2009 lawsuit filed by Meranus on behalf of Stor-All was done with malicious intent and motive. Meranus and Stor-All knew and/or should have known that the malicious prosecution sought against Newsome had no merits and was precluded by statutes/laws governing said matters. Stor-All brought its frivolous Forcible Entry/Detainer matter with knowledge that it had no legal basis or evidence to sustain it. Nevertheless, Stor-All brought legal action against Newsome in furtherance of conspiracy to deprive Newsome rights secured to her under the Constitution (Ohio and U.S.), Civil Rights Act, Landlord & Tenant Act and other statutes/laws governing said matters.

20. Based upon the vexatious litigation practices of Stor-All, the facts, evidence and legal conclusions contained herein, the law warrants the bringing of the appropriate legal actions against Stor-All's counsel (Meranus, Lively, Healy, Vance and Decker) as well as practicing attorney(s) within Stor-All having knowledge of the criminal acts and conflict of interest that arose. Moreover, the conspiracy in which Stor-All and Co-Conspirators engaged in and induced others to participate in. The appropriate disciplinary proceedings are warranted against Stor-All's counsel for having knowledge of furtherance of conspiracy leveled against Newsome because of her engagement in protected activity; however, doing nothing to deter such criminal actions of other Stor-All representatives (which include Whiteside and Smart). Stor-All's counsel encouraging and/or instructing Stor-All to engage in criminal acts and/or Stor-All employing counsel to carry out criminal activities on its is in violation of the Code of Professional Conduct. It is apparent from Stor-All and its counsel, all were WILLING participants in the criminal activities and conspiracy leveled against Newsome.

> Ohio State Bar Ass'n v. Weaver, 322 N.E.2d 665 (Ohio,1975) - Disciplinary proceedings are neither civil nor criminal; they are instituted to safeguard the courts and to protect the public from the misconduct of those who are licensed to practice law.

21. The appropriate disciplinary actions are warranted against Stor-All's counsel within the time required under statutes/laws governing said matters. Newsome intends to bring the appropriate complaint for disciplinary action. With foresight (based on February 6, 2009 actions of Meranus and Co-Conspirators) that Stor-All's counsel and its client would continue on such a destructive course, Newsome in March 2009, requested that she be sent the proper paperwork – See EXHIBIT "16" – Office of Disciplinary Counsel – The Supreme Court of Ohio attached hereto and incorporated by reference. Now that on or about September 9, 2009, Stor-All has engaged in completion of OBJECT [i.e. Conspiracy, Public Corruption, Complicity, Corruption, Aiding and Abetting, Extortion, Blackmail, Bribery, Coercion, Retaliation, Pattern of Conduct, Intimidation, Deprivation of Rights, Power/Failure to Prevent, Stalking/Menacing by Stalking, Burglary, Trespass, Breaking and Entering, Theft, Larceny, Invasion, Unlawful Entry/Forcible Action, Obstruction of Justice, Color of Law, Conspiracy Against Rights, Conspiracy to Interfere With Civil Rights] of conspiracy and has unlawful/illegally taken Newsome's storage unit and property and obtained a NULL/VOID/UNENFORCEABLE Writ of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment for purposes of providing it with a defense to her Counterclaim, the FBI Complaint has been filed and she will be filing the appropriate complaint/charge with the Office of Disciplinary Counsel of and against Stor-All's counsel (Meranus, Lively, Healy, Vance, and other attorneys having knowledge of the criminal activity and conspiracy being engaged in against Newsome; however, failed to deter/prevent or report such crimes).

22. The unlawful/illegal and unethical practices of Stor-All's counsel was timely, properly and adequately brought to the attention of the courts' representatives (Judge West and Judge Allen) to no avail. Courts had a duty to deter such unlawful/illegal and unethical practices of Stor-All and/or its counsel. As a matter of law, Newsome believes the Court upon learning of such violations by Stor-All's counsel, had a duty/obligation to initiate the appropriate disciplinary proceedings to deter such acts of Stor-All's attorneys and to further protect the public (which includes Newsome) from egregious acts of Stor-All's attorneys who hold a license; however, has used such privileges under said license for purposes not intended.

> The practice of law is a privilege, rather than a right, which the state confers on an attorney during good behavior. *Columbus Bar Ass'n v. 23. Stor-All knew and/or should have known Meranus was bringing a lawsuit on its behalf with knowledge it was being filed with purposes of ill intent. Doing so with knowledge that neither he nor his client had any hopes of succeeding in the lawsuit brought against Newsome. Said lawsuit was merely in furtherance of a conspiracy to deprive Newsome equal protection of the laws, due process of laws, etc. and in furtherance of its unlawful/illegal acts – i.e. seizure of Newsome's storage unit and property, contacting her employer to get her terminated and relying upon Newsome's former employer's relationship with Stor-All's counsel's law firm through Thomas J. Breed (an attorney at Wood & Lamping ("W&L") to which Newsome worked) who was employed with Schwartz Manes & Ruby – Stor-All's counsel's law firm – prior to employment with Wood & Lamping. Stor-All's counsel bringing the instant forcible entry and detainer action with knowledge it was not warranted under existing law and could not be supported by good faith argument. Stor-All's counsel merely bringing the instant lawsuit in furtherance of unlawfully/illegally attempting to extort/blackmail monies/property from Newsome. Upon learning of Newsome's engagement in protected activity, Stor-All's counsel then attempted to use such information as further means to extort/blackmail monies/property from Newsome and efforts to force her to abandon her Counterclaim. Stor-All's counsel doing so with knowledge that it was acting in violation of the Code of Professional Responsibility and/or applicable codes governing attorney conduct and ethics as an officer of the court.

> The attorney should not accept employment on behalf of a person if the attorney knows or it is obvious this person wishes to: (a) Bring a legal action, conduct a defense, or assert a position in litigation merely for the purpose of harassing or maliciously injuring any person; or (b) Present a claim or defense in litigation that is not warranted under existing law, unless it can be supported by a good faith argument for an extension, modification or reversal of existing law. (Code of Prof. Respons, Canon 2, DR. 2-109)

24. Stor-All's counsel knew and or should have known that prior to representing Stor-All there may be a conflict of interest. However, Stor-All's counsel relied upon acts of others (which also include other attorneys) to cover-up or masks such violations under the Code of Professional Responsibility. Once Stor-All's counsel was aware of potential conflict, it merely ignored same and pursued unlawful/illegal acts for the injury/harm to Newsome for purposes of obtaining an undue advantage in this lawsuit.

> A lawyer should not accept employment if the exercise of his or her professional judgment on behalf of the client will be, or reasonably may be, affected by his or her own financial, business, property or personal interests. (Code of Prof. Respons, Canon 5, DR 5-101(A)).

25. Newsome believes record evidence will support Stor-All's counsel has violated the Code of Professional Responsibility that binds its counsel who is admitted to practice in Ohio. Said violations which warrants suspension or disbarment for: (a) obtaining information regarding Newsome's engagement in protected activity and using said information to obtain an undue advantage in this lawsuit – by conspiring with W&L for the purposes of getting her terminated from her place of employment, financially devastating her to preclude her from defending against lawsuit it knew and/or should have known Stor-All would be bringing against her, engaging in acts with others that counsel knew and/or should have known was legally and ethically wrong - said protected activities in which Newsome is engaged is protected and cannot be used against her for ill and malicious purposes as that done by Stor-All and its counsel; (b) Stor-All's counsel has engaged in conduct prohibited by law for attorneys practicing in the state of Ohio; (c) Stor-All's counsel has violated disciplinary rule with regard to moral turpitude in regards to the handling of its lawsuit; (d) Stor-All's counsel has attempted to circumvent a disciplinary rule through the actions of its client as well as its relationship with Newsome's former employer, W&L and others; (e) Stor-All's counsel has engaged in illegal conduct involving moral turpitude; (f) Stor-All's counsel has engaged in conduct known to he or she to be dishonest, fraud, deceitful and/or a misrepresentation – moreover, brought a forcible entry and detainer lawsuit with knowledge that it is frivolous and that its client is already in possession of Newsome's storage unit and property; (g) Stor-All's counsel brought the January 20, 2009 lawsuit against Newsome for the purposes of improper motive – prejudicial and discriminatory reasons – which are underlined by racial bias towards Newsome; moreover, with intent to use its knowledge of Newsome's engagement in protected activity to paint her as paranoid, a serial/vexatious litigator, a hostile person capable of murder, etc. – for scandalous and slanderous purposes – thus, supporting Stor-All's counsel's engagement in conduct that is prejudicial to the administration of justice and the obstruction of justice; furthermore, counsel engaging in conspiracy with others and continuing a pattern of illegal practices brought to its attention with the willful and malicious intent to engage court officials (i.e. Judge West and Judge Allen) into such conspiracy and the criminal/civil wrongs leveled against Newsome; and (h) Stor-All's counsel has engaged in conduct that adversely reflects on his or her fitness to practice law – moreover, willful, malicious and wanton acts for the sole purposes of destroying Newsome's life and engaging in unlawful/illegal activities with others to fulfill such ill intent which was not contemplated under the Code of Professional Responsibility and the oath taken by Stor-All's counsel to practice law in the state of Ohio.

> The Code of Professional Responsibility binds all persons admitted to practice law in Ohio, and a willful breach of its Disciplinary Rules shall be punished by reprimand, suspension or disbarment. (Sup Ct Bar R IV(1)). The Disciplinary Rule prohibiting misconduct (Code of Prof. Respons, Canon 1, DR 1-102) provides that a lawyer must not: violate a Disciplinary Rule (Code of Prof. Respons, Canon 1, DR 1-102(A)(1)) – with regard to moral turpitude, see Office of Disciplinary Counsel v. Zaller, 52 Ohio St 3d 227, 556 NE2d 8523 (1990); Disciplinary Counsel v. King, 37 Ohio St 3d 77, 523 NE2d 857 (1990); Toledo Bar Ass'n v. Potts, 9 Ohio St 3d 89, 459 NE2d 499 (1984) - or circumvent a Disciplinary Rule through actions of another (Code of Prof. Respons, Canon 1, DR 1-102(A)(2)); engage in illegal conduct involving moral turpitude (Code of Prof. Respons, Canon 1, DR 1-102(A)(3)); engage in conduct involving dishonesty, fraud, deceit or misrepresentation (Code of Prof. Respons, Canon 1, DR1-102(A)(4)); engage in conduct that is prejudicial to the administration of justice (Code of Prof. Respons, Canon 1, DR 1-102(A)(5)); engage in any other conduct that adversely reflects on his or her fitness to practice law (Code of Prof. Respons, Canon 1, DR 1-102(A)(6)).

In so doing, Stor-All and its counsel obtained the components of the object [i.e. Conspiracy, Public Corruption, Complicity, Corruption, Aiding and Abetting, Extortion, Blackmail, Bribery, Coercion, Retaliation, Pattern of Conduct, Intimidation, Deprivation of Rights, Power/Failure to Prevent, Stalking/Menacing by Stalking, Burglary, Trespass, Breaking and Entering, Theft, Larceny, Invasion, Unlawful Entry/Forcible Action, Obstruction of Justice, Color of Law, Conspiracy Against Rights, Conspiracy to Interfere With Civil Rights] needed to bring about the completion of the object/goal [i.e. COVER-UP and destroying evidence through criminal acts of Stor-All in the unlawful/illegal seizure of Newsome's storage unit and property without legal/lawful authority. Said cover-up and destroying of evidence could not be accomplished without: (a) Stor-All obtaining an unlawful/illegal Entry by Judge West on or about April 29, 2009, Granting Bifurcation and Remand. Once Judge West completed his role in the conspiracy – with knowledge that Municipal Court lacked jurisdiction – Stor-All pounced on such criminal acts of Judge West and filed in the Hamilton County Municipal Court (Case No.

Once Judge Allen completed her role in the conspiracy, Stor-All and other Co-Conspirators moved swiftly to act Allen's rulings. As a direct and proximate result of Judge West's and Judge Allen's role in the conspiracy, they aided and abetted the commission of a series of crimes to be carried out by other Conspirators. Judge West and Judge Allen aided and abetted with knowledge they were engaging in criminal activity – moreover, the record evidence will support that courts were timely, properly and adequately notified through filing of Newsome of criminal acts. To no avail. Judge Allen and Judge West willingly and knowingly authorized the carrying out of criminal acts against Newsome. Having the power to prevent, elected instead to engage in the crimes of their Co-Conspirators.] which was accomplished. - - - Now Stor-All is attempting to use the NULL/VOID of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment as a defense to obtain a lifting of a court-ordered stay and dismissal of Newsome's counterclaim. Such efforts are memorialized in Stor-All's pleadings in the Hamilton County Court of Common Pleas (Case No. A0901302) submitted for filing: September 10, 2009 Motion to Lift the Court Ordered Stay and September 18, 2009 12(B)(6) Motion to Dismiss and/or Motion for Summary Judgment on Defendant Newsome's Counterclaim With Affidavits of Leslie Smart and Lori Whiteside Attached] – to support charges in FBI Criminal Complaint. Therefore, requiring the filing of criminal complaint with the FBI.

STOR-ALL AND JUDGE WEST/JUDGE ALLEN:

26. Because Judge West's and Judge Allen's role in aiding and abetting of the crimes committed on or about September 9, 2009, Newsome has filed criminal charges with the FBI for the role said Judges played in the conspiracy. While Judge West is immune from civil liability, there is no immunity for him from criminal actions. As for Judge Allen, she is neither immune from civil or criminal actions in that it is clear and she knew jurisdiction was lacking.

Dennis v. Sparks, 101 S.Ct. 183 (U.S.Tex.,1980) - State judge may be found criminally liable for violation of civil rights even though the judge may be immune from damages under the civil statute. 18 U.S.C.A. § 242; 42 U.S.C.A. § 1983.

27. In that Stor-All succeeded in obtaining a NULL/VOID/UNENFORCIBLE Writ of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment, it obtained the OBJECT [i.e. Conspiracy, Public Corruption, Complicity, Corruption, Aiding and Abetting, Extortion, Blackmail, Bribery, Coercion, Retaliation, Pattern of Conduct, Intimidation, Deprivation of Rights, Power/Failure to Prevent, Stalking/Menacing by Stalking, Burglary, Trespass, Breaking and Entering, Theft, Larceny, Invasion, Unlawful Entry/Forcible Action, Obstruction of Justice, Color of Law, Conspiracy Against Rights, Conspiracy to Interfere With Civil Rights] of conspiracy and has unlawful/illegally taken Newsome's storage unit and property and obtained a NULL/VOID/UNENFORCEABLE Writ of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment for purposes of providing it with defense to Newsome's Counterclaim. Stor-All's action upon sham legal process sealed the fate of Judge West and Judge Allen. Moreover, sustained Judge West's and Judge Allen's aiding and abetting such criminal activities in furtherance of conspiracy leveled against Newsome. Judge West and Judge Allen being WILLING participants in the conspiracy leveled against Newsome.

> Once the conspiracy had been established, the government need show only slight evidence that a particular person was a member of the conspiracy to support a conviction under Ohio's Corrupt Activity Act for engaging in a pattern of corrupt activity; a party to the conspiracy need not know the identity, or even the number, of his confederates. R.C. § 2923.32(A)(1). State v. Silferd, 783 N.E.2d 591, 151 Ohio App.3d 103, 2002-Ohio-6801, appeal allowed 786 N.E.2d 900, 98 Ohio St.3d 1537, 2003-Ohio-1946, affirmed 789 N.E.2d 237, 99 Ohio St.3d 145, 2003-Ohio-2765. – (Ohio App.3 Dist. 2002).

Government need not show that a defendant participated in all aspects of the conspiracy; it need only prove that the defendant was a party to the general conspiratorial agreement. U.S. v. Ross, 190 F.3d 446, 1999 Fed. App. 273P. . . – (C.A. 6 Ohio 1999) – For defendant to be convicted of conspiracy, it is not necessary to show that a defendant knew the full extent of the enterprise. Id.

28. Based upon the facts, evidence and legal conclusion and in the interest of justice and benefit of protecting the public and/or citizens of the State of Ohio, both Judge West and Judge Allen should be REMOVED *immediately from the bench. The record evidence sustains that they are not honest and, therefore, there is no need to keep them on the bench; moreover, in public life. The statutes/laws governing said matters warrant that they belong behind prison bars. Therefore, in pursuit of such justice in and protection of other citizens against such criminal activities of Judge West and Judge Allen, Newsome has filed FBI Complaint against them.

CUT & PASTED FROM:

That's really the whole point. Abuse of the public trust cannot and must not be tolerated. Corrupt practices in government strike at the heart of social order and justice. And that's why the *FBI has the ticket on investigations of public corruption as a top priority. . . .

What kind of crimes? Bribery, kickbacks, and fraud. Vote buying, voter intimidation, impersonation. Political coercion. Racketeering and obstruction of justice. Trafficking of illegal drugs.

How serious of a problem is it? Last year the FBI investigated 850 cases; brought in 655 indictments/informations; and got 525 who were either convicted or chose to plead.

Last words: Straight from Teddy Roosevelt: "Unless a man is honest we have no right to keep him in public life, it matters not how brilliant his capacity, it hardly matters how great his power of doing good service on certain lines may be... No man who is corrupt, no man who condones corruption in others, can possibly do his duty by the community."

29. Through the role Judge West and Judge Allen played in the conspiracy leveled against Newsome and the bringing about of criminal actions on or about September 9, 2009, in the bringing about the execution of Writ of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment, the statutes/laws of the State of Ohio warrants said Judges have succumbed to bribery in the carrying out of their judicial duties to which Newsome has been injured/harmed an protected rights infringed upon. Therefore, said Judges are to be removed from the bench and disqualified from holding any public office, employment, or position of trust in the State of Ohio.

O.R.C. § 2921.02 Bribery.

(F) A public servant or party official who is convicted of bribery is forever disqualified from holding any public office, employment, or position of trust in this state.

30. The record evidence sustains that there was a malicious combination of two or more persons (Judge West, Judge Allen, Stor-All and other Co-Conspirators) causing injury to Newsome and her property and existence of criminal activity being the object of conspiracy leveled against Newsome and to provide Stor-All with a defense to her Counterclaim for unlawful/illegal purposes. Judge West and Judge Allen in furtherance of Stor-All's conspiracy entered said conspiracy with malicious intent to willfully, maliciously and knowingly causing injury/harm to Newsome and her property. Such criminal acts taken by Judge Allen and Stor-All on or about September 9, 2009, could not have been accomplished without the participation of Judge West and Judge Allen fulfilling their roles.

> To establish a claim of civil conspiracy under Ohio law, the following elements must be proven: (1) a malicious combination, (2) of two or more persons, (3) injury to person or property, and (4) existence of an unlawful act independent from the actual conspiracy. *Aetna Cas. Ohio 2003) – Under Ohio law, "malice" involved in tort or civil conspiracy is that state of mind under which a person does a wrongful act purposely, without reasonable or lawful excuse, to the injury of another. Id.

31. Moreover, the record evidence sustains that Judge Allen was timely, properly and adequately placed on notice that the Hamilton County Court lacked jurisdiction.

> U.S. v. Blandford, 33 F.3d 685 (C.A.6.,1994) - Proof that public official obtained payment to which he or she was not entitled with knowledge that payment was made in return for official act or exercise of official authority is sufficient to sustain conviction for extortion under Hobbs Act concerning receipt of . . . contributions or other payments, regardless of whether terms of quid pro quo were expressly articulated. 18 U.S.C.A. § 1951.

> U.S. v. Burkhart, 682 F.2d 589 (C.A.6.,1982) - Evidence was sufficient to support conviction for several violations of Hobbs Act, for obtaining property by consent "induced by wrongful use of fear under the color of official right." 18 U.S.C.A. § 1951.
> Extortion

33. A reasonable mind may conclude that both Judge West's and Judge Allen's defense to committing such egregious criminal acts under color of law was because of its knowledge that Newsome is to be seen as a "serial/vexatious" litigator – when Newsome is not. Therefore, Judge Allen has used a lawful means of process in a criminal and illegal manner to extort/blackmail monies/property from Newsome and Judge West's is equally guilty for the role he played in the aiding and abetting of conspiracy leveled against Newsome.

34. On or about September 9, 2009, Judge Allen executed Writ of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment which states in part, "YOU ARE THEREFORE HEREBY COMMANDED to cause the defendant(s) to be removed from said premises and said plaintiff(s) to have restitution of the same; also, that you levy of the goods and chattels of said defendant(s), and make costs aforesaid, and all accruing costs" for purposes of threats with intent to extort money or other property from Newsome in her aiding and abetting Stor-All in criminal activity.

35. The record evidence will support that prior to the September 9, 2009, criminal acts of Judge Allen and Co-Conspirators, through written instrument dated July 16, 2009, she threatened Newsome through ENTRY SETTING CASE MANAGEMENT CONFERENCE, that, "Failure to appear will be grounds for dismissal and/or default; failure to appear may also be contempt of court. . .." See EXHIBIT "17" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein. Judge Allen doing so with knowledge that Newsome would not be waiving jurisdiction and neither providing the Hamilton County Municipal Court with Jurisdiction. The record evidence will support that said Court's record contain the timely filings of Newsome entitled, "DEFENDANT'S RESPONSE TO JULY 10, 2009 ORDER GRANTING MOTION TO TRANSFER FOR JURISDICTION and JULY 16, 2009 ENTRY SETTING CASE MANAGEMENT CONFERENCE – AS MATTER OF LAW, DEFENDANT IS NOT REQUIRED TO WAIF RIGHTS." Therefore, in retaliation of the defenses set forth by Newsome and Judge Allen's knowledge of Newsome's engagement in protected activities, on or about August 6, 2009, she vacated the July 10, 2009 Order Granting Motion to Transfer for Jurisdiction and on September 9, 2009, fulfilled her role in the conspiracy and issued what she knew was a NULL/VOID/UNENFORCIBLE Writ of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment for the purposes of extorting/blackmailing monies and property of Newsome.

> Ditzler v. State, 2 Ohio C.D. 702 (Ohio.Cir.,1890) - Under . . . which provides that whoever sends a written or printed communication accusing or threatening to accuse any person of any immoral conduct "which, if true, would tend to degrade and disgrace such person," with intent to extort money or other property from such person, shall be guilty, etc., an indictment for such offense must allege that the immoral conduct charged was such as "tends to degrade and disgrace" the person accused thereof, or it must allege the equivalent of such words, as they are part of the description of the offense.

36. In fact the record evidence in the Hamilton County Municipal matter (Case No. 09CV01690) will support Judge Allen on or about July 10, 2009, executed the proposed Order provided by Newsome in submittal of her Motion to Transfer; however, for some ill purposes vacated the Order without just cause and with knowledge that the Hamilton County Municipal Court lacked jurisdiction.

Therefore, a reasonable mind may conclude that the vacating of said Order and Judge Allen's execution of Writ of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment with the participation of Stor-All's counsel was ill motivated and done in furtherance of conspiracy she willingly and knowingly engaged. In so doing, depriving Newsome equal protection of the laws, due process of laws and rights secured under the applicable statutes/laws governing said matters.

37. To support and constitute the offense of willfully and corruptly oppressing in office, there was an improper, wicked, corrupt and malicious motive for the offense committed by Judge Allen – i.e. vacating July 10, 2009 Order Granting Motion to Transfer for Jurisdiction and executing 09/10/09 Writ of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment – with knowledge that she lacked jurisdiction to execute rulings, made a conscience, willful and malicious decision which she knew was done with deliberate intent to injure/harm Newsome.

> State v. Thomas, Dayton 389 (Ohio.Com.Pl.,1867) - To constitute the offense of wilfull*y* and corruptly oppressing in office, something more is required than merely acting without authority, but an improper, wicked and corrupt motive is one of the elements of the offense, which motive may be inferred from the circumstances and the acts and conduct of defendant.

38. The record evidence of the Hamilton County Municipal Court (Case No. 09CV01690) and the Hamilton County Court of Common Pleas (Case No. A0901302) will support the underlying unlawful acts [i.e. Conspiracy, Public Corruption, Complicity, Corruption, Aiding and Abetting, Extortion, Blackmail, Bribery, Coercion, Retaliation, Pattern of Conduct, Intimidation, Deprivation of Rights, Power/Failure to Prevent, Stalking/Menacing by Stalking, Burglary, Trespass, Breaking and Entering, Theft, Larceny, Invasion, Unlawful Entry/Forcible Action, Obstruction of Justice, Color of Law, Conspiracy Against Rights, Conspiracy to Interfere With Civil Rights] of Stor-All and through the committal of said crimes its efforts to obtain NULL/VOID/UNENFORCIBLE rulings [i.e. Writ of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary] in an attempt to provide Stor-All with a defense to Newsome's Counterclaim. Judge Allen having knowledge of the conspiracy Stor-All was engaged in and committed to fulfilling her role to bring about object [i.e. COVER-UP and destroying evidence through criminal acts of Stor-All in the unlawful/illegal seizure of Newsome's storage unit and property without legal/lawful authority. Said cover-up and destroying of evidence could not be accomplished without: (a) Stor-All obtaining an unlawful/illegal Entry by Judge West on or about April 29, 2009, Granting Bifurcation and Remand. Once Judge West completed his role in the conspiracy – with knowledge that Municipal Court lacked jurisdiction – Stor-All pounced on such criminal acts of Judge West and filed in the Hamilton County Municipal Court (Case No. 09CV01690) its Motion for Partial Summary Judgment With Affidavit of Leslie Smart Attached; and (b) Judge Allen on September 9, 2009, executed NULL/VOID Writ of Execution and Entry Granting Writ of Immediate Possession and Partial Summary Judgment. Once Judge Allen completed her role in the conspiracy, Stor-All and other Co-Conspirators moved swiftly to act Allen's rulings. As a direct and proximate result of Judge West's and Judge Allen's role in the conspiracy, they aided and abetted the commission of a series of crimes to be carried out by other Conspirators. Judge West and Judge Allen aided and abetted with knowledge they were engaging in criminal activity – moreover, the record evidence will support that courts were timely, properly and adequately notified through filing of Newsome of criminal acts. To no avail. Judge Allen and Judge West willingly and knowingly authorized the carrying out of criminal acts against Newsome. Having the power to prevent, elected instead to engage in the crimes of their Co-Conspirators.] of said conspiracy.

> Gosden v. Louis, 116 Ohio App.3d 195, 687 N.E.2d 481 (9th Dist. 1996) - For a civil conspiracy claim to succeed, the underlying act must be unlawful.

Ohio 1922). Participation in the conspiracy requires knowledge of the conspiracy and an act that will knowingly promote the conspiracy. Crobaugh v. State, 45 Ohio App. 410, 12 Ohio L. Abs. 404, 187 N.E. 243 (8th Dist. Cuyahoga County 1932). It does not require, however, the showing of an express agreement between the defendants to have a malicious combination to injure but only a common understanding or design, even if tacit, to commit an unlawful act. Gosden v. Louis, 116 Ohio App.3d 195, 687 N.E.2d 481 (9th Dist. Summit County 1996). In fact, not even a meeting is necessary. Pumphrey v. Quillen, 102 Ohio App. 173, 2 Ohio Op.2d 152, 141 N.E. 2d 675 (9th Dist. Summit County 1955), judgment aff'd, 165 Ohio St. 343, 59 Ohio Op. 460, 135 N.E.2d 328 (1956).

39. Stor-All's nor its insurance company's (Liberty Mutual Insurance) attorneys are not to be held to a different standard than that of nonlawyers when evaluating their participation and role in the conspiracy leveled against Newsome. Newsome's filing of FBI Complaint is because she is confident of the criminal acts of Stor-All and its Co-Conspirators and the investigation will yield evidence to sustain an ongoing conspiracy and that Stor-All through its conspiracy leveled against Newsome has knowingly, willingly and malicious attached their crimes with those of its insurance provider for the furtherance of other conspiracies made known to it.

> Lawyers are not held to a different standard from nonlawyers when their participation in a conspiracy is evaluated. 18 U.S.C.A. § 371. U.S. v. Kraig, 99 F.3d 1361, 1996 Fed.App. 355P. – (C.A. 6 Ohio 1996).

40. Newsome believes that Meranus' acknowledgement on February 6, 2009, as to her engagement in protected activities, will sustain that Stor-All upon finding out who Newsome was, was made aware of what role it was to play and its need to recruit Co-Conspirators to assist in the achieving the object of the conspiracy leveled against Newsome. Meranus thinking that advising Newsome on said date of his knowledge of her participation in protected activity would cause her to withdraw her Counterclaim. To the contrary, the information Meranus provided Newsome with the information she needed to sustain her Complaint submitted to the United States Legislature/Congress as well as Complaint filed with the proper government entities under the new Administration (Barack Obama). Furthermore, Meranus provided Newsome with damaging information to support the FBI Criminal Complaint filed resulting out of the criminal acts executed on or about September 9, 2009.

> To prove that defendant is guilty of conspiracy, the government must prove that defendant was aware of the object of the conspiracy and that he voluntarily associated himself with it to further its objectives. U.S. v. Gibbs, 182 F.3d 408, 1999 Fed.App. 140P. . . – (C.A. 6 Ohio 1999) – To be found guilty of conspiracy, defendant need not be an active participant in every phase of the conspiracy, so long as he is a party to the general conspiratorial agreement. Id.

STOR-ALL AND CO-CONSPIRATOR WOOD & LAMPING:

For purposes of conspiracy acts and establishment of "PATTERN-OF-PRACTICE"/"PATTERN-OF-CONDUCT" underlying the conspiracy leveled against Newsome, it is pertinent for Newsome to set forth the following facts to sustain conspiracy leveled against her and how it is Stor-All's prying into matters outside the legal matters it brought against Newsome, has led to its demise and that of its Co-Conspirators. Moreover, Stor-All's engagement in conspiracy in furtherance of those made known to it that has been initiated by other sources.

41. Information pertinent to this issue is to establish the relationship between Stor-All and Wood & Lamping – the common denominator. It appears the common denominator may be Thomas J. Breed – an attorney employed at Wood & Lamping, LLP ("W&L").

42. Prior to Breed's employment with W&L he was an attorney at Schwartz Manes & Ruby – now known as Schwarz Manes Ruby & Slovin ("SMR&S").

43. During Newsome's employment with W&L and at the time of her termination of employment with W&L, Newsome provided legal support/assistance to Thomas J. Breed. Stor-All and its counsel/representatives were aware of the working relationship of Newsome and Breed. Furthermore, the conflict of interest which arose from the Newsome and Breed working relationship and that of the Breed and SMR&L relationship. Moreover, the conflict of interest which would arise if W&L were to represent Newsome in any lawsuit brought by SMR&S on behalf of Stor-All. Nevertheless, with said knowledge of the conflict of interest which arose, W&L, SMR&S and Stor-All elected to proceed with knowledge that they were acting in violation of statutes/laws governing said matters; moreover, in violation of the Code of Professional Conduct.

44. When Stor-All retained Meranus to represent it in a lawsuit against Newsome it knew and/or should have known of the Conflict of Interest which arose due to Breed's relationship with SMR&S and Newsome. Nevertheless, Meranus proceeded on behalf of Stor-All and obtained assurance that Newsome's employment with W&L would be terminated to cover-up and mask such criminal acts in violation of the Code of Professional Conduct – for purposes of removing the cloak of CONFLICT OF INTEREST that existed as long as long as Newsome was employed with W&L. Therefore, Meranus/SMR&S engaged in criminal/civil wrongs for purposes of obtaining Stor-All's business and proceeded filing Stor-All's Forcible Entry and Detainer action.

STALKING:

45. In December 2008, Newsome went to Washington, D.C. to inquire into the status of her July 2008 Complaint filed with the United States Legislature/Congress submitted for filing and share her concerns of how former white employers, their attorneys, insurance companies are stalking her from job-to-job/employer-to-employer and state-to-state for purposes of getting her fired and regarding on their racial prejudices and bias in achieving said goals. While Stor-All was not aware of Newsome's trip, on February6, 2009, its counsel (Meranus) sustained the need and purpose for Newsome's trip to check on the Complaint Newsome submitted. Filing which Newsome, as a matter of law, was allowed to file:

> DeCarlo v. Schilla, 2002 -Ohio- 4186 (Ohio.App.8.Dist. Co.,2002) - Evidence was sufficient to show that defendant's pattern of conduct caused plaintiffs to believe he would cause physical harm to one or all of them, and thus, was sufficient to support finding that defendant violated menacing by stalking statute. . .

46. It is no known secret that there are racial injustices and the laws are not equally applied; however, the ongoing conspiracies leveled against Newsome as well as other African-Americans are ridiculous and clearly prohibited by law. Stor-All relies on such criminal practices for purposes of driving and attempting to get Newsome to stoop to their level and resort to crimes. However, to Stor-All's disappointment, unlike Stor-All, does not take the laws into her own hands, but report such criminal activity to the FBI and bring the appropriate lawsuits to recover damages.

47. While such criminal stalking is prohibited by law and in violation of Title VII and other governing statutes/laws, such criminal stalking executed by Stor-All is done for purposes of racial bias and prejudices against African-Americans. From such criminal acts committed by Stor-All a reasonable mind may conclude that its stalking and attacks on Newsome is to cause her injury/harm. It is no secret how difficult it is for African-Americans to get employment; however, then to allow such criminal acts such as those Stor-All has engaged in to bring about Newsome's termination is unacceptable. Resorting to criminal stalking known to be used by "certain" whites to accomplish their goals and to obtain an undue advantage over Newsome. In Newsome's Motions to Strike Plaintiff's Motion for Leave to File Memorandum in Opposition to Motion for Rule 11 Sanctions – Submitted by Attorneys David Meranus and Molly G. Vance on Behalf of Plaintiff; and Requests for Rule 11 Sanctions (Jury Trial Demanded in this Action) – See EXHIBIT "12" – Case Summary Docket (Court of Common Pleas) she addressed an incident involving a situation where whites stalked an African-American male (Carl Brandon) from job-to-job for years for purposes of driving him to commit criminal activities and destroying of his livelihood.

> Carl Brandon (an African-American male) was subjected to similar unlawful/illegal and/or criminal/civil wrongs as that of Newsome in this action – being stalked from job-to-job, employer-to-employer, and employer being contacted and notified of protected activities involved in – succumbing to violence in which perpetrators of criminal acts rendered him wanted to push him to. Thus, resulting in the shooting spree that Carl Brandon elected to engage on as a direct and proximate result of the illegal and judicial wrongs he felt was rendered him. Nevertheless, it is important to note that those engaging in the criminal/civil wrongs – stalking him from job-to-job, employer-to-employer, etc. – should be held just as liable for their role in Brandon's acts. While they may not have pulled the trigger of the gun used on the shooting spree, they engaged in acts they either knew and/or should have known may have resulted from their criminal acts and/or attacks leveled against Brandon. Those who may be familiar with what Brandon was going through noting:

"I don't know how you can consider me a danger. I was made a criminal through the system … The sexual harassment charges made against me were trumped up, yet the system allowed the board of supervisors to take them and run with them," Brandon said in court.

Karl Devine, Brandon's longtime friend, said Brandon never got over the fact that the courts upheld the board's decision to fire him in 1997.

Devine believes the years Brandon spent unsuccessfully trying to clear his name, caused him to finally snap. "Carl, would always talk about it he said 'The one thing that I want, I just want them to clear my name. They don't have to pay me, they don't have to give me no job, just clear my name," said Devine.

48. Stor-All in using such criminal stalking practices engages in such for the purposes of mentally breaking down and destroying Newsome's life. Then when exposed refer to their "play book" on how to defend against such claim and, therefore, come out of the gates labeling Newsome as a "serial/vexatious" litigator, paranoid, crazy, psychotic, potential murder, boy-who-cry-wolf, etc. and then seeks the court(s) for protective orders to which it is not entitled – it being Newsome who needs such injunctions and protective orders issued for her protection and, therefore, in her Counterclaim seeks such relief. See Stor-All's Motion for Protective/Restraining Order Against Defendant Denise V. Newsome filed with the Hamilton County Court of Common Pleas (Case No. A0901302) on March 13, 2009, to support such labeling and attacks on Newsome – See EXHIBIT "12" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

It is important to note, that a reasonable mind may conclude that Stor-All, its attorneys, insurance companies and/or Co-Conspirators have knowledge of Newsome's engagement in protected activities involving Page Kruger & Holland ("PKH"), Newsome's former employer who is representing Defendants in a lawsuit brought by Newsome who in said matter was represented by legal counsel until corrupt practices by opposing counsel to obtain an undue advantage set in. This is a matter that is presently being addressed through the proper legal action. For the factfinder to understand how such criminal stalking and pattern-of-practice/pattern-of-conduct is associated with Stor-All's lawsuit against Newsome, they need look DEEPER into Stor-All's counsel's (Meranus) knowledge of Newsome's engagement in protected activities on February 6, 2009 – See EXHIBIT "1" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.[40] In further support of the stalking and "PATTERN-OF-PRACTICE"/"PATTERN-OF-CONDUCT" underlying Stor-All's criminal acts leveled against Newsome the following information is pertinent for factfinders to know so that all the running around Stor-All is doing behind the scene and attempting to project her as a "serial/vexatious" litigator can put such sham/frivolous defense to rest:

49. Page Kruger & Holland is the law firm Newsome was employed with at the time of her arrest on February 14, 2006. Prior to her termination of employment, PKH did not advise her of any employment violations and neither was she on probation for any employment issues. In fact, during her employment, Newsome was commended on her work ethics and ability to perform the job duties assigned

[40] This will confirm that during the signing of the attached Magistrate's Decision, you brought to my attention your knowledge of legal actions brought by me in New Orleans, Louisiana. Information I believe a reasonable mind will conclude has no bearing on the above referenced lawsuit. I gather your bringing of this information was done to blackmail and/or extort monies from me – thinking I was going to drop my Counter-Claim against your client. I gathered from the way you presented the information to me, you that I was going to back down. To your disappointment, I advised you that I had a feeling that there were illegal motives behind the filing of this lawsuit on behalf of your client (Stor-All Alfred, LLC). It also appears your arrogance got the best of you. At least I now have additional information as to the reason and ill motives behind you and/or your client contacting Wood & Lamping and the reasons underlying my termination (along with the Conflict of Interest – Thomas J. Breed's relationship with Schwartz Manes Ruby & Slovin – my working directly with Breed at Wood & Lamping and the conflict that would arise if Wood & Lamping were to represent me in this matter. So to appease you and your client, my employment with Wood & Lamping was terminated and I was denied rights under the Family & Medical Leave Act, etc.) SHAME, SHAME, SHAME!!!!!!

I advised you that I was just up in Washington, D.C. in December 2008 addressing concerns of such unlawful/criminal acts committed by you and/or your client. This stalking, harassing, etc. me from state-to-state, job-to-job (CONTACTING MY EMPLOYER), is clearly prohibited by laws/statutes and clearly in violation of my Constitutional Rights (Ohio and United States), Civil Rights, Landlord & Tenant Act, etc*. Thanks for confirming my beliefs as to Wood & Lamping's motives. This is well deserved information.

While you seemed to be comfortable in advising me that it is the insurance company that is going to pay the liability, what you failed to understand is that the divulgence of your knowledge of matters regarding me in New Orleans, Louisiana opens the doors for additional claims of and against you, your law firm (Schwartz Manes Ruby & Slovin), Stor-All Alfred, LLC, Wood & Lamping and who knows who else. I THANK YOU, THANK YOU, THANK YOU. . . . . for such good news. I shared during my trip to Washington, D.C. continued concerns of conspiracies to destroy my life, liberties and pursuit of happiness, etc. and such willful, malicious and wanton acts as that committed by you and others to continue to cause me irreparable harm/injury.

My termination from employment with Wood & Lamping, LLP, your acknowledgment in Court today in efforts of extorting and/or blackmailing me, (along with other reasons known to you) etc. is clearly UNACCEPTABLE!!!! Your acts which not only violate the Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure, but that of the Ohio Code of Professional Conduct and/or other statutes/laws governing such matters. You are aware that I have filed the appropriate Motion for Sanctions and through this motion am I not only seeking sanctions but, if possible, your disbarment. When you use your profession to interfere with the life of another for unlawful/illegal gain; moreover, for racial and/or prejudicial reasons, I do not believe as an "officer of the court" that you uphold neither the integrity nor the respect of the Court and/or judicial process. The criminal/civil wrongs you, your client and others have committed against me have cause irreparable injury/harm and such acts which cannot go unaddressed.

Again, THANK YOU, THANK YOU, THANK YOU, THANK YOU, THANK YOU. . . . You know this is news/information that needs to be shared. This was the nail I needed to expose and shine the light on such criminal/civil wrong. Did you and others in cohort with you not understand the message sent on November 4, 2008 (Presidential Election) – CHANGE, NOT MORE OF THE SAME!!!!

> Vogel, First and foremost, you are doing an excellent job. These are just a few things that I thought of that might save us both some time and help things flow smoother. . . - - SUSAN O. CARR

It is important to note that since leaving PKH and from information obtained from research, Carr has since left PKH as well and is presently a Law Clerk for one of the Mississippi Courts – First Circuit. See EXHIBIT "18" attached hereto.

Attached at EXHIBIT "19" is PKH's Phone Directory/Roster attached hereto for purposes of verification.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE in looking at the PKH Phone Directory, during Newsome's employment with PKH and from her understanding of conversations while employed at PKH, there was a Legal Assistant, John Noblin, who was an attorney; however, he did not want to practice law. Therefore, as a filler (until something better came along) job, John worked at PKH as a Legal Assistant. John later left PKH to accept another job opportunity (non-legal). John is the son of the Clerk of the Court - USDC – Southern District MS (Jackson Division) – J. T. Noblin. See EXHIBITS "20" and "19" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that since Newsome's employment with PKH was terminated it appears that at least two of the attorneys are now working "WITHIN" the courts (judicial system) in Mississippi. Carr being a Law Clerk now and another attorney by the name of A.B. (Trey) Smith III is a judge in a Mississippi court. (See EXHIBIT "21" attached hereto and incorporated by reference).

> EMPHASIS ADDED: Because the evidence presented herein reveals the "special" relationships Newsome's former employers have with the courts as well as other employers and/or their attorneys special relationships with the courts and others (i.e. retired judges, Chief of Staff to the President of the United States, U.S. Secretary of State, etc. - such as Entergy's attorneys law firm Baker Donelson Bearman Caldwell & Berkowitz) moreover, the wealth, power and resources that may be behind such crimes leveled against:

The reasons provided Newsome at the time of her termination are set out in her e-mail of May 15, 2006 memorializing termination meeting. Although Newsome requested whether or not she would be given written reasons (pink slip) for her termination, PKH denied providing her with the grounds upon which it was basing its termination of her employment. Therefore, as a follow-up and to memorialize the reasons provided for Newsome's termination, she submitted their reasons provided for her termination in an e-mail:

See EXHIBIT "22" attached hereto.

IMPORTANT TO NOTE: Newsome's termination of employment occurred on Monday, May 15, 2006, only 3 days from the hearing date (May 18, 2006) set by the court in a lawsuit brought by her to hear argument from her attorney on his Motion to Withdraw. Newsome's attorney was approached by opposing counsel in that matter and advised of Newsome's engagement in lawsuit. Such criminal act by opposing counsel was done for purposes of getting Newsome's attorney to withdraw – in which they were successful in getting done through corrupt practices and their special relationships to the judges on the bench. Moreover, for purposes of obtaining an undue advantage over Newsome in legal proceedings. This is a matter, from Newsome's understanding is being investigated and has been submitted to the proper persons for handling. Tactics used here are those identical to Stor-All and its attorneys' practices in the lawsuit they have brought against Newsome. Information also pertinent for FBI Investigation filed.

> VN: Lawson: I recently had a matter occur with a Constable of Hinds County, where I am presently considering. Would this present a conflict? Thanks.

NOTE: Newsome's concerns went unaddressed. See EXHIBIT "23" attached hereto. The record evidence further supports that PKH was timely notified of Newsome's concern of conflict in its representing Hinds County, as well as her advising of considering filing a lawsuit against Constable Lewis. It is important to note that this conflict was also brought to Newsome's attention by another attorney, Raymond Fraser (African-American attorney with whom she worked and in whom Newsome advised of what had occurred – aware of Newsome's arrest.) In fact, Fraser advised Newsome that he had tried to call her back on the day she was arrested in follow up to their telephone conversation because Newsome had called Fraser during the time Constable Lewis, the landlord and others were in her residence to advise Fraser of what was going on. During said conversation Fraser confirmed that the actions being rendered were unlawful and his surprise in the way things were taking place since he had knowledge of the legal pleadings that were before the court which prohibited such practices.

It is important to note that Fraser also advised Newsome she should talk to Jamie Travis (an African-American attorney at PKH – who during the time of Newsome's employment was an Associate; however, since her termination and the filing of lawsuit, it appears PKH has made Travis a shareholder – perhaps a move to buy his silence in that from Newsome's understanding from conversations during her employment at PKH, Travis had been seeking shareholder status for a while and felt that he was entitled to it; however, PKH was not budging) in that Travis went to school with Judge Skinner and may be able to assist in getting the matter resolved. How would the average citizen with no connection to law firms, or the legal industry be aware of such a relationship? Based upon the information provided by Fraser, Newsome found the following: a) Travis completed law school (Mississippi College of Law in 1999) and was admitted to practice 09/28/1999; and b) Judge Skinner completed law school (Mississippi College of Law in December 1998, and was admitted to practice 4/27/99). See Travis' Bio at EXHIBIT "24" and Judge Skinner Bio at EXHIBIT "25" attached hereto. However, Newsome did not discuss this matter with Travis in that she knew that the actions rendered her were unlawful/illegal and the very acts of engaging Travis to seek what she took as "special" favors due to his relationship with Judge Skinner to Newsome was unethical and clearly went against Newsome's religious beliefs and concerns that she realized that African-Americans have believed for years - the judicial system is tainted and the "shady/corrupt" dealings that take place behind the scenes. Newsome definitely did not want to be a part of such corrupt practices that she as well, as other African-Americans, knew was present and the reason why the laws are so adverse towards them when faced with judicial and/or justice issues. Leaving Newsome wondering whether or not Travis used her incident and/or PKH knew from her incident that making Travis a partner/shareholder was simply a "buy-out" tactic (for his silence) – giving him an interest in the firm in efforts of warring of any liability it knew it would be facing and any other possible conflicts of interest – due to Travis' (and perhaps others) knowing of his knowledge of illegal wrongs committed in the handling of Newsome. Newsome wanted justice to be based upon the statutes/laws and not upon such improprieties.

A. CCH EEOC DECISIONS:

> Charging Party was hired by Respondent on June 4, 1968, as a bookkeeper. On November 21, 1969, Charging Party was discharged. Charging Party asserts that he had never been reprimanded in connection with his work, and that his supervisor was antagonistic because he is a Spanish surnamed American and because he filed a charge of discrimination against another employer.
>
> Respondent denies the charge and contends that Charging Party was discharged because he was belligerent, uncooperative and unable to perform work assigned.
> One of three of Respondent's officials who participated in the decision to discharge Charging Party stated in an affidavit that he had contacted an employer against whom Charging Party had made a previous Commission charge. He states that the employer recommended *that "we take action now for our own protection."* He also stated that "the material in (Charging Party's personnel file) gave indication the (Charging Party) was not rational (sic). The file reflected that he had filed a Civil Rights charge with EEOC. I was sure the same thing would eventually happen me." The record also reveals that Charging Party received salary increases of $50 and $75 per month in 1968, before Respondent became aware of Charging Party's earlier charge. There is no evidence on the record indicating that Respondent would have discharged Charging Party had it not been aware of Charging Party's earlier charge. Such an action based, at least in part, upon Charging Party's participation in Commission proceedings violates Section 704(a) of Title VII.
> Decision: There is reasonable cause to believe that Respondent engaged in an unlawful employment practice in violation of Section 704(a) of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 by discharging Charging Party.

See EXHIBIT "26" attached hereto. There is record evidence of nexus between PKH's termination of Newsome's employment and her engagement in protected activity. PKH was contacted by opposing counsel and advised of Newsome's filing of lawsuit. Such criminal practices are identical to those used by Stor-All and its attorneys/representatives – contacting of Newsome's employer and notifying of engagement in protected activities; moreover, its intent to file a lawsuit against Newsome; however, to do so, it would require that W&L terminate her employment to remove the cloak of CONFLICT OF INTEREST.

i) PKH Matter: Opposing counsel in lawsuit brought by Newsome contacts PKH and notifies of Newsome's filing of lawsuit against his client as well as additional information regarding her engagement in protected activity.

STOR-ALL Matter: Stor-All contacts W&L and notifies of Newsome's engagement in protected activity as well as problems it is having with Newsome. Stor-All to place W&L on notice of problems it was having with Newsome submitted fax to W&L's attention for purposes of review and information to be used in bringing about the termination of Newsome's employment.

ii) PKH Matter: Opposing counsel in PKH matter was busting at the seam to advise Newsome's attorney (Brandon Dorsey) of their knowledge of Newsome's engagement in protected activities – bringing a list to provide to Dorsey and the Judges during their meeting in the Judge's chambers.

STOR-ALL Matter: Just as Stor-All's counsel (Meranus) was busting at the seams on February 6, 2009, to make it known to Newsome his knowledge of her engagement in protected activities in New Orleans, Louisiana, a reasonable mind may conclude that Stor-All was anxious to share what it thought was good news regarding Newsome's in protect activities with W&L. However, has come to realize that such criminal acts has lead not only to the demise of Stor-All's case, but Stor-All's attorneys, Judge West and Judge Allen have committed "career suicide" by engaging in such criminal acts initiated by Stor-All and carried out to completion on or about September 9, 2009.

iii) PKH Matter: Newsome's employment was terminated because PKH obtained knowledge of her engagement in protected activities and for purposes of providing opposing counsel with an undue advantage over Newsome. Newsome's termination with PKH was on May 15, 2006 and hearing set before Motion to Withdraw of her attorney in another lawsuit set for May 18, 2006. Opposing parties being satisfied in obtaining the object of that leg of the conspiracy – unlawful withdrawal of Newsome's attorney. Newsome's attorney advising her that he had to live in Mississippi and feed his family. Such a statement that a reasonable mind may conclude that Dorsey succumbed to due to the threats made to him if he continued to represent Newsome. See EXHIBIT "27" – Hearing Docket Sheet to support nexus in termination and court matter (acts committed closely in time).

STOR-ALL Matter: Stor-All's, its counsel, W&L and/or Co-Conspirators agreed that Newsome's employment with W&L would be terminated. Newsome's termination with W&L occurred on January 9, 2009. Nexus: – same date that Stor-All's Amnesty Weekend began. See EXHIBIT "14" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein. Stor-All executes its NOTICE TO LEAVE THE PREMISES on January 9, 2009. Which was approximately two (2) days from the date it threatened through its NOTICE OF INTENT TO ENFORCE LIEN ON STORED PROPERTY PURSUANT TO RC §5322.01, ET SEQ.:

> 5. UNLESS PAYMENT IS MADE WITHIN TEN DAYS FROM THE DATE THIS NOTICE IS DELIVERED, THE PERSONAL PROPERTY WILL BE ADVERTISED FOR SALE AND WILL BE SOLD BY AUCTION AT OWNER'S FACILITY WHERE THE PROPERTY IS STORED ON January 7, 2009 at 12:00 NOON. IF NO PERSON PURCHASES THE PERSONAL PROPERTY IT MAY BE SOLD AT A PRIVATE SALE OR DESTROYED.

While Stor-All had began a practice of faxing Newsome correspondence, because of its knowledge that she was being terminated on said date, it did not submit said Notice to Leave the Premises to her via facsimile. W&L terminating Newsome's employment in furtherance of conspiracy and completing role in conspiracy initiated by Stor-All. W&L terminating Newsome's employment to eliminate the CONFLICT OF INTEREST that existed with her remaining in the employment of W&L (i.e. W&L representing her an any lawsuit brought by Stor-All's counsel, Meranus, because Newsome provided legal support to Thomas J. Breed – a former attorney for Schwartz Manes & Ruby a/k/a Schwartz Manes Ruby & Slovin which is Meranus' present employer – which would create a CONFLICT OF INTEREST). Stor-All and/or its counsel had notified W&L of its intent to bring a lawsuit against Newsome and the conflict that presently existed; therefore, they needed W&L's assistance in eliminating the conflict – this being the termination of Newsome's employment. On or about January 20, 2009, Stor-All filed its Forcible Entry & Detainer action against Newsome. Said action was met with Newsome's Counterclaim – Answer to Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer; Notification Accompanying Counter-Claim; Counter-Claim and Demand for Jury Trial. The unlawful/illegal and criminal acts of Stor-All and Co-Conspirators were done with willful and malicious intent and to provide Stor-All with an undue advantage in the lawsuit to be brought against Newsome.

IMPORTANT TO NOTE: On January 8, 2009, W&L had authorized Newsome's request for Medical Leave. See EXHIBIT "14" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein. However, in retaliation of such request and in keeping with its commitment to Stor-All and its counsel, W&L terminated Newsome's employment to deprive her rights secured under the Family Medical Leave Act and other statutes laws prohibiting the unlawful/illegal termination of Newsome's employment. W&L aware of the criminal/civil wrongs it was engaging in knowingly and deliberately committed criminal acts (breaking and entering Newsome's desk to remove evidence known to it to be incriminating – i.e. Employee Handbook - and destroying said evidence for purposes of obstructing justice). While attorneys (which include Thomas J. Breed) authorized Newsome's Medical Leave, W&L in an effort to cover-up such FMLA and other violations falsified and lied during a federal investigation stating that it having no knowledge of Newsome's request. During termination meeting W&L acknowledged receipt of request – which was memorialized in Newsome's follow-up letter responding to reasons provided for termination – however, when questioned, falsified that no such request was received. It is a good thing that Newsome not only had copy of letter memorializing termination meeting but recorded message of W&L's representative confirming knowledge of Newsome's request for Medical Leave AND retained copy of Employee Handbook elsewhere. A reasonable mind may conclude and there is sufficient case laws to sustain that when an employer lies/falsifies testimony, such ill acts are done to cover-up civil/criminal wrongs leveled against an employee. MOREOVER, such acts damages the CREDIBILTY of W&L and/or its representatives. Moreover, such acts by W&L is a criminal offense – there go the careers:

iv) When Stor-All and W&L were conspiring to commit legal wrongs, they knew they were committing they were committing criminal and civil wrongs; however, these conspirators must have thought because Newsome was African-American she was not too bright. Moreover, relied upon the relationships between white employers who harbor bias and prejudices against African-Americans and/or people of color. Stor-All and W&L agreeing that if legal action was brought against it, they would rely upon the "serial/vexatious" litigator defense – which has run up against a BRICK WALL and is frivolous. Instead, providing Newsome with critical and crucial evidence needed to support her December 2008 Washington, D.C. trip and evidence for further pursuits of justice. W&L finding that its engagement in such criminal activities has come back to bite them. Moreover, they have no credibility. Now seeing the criminal acts of Stor-All, Judge West, Judge Allen and other Co-Conspirators and the committal of such crimes on or about September 9, 2009, there goes their CREDIBILTY and lack of defense – moreover, PATTERN-OF-PRACTCE/ PATTERN-OF-CONDUCT. Again, Newsome reiterates – IT'S JUST GOOD TO LIVE RIGHT (taken from her daddy)!! - The proper officials have been notified. Unlike Stor-All, Newsome believes in taking the matter to the proper authorities for prosecution – i.e. as with the filing of FBI Complaint.

B. 7 POF 2D RETALIATORY JOB TERMINATION § 4:

> Among employee activities that are protected against retaliatory discharge is the filing of formal unlawful employment practices charges with the EEOC or a state employment practices commission. The filing of charges is protected even if the charge contains collateral statements which are false and apparently malicious, and this includes charges filed against a previous employer. Also protected is an employee's participation in an EEOC investigation or proceeding, or his refusal to participate in proceedings commenced by another . . .

C. PKH: JUDGE WILLIAM L. SKINNER, II ("SKINNER" OR "JUDGE SKINNER"):

NEXUS: It is important to address said matters in that it goes to nexus of matters involving Stor-All – COPYCAT CRIMES – Said copycat crimes with Newsome that has run its course and now it is time for such criminals to reap the consequences of said crimes:

50. This is a White judge presently serving in the Hinds County Court in Jackson, Mississippi. He is the son of the deceased Police Officer William Skinner – who was shot and killed during the 1971 FBI raid on the Republic of New Africa ("RNA") (EMPHASIS ADDED). Prior to this position, Judge Skinner was a judge in the Hinds County Justice Court where Newsome first had an opportunity to meet him under unpleasant circumstances and as a direct and proximate result of violations of rights secured/guaranteed under the United States Constitution, Civil Rights Act, Landlord & Tenant Act and other statutes/laws; in which Newsome's landlord was attempting to unlawfully and illegally obtain her residence and property (i.e. as Stor-All has done). The record evidence contained herein will support that Judge Skinner uses his judgeship to abuse the laws and knowingly commit civil and criminal wrongs against African-Americans; moreover, uses his position in an unlawful/illegal and unethical manner to shield/mask his retaliation and vengeance*-seeking practices* to vindicate his father's death – in which Newsome has been subjected to. Newsome having had the opportunity to experience first-hand Judge Skinner's hatred, racism and discriminatory application of the laws to African-Americans (especially if they are educated). THIS IS A JUDGE NOT FIT TO PRESIDE IN THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM AND IS TO BE REMOVED IMMEDIATELY THROUGH THE APPROPRIATE LEGAL PROCESS. Newsome having initiated the proper actions for redress.

Skinner's outrage is evidenced in an article (as there were many surrounding this incident) where Skinner make statements such as, "This man is a terrorist" and "He ran a terrorist organization, and there is no difference between him an Osama bin Laden," as he refers to Imari Obadele who was invited to speak at an event honoring Black History Month. Skinner going on to say, "I'm mad as hell, and I'm not going to take this crap" as according to reporter. (See EXHIBIT "28" attached hereto). Neither was Obadele present at the shootout/raid, according to reports, when Officer Skinner was shot. Such needless outrage by Judge Skinner apparently against a man (Obadele) who was not present at the shootout that eventually led to the death of his father.

In an article, a statement was made by a person by the name of Chokwe Lumumba which reads, "white supremacy is still alive in law enforcement as it was in the 1970's. Referring to the Hinds County Sheriff Malcolm McMillin's (one of the key defendants in a lawsuit Newsome has filed in the USDC-MS and one in which said records will support the voluminous lawsuits filed by other citizens against McMillin and/or Hinds County)) stance against Obadele's visit, he said white supremacy is alive today, but different." From the article, one may see just how prevalent the racial divide and racial injustices are, and the bitterness that flows from such behavior. Moreover, this instant filing/pleading sustains such beliefs and statements made.

No, that was not enough as displayed by Skinner's remark(s), "I'm mad as hell, and I'm not going to take this crap." This is a judge who has run amuck and is clearly out of control. Approximately 33 years later (since Skinner's father's death) when this story was taken, and he still harbors such animosity. Clearly Judge Skinner has not healed, and neither has he let go to move on with his life. His disappointment in failing in such efforts to keep Obadele from speaking is clear. Apparently his father did not instill in him the importance of forgiveness and letting the laws handle such wrongs – instead he learned to harbor resentment, hatred and anger towards African-Americans and wanted a job in which he could take out his frustrations and revenge on African-Americans. While Newsome is not aware of any evidence to support the conviction of Obadele, what is clear, Obadele served his time on what appears to be charges of conspiracy so Judge Skinner needs to move on. Instead Judge Skinner continues to rely on special favors from his relationships with the FBI and make public outburst of rage as displayed in articles.

Judge Skinner is one of the defendants Newsome has filed a lawsuit against in the USDC-MS. Judge Skinner authorized the unlawful/illegal removal/eviction and taking of Newsome's residence and property. Judge Skinner doing so with knowledge that he had no jurisdiction of the matter brought before him. Therefore, as a matter of statutes/laws, Judge Skinner is not immune from lawsuits. The evidence in this correspondence will support Skinner's knowledge of landlord/tenant laws, so he knew and/or should have known that he was committing civil/criminal wrongs against Newsome. Nevertheless, he proceeded with total disregard to Newsome's protected rights. Furthermore a NEXUS can be established between Judge Skinner relationship with the FBI and others. Information to sustain the conflict of interest of the FBI and its agents and the agency's blatant refusal to uphold the laws and its allowances of Judge Skinner's and others criminal behavior against African-Americans, such as Newsome: Skinner's father may have been killed by friendly fire – bullet from the gun of an FBI Agent or Jackson Police Officer Nevertheless the appropriate FBI Compliant has been filed and is pending from Newsome's understanding and is a matter in which Newsome has recently sought the status of. Newsome believes this is pertinent information:

i. JUDGE SKINNER FATHER'S INFO:

Shot during the 1971 FBI unannounced raid on the RNA (Republic of New Africa): Note – Only fatally of this raid (?). While Newsome has not viewed the record, she is left with doubts and/or wondering whether or not Officer Skinner was shot by friendly fire (from another Police Officer or an FBI Agent) and concerns that the FBI may have covered up such information to frame the RNA members. Moreover, Officer Skinner's son, Judge Skinner's, may be using his father's death as a ransom over the head of the FBI and relying upon the FBI's guilt for Officer Skinner's death to obtain special favors from the FBI. Surely the record will support that the FBI is required to handle investigations into the civil/criminal wrongs rendered Newsome; however, Newsome is still awaiting the status of on the Complaint that has been filed regarding this matter. Recently requesting, since there has been a CHANGE in Administration of the President of the United States. According to information under the OLD (Bush) Administration, such aggressive and inhumane/torture tactics and human rights violations, etc. – i.e. waterboarding, etc. – was permissible under the OLD (Bush) Administration and it was during the Bush Administration that Newsome submitted her July 2008 Complaint to the U.S. Legislature/Congress. Moreover, during the Bush Administration that Stor-All and its representatives felt free and comfortable in stalking her and subjecting her to such racial and discriminatory practices – relying upon Stor-All's insurance carrier's (Liberty Mutual) familiarity with conducting business in such corrupt manners.

The Jackson, Mississippi Police Academy is named after him (William L. Skinner Training Academy). See EXHBIT "29" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

> Lieutenant William Skinner was shot and killed during a standoff with a group of militants who were barricaded in a house. Lieutenant Skinner was standing beneath a tree when he was struck in the head by a single round that had been fired from underneath the house.
> The Black Liberation Army[41] was a violent, radical group that attempted to fight for independence from the United States government in the late 1960's and early 1970's. The BLA was responsible for the murders of more than 10 police officers around the country. They were also responsible for violent attacks around the country that left many police officers wounded.

One may question, whether or not Officer Skinner was standing beneath a tree, or was he in his car? See EXHBIT "29" attached hereto. There are conflicting stories as to where he was when he was shot. Therefore, leaving and raising some very serious and reasonable doubts as the facts surrounding the shooting death of Officer Skinner.

ii. THE ARREST:

In January 2006, there was a matter brought before Judge Skinner by Newsome's landlord. Newsome's landlord using unlawful/illegal tactics it has repeatedly relied upon to have African-Americans and/or people of color unlawfully/illegally removed from its property. Newsome's Landlord relying upon knowledge of her engagement in protected activities to subject Newsome to the unlawful/illegal actions taken against her. In that Newsome was told she had to be in court, she went. Judge Skinner attempted to get Newsome to argue the merits of the Landlord's case. Newsome refused and advised she was there to confirm the improper service of process. Therefore, jurisdiction was lacking. During the process (upon reviewing the paperwork), Judge Skinner asked whether or not Newsome was an attorney and she advised him no; and neither did Newsome provide Skinner with information that she worked for a law firm. Newsome believing that justice should be applied upon the laws whether one is an attorney or not nor based on knowledge of where she worked or where she worked for a living. Newsome came away with the impression that if she were an attorney, Judge Skinner would not have acted in the unlawful/illegal and unethical manner in which he did. When Judge Skinner insisted that Newsome defend against the Landlord's claims, Newsome simply refused, turned and walked out of his court in that he lacked jurisdiction and she was not going to argue to the merits of the case. Moreover, the proper pleadings containing supporting evidence and legal conclusion to sustain Newsome's defense is in the record of court. Newsome was not required to be there and she found the acts of Judge Skinner to be atrocious. Clearly Judge Skinner was making a MOCKERY of the judicial process – to his amusement. In retaliation of Newsome's leaving his courtroom, Judge Skinner took it upon himself to date and sign a "REMOVAL" document. Executing said document asserting he was Newsome's attorney in which he was not. (See EXHIBIT "30" attached hereto).

IMPORTANT TO NOTE: To further understand this matter, the factfinder needs to know that the Constable (Jon Lewis) and Judge Skinner are real good friends. Constable Lewis and the Landlord are good friends. Because of such good friendship, Lewis resorted to criminal acts – i.e. falsifying process to get tenants into court on behalf of Landlord. Apparently, being successful through such criminal activities in the past (i.e. as Stor-All); however, when trying to use such criminal tactics on Newsome, came up against a BRICK WALL. Newsome addressing such criminal activities and has file the proper criminal Complaint with the FBI (which is presently pending) as well as filing of civil lawsuits in this matter. Information in that, again, it goes to the COPYCAT acts of Stor-All in the execution of its conspiracy and recruitment of Co-Conspirators to aid and abet them in accomplishing the object of the conspiracy leveled against Newsome.

The conspiracy leveled against Newsome is racially motivated and stems from her bringing the proper actions to expose such racial bias/prejudices towards her. Stor-All acknowledging on February 6, 2009, knowledge of Newsome's engagement in protected activities. Legal matters Stor-All was referring to are matters that involve race-related claims. Those who have taken it upon themselves have ALL been white. The record evidence will support the felonious actions of "certain" Whites and others against Newsome further supporting the criminal actions leveled against her being racially motivated.

> Felonious: 2) Constituting or having the character of a felony. 3) Proceeding from an evil heart or purpose; malicious; villainous. 4) Wrongful; (of an act) done without excuse or color of right. – Black's Law Dictionary (Second Pocket Edition)

The record evidence will support that "felonious restraints" Newsome was subjected to.

> Felonious Restraint: 1) The offense of knowingly and unlawfully restraining a person under circumstances that expose the person to serious bodily harm. Model Penal Code § 212.2(a). 2) The offense of holding a person in involuntary servitude. Model Penal Code § 212.2(b). – Black's Law Dictionary (Second Pocket Edition)

51. FURTHER CONCERNS OF RACIAL BIAS/PREJUDICES OF JUDGE SKINNER – PATTERN-OF-PRACTICE: There are young people at the Henley Young Juvenile Detention Center ("HYJDC") (in Hinds County, Mississippi) trying to commit suicide, brutally attacking one another, etc.; therefore, leaving Newsome wondering what threats (if any – i.e. like J. Reed Walters[42] – in Jena 6 Matter) Judge Skinner has made (if any) which would cause them to want to commit such injury/harm to themselves or others. Moreover, how many of those in the Detention Center are there because of a ruling by Judge Skinner. Judge Skinner knew and/or should have known the DETRIMENTAL injury/harm that would occur when placing ADULT sex offenders/criminals in a juvenile detention center (WITH YOUTHS). It appears the injury/harm of these young people is at the expense of the African-Americans and/or people of color. IS THE FBI INVESTIGATING THIS or simply leaving it to Judge Skinner (who is corrupt) to handle? *Again, the FBI may be doing so because of its special relationship/ties to Judge Skinner and its role it may have played in Skinner's father's death and the possible cover-up of said death. Newsome is awaiting response to status request. In that there is a NEW Administration in the White House, hopefully, Newsome obtain this information. Stor-All and others have been so use to getting away with such criminal actions under the OLD (Bush) Administration – however, CHANGE IS COMING!! Such criminal acts – stalking, pattern-of-practice/pattern-of-conduct, etc., has run its course.

What inhuman (if any) practices were these youth subjected to under Judge Skinner watch? See for yourself. Newsome having warned the proper authorities this Judge Skinner had racial/bias issues that needed to be dealt with through the proper process. Judge Skinner is not fit to be sitting on the bench and/or presiding over any court.

Hinds County Supervisor Peggy Calhoun says that she has been shut off from the detention center since the county took authority away from Judge Bill Skinner.
A rash of suicide attempts at the Hinds County Youth Detention Center brought a long-simmering conflict to a boil Monday. The center, also called Henley-Young, saw six suicide attempts last month, District 3 Supervisor Peggy Calhoun revealed at a Board of Supervisors meeting. Over repeated objections from George Smith, president of the county Board of Supervisors, Calhoun suggested that a "cover-up" was responsible for the lack of communication between the center and supervisors.

broke out around town, a white man pulled a sawed-off shotgun on black students at a convenience store (they wrestled it away from him), and someone burned down most of the school. When the boys who hung the nooses were caught and the superintendent brushed it off as a "harmless prank," every black student in school crowded under the tree in protest. The District Attorney was called into the school to end the protest. Flanked by police officers he held a pen in the air and told them all "I can end your life with the stroke of a pen." A week later he tried to make good on his promise. On December 4th, another fight broke out at school and the DA charged six black students with attempted second-degree murder. He wrote an open letter to the students in the town's only paper that "when you are convicted, I will seek the maximum penalty allowed by law."

"Why wasn't the Board of Supervisors notified of these incidents?" Calhoun asked. "I had to request documentation of this information twice, long after the fact. If a child is hurt at the center, then the Board of Supervisors is liable. It appears that there have been efforts to cover up these incidents."

Among other incidents, Calhoun described a male detainee hitting his head repeatedly against his cell door and a female detainee tying socks around her neck. Henley-Young staff may not be providing adequate supervision or communicating enough with each other, Calhoun suggested.

"When the detention center was under the supervision of the judge, there was no problem disclosing what was going on at the center," Calhoun noted, referring to Hinds County Court Judge Bill Skinner.

The Supervisors gave Skinner authority over the detention center, in addition to his powers as Youth Court judge, more than a year ago, but in January, it voted 3-2 in executive session to revoke that authority due to complaints. "The board had received information that we believe were federal violations regarding the operation of the center," Supervisor Robert Graham told the Jackson Free Press Tuesday.

Calhoun and District 4 Supervisor Phil Fisher opposed the move, and Skinner has asked a chancery-court judge for an injunction on his behalf. Skinner still serves as a Youth Court judge, however, which means that he controls the influx of juveniles into the detention center.

Skinner did not return calls Tuesday.
Speaking to the Jackson Free Press after the meeting, Graham cautioned that, while serious, Calhoun's comments were merely allegations and require investigation.

"We're going to move on these allegations and make sure that the children are being protected no matter what," Graham said. "We've requested that the state come in just to check out the allegations."

Calhoun provided documentation for her allegations in the form of reports from Henley-Young Director Darron Farr to County Administrator Vern Gavin. The reports detail the seven suicide attempts at Henley-Young since January, as well as incidents of detainee misconduct and an injury that a guard suffered May 28 while trying to break up a fight.

Donald Beard, director of the state's Juvenile Facilities Monitoring Unit, said state evaluators will visit the center June 10. A visit from the agency earlier this year turned up numerous violations. Evaluators found that the center was holding juveniles and adults in the same areas and detaining non-criminal runaways with criminal offenders, both of which violate state law.

Beard said evaluators will first look at whether Henley-Young is adequately staffed. Following national standards, his agency recommends that detention centers hold no more than eight juveniles for each staff person in order to prevent problems. If a detainee is on suicide watch, guards should have visual contact with him or her every five minutes, Beard said.

"Our recommendation is that we never allow overcrowding in detention centers for fear of something happening—very much what's alleged at Henley-Young," he said.

Youth Court judges have substantial discretion in dealing with juvenile offenders, Beard added. Instead of detention, judges can refer juveniles to a mental institution or a monitoring program.

"If the detention centers is at full capacity, then some other alternatives should be looked into," Beard said.

Henley-Young Director Farr referred all questions to Gavin, who acknowledged the center's staffing problems.

"We were understaffed for maximum capacity, but at this particular point we are operating at maximum capacity," Gavin said. "So we're caught in a situation where we need additional staff."

The center is currently holding its maximum capacity of 84 juveniles, Gavin said. It has 24 people on staff, but not all of those are on duty at the same time. Gavin also said that Farr has recommended a lower staff-to-detainee ratio of five to one. Farr himself has little control over the number of juveniles he must hold. That figure is the responsibility of the Youth Court and Judge Skinner.

"Whether or not they are released or booked is the decision coming from the judge," Gavin said. "The court side determines who stays and who goes."

The Mississippi Youth Justice Project, an advocacy organization focusing on juvenile justice, toured Henley-Young in December 2008 and found several causes for concern, including the center's use of a restraint chair without properly trained staff. MYJP Director Bear Atwood, the center has stopped using the restraint chair, but she still has concerns about the lack of mental health screening.

"They should be able to say, 'We can't take a child who we can't care for," Atwood said this week.

The attorney representing Judge Skinner in this matter is Brandon Dorsey. From record evidence, Brandon Dorsey ("Dorsey") was the attorney Newsome retained to represent her as a direct and proximate result of the unlawful/illegal actions taken by her landlord against her that was initiated under the direction of Judge Skinner. Dorsey was Newsome's attorney who advised her of the reason he could no longer represent her was because he "has to live in Mississippi and feed his family." Apparently, Judge Skinner is now providing Dorsey with the MEANS to feed his family; thus, securing his ability to live in Mississippi. Dorsey in the representation of Newsome requested an abrupt withdrawal without just cause for doing so. See EXHIBIT "27" attached hereto. Therefore, it is important to Newsome to know what role (if any) Dorsey play in the "PATTERN-OF-PRACTICE"/"PATTERN-OF-CONDUCT" underlying the conspiracy leveled against Newsome. It is apparent Dorsey may have conspired with others to throw the case and in his abandonment of his obligations and duties to Newsome (as her attorney), left her having to continue to defend and file the applicable pleadings to preserve her rights. Such acts which are clearly PROHIBITED by law. Nevertheless, attorneys are allowed to practice in such an unlawful/illegal and unethical manner. Newsome has initiated the proper actions to address Dorsey's actions.

While the Obama Administration is concerned about what is going on at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, the public would be better served with this Administration addressing the human rights violations, inhumane. . . practices that are occurring in the prisons, jails, detention centers, etc. here in the United States.

HENLEY YOUNG JUVENILE DETENTION CENTER
A/K/A HINDS COUNTY YOUTH DETENTION CENTER:

CUT & PASTED FROM:

http://www.clarionledger.com/apps/pbcs.dll/article?AID=/200906090100/NEWS/906090327
Youth wounded at Henley - Lack of supervision cited in neck bite:

A 15-year-old detainee at the Henley Young Juvenile Detention Center suffered a neck bite Monday from a female detainee at the facility, officials confirmed.

Details of just how it happened have not been released.

The boy's mother, Yumetrice Fulton, said she cannot understand why the two were permitted near each other. She said the teens have been dating each other for some time.

"At this point, I'm concerned for my son and his safety," Fulton said.

The teens' names were not released.

The bite incident is the latest in a string occurrences at the detention center - including suicide attempts and confrontations - that have some officials questioning how the facility is being run.

"It appears that the children are not being supervised and are not being provided the proper care," said District 3 Hinds County Supervisor Peggy Calhoun. . . .

Fulton said a guard at the detention center pulled her son out of class and was talking to him in the hallway when the girl ran from a nearby bathroom and attacked him. The injury required a tetanus shot, Fulton said.. . .

An evaluation done earlier this year found several violations of state and federal laws.

Seven juveniles have attempted suicide there since January, according to a report obtained by The Clarion-Ledger.

In addition, a guard, whose name was not released, suffered a knee injury in May while trying to stop a fight between two boys, according to the report.

> In a memo obtained by The Clarion-Ledger dated April 28, Farr states that a detainee was found with a pencil in his cell.
> "Today, a pencil was found in a detainee's cell who was trying to commit suicide," the memo reads. "This memo is being sent out to make sure that everyone who passes out pens and pencils, or any other school item that may or may not cause a child to harm themselves needs to be accounted for before they leave the area they are in with you."
>
> In January, Hinds County supervisors voted 3-2 to take back control of the detention center from County Judge Bill Skinner, who oversees Youth Court. Supervisors had handed over supervision to Skinner about a year ago.
> Skinner is seeking an injunction to stop supervisors from regaining control of the detention center. A court hearing is set for June 22.
>
> Skinner's attorney, Brandon Dorsey of Jackson, said the judge had no comment about the recent problems.
> The state Supreme Court assigned retired Chancery Judge Bill Lutz of Ridgeland to hear the case after Hinds County's four Chancery Court judges recused themselves because they work with Skinner.

While it appears the Hinds County Board of Supervisors have taken away the control of HYJDC from Judge Skinner, Skinner's obsession and determination to continue his criminal acts, experiments, etc. has resulted in his filing of an injunction to keep control of the HYJDC. Therefore, requiring the URGENT/ IMMEDIATE intervention and investigation by the federal government (FBI and appropriate authorities) into Skinner's acts and handling of the HYJDC and whether he is abusing sentencing guidelines in his role as a Judge to fuel his experiments and destruction of lives of African-Americans and/or people of color.

Out of all of the attorneys in Jackson, Mississippi and/or the State of Mississippi, the only attorney Judge Skinner could find to represent him was Brandon Dorsey – Newsome's former attorney in a lawsuit arising out of the civil/criminal wrongs of Judge Skinner against Newsome. CONFLICT OF INTEREST – Dorsey was retained by Newsome to represent her in the civil lawsuit arising out of his criminal activities while on the bench.

Newsome's former employer, Page Kruger & Holland ("PKH"), is legal counsel for Hinds County. Therefore, gathered that since it is the Hinds County Board of Supervisors that PKH would be representing, Judge Skinner had to go hunting for another attorney. Therefore, retaining Brandon Dorsey (a sole practitioner) to represent in this said matter. Judge Skinner had to obtain counsel elsewhere. Most likely a wise attorney would not want to touch this walking liability*. For him to go to Brandon Dorsey and/or Brandon Dorsey to approach him for legal representation – CLEARLY UNACCEPTABLE! As there was a CONFLICT OF INTEREST with PKH in representing Hinds County, Judge Skinner and other Hinds County officials/employees because Newsome was an employee of PKH, a CONFLICT OF INTEREST existed in PKH representing Hinds County officials/employees in the lawsuit Newsome filed in that the Clerk of the Court (J.T. Noblin's) son worked for PKH as did Newsome; therefore, the appearance of impropriety and bias is evidenced – moreover, supported by the withdrawal of the Magistrate Judge AFTER committing legal wrong to provide opposing parties with an undue advantage over Newsome. Nonetheless, Magistrate used the "throw-the-rock and hid-your-hand" tactic. Entering a ruling he knew was tainted and prohibited based upon said conflict; however, entered said Order and withdrew shortly thereafter. However, not before providing opposing counsel with an*

NULL/VOID Order that was UNENFORCIBLE based on said conflict. Magistrate Judge filing RECUSAL for purposes of Conflict of Interest; however, not before he committed legal wrongs and/or unlawful/illegal acts to provide opposing parties with a decision he knew to be NULL/VOID because of said CONFLICT OF INTEREST. See EXHIBIT "31" attached hereto.

Even four of the Chancery Court Judges regarding the HYJDC matter RECUSED themselves because they worked with Skinner. RECUSED – Are the bells ringing yet? Why is Judge Skinner on the bench? Why are innocent lives allowed to be destroyed by this crooked and corrupt judge who apparently is attempting to mask his revenge against African-Americans who he blames for his father's death? OUT OF ALL THE ATTORNEYS IN JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI one is to believe that the ONLY attorney available to represent Judge Skinner was BRANDON DORSEY – a former attorney of Newsome? What a farce and a joke!!!! Moreover, travesties in which INNOCENT lives are now suffering.

D. CONSTABLE JON C. LEWIS ("LEWIS"):

52. Constable Jon C. Lewis – a white male (and real good friend of Judge Skinner) - is the "government" official who subjected Newsome to an unlawful/illegal arrest and had her detained against her will while he and other unlawfully seized property of Newsome and went through her residence, destroying evidence, stealing property, etc. During a February 14, 2006 incident, Newsome had her microcassette recorder on her person recording what was going on. Why the recording, because it has been projected that she (African-Americans) is expected not to be too bright and prone to violence. Moreover, the known abuse by public officials (police officers, etc.) during arrests and the racial profiling. While Newsome was outside the apartment (being requested to step out by Lewis), Lewis appeared to be upset because Newsome would not leave. Newsome advised she had the right to be there and he and others were in violation of her rights. So that they could continue their unlawful/illegal acts (destroy evidence to cover-up their illegal wrongs and theft of Newsome's property, etc.), Lewis placed Newsome under arrest. Lewis searched Newsome's pockets and found the tape recorder and removed it. Lewis did not turn it in at the Hinds County Detention Center where Newsome was taken, and neither did he return the property to Newsome. THIS IS A CRIME:

While Newsome requested that Lewis return her property, he failed to do so. Taking Newsome's property and destroying the evidence contained thereon. See EXHIBIT "32" March 17, 2006 Request for Arrest Report & Return of Personal Property Retrieved by Constable Jon C. Lewis. . ."

i. OTHER CORRUPT INFORMATION THAT SURFACED ON CONSTABLE LEWIS:

The record evidence will support that Lewis, Landlord and Landlord representatives, and others resorted and/or relied upon the carrying out of criminal acts in which they: 1) invaded the Newsome's privacy; 2) unlawfully seized, stole and/or allowed to be stolen Newsome's property or damage of property; 3) destruction of evidence in that they were notified by Newsome that there criminal actions would be used in legal actions against them, 4) personal injury/harm to Newsome, etc.. Lewis has welcomed an investigation into his practices. Therefore, Newsome hopes that Lewis is just as zealous, forthcoming and willing to aid in investigation of the Complaint(s) that she has been filed against him. Moreover, that Lewis is willing to accept whatever punishment is due him as a direct and proximate result for his unlawful/illegal and unethical practices (if found). As the record will reflect that Constable Lewis conducts business in his official capacity that appears to be criminal in nature and clearly affects the public at large:

WLBT Channel 3 TOP STORY – 04/19/06 – Supervisors Looking Into Constable's Methods:

The Hinds County Board of Supervisor's is looking into the methods used by the county's constable. At issue, is how he collects his fees. The constable says he has done nothing wrong.

In a letter to the county administrator, Justice Court Clerk Patricia Woods accused Constable John Lewis of using questionable tactics.

"There is absolutely nothing criminal here, nothing wrong," said Constable Jon Lewis.

> The clerk said Friday, April 7th, several defendants appeared at justice court to pay fines, but a judge wasn't present. A Utica man received a letter telling him to appear, but the man had already paid his speeding ticket in January.
> After learning that, the clerk told her staff not to collect any fees from defendants who did not have outstanding warrants.
> "I refuse to be a part of his collection process," said Woods in her letter to County Administrator Anthony Brister. "I cannot imagine how many letters were mailed or payments received at his home address."
> "I am welcoming an investigation from the auditor's office. I would like it to be looked into very thoroughly," said Lewis.
> Constable Lewis says the letter to the defendant about the speeding ticket was a mistake on his part,[43] but he makes not apologies for using tough methods.

See EXHIBIT "33" attached hereto. NEWSOME HAS FILED THE APPROPRIATE ACTIONS TO OBLIGE IN Lewis' request to be investigated. A reasonable mind may conclude from the facts, evidence and legal conclusions presented in the record, that perhaps Constable Lewis' eagerness for an investigation was due to the fact he thought the "ball would remain in desired court(s)," ballpark and/or with the Board of Supervisors – who would all seek to protect him and render him special favors as they endorsed his corrupt practices. For to expose Lewis may also expose other corrupt officials as well; Newsome believes it would be hard for Constable Lewis to be willing to take the fall alone for the criminal acts of his co-conspirators after perhaps obtaining assurance from them that he would be alright – to "stick with them." However, to Constable Lewis' and others disappointment, Newsome has filed the appropriate Complaints and lawsuits against Lewis and the appropriate co-conspirators.

The record evidence will support that Constable Lewis unlawfully/illegally removed personal property from Newsome's person during his unlawful arrest of her and destroyed and/or tampered with said evidence in that he knew that Newsome would use it in a lawsuit against him and others. Although Newsome requested the return of her property – See EXHIBIT "32" attached hereto. To date, Constable Lewis has failed to return Newsome's property; moreover, his attorneys (PKH) have engaged and/or endorsed such criminal acts. The FBI (under the BUSH Administration) was made aware of such unlawful/illegal and unethical practices of Constable Lewis and also failed to do anything to correct such injustices.*

Furthermore, the record evidence will support that instead of filing an Answer to the lawsuit filed by Newsome in the USDC-MS against Constable Lewis; he elected to bring malicious criminal charges against Newsome and waived any such defense and/or failed to defend against the claims filed in the lawsuit brought by Newsome in the court. NOW LEWIS AND HIS ATTORNEYS ARE RELYING UPON "SPECIAL" FAVORS FROM THE JUDGES/MAGISTRATE TO AID THEM IN THE FURTHERANCE OF THE CONSPIRACY LEVELED AGAINST NEWSOME AND TO DEPRIVE HER "EQUAL" PROTECTION OF THE LAWS AND "DUE PROCESS" OF LAWS – ATTEMPTING TO HAVE THE LAWSUIT FILED AGAINST HIM UNLAWFULLY/ILLEGALLY DISMISSED!

[43] Only because he has probably been practicing in such unlawful/illegal ways for so long and never expected to be exposed or that they would find out that he was having payments coming directly to him at home – were these payments reported? Hopefully, an investigation by the Legislature/Congress will yield this information. Providing Constable Lewis with the investigation he is requesting.

In the taking of Newsome's microcassette (and who knows what else Constable Lewis helped himself to of Newsome's property when he returned and/or upon leaving her at the Hinds County Detention Center), Lewis failed to turn in such evidence at the Hinds County Detention Center at the time of Newsome's admission. Instead, Constable Lewis knowingly, deliberately and with forethought kept the microcassette in that Newsome advised him that she would be bringing legal action against him and the others while in transit to the Hinds County Detention Center. Therefore, Constable Lewis intentionally, deliberately concealed, removed and/or destroyed evidence with the intent to impair and/or prohibit its use in the lawsuit he was advised would be brought against him.

Newsome believes there is record evidence to support the civil/criminal wrongs of Constable Lewis and others in the unlawful/illegal posting of notices and/or tampering with said notices for purposes of depriving Newsome equal protection of the laws, due process of laws, and efforts to obtain an undue and/or unlawful advantage over her. Moreover, that the actions by said persons being done to threaten, incite fear and intimidation in Newsome to force her to give up her residence. When Newsome refused to do so and legally took a stand on her protected rights, said persons proceeded to have her residence and property unlawfully seized and participated in the unlawful/illegal and criminal acts arising out of such practices.

> MISSISSIPPI CODE OF 1972
> SEC. 97-3-85. Threats and intimidation; by letter or notice.
> If any person shall post, mail, deliver, or drop a threatening letter or notice to another, whether such other be named or indicated therein or not, with intent to terrorize or to intimidate such other, he shall, upon conviction, be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not more than six months, or by fine not more than five hundred dollars, or both.

Newsome believes that the record evidence will support a "PATTERN OF CONDUCT/PATTERN OF PRACTICE" by Lewis and others to support the underlying conspiracy against Newsome. Moreover, Lewis' and others use of government entities/resources and said entities' authority to commit civil/criminal wrongs against Newsome. Moreover, that such pattern-of-conduct/pattern-of-practice, resulted in Newsome being subjected to excessive force, discriminatory harassment, false arrest, unlawful seizure of property and residence, unlawful arrest, forced out of her residence and having to move away, etc.

Newsome believes that the record will support that government officials (Judges/Magistrates, government officials, agents, constable, bailiff, etc.) acting under color of law, statute, ordinance, regulations, did willingly, knowingly, deliberately with malicious intent deprive or cause Newsome to be deprived of rights, privileges, etc. secured or protected by the Constitution, Civil Rights Act and other statutes/laws of the United States.

E. HINDS COUNTY:

On or about July 11, 2007 (deadline to file Answer to complaint), rather than file an Answer to Newsome's civil lawsuit filed against him, Constable Lewis filed (on July 16, 2007) an untimely "Motion to Dismiss/Motion to Quash" – which was met by a timely Motion to Strike . . . by Newsome. Constable Lewis instead of filing a timely Answer to the Civil Complaint filed against him by Newsome in USDC-MS, moved in the Hinds County Justice Court (where his friend Judge Skinner worked) to bring malicious criminal charges against Newsome alleging "Resisting Arrest" and "Disorderly Conduct Failure to Comple (sic) With Law Enforcement." See EXHIBIT "34" attached hereto. These charges were dismissed. See EXHIBIT "35" attached hereto. IMPORTANT TO NOTE: Newsome never had to enter a plea to such malicious criminal charges. The malicious criminal charges brought against Newsome by Constable Lewis were unlawful/illegal and merely brought as a dilatory tactic to provide a defense to the civil lawsuit Newsome had filed against him in the USDC-MS – Case No. 3:07-cv-00099. Constable Lewis brought such malicious criminal charges against Newsome well over a year (approximately 16 months later – after Lewis' unlawful arrest of Newsome). Constable Lewis was aware as early as February 14, 2006, that he would be sued because Newsome advised him that she would be brining legal action against him on the way to the Hinds County Detention Center. Newsome believes a reasonable mind may conclude that based upon the evidence, one may conclude that the action by Constable Lewis in the filing of said malicious criminal charges against Newsome, was done under the advisement of his counsel of the law firm of Page Kruger & Holland (Newsome's former employer who terminated her employment upon learning of Newsome's engagement in protected activities – filing of lawsuit(s))

53. On or about June 26, 2006, Newsome filed a "formal" typewritten Complaint in person with the FBI in Jackson, Mississippi. Filing was made under the BUSH Administration. MITCHELL MCNUTT & SAMS ("MMS"):

The following information is pertinent to aid the factfinder in seeing the nexus between Stor-All's matter and her employment with MMS. Moreover, how Stor-All is quick to paint Newsome as a "serial/vexatious" litigator; however, failing to provide factfinder with information to reveal the corrupt practices of said employer because they are sharing common traits – practicing before the court with the willful and malicious intent to misrepresent and falsify information in pleadings filed in courts, etc. Stor-All while it is doing all of its running around deliberately fails to make known to the factfinder that the reason for Newsome's termination of employment with MMS was due to the ongoing conspiracy leveled against her as well as her reporting the unethical practices in the practice of law by an attorney (Robert Gordon) in falsifying information filed in the courts as well as Newsome's reporting of civil rights violations. Neither does Stor-All make it known how MMS admitted to subjecting Newsome to discriminatory and hostile treatment during her employment. To better under the circumstances surrounding Newsome's employment with this law firm, she states:

55. Mitchell McNutt & Sams was a former employer of Newsome who subjected her to very very. . . hostile, sexual and discriminatory treatment. MMS also encouraged and/or condoned its employees providing of false information during government investigations for purposes of depriving Newsome rights secured under the Constitution, Civil Rights Act, and other statutes/laws for the purpose of obstructing the administration of justice, depriving her equal protection of the laws, due process of laws, etc.

Title 18, U.S.C., Section 1001 - False Statements or Entries Generally

> This statute makes it a crime for falsifying, concealing, or covering up material facts surrounding a civil rights investigation, or making false statements, representations, or writings.
> This law prohibits a person acting under color of law, statute, ordinance, regulation or custom to make false statements or misrepresentations surrounding their individual or collective actions, during a civil rights investigation. It has been successfully applied to civil rights investigations involving the loss of life, where the subjects of the investigation lied to protect their careers and those of other co-conspirators.
> Punishment varies from a fine or imprisonment of up to five years or both.

MMS conducting and/or operating a business in which it knew it was violating the Fair Labor Standards Act ("FLSA"), Title VII, Occupational Safety & Health Administration ("OSHA"). Newsome brought such unlawful practices to MMS' attention and as a direct and proximate result, MMS allowed its employees to subject Newsome to retaliatory practices, constant hostile, sexual and discriminatory practices. MMS was aware of its employees' unlawful/illegal actions towards her; however, did nothing to deter such behavior. Instead, MMS moved to terminate and/or fire Newsome. IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE: Newsome was able to obtain such admission of hostile, sexual harassment and discrimination from MMS' employees during cross examination during the Mississippi Department of Employment Security handling of her request for Unemployment Benefits. Such examination will further support MMS' willingness to produce employees who were willing to falsify and/or perjure themselves to protect their jobs and to see that Newsome was deprived unemployment benefits. (See EXHIBIT "36" – Excerpt of Transcript attached hereto and incorporated by reference.)

Circuit Court Case No. 251-2005-163CIV

There is record evidence to support a "PATTERN OF CONDUCT" and how Newsome's former employer and its representatives have a total disrespect for the laws and place themselves above the laws, relying upon the special favors of government employees and/or Courts. Moreover, the employer's links ties to key organizations. How employer(s) stopped at nothing to deprive Newsome the relief she sought through the action with the appropriate government agency. How MMS' employees were willing to come before the MDES and produce information they knew to be false and/or misleading for the purpose of obstruction justice, deprivation of rights, etc.. MMS' representatives came with what they thought was a well laid out plan, that before they knew it, they were providing testimony to support Newsome's claims of retaliation, discrimination, hostile treatment, etc. MMS being represented by counsel; however, no match for Newsome and the tricks and pre-rehearsal tactics were of any use because they were set on another course – providing Newsome with the testimony and evidence she needed.

> DeCarlo v. Bonus Stores, Inc., 413 F.Supp.2d 770 (S.D.Miss.,2006.) - In his complaint, McArn charged that Terminix maliciously defamed him before the Mississippi Employment Security Commission by stating he was fired for a "bad attitude." At trial, McArn testified that Terminix's contention that he was insubordinate was false. That is the extent of McArn's evidence of defamation.

> (n. 10) Under Mississippi law, public policy exception to employment at will doctrine permits employee to bring action in tort for damages against his employer if he is terminated for: (1) refusing to participate in illegal act, or (2) reporting illegal acts of his employer to employer or anyone else.

> McArn v. Allied Bruce-Terminix Co., Inc., 626 So.2d 603 (Miss.,1993) - [3] McArn argues that the Mississippi Employment Security Commission was falsely told that he was terminated for a bad attitude and not told the true reason for his firing. McArn argues that Miss.Code Ann. § 71-5-131 (1972) permits a claim for defamation whenever the employer makes statements to the Commission which are "false in fact and maliciously ... made for the purpose of causing a denial of benefits."
> There is no question but that Miss.Code Ann. § 71-5-131 provides that communications between an employer and the Commission are privileged and "when qualified privilege is established, statements or written communications are not actionable as slanderous or libelous absent bad faith or malice if the communications are limited to those persons who have a legitimate and direct interest in the subject matter." Benson v. Hall, 339 So.2d 570, 573 (Miss.1976).

> TRANSCRIPT: Excerpts From Allen's and Gordon's Examination during Unemployment Compensation Hearing: McArn v. Allied v. Allied Bruce-Terminix Co., Inc., 626 So.2d 603 (Miss. 1993) – Whether or not there is a written contract, there should be public policy exceptions to employment-at-will doctrine for employee who refuses to participate in illegal act or employee who reports illegal act of his employer; these exceptions will apply even where there is "privately made law" governing employment relationship, or where illegal activity either declined by employee or reported by him affects third parties among general public, though they are not parties to lawsuit. Newsome	56	2-4	Okay, so my December 1, 2004 e-mail in regards to harassment incident, was not out of the ordinary. I have submitted complaints in the past in regards to Mr. Gordon's behavior, is that correct?

Allen	56	5	You have.
Newsome	56	6-8	At any time during my employment, did I mention to you that I felt that Mr. Gordon's treatment, or his behavior, and conduct in regards to me was hostile?
Allen	56	9	You did.
Newsome	56	10	Okay, was this before your June 7th Memorandum or after?
Allen	56	11	I don't recall.[44]
Newsome	56	16-18	And the complaint that I submitted to OSHA, OSHA contacted the firm, you were to respond, if I'm not mistaken, by June 8, 2004. Is that correct?
Allen	56	19-20	I don't know the exact date. We did respond within the time limits they asked us to.
Newsome	57	1-4	Okay, the date of that Memorandum . . .was June 7, 2004, the response, if I'm not mistaken, because like I said, I wasn't aware this was coming up, was due on June 8, 2004. That e-mail or that Memorandum came out the day prior. Did that have anything to do?
Allen	57	5-6	Absolutely not, that's why I stated in here, you could do all you wanted about, with, with agencies.[45]
Newsome	57	7-10	But also in regards to the complaints that I had submitted to the firm, have I ever submitted any complaints of harassment, discrimination, or anything to the attention of Mitchell, McNutt & Sams in regards to Bob Gordon?
Allen	57	11	Discrimination, harassment, yes, you've used that word several [44] PRETEXT – Allen's memory was so good with dates, etc. when MMS' attorney, Ardelean, was coaching him; however, now unable to recall dates and time under cross-examination.

[45] PRETEXT – Credibility, malicious, willful and wanton memorandum brief. Claims Allen was not aware that Memorandum was created day before OSHA deadline to respond to complaint; however, he coincidentally mentions my filing complaints with agencies in Memorandum.

Newsome	57	12-14	Okay, and did I ever mention to you that I felt that I was discriminated or either in the handling of my complaints being discriminative in any nature?
Allen	57	15-16	You asked me to follow through with going to the Board, is that what you're referring to?
Newsome	57	17-20	No, I'm asking did you ever receive any e-mail correspondence from me in regards to complaints I submitted to the firm, that I felt I was being subjected to certain treatment?
Allen	57	20	Discriminatory.
Newsome	58	1	Discriminative treatment?
Allen	58	2	You're, I believe you sent me one like that, yes.
Newsome	58	3-5	Okay, so you were, so Mitchell, McNutt & Sams was made aware prior to November 30th on several occasions that I had filed complaints in regards to Mr. Gordon's behavior?
Allen	58	6	Yes.
Newsome	58	7-9	Did Mitchell, McNutt & Sams at any time prior to November 30, 2004 submit in writing to me, written responses to my complaints in regards to Mr. Gordon's behavior?
Allen	58	10-12	Let's see, we, we talked about it at the Board, and talked to Mr. Gordon about it, and I'm trying to think if, what happened from that point forward. I don't recall if we sent anything to you, if I did.
Newsome	58	13-15	Okay, so I can, it, it is your testimony that I submitted several complaints, but the firm never responded to me in writing in regards to my complaints on Mr. Gordon's behavior.
Allen	58	16	I responded back to you.
Newsome	58	17	In regards to Mr. Gordon's behavior?
Allen	58		Uh hum.
Newsome	58	17-18	Do you have any documentation?[46]
Allen	58	19-20	Oh, I tried, I may have some e-mails that we had through correspondence commenting back on.

[46] PRETEXT – At hearing regarding matter, MMS representatives were turning over exhibits regarding Newsome and its evidence of unlawfully and/or illegally padding her personnel file; however, produced not one document to support MMS' handling of discrimination and harassment complaints Newsome submitted against Gordon.

Newsome	59	1-3	Okay, did Mr. Gordon ever receive an elaborate e-mail or Memorandum such as. . . that you forwarded to me in regards to the complaints I submitted in regards to him?
Allen	59	4	Did he receive one?
Newsome	59	5-9	Did Mr. Gordon, I submitted a complaint in regards to harassment or discrimination like I said, I don't' have them all, but I submitted my complaints to the firm in regards to Mitchell, McNutt & Sams conduct and behavior as well as Mr. Gordon, did you ever follow up with an e-mail or memorandum as you June 7, 2004?
Allen	59	10	To Mr. Gordon?
Newsome	59	11	To Mr. Gordon?
Allen	59	12	No.
Newsome	59	13-14	So Mitchell, McNutt & Sams did nothing to deter or discourage Mr. Gordon's behavior?
Allen	59	15-16	I don't know if there was, there was some discussions with, that, that we had.

Another example:

Newsome	144	19-20	Yes, just a moment. It was the incident that I went out to lunch with Attorney Mike Farrell and Ladye Margaret?
Gordon	146	7-13	She was gone for, what to me was an inordinate of the time to get something to pick up, to pick something up to bring it back. My recollection is that she was gone approximately forty-five minutes or so, and then she returned and at that time I criticized her for having gone and eaten out when I had told her that she needed to work through the lunch hour, and if she was going to get something to eat, go get it, and bring it back.
Newsome	146	14-15	So you said it was about forty-five minutes. For the record, can you explain your conduct when I did return, your behavior?
Newsome	147	1-2	So would you say your behavior, for instance stomping around and slamming the door is acceptable?
Gordon	147	3-4	I don't know that I stomped around and slammed the door, but I, yes, I was very upset.
Newsome	147	5	Okay, would you say you were hostile?

Gordon	147	6	Yes.
Newsome	147	8-9	Were you aware that your behavior was noticed by other employees at Mitchell, McNutt & Sams?
Gordon	147	10	Yes.
Newsome	147	11	Are you aware that I reported that behavior to Mr. Allen?
Gordon	147	12	Sitting here right now, I don't, I do not recall being aware of that.
Newsome	148	1-2	You, were you aware that when I went to lunch, that I was not driving, that I did go with Mr. Farrell and Ladye Margaret?
Gordon	148	3-4	You told me that when you returned, you did not tell me that before you were going.
Newsome	148	5-6	Prior to leaving. Were you aware that the lunch break was only about probably thirty-five minutes?
Gordon	148	7	It occurred, it appeared to me it was around forty-five minutes.
Newsome	148	16-17	Did that thirty-five minutes, or if you say forty-five minutes, did that preclude or prevent you from getting that Pleading filed in time?
Gordon	148	18-20	We got the Pleading filed on that day, but while you were out, a revision or revisions to that Pleading were sitting at your desk and not being done.
Newsome	149	14-16	And are you aware that your conduct affected the work of another attorney, who was wondering whether or not you had calmed down that day after that particular incident?
Gordon	149	17	No.
Newsome	150	2	So Mr. Gordon, you would say your conduct was hostile?
Gordon	150	3	That's what I, yes, I said that.
Newsome	150	4-5	Did Mitchell, McNutt & Sams ever notify you of your conduct of being you know, you being a hostile employee?
Gordon	150	6	No.
Newsome	150	13-14	Are you aware that I have, that I submitted complaints in regards to your conduct to Mitchell, McNutt & Sams?
Gordon	150	15	You have submitted complaints or e-mails alleging harassment.

This was information easily obtainable had the government agency(s) to which Newsome filed complaints, would have found if they really wanted to determine the truth and/or merits of her claims; however, failed to uphold the laws as a direct and proximate result of depriving Newsome equal protection of the laws and due process of laws. There is record evidence to support that MMS falsely accused Newsome of insubordination and deliberately created situations through their retaliatory practices which were met with notification of Newsome's objections. The above information sustaining that such racial prejudices, hostility, rage, anger, etc. towards Newsome because of her race and knowledge of her engagement in protected activities. Moreover, that MMS and employees were aware of Newsome reporting of such unlawful/illegal practices by them. IMPORTANT TO NOTE: MMS closing their doors to the Jackson, Mississippi office shortly after MDES matter.

Newsome has initiated the proper Complaints to have matter(s) investigated and awaits feedback on said Complaints. Newsome in filing Complaints does so for preservation of her rights; moreover, to have the appropriate documentation/evidence to sustain timely, properly and adequately reported to the proper government agencies (i.e. those cloaked with enforcing the statutes/laws). This information is provided to support/sustain the "PATTERN OF CONDUCT" argument underlying the conspiracy actions of Stor-All and its Co-Conspirators. Moreover, MMS' in the "PATTERN OF CONDUCT" of the conspiracy leveled against Newsome. Such employer's simply hand-off the baton to the next co-conspirator and the unlawful/illegal and criminal actions against Newsome continues. Newsome believes that a reasonable mind may conclude that as MMS did with the Wage & Hour Division, it provided MDES with information clearly outside the proceedings addressing Newsome's engagement in protected activities in order to obtain an undue and unlawful advantage over Newsome. Moreover, how the MDES took it upon itself to deprive Newsome of rights guaranteed/secured under the Constitution, Civil Rights Act and/or governing statutes because of its knowledge of her engagement in protected activities.

B. OCCUPATIONAL SAFTY & HEALTH ADMINISTRATION ("OSHA")
Case No. 4-1220-04-027 or 4-1220-05-04

Newsome has filed the proper Complaints to initiate the proper investigation into the handling of this matter and awaits findings on the matter. Moreover, determine whether or not OSHA officials engaged in the "PATTERN OF CONDUCT" underlying the conspiracy against Newsome. Moreover, whether or not its agency officials engaged in criminal activity and engaged in conspiracy leveled against Newsome. Newsome has requested investigation(s) into the OSHA action to determine whether there were violations of her Constitutional/Civil Rights n handling of matter. Moreover, MMS' as well as the OSHA's role (if any) played in the conspiracy alleged. Newsome believes that an investigation may also yield that as MMS did with the Wage & Hour Division (which is addressed below), it resorted to the same corrupt and criminal acts and provided OSHA with information clearly outside the proceedings addressing her engagement in protected activities to obtain a ruling in it favor; or, that OSHA took it upon itself to deprive Newsome of rights guaranteed/secured under the Constitution, Civil Rights Act, OSHA and/or governing statutes because of its knowledge of her engagement in protected activities. Therefore, completing its leg of the conspiracy acts leveled against Newsome.

C. EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY COMMISSION ("EEOC"):
Case No. 131-2005-01442

Newsome has filed the proper Complaints to initiate the proper investigation into the handling of this matter and awaits findings on the matter. Moreover, determine whether or not EEOC officials engaged in the "PATTERN OF CONDUCT" underlying the conspiracy against Newsome. Moreover, whether or not its agency officials engaged in criminal activity and engaged in conspiracy leveled against Newsome. Newsome has requested investigation(s) into the EEOC action to determine whether there were violations of her Constitutional/Civil Rights, Title VII and other statutes/laws in the handling of this matter. Moreover, MMS' as well as the EEOC's role (if any) played in the conspiracy alleged. Newsome believes that an investigation may also yield that as MMS did as it did with the Wage & Hour Division (which is addressed below), it resorting to the same corrupt and criminal acts and provided EEOC with information clearly outside the proceedings addressing her engagement in protected activities; and, that the EEOC took it upon itself to retaliate against Newsome because of lawsuits filed against it such as Newsome v. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, 301 F.3d 227; therefore depriving Newsome of rights guaranteed/secured under the Constitution, Civil Rights Act, Title VII and/or governing statutes/law because of its knowledge of her engagement in protected activities. Therefore, completing the EEOC's leg of the conspiracy acts leveled against Newsome.

Furthermore, Newsome has requested through the proper Complaints investigations into the handling of ALL charges she filed with the EEOC and determine whether the ruling of each charge was influenced by any other charges that were filed by her to determine whether or not each Charge was determined on its own merits and not because of the Commission's knowledge of her other charges filed – rather than be prejudiced by knowledge of filing of other EEOC Charges by Newsome. Because, if so, the EEOC has violated not only its own policies and procedures but that of the statutes/laws in which it was created to enforce and uphold for ill purposes – i.e. retaliation, discrimination, prejudices, deprivation of rights, obstruction of justice, etc. Moreover, whether or not the EEOC's officials/employees engaged in any conspiracy alleged by Newsome and/or entered arbitrary rulings for purposes of aiding and abetting the conspiracy leveled against Newsome. Newsome believes a reasonable mind may conclude that based upon all of the Charges she filed with the EEOC, there was sufficient information to warrant an investigation and to see that employers were sanctioned and/or required to comply with the laws. However, this did not happen and the EEOC merely engaged in a "pattern-building" manner and unlawfully/illegally dismissed valid charges for failure of not wanting to perform their duties. Newsome is requesting that if said violations are found by the EEOC and its officials/employees that the proper punishment be rendered to deter such actions in the future in that this is of a public interest. Moreover, the EEOC has sufficient evidence of EEOC's officials refusal to abide by the statutes/laws upon which it was created – relying on the Courts to cover up such criminal/civil wrongs as it did in Newsome v. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, 301 F.3d 227.

D. WAGE & HOUR DIVISION ("WHD"):

The record evidence will support that (under the OLD ADMINISTRATION – Bush) the Department of Justice/Office of Solicitor General, U.S. Department of Labor/ESA – Wage and Hour Division, and Administrative Review Board were timely properly and adequately placed on notice of MMS' violation of the FLSA. To no avail. Said agency(s) records will support sufficient facts, evidence and legal conclusions presented to sustain the complaint and/or concerns Newsome brought to its attention. While these agencies were aware of MMS' violation of the laws governing the FLSA and/or Wage and Hour Laws, they did nothing to deter such acts or to see that the wrongs complained of were corrected and that the injustices rendered against Newsome as a direct and proximate result of her reporting said violations were corrected. Instead said agency, its agents and others engaged in conspiracy.

U.S. Department of Labor – FLSA NARRATIVE REPORT:

> Evidence: Interviews of Supervisor Robert Gordon, Attorney Mike Farrell, and Secretary Ladye Margaret Townsend[47] revealed that Ms.

[47] All of whom are "White" and having a personal interest and financial interest (either employment and/or business investment related).

Newsome had been rebellious and insubordinate in job duties assigned her from the start of her employment.

[redacted] interview (Exhibit [redacted]) stated that every since Ms Newsome was hired she been looking for a way to get fired to pursue a lawsuit. . . After this incident Ms Newsome began working on whether she was paid properly . . . Newsome disagreed with Attorney Farrell and told Cochanuer and Townsend she was going to contact Wage Hour. [redacted] didn't know if Newsome did or not because nothing came of it. [redacted] further confirmed other events of insubordination. (Exhibit [redacted]).

Further action:

(Note) During the course of this investigation, District Director ("DD") Billy Jones retired from the department. Regional Administrator McKeon assigned Assistant District Director ("ADD") Oliver Peebles as Acting DD fro the Gulf Coast District. DD Peebles has been advised through all actions of this case, and all of his instructions have been followed.

See EXHIBIT "37" attached hereto. Newsome believes the redacted information is pertinent, in that she may not have been provided with the entire file. During Newsome's employment with MMS, she noticed how Billy Jones would call quite often requesting to speak to Michael Farrell (one of the attorneys). Newsome found this interesting because during one of the meetings with Farrell, he made it known how he was familiar with the Wage & Hour Division; moreover, how he had the employees personal direct lines and provided such information to Newsome to establish his special relationship with employees of the Wage & Hour Division. Newsome believes the Complaints initiated and requesting an investigation into the Wage & Hour's handling of this matter may yield evidence of the government agency(s) and/or its agents cover-up in aiding and abetting her former employers in covering up civil/criminal wrongs rendered against Newsome. Moreover, how it secretly handled issues evidencing the wrongs complained of by Newsome; however, failed to assure that the employers were required to come into compliance with the laws. For instance, while the Wage & Hour wanted Newsome to believe she did not understand the FLSA and that MMS was not in violation, such was not the case. Prior to bring her Wage & Hour Charge, Newsome spoke with an attorney she had worked with at another firm and said attorney confirmed Newsome's understanding of the statutes/laws was correct. In fact, said attorney had also advised that his/her law firm had recently represented a client who was paying its employees in the same manner as MMS and violations were found by the Wage & Hour Division and the matter was resolved.

IT IS IMPORANT TO ALSO NOTE that shortly after being employed with PKH, one of the attorneys brought it to Newsome's attention that PKH was recently found to be in violation and sanctioned for FLSA/Wage and Hour violations. This is pertinent information, because an investigation will yield that although PKH was sanctioned, it was still operating in violation of the laws during Newsome's employment. Thus, going to support additional motive behind Newsome's unlawful/illegal termination. Not only that, it goes to the fact that there are many employers that are operating in violation of the FLSA and/or Wage & Hour laws and the WHD is aware of such and discriminatively apply the laws to employers – sanctioning some and allowing others to continue to practice in ways contrary to the statutes/laws governing payment of employees' wages. THIS IS IMPORTANT in that the public at large is affected and employers are relying upon unlawful/illegal methods to keep from having to pay employees their full wages earned.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that to have found MMS in violation, MMS would have been required to compensate all of its employees (hourly/salaried/non-exempt) back wages owed for all of the time in which they had been practicing in such a manner. For the WHD to have acknowledged the violations would have been very costly in that MMS, PKH and others who have been conducting business in violation of the FLSA and/or Wage & Hour laws for quite some time. Moreover, Newsome believes an investigation will yield the name of government employees (i.e. Billy Jones) that knew of such violations and did nothing – allowing MMS, PKH and others to continue in a manner they knew were in violation of the FLSA and/or Wage & Hour laws.

> SEC. 97-9-61. Perjury; penalty.
> Persons convicted of perjury shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary as follows: For perjury committed on the trial of any indictment for a capital offense or for any other felony, for a term not less than ten years; for perjury committed on any other judicial trial or inquiry, or in any other case, for a term not exceeding ten years.
> SOURCES: Codes, Hutchinson's 1848, ch. 64, art. 12, Title 5(2); 1857, ch. 64, art. 205; 1871, Sec. 2661; 1880, Sec. 2922; 1892, Sec. 1244; 1906, Sec. 1319; Hemingway's 1917, Sec. 1052; 1930, Sec. 1083; 1942, Sec. 2316.

It appears from the information obtained MMS employees were willing for falsify and/or provide false statements for the purposes of obstructing the administration of justice and to see that Newsome was deprived the relief sought. See Title 18, U.S.C., Section 1001 - False Statements . . . above.

E. PUBLIC INTEREST:

Newsome believes that such information is of public concern in that it affects the financial welfare and/or being of other citizens and the economy. Newsome believes an investigation into her Complaints will yield findings that employers who use such unlawful/illegal practices to deprive employees earned wages have knowingly done so with the willful and malicious intent to withhold wages/earnings from their employees. Furthermore, the Wage & Hour Division's assistance and condoning such unlawful/illegal practices; because to find in favor of the evidence (such as that presented by Newsome), will require that MMS compensate its employees as well as Newsome for the unpaid wages earned that it failed to pay. Thus, being a huge financial hit on MMS. However, had MMS complied with the statutes/laws, it would not now be required to compensate employees for the monies/wages illegally/unlawfully withheld.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE: That there is a Mississippi Appeals Court Judge who was employed by MMS prior to taking judgeship role. This judge's name is Donna Barnes. See EXHIBIT "38" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. Newsome also attach a copy of the MMS Phone Directory for its employees during her employment. See EXHIBIT "39" attached hereto. This is pertinent information to support MMS' reliance upon its special relationships with Judges in the courts and government agency officials where Newsome filed Charge(s).

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE: That it appears MMS has closed its Jackson, Mississippi Office in which Newsome was working AFTER the MDES matter and its receipt of the Transcript provided from the MDES hearing. However, while the MDES was in the position to deter and punish MMS and its employees for the unlawful/illegal actions committed against Newsome, said government agency failed to do so for the purposes of aiding and abetting MMS representatives. So attorneys Mike Farrell and Robert Gordon along with co-worker Ladye Margaret Townsend would have to look elsewhere for employment. MMS closed the downtown Jackson, Mississippi location shortly after the MDES hearing. MMS had moved into the facility about May 2004, and had plans of expanding.

56. On or about December 11, 2004, MMS was timely, properly and adequately placed on notice that Newsome would be bringing the proper lawsuit against it – in keeping with Newsome v. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission*, 301 F.3d 227. See EXHIBIT "9" – Letter to L.F. Sams, Jr., attached hereto. *In an effort of doing damage control, MMS appears to have closed its Jackson, Mississippi office – at least cleaned said office of its employees (Mike Farrell, Robert Gordon, and Ladye Margaret Townsend) that provided false information during a federal investigation. The damaging testimony Newsome obtained at the MDES hearing has proven to be beneficial. Under the statutes and laws governing said matters in the state of Mississippi, the statute of limitation is approximately six (6) years to bring a civil action under the applicable laws for the relief Newsome seeks. Therefore, Newsome's deadline would be approximately December 2010. The complaint against MMS has been drafted and Newsome intends to bring it within the appropriate time. It is important to note that the United States District Court Southern District of Mississippi-Jackson Division thought that Newsome would be filing a lawsuit about December 2007 (thinking Newsome would be filing under a 3-year statute of limitations – disappointed to find Newsome was advised of the 6-year statute which is applicable instead[48]), so what said court did in efforts of financially burdening Newsome and in efforts of obstructing the administration of justice, it resorted to illegal bond-setting practices - entering a ruling requiring that Newsome pay a security bond – which was not permissible and neither could such ruling be sustained and was timely contested - in efforts of precluding Newsome from filing lawsuit. As recent as December 2008, said court has usurped its authority, abused its powers, etc. and closed case and is attempting to close the doors of its court in its aiding and abetting MMS and others so that Newsome cannot bring the required lawsuit to recover from the injury/harm sustained. However, said court was disappointed when it was advised Newsome was onto it and that under the statutes/laws that her civil action against MMS would be brought within the statute of limitation of approximately six (6) years rather than the three years the court thought Newsome was waiting to act under. Now with such knowledge that Newsome intends to bring the proper lawsuit against MMS within the time allowed under the laws, said court is attempting to close its doors to Newsome – ACTIONS THAT ARE CLEARLY UNCONSTUTIONAL and clearly PREJUDICIAL/DISCRIMINATORY. Such actions of said court are public record and can be seen through entries of said court in other lawsuits filed by Newsome. Said court is aware that Newsome will be filing a lawsuit against MMS in the future; therefore, has acted in a manner that has compromised the integrity of said court and the judicial process. Therefore, warranting the Complaint Newsome has filed with the appropriate agencies to which she believes is presently pending as a matter of statutes/laws.

BARIA FYKE HAWKINS & STRACENER ("BFH&S")/
BRUNINI GRANTHAM GROWER & HEWES ("BGG&H"):

57. For purposes of understanding the "Pattern of Conduct" involving the conspiracy leveled against Newsome by Stor-All, the following information is pertinent. Moreover, will support Meranus knowledge of legal matters involving Newsome in New Orleans, Louisiana. Therefore, establishing and sustaining the nexus between conspirators and co-conspirators – Stor-All's insurance company's (Liberty Mutual) with Entergy who is represented by Baker Donelson Bearman Caldwell & Berkowitz which is the matter Meranus advises Newsome of on February 6, 2009. Stor-All using such relationships to further said conspiracies and for stalking purposes to destroy the life of Newsome, obstruct the administration of justices, deprive her equal protection of the laws, due process of laws, liberties and pursuit of happiness, etc. (See EXHIBIT "1" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set foth in full herein):

> This is a law firm Newsome began working for in late 2002. It is a law firm Newsome was employed with while she was involved in a lawsuit against Entergy (USDC-Eastern District of LA, New Orleans; Case No. 2:99-cv-03109) As a matter of law, this case is still pending (while the Docket may show it as closed, as a matter of law, it is still approachable) because no final judgment (although Newsome has repeatedly requested entry of "final" judgment) has ever been entered in this case. Clearly, further evidence of the courts' blatant disregard for Newsome's rights and refusal to enter the required judgments in compliance with the statutes/laws in which they are governed. Therefore, this is a matter that Newsome has brought though the appropriate legal avenues – so certain parties (i.e. such as Stor-All) should not be so quick to pop the cork on the Champaign bottle.
> Shortly after one of the partners' (David Baria) BFH&S trip to New Orleans, Newsome's employment with BFH& S was terminated. The following e-mail evidences Newsome's employment:
> > 06/27/03 E-Mail:
> > VN: David, In that I am presently working and due to the circumstances involving my employment with BFH&S, I would like to have a friend of mine pick up my paycheck on Monday. Also, would like to know whether or not I will be getting my vacation pay as well. If so, please have these checks ready for my friend when she comes by. If there is a problem with this request, kindly advise.
> See EXHIBIT "40" June 27, 2003 E-mail between Newsome and Baria; attached hereto.
> While employed at BFH&S, Newsome worked with David Baria (Former President of the Mississippi Trial Lawyers Association). Prior to a trip to New Orleans, Louisiana for a conference, Newsome realized that Baria's behavior and/or attitude towards her had changed. After his return from New Orleans it was more noticeable and his demeanor very agitated, hostile, etc. Newsome believes that prior to and during his trip to New Orleans that Baria may have communicated with attorneys representing Entergy in a lawsuit Newsome had filed. Baria abruptly terminated Newsome's employment with BFH&S without notice; telling her that she did not seem to be happy there, so he was letting her go to do something else. Such a statement which Newsome knew was false and never did Newsome advise Baria of being unhappy working at BFH&S. Newsome believes that her termination from BFH&S was a mutual agreement (in the conspiracy that had been hatched against her to ruin her life and blacklist her) in that after the malicious deeds of Baria, he and the other partners left to go to lunch. Newsome's termination was prior to lunch. Newsome must note, that while there, she was commended for the good job she was doing. In fact, the employment agency, which assigned Newsome there, advised her of the positive feedback it had received in regards to Newsome's job performance and how for such reasons BFH&S wanted to extend to her a job. A job in which Newsome accepted. While Newsome believes that her abrupt termination with BFH&S was due to the fact that she was suing Entergy and termination of employment was done as a favor for Entergy's attorneys, she had no proof so she merely moved on. However, Newsome believes that based upon the evidence presented herein (as Meranus' eagerness to share such news of good tiding on February 6, 2009, of Stor-All's knowledge of her engagement in protected activities) as well as that obtained through Investigations that have been initiated, it will yield additional evidence to sustain the allegations asserted by her.

58. After leaving BFH&S an employment agency assigned Newsome to the law firm of Brunini Grantham Grower & Hewes (BGG&H). The people there seemed so nice. Only being there for about a couple days, Newsome was assigned to work with Charles L. McBride ("Chuck"). Chuck was pleased with Newsome's work (as evidenced in the Reference information provided above at ____). Therefore, Newsome was approached by the Human Resource person and asked if she was interested in the job and that BGG&H was interested in hiring her. Newsome advised that she was interested and accepted BGG&H's offer of employment. Newsome then had a conversation with Chuck which during that conversation he had mentioned to her the need to run everything (correspondence, etc.) by him before going out because he was aware of a situation where a secretary had inadvertently mailed out legal documents to the opposing side in error. Had he been the attorney on the other side, he would not have opened the document and would have destroyed realizing that it was information that he should not have received. Newsome advised Chuck she understood. Newsome had first-hand knowledge of the situation Chuck was referring to from the additional information he provided. Upon leaving his office and thinking on their conversation, Newsome returned to advise Chuck that she had first-hand knowledge of the situation he brought to her attention because she was the secretary for the other law firm (which was BFH&S) who had received this information and left it at that. While Newsome could have remained silent, she knew it was important to be truthful and honest. Chuck advised Newsome that he would have to check into this; however, it should be okay. However, it was to the contrary. Apparently, upon checking with BFH&S – David Baria – Baria was upset and objected to their hiring Newsome. As a direct and proximate result of Baria's behavior and his threats to bring legal action against BGG&H if they hired Newsome, it resulted in BGG&H's offer of employment being rescinded. When Newsome discussed this matter with an attorney she had worked with at another firm, she was advised that BGG&H could have taken the proper if they wanted to and still hire her in that lawyers are known to do this all the time (i.e. lawyers leaving and going to work with other law firms all the time and if there is a concern of potential conflict an agreement is reached to correct any such concerns). Therefore, if there were concerns, all BGG&H had to do was have Newsome sign an agreement to confidentiality - not only that, neither Chuck nor the case files in relation to the matter in question were in the department of BGG&H that Newsome would be working in. Nevertheless, this is what happened.

It is important to note that while BGG&H also contacted a former employer of Newsome's (Owens Law Firm – African-American owned) to see if there would be a problem with her working for BGG&H. Owens Law Firm had no problem with Newsome working with BGG&H. However, you can see how BFH&S (a white-owned law firm) began to create problems for Newsome and creating problems with her obtaining employment elsewhere while conspiring with others who Newsome have brought legal matters against.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE: That there should be documentation in the records of BFH&S and BGG&H in that upon obtaining a receipt of Baria's correspondence relating to this matter and Newsome's assurance to Baria that she would abide by any confidentiality required. However, this was not acceptable to Baria. Apparently, Baria did not think that as his secretary (Newsome) knew anything, so in his response to her correspondence he gave the go ahead in advising that she was under no such obligations of confidentiality. Therefore, Newsome responded in kind (via correspondence) singing like a mockingbird and advised both Baria's firm and BGG&H of what she knew and addressed the concerns of unethical practices of Baria's wife, Marcie Fyke ("Fyke"), in that Fyke was engaging in acts she knew were prohibited by Court Order. Newsome was performing tasks for Fyke not knowing that the Court had issued certain orders prohibiting certain acts. Fyke was providing information to the media, etc. when she knew and/or should have known that what she was doing was unethical, etc. As Newsome mentioned BFH&S and BGG&H have the documentation surrounding this matter. Newsome believes that from her acts and the information provided to BGG&H, something happened, because for a period of time Fyke was not practicing law. (See EXHIBIT "41" attached hereto and incorporated by reference – thus information regarding reasons may be determined from investigation(s) Newsome has requested. Moreover, the reasons why Fyke appears to be in sole practice now). Newsome believes that BGG&H may have sought actions against Fyke for such unethical practices and violations made known to it. This probably being why BFH&S (Baria Fyke Hawkins & Stracener) dropped* her name from the firm and it later became "Baria Hawkins & Stracener." See EXHIBIT "42" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. Since then, it appears Baria has left and the other two attorneys (Hawkins and Stracener) have picked up another partner to join the firm and the new name is "Hawkins Stracener & Gibson, PLLC." (See EXHIBIT "43" attached hereto) – Now dropping both Baria and Fyke (David Baria's wife) from the name of the firm. Perhaps wanting to be sure they get rid of any possible future liability to them.

> IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE: Prior to forming the law firm of BFH&S, Stracener (Eric) worked with a law firm by the name of Page Kruger & Holland (Newsome's former employer – employment which ended in May 2006*). Baria and Stracener knew Newsome was working at Page Kruger & Holland because she was seen there.*

While Newsome was employed at MMS, she was out one day for lunch when Baria and the other partners came into the restaurant she was having lunch in. Newsome knew that she was seen and gathered they were wondering why and/or how she was able to eat there. The next thing you know, Baria's law firm was call MMS's (Mike Farrell). Newsome knows because MMS had Caller-ID and because the Jackson, Mississippi office was just starting back up, she was required to answer the phones. Factfinders can see from the above information, how both Baria and Fyke have been dropped from the firm and other partners moved on.

A. MARY ("MARCIE") MARVEL FYKE:

This being David Baria's wife and she worked at the law firm Baria Fyke Hawkins & Stracener. At the time of Newsome's discharge from Page Kruger & Holland, the Mississippi Bar had Marcie listed as "Inactive." While Newsome is not sure for such status, her checking every now and then after the information she provided revealed that Fyke had been Inactive for quite some time. However, upon Newsome's mentioning this and the conspiracy hatched against her in the federal lawsuit filed in USDC-MS (Case No. 3:07-cv-00099), Fyke resurfaced and apparently has active status since the filing of Newsome's lawsuit filed in February 2007. However, it appears she is solo. See EXHIBIT "44" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

XXVI. COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY MATTER:

59. Before Newsome begin to address the Kentucky issue, she believes it is important to raise concerns as to how there appears to be a systematic and/or well-designed ("PATTERN-OF-PRACTICE"/"PATTERN-OF-CONDUCT") conspiracy network between whites associated with matter involving her across state lines and/or the country. From the information contained in this record, the evidence will yield a pattern-of-organized-criminal wrongs involving government entities/employees to oppress African-Americans and/or people of color seeking to exercise rights under the Civil Rights Act, Title VII, Fair Housing Act, Constitution, etc. – the laws created and designed to protect persons of color from the unlawful/illegal wrongs complained of herein. What is disturbing, is not ONLY that such unlawful/illegal practices and conduct are following Newsome, but how the government has used its resources to "blacklist" her and "network" within their own organizations to engage in such unlawful/illegal and unethical practices against Newsome for the purposes of obstructing the administration of justice and to deprive her equal protection of the laws and due process of laws. Yes, Newsome has found that there is government officials' participation in such activities that is disturbing; in that when a citizen brings concerns of such injustices (without evidence*) he/she is projected as being crazy or mentally imbalanced, etc. However, when a citizen have evidence to sustain his/her claims (as in Newsome's case), the government officials participate with others to further such civil/criminal injustices against Newsome. IMPORTANT TO NOTE: If factfinder was to Google Newsome's name on the internet, look at the information that appears. This is important because it is such egregious acts by government officials designed to for purposes to blacklist her and to see that she is not able to gain employment anywhere. Newsome is entitled to an explanation for such actions by our government and through the appropriate Complaints filed has requested an investigation into such criminal/civil wrongs. Moreover, Newsome is CONFIDENT that not ALL cases of citizens who have brought legal actions against the government or against prominent employers/law firms, etc. have been posted on the internet. Therefore, leaving a valid reason for wanting to know why such citizens (as Newsome) are targeted? Why, because of their race (African-American) and because they are educated and have taken on exposing such corrupt practices.*

While Newsome recently worked in Ohio, her residence was in Covington, Kentucky. Since moving here, Newsome finding that Kentucky has a reputation as being well known for its Klu Klux Klan (KKK) associations. Which Newsome finds very sad. Newsome also has learned that the courts in Kentucky operate under the "Good-Boy" policy/association/system – which to Newsome excludes African-Americans and/or people of color. It is not about practicing the law, it is who you know.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE as Newsome has mentioned, that she was recently employed with a law firm in Ohio (Wood & Lamping). Said law firm authorized one of its attorneys to assist Newsome in the Kentucky matter; however, said attorney (white) became upset when confronted with the bad advice being provided. Moreover, it was made known to Newsome of opposing counsel's (white) reputation for corrupt practices and making Kentucky news for being a slumlord. It appears they were attempting to force Newsome to give up her residence and a place she enjoyed rather than comply with the laws and correct the wrongs made known to Landlord. Therefore, the attorney assigned Newsome by Wood & Lamping abandoned her and she proceeded on. Newsome is very disturbed by the fact that it appears that "certain" Whites feel that they have the right to determine where she is to live and if she does not agree with their unlawful/illegal demands to give up her residence, they resort to civil/criminal actions TO FORCE NEWSOME OUT!

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that Newsome has filed a civil lawsuit against the Landlord in Kentucky.[49] There is record evidence to sustain that said filing was not made before diligent efforts were taken to resolve the issues addressed. IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that the attorney representing the landlord, James West ("West"), also worked with the Judge, Gregory M. Bartlett, before Bartlett took the bench. Do you think this was information made known to Newsome by the court? NO. This information was provided to Newsome by one of the lawyers at the law firm (Wood & Lamping) Newsome was presently employed at. Moreover, said lawyer advised Newsome why some attorneys *do not like practicing in the state of Kentucky – because of the "GOOD BOY" network in place in Kentucky. Therefore, Newsome believes it is safe to conclude that rather than the laws being upheld in Kentucky, they are more likely to render decision based on their special relationships and special favors to attorneys, judges, friends, colleagues, etc. – especially if your skin was the right color. IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that in said action Newsome had successfully obtained an Injunction/Restraining Order against the Landlord; however, since obtaining same, West through the assistance of Bartlett tried to get it removed/lifted and attempting to unlawfully/illegally get their hands on rent money Newsome has paid into Escrow. However, the proper pleadings had been filed to preserve Newsome's rights. IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that Newsome filed the applicable pleadings requesting the recusal of Bartlett from the matter; however, he has failed to do so. He has also failed to obey the ruling of the higher court (Kentucky Court of Appeals) and refuses to enter rulings in compliance with the statutes/laws. Therefore, this matter and the unresolved issues are presently pending.

A. ATTORNEY

It is important to note that Newsome retained an attorney to represent her in the Kentucky matter. This attorney's name was Brian Bishop. However, in keeping with the pattern-of-illegal/unlawful actions, Judge Bartlett granted a Bishop's Motion to Withdraw - said motion which was also timely contested. Bishop required a Retainer to represent Newsome, which she paid and which to date he has not returned any unearned portion. However, this does not shield him from any investigation into the Complaints that have been filed by Newsome to determine whether or not such actions by him violated Newsome's Constitutional and Civil Rights and/or other statutes/laws governing said matters. Moreover, whether said acts by Bishop were done in furtherance of the "PATTERN-OF-PRACTICE"/"PATTERN OF CONDUCT" underlying the conspiracy leveled against Newsome - using the Stor-All method. The corrupt and unlawful practices opposing counsel repeatedly stoop to in contacting Newsome's attorney(s) and advising of matters outside case involving Newsome to prejudice her attorney. Then when it time for a court appearance they appear looking all smug and conceded. Opposing counsel actually embarrassed because a nonlawyer has cleaned their clock –as in the Stor-All matter, that they ALL have resorted to criminal activities for the purposes of defeating Newsome in court – knowingly committing "career suicide."

60. IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE: That the Warrant of Possession (document relied upon by the Kenton County Sheriff's Department) on the backside has written notation that prior to unlawfully/illegally breaking into and burglarizing Newsome's residence, etc., that it acknowledged the POSTING Newsome had posted on her door advising that there is an Injunction and Restraining Order in place which prohibits the removal or eviction of Newsome from her residence. See EXHIBIT "45" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein. Thus, pertinent in that it goes to support and prove willful, malicious and wanton acts of the Kenton County Sheriff's Department, landlord, their counsel, Judges and/or Conspirators to deprive Newsome justice. Criminal acts which are racially motivated. Moreover, Newsome hopes that an investigation will determine whether upon reading and noting that there is an Injunction and Restraining Order, whether authorization to proceed was obtained by Judge Bartlett, Judge Ruttle and/or any other Judge advising that it was okay to proceeding in the unlawful entry, burglary, theft, unlawful entry of Newsome's residence. The criminal acts leveled against Newsome on October 9, 2008, were done with knowledge that she had a legal and lawful Injunction and Restraining Order in place. See EXHIBIT "45" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein. That rent she was required to pay into escrow was current at the time of criminal activities (see EXHIBIT "46" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein; nevertheless, her goes the white landlord, his attorney and criminals committing crimes prohibited by law.

61. Like Stor-All the landlord (in Kentucky matter) went to a corrupt judge to obtain a NULL/VOID ruling to aid and abet them in the committing of criminal activity.

62. On October 13, 2008, Newsome filed a timely FBI Complaint in this matter which is still pending. She has recently requested status on this matter and is patiently waiting a response.

XXVII. NEWSOME'S ATTORNEYS

When the factfinder does not have ALL information to enter a ruling and harbor such ill will and animosity towards Newsome as Stor-All, said malice, envy, hatred, etc. makes he/she easy prey for Stor-All and its representatives to engage them in conspiracies. While Stor-All would like to paint Newsome as a "serial/vexatious" litigator, it fails to advise of the criminal practices opposing counsel engage in for purposes of obtaining an undue advantage over Newsome. Then, although they have obtained an undue advantage, they still cannot defeat under the laws, so they resort to criminal activities. The following information is pertinent to aid the factfinder understand the PATTERN-OF-PRACTICE/PATTERN-OF-CONDUCT opposing parties and their counsel resort in efforts of obtaining an undue advantage in lawsuits and still they are ALL unable to get the job done without resorting to criminal acts – succumbing to "career suicide:"

63. Newsome has requested the intervention of the appropriate government entities through the filing of a Complaint – which to date is still pending. Newsome has recently requested a status update on such matters. Moreover, Newsome has brought the appropriate actions permissible under the laws to request an investigation into the handling of judicial matters and the criminal/civil wrongs of judicial officials and others in the carrying out of "PATTERN-OF-PRACTICE"/"PATTERN-OF-CONDUCT" in the underlying conspiracy actions leveled against her.

64. The USDC-MS is presently attempting to close its doors to Newsome unless she subject's myself to the illegal bond setting it is attempting to subject her to in efforts of extorting monies from her. Since there has been a changing of the guards, Newsome is working on finding out where this matter is and what has transpired that it has taken so long to hear anything. Could there be a COVER-UP going on? Factfinders need to know that Judges/Magistrate in said matter have engaged in criminal acts. The record cannot be certified because it has been breached and/or compromised. There is record evidence to support Newsome's ability to retain legal representation (attorney/counsel) to represent her in lawsuits filed. Therefore, supporting attorneys' belief in the merits of Newsome's lawsuits; however, for some apparent reason her attorneys would abruptly move to withdraw and clearly elect to violate the Code of Professional Conduct, etc. for the purposes of aiding the court as well as opposing counsel in depriving Newsome the relief sought through the legal actions in which they were retained to represent her in. Newsome has requested an investigation into the actions and motives behind such unethical and unlawful/illegal practices. Matters which are still pending from Newsome's understanding. Newsome initiating the appropriate investigations in that she believes it is important to determine what role (if any) her attorneys have played in the "PATTERN-OF-PRACTICE"/"PATTERN-OF-CONDUCT" underlying the conspiracy leveled against her. Moreover, what means of coercion was used by conspirators and co-conspirators' in their success in inducing Newsome's attorneys to commit civil/criminal wrongs against her through their unlawful/illegal and unethical practices. It is already difficult for African-Americans to get a good attorney to represent them in civil rights actions because of their inability to pay fees, corrupt practices, etc. Then when they come in a pro se status they are attacked and/or subjected to such judicial misconduct by those entrusted with power to uphold the laws siding with the dark side and entering rulings contrary to law and participating in criminal activity. Therefore, leaving Newsome with having to proceed pro se to preserve her rights in the lawsuits they were retained for and/or involved in. Newsome having for instance retained the following attorneys to represent her:

65. Brandon I. Dorsey was the first attorney Newsome retained to represent her in the civil lawsuit arising in Mississippi matters. Upon being contacted and being provided with documentation of previous lawsuits in unrelated matters filed by Newsome, Dorsey abruptly moved for a withdrawal and deliberately and knowingly provided information he knew to be false and/or misleading to courts to obtain a withdrawal. While Newsome knew that such actions by Dorsey were unlawful/unethical and contested his withdrawal, the court obliged him for the purposes of aiding and abetting opposing counsel and for purpose of providing opposing parties with an undue/illegal and unlawful advantage over Newsome. Dorsey advised Newsome during his representation of her, that he has to live in Mississippi and feed his family – not being able to handle the pressure from opposing counsel and others. See Title 42, U.S.C., Section 3631 - Criminal Interference with Right to Fair Housing.[50] Dorsey required a Retainer to represent Newsome, which he returned. However, this does not shield him from any investigations that have been filed against him to determine whether or not such actions by him violated Newsome's Constitutional and Civil Rights and/or statutes/laws governing said matters and whether he is subjected to be punished if civil/criminal violations occurred. Moreover, his role (if any) played in the furtherance of the conspiracy alleged by Newsome in the USDC-MS (3:07-cv-00099) action or the "PATTERN-OF-PRACTICE"/"PATTERN-OF-CONDUCT" underlying the conspiracy leveled

Criminal Interference with Right to Fair Housing

This statute makes it unlawful for any individual(s), by the use of force or threatened use of force, to injure, intimidate, or interfere with (or attempt to injure, intimidate, or interfere with), any person's housing rights because of that person's race, color, religion, sex, handicap, familial status or national origin. Among those housing rights enumerated in the statute are:

- The sale, purchase, or renting of a dwelling;
- the occupation of a dwelling;
- the financing of a dwelling;
- contracting or negotiating for any of the rights enumerated above.
- applying for or participating in any service, organization, or facility relating to the sale or rental of dwellings.

This statute also makes it unlawful by the use of force or threatened use of force, to injure, intimidate, or interfere with any person who is assisting an individual or class of persons in the exercise of their housing rights.

Punishment varies from a fine of up to $1,000 or imprisonment of up to one year, or both, and if bodily injury results, shall be fined up to $10,000 or imprisoned up to ten years, or both, and if death results, shall be subject to imprisonment for any term of years or for life.

against Newsome. REMINDER: Dorsey is the attorney representing Judge Skinner.

66. Wanda X. Abioto was the second attorney Newsome retained to represent her in the civil matter after Dorsey abandoned her. Abioto having over 20 years of experience in the legal field. Nevertheless, later on in proceedings she too moved to withdraw as counsel for Newsome and filed a Motion to Withdraw after representing Newsome in the County Court and authorizing the filing of the Complaint in Federal Court. She represents Newsome in USDC-MS Case No. 3:07-cv-00560. While Abioto submitted her Motion to Withdraw, said motion was met by Newsome's opposition pleading. From said pleading and the supporting attachments submitted (which are of public record), Newsome believes a reasonable mind may conclude that that opposing counsel may have obtained information regarding Abioto's sanctions by the Tennessee Bar and Mississippi Bar [see EXHIBIT "47" attached hereto and incorporated by reference] and used such information for purposes of extortion/blackmail to strong-arm her in abandoning Newsome; moreover, taken to get Abioto to throw the lawsuit – wherein Abioto tried in her deliberate and willful acts in not having one of the defendants (the only defendant Newsome gave her to handle in that Newsome had Process Server handle service on other parties) in said action served. As a matter of law, such error and attempts by Abioto to throw the case has been corrected by opposing party's attorney, Monroe, filing a joint pleading with a properly served defendant in that action; therefore, remedying Abioto's and his attempt. Abioto clearly ignored Newsome's e-mails and phone calls requesting she contact her. Newsome had to find out through Monroe's filings on behalf of his clients what he had been up to – badgering, harassing and threatening Abioto attempting to get her to withdraw the lawsuit filed on Newsome's behalf. Monroe making such threats and attacks on Abioto via correspondence. See EXHIBIT "48" attached hereto. Monroe going as far as requesting "in court hearing," which was timely met with Newsome's objections. Newsome was aware of the harm intended towards her and Monroe's request for court appearance was merely done to hide his ill intent – obsession and fetish with Newsome. Monroe (like Stor-All and its counsel) being a predator and stalker. There was no way Newsome was going to give into such sick and hidden obsessions of opposing counsel. As with Monroe, Stor-All Meranus suffers from the same condition; however, while the courts have entertained such criminal activities, Newsome does not oblige in that she is aware of the sickness and the harm such persons seek to cause her. The actions of Monroe clearly are prohibited by statutes/laws. See Title 42, U.S.C., Section 3631 - Criminal Interference with Right to Fair Housing above. What was Abioto's role (if any) played in the furtherance of the conspiracy alleged by Newsome in the USDC-MS (3:07-cv-00099) action.

67. Richard Rehfeldt was the attorney Newsome retained to represent her in the criminal matter arising out of her February 14, 2006 unlawful/illegal arrest. While Rehfeldt was retained to represent Newsome, protect her interest and rights, Newsome believes he may have conspired with opposing counsel in her civil lawsuit(s) and others to set Newsome up and their goal was to obtain a "guilty" verdict on the criminal charges filed against her. Because Newsome had concerns of a possible cover-up by the FBI and that those engaging in conspiracy actions against her were out to seal a "guilty verdict," she placed the FBI on notice of such corrupt plans and conspiracy on or about October 1, 2007. Newsome believes that the FBI (based on its involvement in the 1971 shooting and death of Police Officer William Skinner) would have aided in the unlawful conviction of Newsome. However, the FBI upon receipt of Newsome's October 1, 2007 correspondence and not certain what other persons were obtaining copies of this document, squashed their plans to railroad her. The "CONSPIRACY" plan was to find Newsome "guilty" so that "certain" whites (Judge Skinner, Hinds County, Sheriff, Constable, etc.) and their counsel would have a defense against the civil lawsuit Newsome had filed. However, unbeknownst to Rehfeldt, he was not aware that Newsome had contacted the FBI and notified it of the conspiracy that had been leveled against her. Newsome knew after her meeting with Rehfeldt in August 2007, that he was acting suspicious and would probably attempt to compromise her case. Therefore, Newsome contacted the FBI. Newsome gathered from her August 2007 meeting with Rehfeldt, when he was trying to set her up to accept being found guilty that he did not like the fact that she would research information he provided to determine whether his advice was accurate – of course it was not. Rehfeldt was employed to represent Newsome and she wanted to be sure that her rights and interests were protected. It was apparent Rehfeldt did not expect Newsome to go and research the laws to determine the best defense for her regarding the malicious criminal charges filed. Rehfeldt thought Newsome was going to be stupid enough to place everything in his hands without feedback. It was a good thing Newsome did not do this because it was clearly a setup. Newsome provided Rehfeldt with instructions on how she wanted him to proceed with the representation of her in the criminal matter. From the deliberate acts of Rehfeldt – in his failing to notify Newsome of the court date, it is obvious that he was working with others to assure that Newsome would not appear in court in hopes of getting the court to automatically find her guilty. It will be very interesting to find out what explanation Rehfeldt provided the court for Newsome's absence. Newsome do know Rehfeldt called her after everything was over to pretend like he did not know why she was not there in court. The reason being was because Rehfeldt had deliberately failed to advise and notify Newsome of the court date that had been set on the criminal charges brought by Constable Jon Lewis. Newsome believes the object [to find her guilty for purposes of providing opposing parties to lawsuit filed against them with a defense to Newsome's civil lawsuit] of conspiracy as not obtained because Newsome notified the right sources – rather than take the laws into her own hands. Rehfeldt required a Retainer to represent Newsome, which to date he has not returned any unearned portion. However, this does not shield him from any investigation that has been initiated to determine whether or not such actions by him violated Newsome's Constitutional and Civil Rights and/or statutes/laws governing said matters. Moreover, his role (if any) played in the furtherance of the conspiracy alleged by Newsome in the USDC-MS (3:07-cv-00099) action.

CONCLUSION

WHEREFORE PREMISES CONSIDERED, Newsome files this instant Complaint and Request for Investigation in good faith in that she seeks vindication and justice for the criminal and civil wrongs rendered her. Newsome reserves the right to reserve this instant Complaint in that it has been prepared under duress and for purposes of expedition to see that the proper government authority has been timely, properly and adequately notified of the criminal activities of Conspirators. In July 2008, Newsome filed an Official Complaint with the United States Legislature/Congress. Newsome believes this is presently pending before for said government body. Newsome has submitted Complaint to President Barack Obama and United States Attorney General Eric Holder and is await status as to what may have happened to this Complaint – i.e. concerns of conspiracy to cover-up, destroy evidence, etc. Under the applicable statutes/laws of this United States, Newsome was legally and lawfully authorized to file said with the United States Legislature/Congress. However, PLEASE BE ADVISE that is a separate matter and should not preclude the FBI's initiating, investigation and handling of this instant Complaint.

RELIEF SOUGHT

Newsome prays for the following relief:

A. Immediate issuance of Injunction, Restraining and Protective Order of and against Conspirators and their legal representatives and/or representative from subjecting Newsome to any further criminal and civil wrongs;

B. Immediate payment of $3,000.00 to compensate Newsome for the replacement of stolen and damaged property/possession. Moreover, Newsome has suffered irreparable injury/harm and such criminal actions have had a mental, physical and emotional impact on her life and she should not be required to have to endure any more humiliation, frustration, exertion, etc. to try and determine where items are.

C. Criminal prosecution of Person(s)/Conspirators and the proper indictment rendered for those who may be found guilty;

D. Any and all other relief allowed under the statutes/laws governing said matters.

Respectfully submitted this 23rd day of September, 2009.

Appeal from the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Louisiana
USDC No. 99-CV-3109-G
- - - - - - - - - - -

Before JOLLY, DAVIS and BENAVIDES, Circuit Judges.

PER CURIAM:*

Vogel Denise Newsome, proceeding pro se and in forma pauperis (IFP), filed a complaint alleging, inter alia, violations under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act. She contends that she was subjected to race and gender-based discrimination while working in a temporary assignment for Entergy Services, Incorporated. She filed a motion for appointment of trial counsel, which the district court denied. Newsome wishes to appeal the district court's denial of her motion for appointment of trial counsel and requests from this court appointment of appellate counsel to pursue the issue. See Caston v. Sears, Roebuck & Co., 556 F.2d 1305, 1308 (5th Cir. 1977)(holding that this court has jurisdiction to entertain an appeal from the denial of a motion for appointment of counsel in the context of a Title VII civil rights' complaint, even though the case has not yet been resolved on the merits).

* Pursuant to 5TH CIR. R. 47.5, the court has determined that this opinion should not be published and is not precedent except under the limited circumstances set forth in 5TH CIR. R. 47.5.4.

When the district court considered Newsome's motion for appointment of counsel, it made findings relating to the "exceptional circumstances" test outlined in Ulmer v. Chancellor, 691 F.2d 209, 213 (5th Cir. 1982), and applicable to IFP cases. See 28 U.S.C. § 1915(d). The district court, however, did not make findings under the appropriate standard for Title VII cases. When a complainant requests appointment of counsel under Title VII, the court must consider: (1) the merits of plaintiff's claims of discrimination; (2) the efforts taken to obtain counsel; and (3) the plaintiff's financial ability to retain counsel. See Caston, 556 F.2d at 1308; Gonzalez v. Carlin, 907 F.2d 573, 580 (5th Cir. 1990). The IFP standard and the Title VII standard for appointment of counsel are not interchangeable. See Gonzalez, 907 F.2d at 580.

Although it cited to Gonzalez and the standard for appointment of counsel in Title VII cases, the district court relied solely on the Ulmer factors when it denied Newsome's request for appointment of trial counsel. Because it did not adequately develop the proper standard, the district court's order denying appointment of trial counsel is VACATED and the case REMANDED to the district court for further consideration under the appropriate standard. Newsome's motion for appointment of appellate counsel is DENIED. Cf. Whitehead v. Johnson, 157 F.3d 384, 388 (5th Cir. 1998).

MOTION DENIED; VACATED and REMANDED.

COME NOW Vogel D. Newsome ("Newsome") before the United States Department of Justice ("DOJ") to file Petition Seeking Intervention/Participation of the United States Department of Justice to:

(a) seek DOJ's intervention and participation in a private litigation styled Vogel Denise Newsome v. Entergy Services, Inc.; in the United States District Court, Eastern District of Louisiana ("EDC-LA"); Civil Action No. 99-3109; assigned to Judge G. Thomas Porteous, Jr. ("Judge Porteous" or "Porteous") and Magistrate Judge Sally Shushan ("Shushan");

(b) seek the DOJ's intervention and participation in private litigation in preparing the appropriate Petition/Pleading required to present this matter to the United States Congress;

(c) prepare and present a Petition to the United States Congress ("Congress) on behalf of Newsome, requesting Congress exercise its jurisdiction over the pending Court action and issue order instructing the EDC-LA to resume/proceed with this matter to trial and/or enter an Order and Reasons in compliance with Federal Rules of Civil Procedure ("FRCP") Rule 52, its Local Rule 62(c) and a Final Judgment on post motion(s) pursuant to FRCP 58 and other applicable laws governing rulings on said motions addressing all issues: (i) separately stating each issue raised in the post motions filed by Newsome and rule expressly on each issue stating the reason for each ruling made, and (ii) separately stating each issue raised in Newsome's Amended Complaint and rule expressly on each issue stating the reason for each ruling made;

(d) seek the DOJ's intervention/participation in bringing criminal and civil actions against Defendant, Entergy Services, Inc. ("Entergy"), its in-house counsel – Renee Williams Masinter ("Masinter") and Allyson K. Howie ("Howie"); outside counsel – Locke, Liddell & Sapp, L.L.P ("LLS"), *Amelia Williams Koch ("Koch"), *Steven F. Griffith, Jr. ("Griffith") and *Phyllis Cancienne ("Cancienne"); and outside counsel – Jones, Walker, Waechter, Poitevent, Carrère & Denègre, L.L.P ("JWW") and Jennifer A. Faroldi, for any and all unlawful actions resulting in an obstruction of the administration of justice and deprivation of Newsome's Constitutional Rights and Civil Rights;

NOTE: *According to information Newsome received on September 11, 2004, after checking the website at "www.martindale.com Lawyer Locator," Koch, Griffith and Cancienne are no longer with the law firm of Locke, Liddell & Sapp, L.L.P, but are presently at the law firm of Baker, Donelson, Bearman, Caldwell & Berkowitz, P.C. ("Baker Donelson") in New Orleans, Louisiana.

It is important to note that although Newsome is proceeding pro se in the action sub judice,[1] to date, she has not been provided with any documentation and/or pleading advising of changes to Entergy's counsel's information. However, when Newsome checked the docket sheet of the EDC-LA, sure enough the change to Koch's information had been updated; but nothing showing an entry on the docket of the Court for said change (none other than at the top where parties are listed). Thus, it is important to Newsome to find out how the EDC-LA received said information and when said information was received. Moreover, why Koch failed to notify pro se Newsome of said changes. Moreover, it supports awareness by Entergy that the issues are still alive and pending before the EDC-LA.

(e) seek the DOJ's intervention and participation in bringing criminal and civil actions against Newsome's attorney, Michelle Ebony Scott-Bennett ("Bennett"), in the action sub judice for knowingly submitting a Motion to Withdraw in representation of Newsome, with knowledge that said Motion to Withdraw contained false and misleading information, and that such false and misleading information was done for the purposes of obstructing the administration of justice in the EDC-LA, and, to obtain granting of Motion to Withdraw and deprive Newsome Constitutional Rights and Civil Rights. As a direct and proximate result of Bennett's actions, Newsome has been deprived equal protection of the laws and due process of laws. Furthermore, Bennett's actions supports and constitute fraud not only upon the EDC-LA, but upon Newsome - taking of Newsome's money, etc. with no intentions by Bennett to represent her throughout Court proceedings and unto the conclusion of the action;

(f) seek the DOJ's intervention and participation in filing the applicable pleadings/complaints for appointment of counsel for Newsome or that the DOJ provide Newsome with legal representation throughout the lawsuit in the action sub judice.

(g) seek the DOJ's intervention and participation in bringing criminal and civil actions against Judges/Magistrates under the applicable laws governing their unlawful conduct/practices - if after an investigation into the handling of the action sub judice warrants such to correct the wrongs rendered Newsome as governed by the laws of the United States.

Newsome seeks the DOJ's intervention and participation in the action before the EDC-LA – Q: How does the Division decide whether to participate in a case as amicus curiae or to intervene in private litigation? A: Attorneys in the Appellate Section make a preliminary assessment of a case's suitability for amicus participation or intervention. Recommendations to participate or to intervene must be approved by the Assistant Attorney General for Civil Rights and by the Solicitor General (obtained information from Appellate Section FAQs at DOJ's website at http://www.usdoj.gov/crt/app/faq.htm) (italics added).[2] See Exhibit 10 attached hereto. It is important to note that in this Petition, Newsome uses underlining, boldfacing and italics for special emphasis. This Petition is submitted in good faith and is by no means being provided to hinder, impede or obstruct the administration of justice. In support of this Petition for intervention/participation by the DOJ in the action sub judice, Newsome submits the following request(s), reason(s) and/or statement(s):

1. Newsome through filing this Petition, request written findings – on each numbered issue and the government's position on the matters addressed herein, and on the EDC-LA's handling of the matter presently pending before said Court.

2. Newsome request the intervention/participation of the DOJ in this matter requestng it prepare the appropriate petition(s)/pleading(s)/document(s) required by law to bring this matter before the United States Congress, seeking Congress's intervention in the action sub judice. Thus, requesting Congress to enter the appropriate pleading(s) which will allow the Court action (Case No. 99-3109) to proceed to trial as required by law.

3. The EDC-LA in its handling of the action sub judice has violated Newsome's United States Constitutional Rights and Civil Rights. Newsome because of the unlawful practices occurring in said action. Newsome has been deprived equal protection of the laws and due process of laws. Newsome is a citizen of the United States. Thus, such violation supports and warrants the DOJ's jurisdiction over said matter under the applicable laws governing said matters.

4. The EDC-LA matter, Civil Action No. 99-3109, is still an active matter and pending before said Court pursuant to FRCP Rule 54(b):

> In the absence of such determination and direction*, any order or other form of decision, however designated which adjudicates fewer than all the claims or the rights and liabilities of fewer than all the parties shall not terminate the action as to any of the claims or parties*, and the order or other form of decision is subject to revision at any time before the entry of the judgment adjudicating all the claims and the rights and liabilities of all the parties.

[2] The submittal of this Petition to the DOJ will also support and show to Congress (if need be), that Newsome has exhausted administrative remedy prior to bringing matter directly to it for intervention.

Because the EDC-LA's Order and Reasons entered on post motions fail to adjudicate all of the claims or the rights and liabilities of all of the parties, and because there has never been a Final Judgment entered on the timely raised, and filed, post motions brought by Newsome pursuant to Rule 54(b) and any and all applicable laws governing said matters, the Order and Reasons entered the action sub judice is amendable. Newsome demands that the Order and Reasons be amended to comply with federal laws governing said matters and a Final Judgment be entered in the action sub judice in compliance with FRCP Rule 52, Rule 58 and any other applicable laws. Moreover, Newsome demands that the EDC-LA in the requested amended Order and Reasons and Final Judgment address all issues raised within the Amended Complaint and its findings on each issue raised. Said findings by the Court is to be supported by "factual/substantial" evidence and legal conclusions to support its findings as required by laws pursuant to FRCP Rule 52 and other applicable laws governing said matter. Newsome is also demanding that EDC-LA, as a matter of law, address all issues raised in post motions.

FEDERAL STATUTE – FRCP RULE 52

Rule 52. Findings by the Court; Judgment on Partial Findings

(a) Effect.

In all actions tried upon the facts without a jury or with an advisory jury, the court shall find the facts specially and state separately its conclusions of law thereon, and judgment shall be entered pursuant to Rule 58; and in granting or refusing interlocutory injunctions the court shall similarly set forth the findings of fact and conclusions of law which constitute the grounds of its action. Requests for findings are not necessary for purposes of review. Findings of fact, whether based on oral or documentary evidence, shall not be set aside unless clearly erroneous, and due regard shall be given to the opportunity of the trial court to judge of the credibility of the witnesses. The findings of a master, to the extent that the court adopts them, shall be considered as the findings of the court. It will be sufficient if the findings of fact and conclusions of law are stated orally and recorded in open court following the close of the evidence or appear in an opinion or memorandum of decision filed by the court. Findings of fact and conclusions of law are unnecessary on decisions of motions under Rule 12 or 56 or any other motion except as provided in subdivision (c) of this rule.

(b) Amendment.

On a party's motion filed no later than 10 days after entry of judgment, the court may amend its findings -- or make additional findings -- and may amend the judgment accordingly. The motion may accompany a motion for a new trial under Rule 59. When findings of fact are made in actions tried without a jury, the sufficiency of the evidence supporting the findings may be later questioned whether or not in the district court the party raising the question objected to the findings, moved to amend them, or moved for partial findings.

(c) Judgment on Partial Findings

If during a trial without a jury a party has been fully heard on an issue and the court finds against the party on that issue, the court may enter judgment as a matter of law against that party with respect to a claim or defense that cannot under the controlling law be maintained or defeated without a favorable finding on that issue, or the court may decline to render any judgment until the close of all the evidence. Such a judgment shall be supported by findings of fact and conclusions of law as required by subdivision (a) of this rule.

5. On or about April 1, 2002, Newsome entered post motion entitled, Plaintiffs [sic] Motion to Stay Proceedings to Enforce a Judgment; Motion to Amend Judgment; and Motion to Set Aside Judgment ("Combined Motions"), pursuant to FRCP Rule 62(a)(b), Rule 59(a) and Rule52. Pleading attached hereto as Exhibit 3 – Brief only.

6. Newsome filed Combined Motions in a timely manner as required and/or governed by law after Judge Porteous entered an Order and Reasons along with Judgment on March 20, 2002, granting Defendant's Motion for Summary Judgment. Within 10 days, Newsome on March 30, 2002, submitted for filing her Combined Motions. EDC-LA filed Combined Motions on April 1, 2002. See Record Document Nos. ("Rec. Doc. No.") 91 and 92. – Docket Sheet at Exhibit 1. Thus, supporting that Newsome did not waive the right to contest ruling by the EDC-LA.

7. If litigant desires to preserve argument for appeal, litigant must press and not merely intimate the argument during proceedings before district court; if argument is not raised in such a degree that district court has opportunity to rule on it, Court of Appeals will not address it on Appeal. FDIC v. Mijalis, 15 F.3d 1314, 1327 rehearing denied (5th Cir. 1994); citing Butler Aviation Int'l Inc. v. Whyle (In Re Fairchild Aircraft Corp.), 6 F.3d 1119, 1128 (5th Cir. 1993).

8. There is no "bright line rule" which exist to determine whether a matter has been properly raised below. However, "a workable standard, is that the argument must be raised sufficiently for the EDC-LA to rule on it." In Re E.R. Fegert, Inc., 887 F.2d 955, 957 (9th Cir. 1989). This principle accords the EDC-LA the opportunity to reconsider its ruling and correct its errors. Morrow v. Greyhound Lines, Inc., 541 F.2d 713, 724 (8th Cir. 1976).

9. On or about May 6, 2002, EDC-LA simply entered an Order and Reasons only (with no Final Judgment). Said Order and Reasons is not in compliance with the federal rules pursuant to FRCP Rule 52(d). Moreover, Order and Reasons entered by Porteous, was certain to omit and not address the Rule 52 Motion filed by Newsome. See Exhibit 7 attached hereto.

10. On or about May 13, 2002, Newsome timely, properly and adequately notified the EDC-LA of the error in its handling of the matter sub judice, to no avail. Moreover, Newsome addresses Court's failure to address Rule 52 Motion, and its failure to address all issues raised in Combined Motions and Amended Complaint. Nevertheless, to date, there has not been a Final Judgment on the post motions filed in the action sub judice. See Exhibit 6 – Brief only, attached hereto.

11. As a direct and proximate result of Newsome bring the errors in Porteous' Order and Reasons to his attention, Porteous became upset and knowingly ill-advised Newsome to take the matter to the Fifth Circuit. Such instructions, which are clearly erroneous, because EDC-LA had never entered an Order and Reasons and a Final Judgment in compliance with federal rules on the post motions. See Exhibit 8 attached hereto. Said filing by Judge Porteous will support his hostility towards Newsome for her bringing errors in his ruling to the Court's attention. Moreover, through said instructions issued by Porteous, it is evidenced that he does not want to address the post motions issues in the action sub judice. Thus, supporting the need for his disqualification in the action sub judice and this lawsuit be reassigned to another Judge other than Judge Morey L. Judge A. J. McNamara and Judge Ivan L. R. Lemelle.

12. The EDC-LA misapplied the law when addressing Newsome's Combined Motions addressing the errors of the EDC-LA. However, the Combined Motions is an acceptable legal recourse to address errors in the Court's Order and Reasons. For instance, the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals found in McCrea v. Harris County Houston Ship Channel Nav. Dist., 423 F.2d 605, 610 (n. 19)(5th Cir. 1970) cert. Denied, 1970, 400 U.S. 927, 91 S.Ct. 189, 27 L.Ed.2d 186[3]:

> It does not appear that appellant objected to this failure in the court below. She made no motion to amend the judgment under Rule 52(b) Fed.R.Civ.Proc., no motion for new trial, and approved the judgment as to form.

13. Even assuming that the remarks stated the law incorrectly . . . attorney made no objection to them at that point nor at any other point prior to his appeal. It is important that the parties make known to the trial court what omissions or commissions are objected to and why so that the trial court can act to correct errors if they are present . . . Moreover, since the trial court corrected himself sua sponte in his final instructions, we are unconvinced that a miscarriage of justice results from our refusal to consider the issue now. Delesdernier v. Porterie, 666 F.2d 116 (n. 6), 124, 125. Thus, supporting a miscarriage of justice by the EDC-LA in its failure and refusal to consider issues raised and correct errors brought to its attention by Newsome.

14. Given the fact that it has been over two years that this issue has been before the EDC-LA, it is unlikely that Judge Porteous is going to move and correct his errors on his own. Thus, the intervention/participation of the United States Department of Justice and Congress is needed to aid Judge Porteous and insure that the laws are enforced and upheld. Moreover, the Department of Justice is needed by Newsome to investigate Judge Porteous' behavior and conduct in this matter to determine whether or not he has also engaged with Defendant to conspire to deprive Newsome rights secured under the Constitution of the United States. Moreover, whether Porteous' behavior and/or conduct, towards Newsome, is arbitrary and individious – prejudicial/discriminative.

[3] This case provides an example of the wisdom of that rule. McCrea at 658 (n. 47).

15. Since the EDC-LA is adamant and insist on ignoring and passing over the issues without comments and thus insist, through its actions, on rendering Newsome a clear injustice and depriving her equal protection of the laws and due process of laws - which are secured under the United States Constitution, and the Fifth Circuit refuses to hear the appeal - Newsome brings this matter before the United States Department of Justice to address and bring the unlawful handling of this lawsuit to the attention of Congress on her behalf or bring the applicable legal action it knows to bring to correct wrong complained of.

16. EDC-LA LOCAL RULE 62(c) states:

> This court's opinion in any such action shall separately state each issue raised in the petition and rule expressly on each issue stating the reason for each ruling made.

17. There are approximately 13 numbered issues raised in the Combined Motions filed by Newsome on April 1, 2002 in the action sub judice. To date, the EDC-LA has not entered an opinion or final judgment on the Combined Motions separately stating each issue raised, and has failed to rule expressly on each issue and provide its reason for each ruling made as required by law. See Exhibit 3 – Brief only, pp. 2-3, (Rec. Doc. 93).

18. There are approximately 12 numbered issues raised in Reconsideration of Denial of Combined Motions filed by Newsome on May 13, 2002, in the action sub judice. To date, the EDC-LA has not entered an opinion or final judgment on the Reconsideration of Denial of Combined Motions separately stating each issue raised, and has failed to rule expressly on each issue and provide its reason for each ruling made as required by law. See Exhibit 4 – Brief only, pp. 2-3, (Rec. Doc. 98).

19. There are approximately 36 numbered issues raised in the Amended Complaint filed by Newsome on February 9, 2000, in the action sub judice. To date, there has not been a trial on this matter; neither has the EDC-LA entered an opinion or final judgment separately stating each issue raised, and has failed to rule expressly on each issue and provide its reason for each ruling made as required by law. See Exhibit 2 – Brief only, (Rec. Doc. 21).

20. The Order and Reasons entered by the EDC-LA on the post motions under the controlling laws can be defeated by a more favorable finding; and, Order and Reasons cannot be maintained under controlling laws governing said matters.

21. There are no legal findings of facts and conclusion of law to support Order and Reasons entered by the EDC-LA on Newsome's post motions.

22. There is no evidence to support the findings of the Order and Reasons entered by the EDC-LA on the post motions filed.

23. The record evidence will support that the EDC-LA took a far departure from it Local Rules and federal statutes/laws governing said matter and ill-advised Newsome to take this matter before the Fifth Circuit with full knowledge that Order and Reasons entered was not in compliance with laws, and a Final Judgment had not been entered in this action.

24. Newsome has exhausted the judicial process on the EDC-LA's failure to enter Order and Reasons in compliance with the laws and the EDC-LA's failure to enter a Final Judgment on the Combined Motions – as required by law. Therefore, Newsome may now proceed to bring this matter before Congress, and request that Congress exercise it's jurisdictional authority and instruct the EDC-LA to comply with laws governing said matters.

UNITED STATES CONSTITUTION
AMENDMENT XIV
AMENDMENT VII –CIVIL TRIALS

14th Amendment to United States Constitution – Citizenship; Privilege and Immunities; Due Process; Equal Protection; Apportionment of Representation; Disqualification of Officers; Public Debt; Enforcement:

> Section 1 – All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and the state wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person, life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

> CASE LAW:
> The due process clause of the Fourteenth Amendment was intended to prevent the government from abusing its power, or employing it as an instrument of oppression. Collins v. City of Harker Heights, 112 S.Ct. 1061 (1992).

Due process expresses requirement of fundamental fairness. Lassiter v. Department of Social Services of Durham County, N.C., 101 S.Ct. 2153 (1981).

There are pure questions of law involved in this action and refusal to consider them would result in a manifest/miscarriage of justice. Guerra v. Manchester Terminal Corporation, 498 F.2d 641, 658 (n.47) citing Triple R. Welding & Oil Field Maintenance Corp., 472 F.2d 713, 716 (5th Cir. 1973).

Amendment VII – Civil Trials:

In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right to trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a jury, shall be otherwise reexamined in any Court of the United States, than according to the rules of common law.

CASE LAW:

Without waiver of the right of trial by jury, by consent of parties, the court errs if it substitutes itself for the jury, and, passing upon the effect of the evidence, finds the facts involved in the issue and renders judgment thereon. Baylis v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 5 S.Ct. 494, 113 U.S. 316, 28 L.Ed. 989.

A defendant has no right under this amendment to a trial by court without a jury. Hurwitz v. Hurwitz, 136 F.2d 796, 78 U.S. App. D.C. 66.

When evidence against a defendant affords a rational choice for competing inferences, this amendment requires that the claim be submitted to a jury. Moore v. Guthrie Hospital, Inc., 403 F.2d 366.

An exception to the scope of review applicable only in cases where the defendant availed himself of his right to trial by jury, but not when he agreed to a bench trial, moreover, might be held to offend . . . fourteenth amendments' protection of the right to trial by jury. See Comment, Removal of Supreme Court Appellate Jurisdiction: A Weapon Against Obscenity?, 1969

Duke L. J. 291, cf. United States v. Jackson, 390 U.S. 570 (1968).

25. This is a civil litigation matter wherein Newsome sought to have her case tried before a jury pursuant to the Seventh Amendment of the United States Constitution. Newsome did not waive said right. Newsome never agreed, in the action sub judice to have her lawsuit decided by one Judge, but clearly requested a jury in this action. The Amended Complaint/Complaint (original) filed in the action sub judice clearly states:

> JURY DEMAND:
> Plaintiff demands a jury on all issues so triable.
> *The purpose of the prima facie case consist of sufficient evidence in the type of case to get Plaintiff past a motion for directed verdict in a jury case or a motion to dismiss in a nonjury case, it is the evidence necessary to require defendant to proceed with his case. White v. Abrams, 495 F.2d 724, 729 (9th Cir. 1974); FRCP Rule 41(b).

See Exhibit 2 – Brief only, p. 16.

26. Newsome's Amended Complaint (and the original Complaint filed in the action sub judice) clearly and distinctly sets forth prima facie cases and is accompanied by factual statements and/or substantial evidence for (a) Hostile Work Environment at pp. 4-9; (b) Retaliation at p. 9; (c) Pretext at pp. 9-11; (d) Conspiracy at p. 12; and (e) Punitive Damages at pp.12-13. See Exhibit 2 – Brief only (documents referenced as exhibits are in the records of the lower court(s)) - attached hereto.

27. Judge Porteous, in the action sub judice did not have the consent of parties to pass on a jury trial and to decide the issues presented in this action himself (self-appointed judge & jury). Neither is there any documentation in the record to support that Newsome consented to a nonjury action. Thus, Porteous has erred for substituting himself for the jury, failing to produce any evidence to support his ruling, and entering Order and Reasons which is not in compliance with laws governing said matters.

28. Under the Seventh Amendment of the United States Constitution, Defendant Entergy, in the action sub judice, has no right to a trial without a jury, nor to have the pending lawsuit decided on its motion for summary motion.

29. Because of the competing inferences and Newsome's challenges (a) to Entergy's proffered reasons for her unlawful discharge; (b) to the perjured testimony of Entergy's key witness, Jerald Bailey; and (c) to other arguments presented or raised by Entergy in the action sub judice, the law and the Constitution supports that Newsome's claims are to be submitted to a jury.

30. In granting Entergy's Motion for Summary Judgment the EDC denied Appellant her right to a jury trial. There are contested issues and evidence in the record to support that the proffered reasons provided by Entergy for Newsome's termination are false and unsubstantiated by any evidence. Thus, it is not the purpose of FRCP relating to summary judgment to deny litigants right to trial if they really have issues to try. United States v. Burket, 402 F.2d 426, 427 [n. 10] (5th Cir. 1968) citing National Screen Service Corporation v. Poster Exchange, Inc., 305 F.2d 647 (5th Cir. 1962).

31. In order to assure that Newsome's Seventh Amendment rights are not violated, the federal courts are to take great care not to deny Newsome a full trial once she has provided/produced "substantial evidence" to prove that the proffered reasons provided by Entergy is false and that genuine issues of fact exists. Devex Corp. v. Houdaille Indus., Inc., 382 F.2d 17 (7th Cir. 1967) and/or judgment might depend on the credibility of the witnesses. . . . where the credibility is, or may be crucial, summary judgment becomes improper and a trial is indispensable. Cales v. Chesapeak & Ohio Ry. Co., 46 F.R.D. 36, 40 (D.C. VA 1969).

32. The intervention/participation of the DOJ and the United States Congress is needed to aid Newsome in correcting the wrongs rendered her, in that plain error when examined in the context of entire case, is so obvious and substantial that failure to correct it would affect fairness, integrity, or public reputation of judicial proceedings. Peaches Entertainment Corp. v. Entertainment Repertoire Associates, Inc., 62 F.3d 690 (5th Cir. 1995).

APPPOINTMENT OF COUNSEL ISSUE AND WITHDRAWAL OF NEWSOME'S COUNSEL MICHELLE E. SCOTT-BENNETT

Newsome submits the instant Petition requesting the intervention and participation of the United States Department of Justice to submit to the United States Congress and/or that the DOJ file the applicable pleadings/complaints to correct the wrongs rendered her in the EDC-LA's refusal to appoint counsel, and then once Newsome retained counsel on her own, its granting/allowing her attorney to withdraw in the action sub judice. Moreover, Newsome seeks the DOJ to file the applicable pleadings/complaints with the appropriate agency for the disbarment of her attorney, Michelle Ebony Scott-Bennett, if it is found that her Motion to Withdraw in the action sub judice was unlawful under rules/laws governing attorney practices/conduct and said withdrawal infringed upon Newsome's Constitutional Rights. In support of said request(s), Newsome states the following:

Congress's View:

Although there is no constitutional right to an appointment of counsel in civil cases, federal courts are empowered by statute to appoint counsel when circumstances justify it. Armstrong v. Snyder, 103 F.R.D. 96 (D.C. Wis. 1984).

> In Castner v. Colorado Springs Cablevision, 979 F.2d 1417, 1421 (10th Cir. 1992), the decision whether to appoint counsel requires accommodation of two competing considerations. First, the court must consider Congress's "special . . . concern with legal representation with Title VII actions." Jenkins v. Chemical Bank, 721 F.2d 876, 879 (2d Cir. 1983). In enacting the attorney appointment provision of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and later reaffirming the importance of that provision in the legislative history of the Equal Employment Opportunity Act of 1972, Congress demonstrated its awareness that Title VII claimants might not be able to take advantage of the federal remedy without appointment of counsel. As explained in House Report No. 92-238:
> > By including this provision in the bill, the committee emphasizes that the nature of Title VII actions more often than not pits parties of unequal strength and resources against each other. The complainant, who is usually a member of the disadvantaged class, is opposed by an employer who infrequently is one of the nations major producers, and who has at his disposal a vast of resources and legal talent.

H.R. Rep. No. 238, 92nd Cong., 2d Sess., reprinted in 1972 U.S.C.C.A.N. 2137, 2148. The Court, therefore, must give "serious consideration" to a plaintiff's request for counsel in a Title VII action. Jenkins at 880 and Castner at 1421.

> [C]ourts have an obligation to consider request for appointment with care . . . remain[ing] mindful that appointment of an attorney may be essential for a Plaintiff to fulfill "the role of 'a private attorney general,' vindicating a policy 'of the highest authority.'" Quoting New York Gaslight Club, Inc. v. Carey, 447 U.S. 54, 63, 100 S.Ct. 2024, 2030, 64 L.Ed. 2d 723 (1980).

[W]hen a litigant unable to afford counsel and unable to present his case is forced to proceed pro se, there is little guarantee that a civil rights action will be successfully prosecuted to appeal so that the denial of counsel may be reviewed. Robbins v. Maggio, 413 (5th Cir. 1985).

33. Despite supporting Congressional and federal laws/decisions addressing such matters, the EDC-LA elected to pit indigent pro se Newsome against a giant corporation – Entergy and its vast legal dream team. See Nos. 46 and 47 of this instant Petition.

34. On or about April 3, 2002, Counsel for Newsome, Michelle E. Scott-Bennett ("Bennett") filed a Motion to Withdraw as counsel in the action sub judice. Bennett submitted said motion with full knowledge that Newsome contested the withdrawal. Bennett submitted said motion with full knowledge that the information contained in Motion to Withdraw was false and misleading. See Exhibit 5 attached hereto.

35. Michelle Ebony Scott-Bennett (Attorney for Newsome in the action sub judice); Louisiana Bar No. 25342; Admitted 1998 (approximately 6 yrs. of experience in the legal profession as an attorney); Undergraduate education: Louisiana State University, B.A.; Law School: Loyola University- New Orleans, LA, J.D. See Exhibit 12, p. 7 – from martindale.com Lawyer Locator information – attached hereto.

36. The unlawful actions of Bennett resulting approximately two days after Newsome had submitted her Combined Motions (Plaintiffs [sic] Motion to Stay Proceedings to Enforce a Judgment; Motion to Amend Judgment; and Motion to Set Aside Judgment). Combined Motions was filed on or about April 1, 2002. Had Newsome not moved when she did to file the applicable post motions, this lawsuit and the issues contained in her Amended Complaint and post motions would not have been preserved for addressment by the DOJ or the United States Congress.

37. Amongst all the drama surrounding the unlawful actions of Bennett, Newsome immediately contacted the EDC-LA (via telephone) and advised said Court that she would be filing a rebuttal to the Motion to Withdraw. An Administrator of the Court advised Newsome she had 10 days to file her response.

38. On or about April 8, 2004 – only five days since filing of Motion to Withdraw - the EDC-LA with knowledge that Newsome would be filing a rebuttal to Motion to Withdraw, moved swiftly (before 10 days to file response had expired) to enter an Order granting Bennett's Motion to Withdraw. Said actions by the EDC-LA is unlawful and was done to deprive Newsome protected rights secured under the United States Constitution and the Civil Rights Act.

39. EDC-LA unlawfully allowed the withdrawal of Newsome's attorney, Michelle Ebony Scott-Bennett. EDC-LA erred in the granting of said withdrawal. Prior to entering ruling granting withdrawal, the EDC failed to afford Newsome the appropriate time required by law to respond to the motion. The EDC moved swiftly/quickly to grant dismissal with knowledge that Ms. Newsome had notified the Court she would be filing her objections. Furthermore, the record evidence will support there was never an agreed Order between the parties agreeing to withdrawal. Thus, the law requires that party(s) be afforded the opportunity to object within the time frame allotted by law.

40. On or about April 10, 2004, despite the injustice rendered by the EDC-LA granting Bennett's Motion to Withdraw, Newsome promptly submitted a timely pleading entitled – Plaintiff's Response to Motion to Withdraw Filed by Attorney Michelle E. Scott-Bennett. See Exhibit 6 – Brief only. Said pleading addresses unlawful practices of Bennett. Thus, by said filing, Newsome has preserved this issue for review by the DOJ and the United States Congress. An issue still alive and pending in the action sub judice. A Final Judgment on the Motion has not been entered.

41. It is important to note, that after the Courts refused to appoint Newsome counsel, after timely submittal of motion for such and exhaustion of appeal on the matter, Ms. Newsome retained legal representation on her own. Newsome retained the legal services of Attorney Michelle Ebony Scott-Bennett/Justice For All Law Center, LLC.

42. Bennett did not have the consent of Newsome to withdraw as counsel. The law requires said consent. Bennett failed to abide by the laws governing withdrawal when such request was contested. There is a valid and legal contract between Newsome and Bennett/Justice for All Law Center, LLC for legal representation. Thus, Bennett is now subject to the punishment allotted for such unlawful practices.

43. It may be inferred (and a reasonable mind/person on the street may conclude) from the EDC-LA's granting of unlawful withdrawal, said actions were done in the furtherance of aiding Entergy and it's counsel in this lawsuit. A reasonable mind/person on the street may conclude from the Court's unlawful conduct in granting Bennett's unlawful withdrawal, said actions were done to intentionally throw the case or intentionally tip-the-scale in favor of Entergy. CONGRESS calls it, pitting parties of unequal strengths and resources against each other – House Report No. 92-238.

44. The record evidence will support that Bennett was offered legal assistance in Newsome's lawsuit via pro bono services by the Owens Law Firm, PLLC, in Justice For All Law Center's representation of Newsome. However, Bennett turned down the generous offer of the Owens Law Firm. See the Affidavit of Rajita Iyer Moss, staff attorney (now a Partner in the firm) at the Owens Law Firm attached hereto as Exhibit 9.

45. The reasons offered by Owens Law Firm, PLLC for not being able to represent Newsome, yet offering their services as stated:

> We could not represent Ms. Newsome because our firm does not specialize in employment discrimination cases. However, we informed Ms. Newsome that we were willing to provide her attorney, Michelle Bennett, with any assistance, pro bono, discovery or research, that she might need with regard to the litigation that she was handling for Ms. Newsome.

See Exhibit 9 attached hereto.

46. Further support of timely exhaustion of this issue through the courts is evidenced in the Courts' records, see Exhibit 1 - Notice of Appeal. EDC Record Doc. No. 29, pp 10-1; Rec. Doc. 85; and 10/15/01 EDC-LA Docket Entry. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, Case No. 00-31299. Supreme Court Writ of Certiorari Brief in Case No. 01-5882.

47. Pro Se Newsome came under scrutiny and attacks by the EDC-LA because she prepared her own pleadings. The EDC-LA subjecting Newsome to such attacks in efforts of justifying denial of counsel. However, said reasons – Newsome preparing own pleadings – is unacceptable as a matter of law:

> Armstrong v. Snyder, 103 F.R.D. 96, 105 (1984) – Although as the court has already observed, the Plaintiff has demonstrated a considerable aptitude for and understanding the judicial process, it has no doubt that the complexity of the constitutional and factual issues he has perhaps unwittingly raised in his complaint would be best argued by one schooled in the law . . . Accordingly, the court will appoint an attorney to prosecute this action on the plaintiff's behalf. Because it is hopeful that counsel can be secured readily and in the interest of ensuring that the record in this case remains unblemished both procedurally and substantially.

48. In the action sub judice, the record evidence will support that EDC-LA's reasons for depriving Newsome legal counsel in 2000, was because she (a) is college educated; (b) prepared 16-page Complaint; (c) is single, (d) has no dependents; and (e) drives a new car. Supporting clear and blatant prejudice by the EDC-LA towards Newsome. Reasons presented by the EDC-LA to deprive Newsome counsel are baseless and holds no merits to support its denial of counsel. Further supporting the bias/prejudice of the EDC-LA towards Newsome.

Congress has made explicit findings that Title VII litigants are presumptively incapable of handling properly the complexities involved in Title VII cases . . . Title VII plaintiffs are usually members of a disadvantaged class and face opponents who command vastly superior resources. Wilborn v. Escalderon, 789 F.2d 1328, 1330 (fn. 2)(9th Cir. 1986).

49. The evidence attached as Exhibits hereto will support that Entergy's outside legal counsel combined consist of the following:

    a. Approximately 296 years combined of practice in the law;

    b. Approximately 970 attorneys combined; and

    c. Approximately 73 years of experience combined for attorneys assigned in this lawsuit. Areas of practice is in employment law.

Thus, supporting a clear disadvantage for pro se Newsome*, yet the EDC-LA refused to allow her legal representation in this lawsuit. Then as soon as Newsome did retain counsel to represent her, the EDC-LA sought to aid Bennett's unethical practices and grant the Motion to Withdraw filed by Bennett – without Newsome's consent.

50. The record evidence clearly supports that Newsome in good faith sought to obtain counsel on her own before exhausting original request for appointment of counsel to represent her. Then when she did retain counsel after exhausting said appeal on appoint of attorney issue, the EDC-LA moved quickly to grant an unlawful withdrawal of her attorney from the action sub judice.

51. Pro Se Newsome is an African-American female suing Entergy, an opponent who commands vastly superior resources. Newsome holds a B.S. degree from Florida A&M University. Newsome holds no degree in the legal profession.

52. Entergy Corporation is an integrated energy company engaged primarily in electric power production, retail distribution operations, energy marketing and trading, and gas transportation.

Entergy owns and operates power plants with approximately 30,000 megawatts of electric generating capacity, and it is the second-largest nuclear generator in the United States.

Entergy delivers electricity to 2.6 million utility customers in Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas.

Entergy has annual revenues of over $9 billion and approximately 14,000 employees.

See Exhibit 11 – information retrieved from Entergy's website - attached hereto.

53. In the action sub judice before the EDC-LA, the record evidence will support that Newsome has been pitted against a corporation/opponent with vast legal and financial resources – Entergy Services, Inc. and its legal counsel. Furthermore, the following facts will shed additional light on such disadvantage, yet Newsome (until another attorney is appointed her) has been able to weather the discriminatory/prejudicial treatment in the handling of the action sub judice and keep the matter alive so that it could be addressed by the United States Department of Justice and Congress:

Entergy's In-house Counsel:

a. Renee Williams Masinter, Louisiana Bar No. 19831, Admitted 1989 (approximately 15 yrs. of experience in the legal profession as an attorney). See Exhibit 12, p. 2 – from martindale.com Lawyer Locator information – attached hereto.

b. Allyson K. Howie, Louisiana Bar No. 20574, Admitted 1991 (approximately 13 yrs. of experience in the legal profession as an attorney). See Exhibit 12, p. 3 – from martindale.com Lawyer Locator information– attached hereto.

Entergy's Outside Counsel:

c. Locke, Liddell & Sapp, LLP ("LLS") – formed on January 1, 1999, from Dallas-based Locke Purnell Rain Harrell which was formed founded in 1891 and Houston-based Liddell, Sapp, Zivley, Hill & LaBoon which was founded in 1916. Approximately 113 yrs. of practice in the legal profession/field. The combination results in a firm of over 400 lawyers. See Exhibit 13, pp. 1-3– attached hereto.

i. Amelia Williams Koch ("Koch") (Lead Attorney in action sub judice); Louisiana Bar No. 2186; Admitted 1983 (approximately 21 yrs. of experience in the legal profession as an attorney); Undergraduate education: University of Georgia, B.A.; Law School: University of Virginia, J.D. See Exhibit 12, p. 1 – from martindale.com Lawyer Locator information– attached hereto.

ii. Phyllis Cancienne ("Cancienne"); Louisiana Bar No. (not known at this time); Admitted 1989 (approximately 15 yrs. of experience in the legal profession as an attorney); Undergraduate education: Louisiana State University, B.A.; Law School: Louisiana State University, J.D. See Exhibit 12, p. 6 – from martindale.com Lawyer Locator information– attached hereto.

iii. Steven F. Griffith, Jr. ("Griffith"); Louisiana Bar No. 27232; Admitted 2001 (approximately 3 yrs. of experience in the legal profession as an attorney); Undergraduate education: Rhodes College, B.A., cum laude; Law School: Loyola University, New Orleans, LA, J.D., magna cum laude. See Exhibit 12, p. 5 – from martindale.com Lawyer Locator information – attached hereto.

d. Baker, Donelson, Bearman, Caldwell & Berkowitz, P.C. ("Baker Donelson")– Year established: 1888. Approximately 116 yrs. of practice in the legal profession/field. Was ranked in 2003 as the fastest growing law firm in the United States by The National Law Journal and is one of the 200 largest law firms in the country. Through strategic acquisitions and mergers over the past century, the firm has grown to include over 370 attorneys and public policy advisors in 10 offices across the southeastern United States. See Exhibit 13, pp. 4-13 – attached hereto.

i. Koch, who is presently a shareholder in Baker Donelson. See Exhibit 12 attached hereto.

ii. Cancienne, who is presently a shareholder in Baker Donelson. See Exhibit 12 attached hereto.

iii. Griffith, who is presently a member in Baker Donelson. See Exhibit 12 attached hereto.

NOTE: At this time, it is not known to Newsome when Koch, Cancienne and Griffith joined the law firm of Baker Donelson. However, it is apparent that said change occurred only after the filing of Newsome's legal briefs exposing the unethical practices of Koch. All three, Koch, Cancienne and Griffith are closely associated in the action sub judice and familiar with Newsome's most recent exhaustion of the appeal process. Thus, such actions by attorneys, may lead one to believe the LLS was aware of the unethical practices of Koch, Cancienne and Griffith and elected to terminate its relationships with them. Even if this were the case, LLS did nothing to come forward to address such practices. Now, Koch, Cancienne and Griffith have moved on to Baker Donelson and taken their client, Entergy's business and its financial support, with them. The record evidence will show however, Koch and Cancienne are now shareholders at Baker Donelson (Exhibit 12) – leaving Newsome with concerns as to how Koch and Cancienne went about establishing and obtaining the money to finance such an endeavor. Moreover, whether or not Baker Donelson were made aware of Koch's and Cancienne's unethical/unlawful practices in federal proceedings while employed by LLS. Or, whether Koch and Cancienne (and perhaps LLS) purposely, knowingly and intentionally withheld/concealed such pertinent information, regarding the allegations in the action sub judice relating to their obstructing justice in federal proceedings, from their new employer (Baker Donelson) in order to obtain employment at Baker Donelson and become shareholders in the firm of their new employer. Thus, said actions by Koch and Cancienne, may be taken as their buying their position for job/financial security in light of the allegations that have been raised by Newsome of possible criminal actions on Koch, Cancienne, their client(s) and co-counsels part in the action sub judice. A move by Koch and Cancienne coming in less than a year and/or a few months after Newsome addressed allegations of unethical and unlawful practices in pleadings.

e. Jones, Walker, Waechter, Poitevent, Carrère & Denègre, L.L.P. ("Jones Walker")- Year established: 1937. Approximately 67 yrs. of practice in the legal profession/field. Is a full-service law firm with over 200 lawyers. See Exhibit 13 attached hereto.

i. Jennifer A. Faroldi ("Faroldi"); Louisiana Bar No. 25668; Admitted 1998 (approximately 6 yrs. of experience in the legal profession as an attorney); Undergraduate education: Louisiana State University, B.A.; Law School: Loyola University, J.D., cum laude. See Exhibit 12, p. 4 – from martindale.com Lawyer Locator information – attached hereto.

NOTE: However, despite the prejudicial treatment and discriminatory practices by the EDC-LA, Newsome was able to file required pleadings in the action sub judice and keep this lawsuit alive and pending before the EDC-LA. It is important to note that the arguments presented here, as to Congress's stance on such issues, are not new and have also been properly preserved as required by law. In fact, the record evidence will support that Newsome timely, properly and adequately raised the appointment of counsel issue and exhausted said issue through the appeal process. It was after the EDC-LA's testimony of its client's key witness. Neither did any of the other attorneys associated in the action sub judice.

56. There is evidence to support Koch has a history and/or has begun a pattern-of-abuse in obstructing the administration of justice. Koch has knowingly provided false and/or frivolous responses/information to federal entities during Entergy's handling of Newsome's legal actions.

57. A reasonable mind may conclude, from information in the lower Courts' records, that Koch has an obsession with Newsome. Koch's obsession is fueled by her bias and prejudice towards Newsome. Moreover, from the evidence in the record, it appears Koch has a one-sided-vendetta (on her behalf) against Newsome.

58. Because of the unethical and unlawful practices of Koch, the record evidence now supports that Koch has an independent personal stake and with the financial assistance of Entergy and/or other client(s) being sued by Newsome - her past/present employer law firms, and co-counsel - Koch knowingly conspired to obstruct the administration of justice in achievement of her goal to deprive Newsome rights secured under the United States Constitution and Civil Rights Act.

59. At no given time in the action sub judice, has Entergy, Koch's former and/or present employer, or attorneys come forward to bring to the attention of the Court(s) or governmental agency(s) pursuant to the applicable laws, the unethical and unlawful practices of Koch or themselves. Therefore, it may be concluded that Koch's clients, employer(s) and co-counsel were aware of the unethical and unlawful practices of Koch. Yet, elected to do nothing to correct and/or deter Koch's unlawful behavior. Moreover, through said failure, it may be implied that attorneys and others aided Koch in her advancing the endeavors of Entergy.

60. Koch in legal actions involving Newsome, invited herself into all actions. Neither Koch nor the law firm wherein she is employed was ever counsel for Newsome's former employer(s). However, the record will reflect in legal actions brought by Newsome, Koch voluntarily brings herself, and the law firm wherein she is employed, and any other willing participants into the legal actions involving Newsome. Said participants provide Koch with either the financial means or other support to further enhance her mission in obstructing justice and depriving Newsome rights secured under the Civil Rights Act and the United States Constitution. Actions by Koch may lead a reasonable mind/person to conclude that Koch has a need and/or addiction to compete with Newsome. It is unclear why Koch has taken it upon herself to pursue cases filed by Newsome and obtain permission from Newsome's former employers allowing Koch to enter an appearance as Counsel on their behalf. [For instance, in the action sub judice, Entergy had its own in-house counsel. Nevertheless, about June 13, 2000, Koch felt a need to enter herself in this lawsuit. See Exhibit 1, Docket Sheet, EDC-LA Rec. Doc. 48. This request coming about the same time she was providing the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission ("EEOC") with false and misleading information in a federal investigation brought by Newsome against Christian Health Ministries ("CHM"). See letter dated June 16, 2000, attached hereto as Exhibit 14. It is important to note that neither Koch nor her employing law firm are listed as counsel for CHM in documents provided the Internal Revenue Service. CHM shows through documentation that Emmett, Cobb, Waits & Kessenich is counsel. See Exhibits 15, 16, and 17 - Schedule A, Part II of this Petition. CHM's IRS documents are for the years 1998, 1999 and 2000.

(2) Obstructing justice; intimidating party, witness, or juror

> . . . or if two or more persons conspire for the purpose of impeding, hindering, obstructing*, or defeating, in any manner, the due course of justice in any State* or Territory, with intent to deny to any citizen the equal protection of the laws, or to injure him or his property for lawfully enforcing, or attempting to enforce, the right of any person, or class of persons, to the equal protection of the laws;

(3) Depriving persons of rights or privileges

> If two or more persons in any State or Territory conspire . . . or for the purpose of preventing or hindering the constituted authorities of any State or Territory from giving or securing to all persons within such State or Territory the equal protection of the laws; in any case of conspiracy set forth in this section, if one or more persons engaged therein do, or cause to be done, any act in furtherance of the object of such conspiracy, whereby another is injured in his person or property, or deprived of having and exercising any right or privilege of a citizen of the United States, the party so injured or deprived may have an action for the recovery of damages occasioned by such injury or deprivation, against any one or more of the conspirators.

§241. - Conspiracy against rights

> If two or more persons conspire to injure, oppress, threaten, or intimidate any person in any State, Territory, . . . in the free exercise or enjoyment of any right or privilege secured to him by the Constitution or laws of the United States, or because of his having so exercised the same; or . .
> They shall be fined under this title or imprisoned not more than ten years, or both; . . .

61. Thus, for the purposes of said statute and record evidence, case law supports Entergy, its attorneys and others conspired for the purposes of impeding, hindering, obstructing and defeating, in any manner, the due course of justice in Louisiana and/or the United States, with the intent to deny Newsome, who is a citizen of the United States, for lawfully enforcing, or attempting to enforce, her right to the equal protection of the laws.

62. Thus, for the purposes of said statute and record evidence, case law supports Entergy, its attorneys and others conspired for the purposes of preventing or hindering the constituted authorities of Louisiana and/or the United States from giving or securing to Newsome within Louisiana and/or the United States the equal protection of the laws; as set forth in § 1985. Entergy, its attorneys and others engaged therein to do, or cause to be done, any act in furtherance of the object of said conspiracy, whereby Newsome has been injured in her person or deprived of having and exercising any right or privilege of as a citizen of the United States. Therefore, Newsome may have an action for recovery of damages occasioned by such injury or deprivation, against conspirators - Entergy, its attorneys and others.

63. Thus, for the purposes of said statute and record evidence, case law supports Entergy, its attorneys and others conspired to injure, oppress, threaten or intimidate Newsome in Louisiana and/or the United States . . . in the free exercise or enjoyment of any right or privilege secured to Newsome by the Constitution or laws of the United States, or because of Newsome having so exercised the same. Therefore, for the purposes of said statute, the record evidence and case law supports, Entergy, its attorneys and others, shall be fined under this title and other applicable laws governing said matters, or imprisoned not more than 10 years, or both. . .

64. Through the unlawful actions of Entergy, its attorneys and others involved in said conspiracy, Newsome has been deprived rights secured under the Civil Rights Act and the United States Constitution.

65. The United States Supreme Court defines deprivation of rights in Griffin v. Breckenridge, 403 U.S. 88, 101-102, 91 S.Ct. 1790, 1798, 29 L.Ed.2d 338 (1971) - The language requiring intent to deprive of equal protection, or equal privileges and immunities, mean that there must be some . . . individously discriminatory animus behind the conspirators' actions. The record evidence in the action sub judice supports same.

66. Black's Law Dictionary (Sixth Edition) defines "individious discrimination." Term "individious" in context of claim that difference in treatment amounts to "individious" discrimination in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment, means arbitrary, irrational and not reasonably related to a legitimate purpose. The record evidence in the action sub judice supports same.

67. Arbitrary defined - Without fair, solid, and substantial cause; that is without cause based upon the law, U.S. v. Lotempio, 58 F.2d 358, 359 (D.C. NY); not governed by any fixed rules or standard. Willful and unreasoning action, without consideration and regard for facts and circumstances presented. In re West Laramie, 457 P.2d 498, 502 (WY). Ordinarily "arbitrary" is synonymous with bad faith or failure to exercise honest judgment and an arbitrary act would be performed without adequate determination of principle and one not founded in nature of things. Huey v. Davis, 556 S.W.2d 860, 865 (Tex. Civ. App. 1977). The record evidence in the action sub judice supports same.

68. Under the Louisiana Rules of Professional Conduct, Rule 8.4 addresses Misconduct:

> It is professional misconduct for a lawyer to:
>
> (a) Violate or attempt to violate the Rules of Professional Conduct, knowingly assist or induce another to do so, or do so through the acts of another;
>
> (b) Commit a criminal act especially one that reflects adversely on the lawyer's honesty, trustworthiness or fitness as a lawyer in other respects;
>
> (c) Engage in conduct involving dishonesty, fraud, deceit or misrepresentation;
> (d) Engage in conduct that is prejudicial in the administration of justice;

(e) State or imply an ability to influence improperly a judge, judicial officer, governmental agency or official . . .

69. From the action/conduct of Koch, it may be inferred and/or implied from said behavior, that Koch has knowingly breached/violated the Rules of Professional Conduct, and has: (a) herself or induced another to do so; (b) committed a federal criminal act that reflects adversely on her honesty, trustworthiness or fitness as a lawyer; (c) engaged in conduct involving dishonesty, fraud, deceit, or misrepresentation; (d) engaged in conduct that is prejudicial in the administration of justice; (e) through her legal skills and/or ties to the legal arena, has displayed and ability to influence and/or manipulate improperly a judge, judicial officer, governmental agency or official. . .

NOTE: For instance, how was Koch able to get the EDC-LA in the action sub judice to update her current employment/firm information and not be required to file the appropriate pleading so that such change is in the record of the EDC as a docket entry. Why was Koch not required to notify all parties to this action of the firm/address change information through the filing of the appropriate pleading. Moreover, how has Entergy/Koch and others been able get rulings, contrary to law on the subject matter, from the EDC-LA which clearly goes against the Constitution and other laws governing this lawsuit.

70. Under the Louisiana Rules of Professional Conduct, Rule 3.3 - Candor Toward the Tribunal:

(a) A lawyer shall not knowingly;

(1) Make a false statement of material fact or law to a tribunal;

(2) Conceal or knowingly fail to disclose that which he is required by law to reveal; however, if a lawyer discovers that his client has perpetrated a fraud on a tribunal, he shall promptly call on his client to rectify same and, if the client shall refuse to do so or be unable to do so, the lawyer shall reveal the fraud to the affected person or tribunal;

(3) Fail to disclose to the tribunal legal authority in the controlling jurisdiction known to the lawyer to be directly adverse to the position of the client and not disclosed by opposing counsel; or

(4) Offer evidence that the lawyer knows to be false. If a lawyer has offered material evidence and comes to know of its falsity, the lawyer shall take reasonable remedial measures.

(b) The duties stated in Paragraph (a)(1) and (3) continue to the end of the hearing or proceeding. The duties stated in Paragraph (a)(2) and (4) are unlimited in time and apply, even if compliance requires disclosure of information otherwise protected by Rule 1.6.

(c) A lawyer may refuse to offer evidence that the lawyer reasonably believes is false.

71. The evidence in this instant motion and the lower Courts' records will support that Koch has knowingly: (a) made false statements of material fact or law to tribunal(s); (b) has concealed or knowingly failed to disclose that which she was required by law to reveal; (c) was aware that Entergy has perpetrated a fraud and/or has been deceptive in the action sub judice, yet, Koch failed to promptly call on Entergy to rectify same, but instead proceeded to further enhance the unlawful actions of Entergy of her own free will/choice, and in fact, took the initiative to proceed further in the action sub judice providing legal advice to Entergy condoning the unlawful and illegal practices before the tribunal(s); failed to disclose to the tribunal(s) legal authority and evidence she knew was available in the controlling jurisdiction to be directly adverse to the positions she was taking on behalf of Entergy and not disclosed by Newsome; and (d) has repeatedly and knowingly relied upon evidence and perjured testimony she knew was falsified for the sole purpose of misleading the tribunal(s), but took no reasonable remedial measures to correct said errors or advise the tribunal(s) of such.

72. Employer(s) of Koch, and co-counsels – Masinter, Howie, Faroldi, Griffith and Cancienne – knew or should have known of the unethical and unlawful practices of Koch and client Entergy. However, to date, has done nothing in the action sub judice to deter such practices of Koch; but, according to the law, may have joined in such conspiracy with Koch to obstruct the administration of justice. From said failure of Koch's employer(s) and co-counsel to abide and uphold the Louisiana Rules of Professional Conduct – wherein, as attorneys, they are governed - Newsome has been injured and deprived rights secured under the United States Constitution and Civil Rights Act.

73. Failure of Koch's employer(s) and co-counsel to deter or take the applicable actions to prevent such unethical and unlawful practices by Koch resulted in obstructing the administration of justice known to be committed by Koch, Entergy or oneself. Thus, said failure, may constitute an agreement to engage in the unethical and unlawful conduct to obstruct the administration of justice and involves dishonesty, fraud, deceit and/or misrepresentations upon the tribunal(s)/court(s).

74. Koch's employer(s) and co-counsel engaged in conduct that is prejudicial and discriminative in nature for the purposes of obstructing the administration of justice.

75. A conspiracy under civil rights conspiracy statute [42 U.S.C. §1985] may be implied from the circumstances; a plaintiff need not show that agreement between two or more persons to commit an illegal act was express.

76. Under statutes prohibiting conspiracy to deprive persons of rights or privileges, a corporate entity and its employees constitute a single entity which is incapable of conspiracy with itself; however, a possible exception to such doctrine exist where corporate employees act for their own personal purposes. – 42 U.S.C. § 1985. Benningfield v. The City of Houston, 157 F.3d 369 (5th Cir. 1998). The record evidence will support that parties involved in the action sub judice acted for their own personal purposes. Moreover, what began with unlawful employment discrimination and conspiracy between two of Entergy's employees, has turned into a massive conspiracy involving many co-conspirators in the enhancement of Entergy's endeavors.

77. The one arguable exception to the general rule that a corporation cannot conspire with its own employee in violation . . . occurs in the rare instances in which employees have an independent personal stake in achieving the object of the conspiracy. Domed Stadium Hotel, Inc. v. Holiday Inns, Inc., 732 F.2d 480, 486 (n.5)(5th Cir. 1984) citing, Poller v. Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., 368 U.S. 464, 470, 82 S.Ct. 486, 489, 7 L.Ed.2d 458 (1962). The record evidence in the action sub judice and other legal actions involving Newsome, will support an independent personal stake of conspirators in achieving the object of the conspiracy.

78. The "Hartman" court concluded that a conspiracy could only be established if the employees' actions were solely the result of personal bias. Hartman v. Board of Trustees of Community College Dist. No. 508, Cook County, Ill., 4 F.3d 465, 470 (7th Cir. 1993). The record evidence supports that actions by Entergy's employees and co-conspirators were solely the result of personal bias and prejudice towards Newsome.

79. Conspiracy in the realm of "Civil" law (not Criminal) pursuant to 42 US.C. §1985 when addressing civil rights violations, "means that co-conspirators must have agreed at least tacitly, to commit acts which will deprive plaintiff of equal protection of laws. Santiago v. City of Philadelphia, 435 F.Supp. 136 (E.D. PA 1971). The record evidence in the action sub judice supports a tacit agreement amongst the conspirators.

80. Tacitly under federal civil law means, "that two person pursue by their acts the same object by the same means, one performing one part of act and the other another, so as to complete it with a view to the attaining of the object they are pursuing, is sufficient to constitute a conspiracy regardless of whether each conspirator know of the details of the conspiracy or of the exact part to be performed by the conspirators, or whether the details were completely worked out in advance. Picking v. Pennsylvania R. Co., 5 F.R.D. 76, 79 (M.D. PA 1946).

LIABILITY/ACCOUNTABILITY:

81. Federal officials can be sued under civil rights conspiracy statute. Baird v. Haith, 724 F.Supp. 367 (D.C. Miss. 1988)

82. § 1985 – Action For Neglect to Prevent: Every person who, having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done, and mentioned in section 1985 of this title, are about to be committed, and having power to prevent or aid in preventing the commission of the same, neglects or refuses so to do, if such wrongful act be committed, shall be liable to the party injured, or his legal representatives, for all damages caused by such wrongful act, which such person by reasonable diligence could have prevented; and such damages may be recovered in an action on the case; and any number of persons guilty of such wrongful neglect or refusal may be joined as defendants in the action;

PATTERN-OF-ABUSE (VIOLATION OF RULES OF PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT):

It is important to note that after leaving Entergy, Newsome was approached by Hibernia National Bank to see whether or not she was interested in a position at the bank. A job wherein there was a vacancy and Newsome did apply. However, at the last minute, Hibernia decided to go with another candidate. Who is Hibernia's legal counsel? Locke, Liddell & Sapp, LLP and Jones Walker - based on information on their websites:

Shortly after, the Hibernia incident, Newsome was contacted by Christian Health Ministries to see if she was interested in a job position there. Newsome had worked for Baptist Community Ministries, an affiliate of Christian Health Ministries, earlier that year. Newsome was later offer full-time employment at Christian Health Ministries. However, like at Entergy, she was also deprived employment with Christian Health Ministries due to Title VII violations. Christian Health Ministries discriminated against Newsome. Based upon the information contained within this Petition, and upon thinking upon circumstances surrounding Newsome's unlawful discharge and Christian Health Ministries relationship with Koch, it is possible that Newsome's employment may have been affected, as well, based upon Entergy's and/or Koch's relationship and the and/or influence upon Christian Health Ministries. In light of the conspiracy allegations and the record evidence supporting same, Newsome believes this is pertinent information thus warranting and/or requiring the United States Department of Justice to intervene/participate in the action sub judice as well as investigate the circumstances surrounding the unlawful discharge of Newsome from the employment of Christian Health Ministries ("CHM") and Koch's/LLS's providing of false information to obstruct, hinder and impede the EEOC's investigation to determine whether there exists violations under the laws. In support of such arguments, Newsome states the following:

83. There are common links between Entergy, Jones Walker, Baker Donelson, Hibernia, and Christian Health Ministries – Koch/Locke Liddell & Sapp, LLP. Of two, the record evidence supports Entergy's and Christian Health Ministries' counsel, Koch/Locke Liddell & Sapp, LLP, is closely associated as legal counsel for these former employers of Newsome.

84. The record evidence will support that Entergy and Christian Health Ministries share the same counsel Locke, Liddell & Sapp, LLP/Koch.

85. The record evidence will support that Newsome filed a lawsuit against Entergy on November 3, 1999.

86. Newsome was offered employment with CHM on or about November, 1999. Newsome began job opportunity with CHM on or about November 22, 1999.

87. On or about December 3, 1999, Newsome complained to Supervisor, Dr. Valeria Granger ("Granger) regarding concerns of being required to attend Granger's mandatory devotional services and how it was affecting her job. Granger's mandatory devotional services were not a policy of CHM.

88. On or about December 6, 1999, Granger sought to have Newsome terminated.

89. On or about December 8, 1999, Newsome discussed Granger's retaliatory actions with Executive, Eugene Huffstatler, and Human Resources Coordinator, Jo Laxton.

90. On or about December 21, 1999, CHM advised Newsome that December 24, 1999, would be her last day of employment.

91. Newsome filed a Charge of Discrimination based on Religion against CHM with the EEOC on or about January 11, 2000.

92. On or about June 13, 2000, Entergy filed Motion to substitute Koch as counsel in the action sub judice. See Exhibit 1 – Rec. Doc. No. 48.

93. On or about June 16, 2000, approximately three (3) days later, on behalf of CHM, Koch/Locke Liddell & Sapp, LLP provided a response to the EEOC regarding Newsome's Charge. See Exhibit 14 attached hereto. Koch having full knowledge that information contained in her response, on behalf of CHM, to the EEOC was false and misleading. Thus, supporting a *conspiracy to interfere with protected rights of Newsome through the obstruction of justice.

94. It is indisputable, based on the evidence provided in this Petition and lower Courts' record, that Christian Health Ministries (CHM) is not a church. CHM is not exempt from Title VII actions. However, Koch (on behalf* of herself, employer law firm, BCM[4], CHM, etc.) knowingly provided false and misleading information during a federal investigation to the EEOC. In another action brought by Newsome (Newsome v. Christian Health Ministries) before the EEOC, Koch knowingly provides a false statement noting, "Title VII's prohibition against discrimination in employment does not apply to employees of religious organizations, and such, CHM is exempt from liability pursuant to Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended." See Exhibit 14 attached hereto.

95. Koch (on behalf of herself, employer law firm, BCM, CHM, etc.) falsified information provided the EEOC denying her client, CHM, discriminated against Newsome with knowledge that her client indeed discriminated against Newsome. In aiding her client she states, "CHM emphatically denies that it discriminated against Ms. Newsome on the basis of her religion, or in any way. Even if, however, there were merit to Ms. Newsome's Charge of Discrimination, she could not recover against a religious organization, such as CHM, under Title VII. Additionally, because CHM is a religious organization, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) and the Louisiana Commission on Human Rights (LPRH) are deprived of jurisdiction to investigate Ms. Newsome's Charge of Discrimination." Exhibit 14 – attached hereto. Koch was fully aware and/or having access to information/documentation to support that CHM was not a religious organization immuned from Title VII actions. See Exhibits 15, 16 and 17 - Schedule A, Part IV – Reasons for Non-Private Foundation Status.

96. The jurisdiction argument used by Koch is a commonly used frivolous argument entered by her on behalf of her client(s). Although the Fifth Circuit was properly, timely and adequately notified of Koch's pattern-of-abuse of the judicial process, it did nothing to assure that Newsome's rights would be protected from such unlawful practices of Koch. For instance:

> About September 16, 2002, Newsome placed the Fifth Circuit on notice and requested that sanctions be issued against Entergy for frivolous pleadings presented the Court during appeal. To no avail. The Fifth Circuit as the EDC-LA allowed the Entergy (through counsel) to come before it and practice in a manner unbecoming to a member of the bar. Supporting Koch's ability to influence improperly a judge, judicial officer, governmental agency or official.
> About September 19, 2002, Entergy through its attorney, filed a frivolous Motion to Dismiss the appeal alleging that Newsome's Notice of Appeal was untimely. Such assertion is unsubstantiated by the evidence in the record in the action sub judice. See EDC Docket Sheet Exhibit 1 of this Petition. Moreover, Entergy's pleadings did not have any legal conclusions to support it that could not be defeated by a more favorable ruling on the subject matter. Supporting Koch's ability to influence improperly a judge, judicial officer, governmental agency or official.

About September 27, 2002, Newsome timely filed Appellant Brief. Newsome believes the Entergy's frivolous September 19, 2002, filing was done to throw her off and prevent her from submitting a timely brief. However, such efforts by Entergy also failed.

About September 30, 2002, Newsome timely filed her rebuttal to Entergy's frivolous Motion to Dismiss. About the same time, Newsome submitted her Motion to Strike Entergy's Motion to Dismiss. To no avail.

About January 15, 2003, Fifth Circuit entered order granting Entergy's frivolous and unsubstantiated Motion to Dismiss. Fifth Circuit alleging it lacked jurisdiction in this action/appeal. The ruling by the Fifth Circuit contained no legal conclusions, evidence, etc. to support its findings as the law requires. The Fifth Circuit ruling is not in compliance with the Federal Rules governing said actions and is contrary to law. Said ruling can be defeated by a more favorable ruling on the subject matter. Supporting Koch's ability to influence improperly a judge, judicial officer, governmental agency or official.

About January 28, 2003, Newsome timely filed a Petition for Rehearing.

About February 25, 2003, Fifth Circuit denied Newsome's Petition for Rehearing. Supporting Koch's ability to influence improperly a judge, judicial officer, governmental agency or official.

97. Koch (on behalf of herself, employer law firm, BCM, CHM, etc.) states, "Title VII reads in pertinent part, 'This subchapter shall not apply . . . to a religious corporation, association, educational institution, or society with respect to the employment of individuals of a particular religion to perform work connected with the carrying on by such corporation, association, educational institution, or society of its activities.' Additionally, the United States Supreme Court acknowledged that

'[s]ection 702 of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, 78 Stat. 255, as amended, 42 U.S.C. §2000e-1, exempts religious organizations from Title VII's prohibition against discrimination in employment on the basis of religion." Knowingly misapplying the United States Supreme Court's decision in Corporation of the Presiding Bishop of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints v. Amos. Evidence further supporting Koch's skills in twisting and misapplying the laws to mislead and/or obstruct justice in a federal matter. Supporting Koch's ability to influence improperly a judge, judicial officer, governmental agency or official. Koch being an attorney with many years of practice in the legal profession and having knowledge that her actions were unethical and unlawful. Exhibit 14 attached hereto.

98. 101. See Exhibit 18 (dated 7/2/96). Information clearly in the possession of Koch, employer law firm, BCM and CHM, and/or she having access to her client's file wherein she could have retrieved this information. Newsome is not an attorney and was able to obtain this information.

> It is indisputable that CHM is not a church. CHM was "an organization exempt from federal income tax under section 501(c)(3) of the Code and is not a private foundation because it is an organization described in section 509(a)(1) of the Code and 170(b)(1)(A)(iii) of the Income Tax Regulations" which states:

> Advertisement of the nondiscriminatory policy is published in local newspaper. Also nondiscriminatory policy tagline printed on brochures, applications and appears on Webpage."

102. It is indisputable from evidenced provided in Exhibits 15, 16 and 17, that CHM does not claim exemption reason for Non-Private Foundation status as a Church, Convention of Churches or Association of Churches under Section 170(b)(1)(A)(i).

103. It is indisputable, like Entergy had its own counsel (in-house), CHM also has its own counsel, Emmett, Cobb, Waits & Kessenich. See Exhibits Exhibits 15, 16 and 17, Part II of Schedule A. Nevertheless, evidence in the record of the federal entities handling matter(s) will find that Koch voluntarily appearing as counsel or requesting entry to appear as counsel.

104. Pattern-of-abuse and breach of the Rules of Professional Conduct in the federal sector is evidenced in Koch's 3/17/00 letter to the EEOC wherein she ask for extra time to respond to Newsome's Charge of Discrimination noting, "My firm represents Baptist Community Ministries ("BCM") in connection with the above-referenced Charge of Discrimination brought by Ms. Vogel Newsome. While BCM has received notice of Ms. Newsome's charge, it has not yet received a signed charge of employment discrimination. As a result, BCM has been unable to furnish your office with a comprehensive position statement. . . . So that BCM may respond fully and properly to Ms. Newsome's complaint, we request that you extend the deadline for our response until two weeks following our receipt of her signed charge. If we do not hear otherwise, we will assume that your office has agreed to this extension. Meanwhile, because my firm represents BCM in this matter, please direct all future materials pertaining to Ms. Vogel's charge to me at the above address." Supporting BCM was brought into this matter with Koch, her employer law firm, and any other willing participant, for the purposes of obstructing justice and depriving Newsome rights secured under the Civil Rights Act and United States Constitution. Under federal law, said actions constitutes a civil conspiracy. Supporting Koch's ability to influence improperly a judge, judicial officer, governmental agency or official.

105. Koch is not a rookie in the legal profession. Koch has been in the legal profession for approximately 21 years, was admitted to the bar in Louisiana in 1983 and thus, is bound by the Rules of Professional Conduct. See Exhibit 12.

106. From the evidence Newsome has found, it appears that Koch married into a prominent family ("Koch") perhaps known and very well established in the legal community in the state of Louisiana. See Exhibit 19. Furthermore, pertinent evidence to support the influence and financial ties Koch has to the community and the legal system.

107. Koch has held prominent positions as a member of the bar and her legal experience further supports her strength and ties to the legal community (Federal & State). In New Orleans - Treasurer; Louisiana - Chair. In Federal Bar Association - New Orleans Chapter President, etc. See Exhibit 12. Moreover, her new employer, Baker Donelson has many ties to present and/or former government officials:

> Current and former Baker Donelson attorneys and public policy advisors include, among many other highly distinguished individuals, people who have served as Chief of Staff to the President of the United States; the U.S. Senate Majority Leader; the U.S. Secretary of State; a member of the United States Congress; the Federal Aviation Administrator; Chief of Staff at the Supreme Court of the United States and Administrative Assistant to the Chief Justice of the United States; the Deputy Under Secretary for International Trade for the U.S. Department of Commerce; the Ambassador to Turkey; the Ambassador to the Sultanate of Oman; Chief Operating Officer and Commissioner of Finance and Administration for the State of Tennessee; the Deputy Governor and Chief of Staff for the Governor of Tennessee, the Governor of Mississippi, and the Chairman of the Alabama Securities Commission.

See Exhibit 13, pp. 4 - 5 - information retrieved from martindale.com Lawyer Locator website – attached hereto.

108. Koch is a white female with a profession in the legal field. She is an attorney. One skilled and schooled in the laws of this country. Specializing in employment law. Thus, familiar with the laws governing conduct of attorneys and ethical practices required of members of the bar.

109. The evidence in the lower Courts' records will support that Newsome has been held to strict and stringent rules of the Courts and laws of this Country, while Koch, her client(s) and co-counsel are held to less stringent rules of the Courts and laws of this Country. Furthermore, the Courts are lenient/lax when dealing with Koch, her client(s) and co-counsel. Moreover, the evidence in the record will support that the Court's are more abrupt and abusive and geared more to unlawfully sanctioning Newsome while allowing Koch, her client(s) and co-counsel to practice before the Court(s) in an unethical and unlawful manner. Yet the Court(s) have repeatedly failed to sanction Koch for such. Supporting Koch's ability to influence improperly a judge, judicial officer, governmental agency or official.

110. Newsome is subjected to bias, prejudicial and discriminatory treatment by the lower Courts because she is an African-American; while Koch is allowed to practice before the Court's in an unlawful manner because she is a white female professional schooled in the law. Moreover, Koch has been extended special privileges and given better treatment in the handling of this lawsuit than Newsome because of her race and because she represents a client who is majority-owned and operated by members of a race other than Newsome. Moreover, a client with vast financial resources and other ties to the community, than that of Newsome.

REQUEST FOR DISQUALIFICATION OF JUDGE/MAGISTRATE REQUEST FOR REASSIGNMENT OF CASE IN ACTION SUB JUDICE

Based on the information contained in the lower courts' record and this instant Petition, Newsome petitions the United States Department of Justice to intervene/participate in the action sub judice and file the applicable pleadings in said action, or a separate action, addressing the errors and wrongs rendered her by the Judge(s)/Magistrate(s) assigned her actions. Newsome seeks the disqualification of said Judge(s) and Magistrate(s) if permissible by law. Newsome request that in the action sub judice, that it be reassigned to Judge/Magistrate that has not, and will not, exhibit discriminatory, retaliatory and/or prejudicial treatment towards her, but will decide the issues brought before it in Newsome's motions and Amended Complaint based on the applicable laws and the evidence contained therein that governs said lawsuits. Moreover, it is Newsome's preference, if at all possible, that this matter be taken out of the hands of the EDC-LA and assigned to another Court – if Congress and the law permits such request(s). Newsome believes given the magnitude of prejudice, hostility and discriminatory treatment exhibited her by the EDC-LA, Entergy and others, such request for removal (if applicable) is appropriate – given the facts of this case and the handling thereof. In support thereof, Newsome states:

111. Objections to the Order and Reasons and notification of errors in said ruling in the action sub judice was timely, properly and adequately presented to the EDC-LA. Therefore, only if Newsome had failed to call District Court Judge Porteous' attention to any errors in proposed findings of fact and conclusion of law, would preclude Newsome from attempting to object to it on appeal or now before the DOJ or Congress. Pendleton v. Rumsfeld, 682 F.2d 102, 202 U.S. App. D.C. 102 (1980).

112. If Newsome felt that Court rulings were objectionable on the ground that they contained allegedly prejudicial comments, Newsome should have called such matters to the court's attention to give the EDC-LA opportunity to take corrective action. Albee Homes, Inc. v. Lutman, 274 F.Supp. 875 (D.C. PA 1967). Thus, the record evidence will support that Newsome, indeed, in post motions addressed the EDC-LA's prejudicial comments and treatment of the action sub judice. See Exhibit 3, pp. 11 – 20; and Exhibit 4, pp. 7 –8.

113. The lower Courts' record will support that it was Entergy's legal counsel, Koch, who provided information about Newsome in other unrelated matters to prejudice the EDC-LA against Newsome. Supporting Koch's ability to influence improperly a judge, judicial officer, governmental agency or official. Moreover, what was the reason for Koch providing information regarding other legal actions by Newsome, if it were not for prejudicial reasons.

114. Case law precludes such discriminatory treatment of Newsome because of the EDC-LA's knowledge of past or present lawsuits by Newsome. Each case is to be decided on its own merits.

115. It should never be presumed without considering the facts – as the EDC-LA has done in the action sub judice – and the evidence provided by Newsome that she will never bring a meritorious claim – as Newsome has brought a meritorious claim in the action sub judice. Nor should the EDC-LA lose site on the important role in forma pauperis/pro se claims have played in shaping constitutional doctrine. Gideon v. Wainwright, 372 U.S. 335, 83 S.Ct. 792, 9 L.Ed.2d 799 (1963).

116. Justice Brennan warned, "if . . . continue on the course we chart today, we will end by closing the doors to a litigant with a meritorious claim." In Re McDonald, supra, 489 U.S. 180, 187, 109 S.Ct. 993, 998:

> It is rare, but it does happen that the Supreme Court grant review and even decide in favor of a litigant who has previously presented multiple unsuccessful petitions on the same issue. See, e.g., Chessman v. Teets, 354 U.S. 156, 77 S.Ct. 1127, 1 L.Ed.2d 1253 (1957); see id., at 173-177, 77 S.Ct. at 1136-1138.

117. The record evidence will support that Koch's eagerness to come forth and address Newsome's legal matters, clearly blinded her against the many lawsuits that have been brought against her client Entergy for discrimination. Cases in which Entergy settled – Walker v. Entergy LA Inc, et al, Eastern District, Civil Action No. 97-736; and Hassan, et al. v. Entergy Corp. et al., Civil Action No. 89-2794. Said discriminatory actions of others against Entergy are in the record the lower Courts.

Moreover, Koch thinking she was opening up a can of worms on Newsome resulted in exposure of other lawsuits against Entergy for discrimination and Entergy's settling thereof, as well as, the conspiracy actions on behalf herself and co-conspirators.

118. The due process clause of the Fourteenth Amendment was intended to prevent the government from abusing its power, or employing it as an instrument of oppression. Collins v. City of Harker Heights, 112 S.Ct. 1061 (1992). Yet the Judge(s)/Magistrate(s)in the action sub judice, infringed upon Newsome's Constitutional and Civil Rights and abused their power or employed such power for purpose of oppressing Newsome and depriving her equal protection of the laws and due process of laws.

119. Court of Appeals has found, party is entitled to a trial before a judge who is not biased against him at any point of the trial. . . United States v. Thompson, 483 F.2d 527, 529 (3rd Cir. 1973).The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, "held that trial judge displayed such bias and prejudice as to require new trial before different judge." United States v. Holland, 655 F.2d 244 (5th Cir. 1981). The record evidence in the action sub judice, will support EDC-LA's bias and prejudice towards Newsome which warrants disqualification of Judge(s)/Magistrate(s) associated with this lawsuit; thus warranting issuance of removal of case to a different court and venue outside the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals jurisdiction.

120. The record evidence supports the EDC-LA bias and prejudice towards Newsome because of its knowledge of past and/or pending litigation brought by her, as well as other unlawful underlying factors. The EDC-LA's knowledge of and addressing other lawsuits by Newsome, violates Newsome's Constitutional and Civil Rights, in that the EDC-LA used said information for the purposes of depriving Newsome rights secured under the United States Constitution and Civil Rights Act. Thus, sufficient evidence to support it has rendered the Judges assigned Newsome's lawsuit(s) inability to remain impartial and decide matters brought before it in a fair, just and honest manner and inability to apply and uphold the applicable laws governing her lawsuit(s). Thus, warranting disqualification of Judge(s)/Magistrate(s) that are bias and prejudice against Newsome.

121. The record evidence will support that Newsome repeatedly made it known to the lower Courts concerns of prejudicial/discriminatory treatment in the handling of her lawsuit. Yet the Judges/Justices did nothing to recuse themselves. The record evidence will support when Newsome questioned the unlawful behavior of Magistrate Sally Shushan in the action sub judice, she requested information from Shushan. See Exhibit 1, Rec.

Doc. 28. Moreover, Newsome filed a Motion to have Shushan disqualified because of belief of bias and prejudice on her part. The EDC-LA set this matter to be hard before judge at 9:15 7/19/00. See Exhibit 1, Rec. Doc. 55. However, upon review of the record evidence, it will be found that no such hearing or findings on Newsome's Motion was ever held and the action sub judice.

122. The EDC-LA frivolous and unlawful efforts to dispose of this lawsuit in the action sub judice, is an infringement upon Newsome's Seventh Amendment and Fourteenth Amendment under the United States Constitution.

123. Federal law makes provisions which addresses disqualification in matters pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §455 which states: (a) Any justice, judge or magistrate of the United States shall disqualify himself in any proceeding in which his impartiality might reasonably be questioned. (b) He shall also disqualify himself in the following circumstances: (1) Where he has a personal bias or prejudice concerning a party, or personal knowledge of disputed evidentiary facts concerning the proceedings;[11] . . .

124. A Judge faced with a potential ground for disqualification ought to consider *how his participation in a given case looks to the average person on the street; use of the word "might" in this section was intended to indicate that disqualification should follow if reasonable man, were he to know all the circumstances, would harbor, doubts about judges impartiality. §455. Postashnick v. Port City Const. Co., 609 F.2d 1101 (5th Cir. 1980).

> Fact: Given the nature of the case, evidence presented in the record of the Courts, an average person on the street may conclude that Judges/Courts are bias and prejudice towards Newsome and have subjected her to discriminatory practices in the handling of her charge. Moreover, it appears that justice is tainted.

125. General rule is that bias sufficient to disqualify judge must stem from extrajudicial sources but there is exception where such pervasive bias and prejudice is shown by otherwise judicial conduct as would constitute bias against party. Whitehurst v. Wright, 592 F.2d 834 (5th Cir. 1979). The record evidence in the action sub judice supports disqualification of Judge(s)/Magistrate(s).

[11]Fact: The impartiality of the Judges' handling of this lawsuit, might reasonably be questioned. Such questionability is supported by the unlawful behavior, conduct and unsubstantiated rulings of the Courts. Behavior which is unbecoming for a member of the bench. The Judges that have been assigned the pleadings in Ms. Newsome's lawsuit have developed a personal bias and prejudice towards her resulting in her being subjected to additional discriminatory practices on top of those addressed in the lawsuit before the Courts

126. Negative bias or prejudice that requires disqualification of judge exists only if it is attitude or state of mind that belies aversion of hostility of kind or degree that fair-minded person could not entirely set aside when judging certain persons or causes. §455(b)(1). U. S. v. Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization (PATCO), 527 F.Supp. 1344 [n.19], 1360 (N.D. IL 1981).[12] The record evidence and legal conclusion in the action sub judice and this instant Petition supports disqualification of Judge(s)/Magistrate(s). In regards to the Judge(s)/Magistrate(s) of the EDC-LA, this case has been dormant for over/approximately two (2) years without an Amended Order and Reasons being entered or a Final Judgment. Furthermore, Newsome believes given the instant Petition, and the requests to correct the wrong contained therein, she finds it highly impossible – given the Judge(s)/Magistrate(s) attitude towards her for exposing their unlawful practices – that with Justices attitude and state of mind, it would be difficult for them to set aside these facts and issues presented here and when judging certain issues, persons or causes, judge it fairly and honestly without bias, prejudice and or discriminatory intent towards her.

127. Personal bias or prejudice refers to some sort of antagonism or animosity toward party arising from sources or events outside scope of particular proceeding. 28 U.S.C. §144. U.S. v. Professional Air Traffic. [n. 14]. The record evidence will support that Judge(s)/Magistrate(s) in the action sub judice have a personal bias and prejudices towards Newsome. Moreover, said bias and prejudices are antagonistic and there is animosity toward Newsome as a result of her filing post motions and the EDC-LA's knowledge of matters involving Newsome that are outside the realm of the action sub judice.

128. Even if no bias or prejudice of judge may actually exist, it is enough to disqualify that there be mere appearance of partiality. Limeco, Inc. v. Division of Lime, 571 F.Supp. 710 [n. 1] (N.D. MS 1983). To say that one has no present recollection falls short of meeting the acid test required of a judge whose impartiality may be reasonably drawn into question. It is well settled by all legal authorities that even if no bias or prejudice of a judge may actually exist, it is enough to disqualify that there be the mere appearance of partiality. Judicial ethics "exact more than virtuous behavior; they command impeccable appearance. Purity of heart is not enough. Judges' robes must be as spotless as their actual conduct." Limeco citing Hall v. Small Business Administration, 695 F.2d 175, 176 (5th Cir. 1983). Every justice, judge and magistrate is required to disqualify himself in any proceeding in which his impartiality might reasonably be questioned. Hall. The record evidence supports disqualification of Judge(s)/Magistrate(s) in the action sub judice because its partiality for Entergy and its co-conspirators. The bias and prejudice exhibited by the Judge(s)/Magistrate(s) in this lawsuit is not merely speculation, but is fact. Said bias and prejudice by Justices are fueled by the fact that Newsome is an African-American who is college-educated, single, has no dependents, has typed and prepared the majority of her own pleadings (except that presented by Bennett) in this lawsuit, and drives a nice car. Justices in this lawsuit cannot take the fact that Newsome, an indigent pro se African-American – who is not schooled in the law – has managed to maintain the action sub judice against a Defendant (Entergy), whose legal defense counsel are the white majority with superior credentials – yet has failed to successfully defend this lawsuit against an African-American. The record evidence will support that the reasons for Entergy's success in this lawsuit, thus far, is due to the fact opposing counsel, Koch, and her co-counsel(s) are white with vast legal and financial resources. Newsome believes that had she been white, this matter would have long been resolved in her favor based upon the evidence presented in this lawsuit.

129. Court of Appeals has found, party is entitled to a trial before a judge who is not biased against him at any point of the trial. . . United States v. Thompson, 483 F.2d 527, 529 (3rd Cir. 1973). The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, "held that trial judge displayed such bias and prejudice as to require new trial before different judge." United States v. Holland, 655 F.2d 244 (5th Cir. 1981). Based upon the record evidence and conduct of Judge(s)/Magistrate in the action sub judice, Newsome is entitled to a trial before a Jury and Judge who is not biased against her at any point in the trial. Thus, Newsome does not believe that any EDC-LA Judge or Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals Judge – based on the factual evidence involved in this lawsuit and their relationship with each other and Entergy and its counsel – can remain unbias, fair and just in litigating this lawsuit and/or any in which Newsome is a party.

130. The EDC-LA's handling of the action sub judice is discriminatory, prejudicial. Said unlawful actions by the EDC-LA have adversely affected Newsome.

CONGRESS'S JURISDICTION OVER THE LOWER FEDERAL COURTS

For informational purposes, through the filing of this instant Petition, Newsome provides the United States Department of Justice with statutes and legal conclusions to support the jurisdiction of the United States Congress to intervene in the action sub judice because of the Constitutional violations and deprivation of equal protection of the laws and due process of laws rendered Newsome. Because of the EDC-LA's unlawful actions towards Newsome regarding appointment of counsel for Newsome and said Court's unlawful granting of Newsome's attorney, Bennett's, withdrawal and other abuses launched against her, Newsome is requesting that the DOJ intervene/participate in the preparation and submittal of the required pleading/complaint required to bring the matters addressed within this Petition and the action sub judice before the United States Congress. In support thereof, Newsome states:

JURISDICTION:

§ 3526 Congressional Control of Lower Federal Court Jurisdiction:[5]

> Congress has considerable discretion in dealing with the jurisdiction of the lower federal courts. It can provide that a particular court hear certain questions and deny all other courts the power to consider the questions referred to that court.[6]
>
> > Simply stated, Congress may impart as much or as little of the judicial power as it deems appropriate and the Judiciary may not thereafter on its own motion recur to the Article III storehouse for additional jurisdiction. When it comes to jurisdiction of the federal courts, truly, to paraphrase the scripture, the Congress giveth, the Congress taketh away.[7]

[8]Finally, however, no more than is true of the commerce power or any other power of Congress, does any of this imply an absence of constitutional limitations lying outside the exceptions clause but still fully applicable to its every use. Without doubt, the Bill of Rights applies as do the several limitations flowing from article I, section 9. . . An exception to the scope of review applicable only in cases where the defendant availed himself of his right to trial by jury, but not when he agreed to a bench trial, moreover, might be held to offend the sixth or fourteenth amendments' protections of the right to trial by jury.[9] Perhaps the simplest illustration would be an "exception" of cases based upon the appellant's race: an exception certain to be held offensive to the fifth amendment's dimension of equal protection.[10] Expanding upon this example, one may plausibly argue that whatever basis of classification for excepting certain cases from the Court's appellate jurisdiction Congress may have used, it is necessarily subject to review to determine whether the class thus described is "arbitrary" or "invidious" in the sense condemned by whatever standards of equal protection appropriately applies to the subject matter.[11]

CASE LAW:

Lockerty v. Phillips, 1943, 63 S.Ct. 1019, 319 U.S. 182, 87 L.Ed. 1339 – (n.5) Congress had authority to require that a plaintiff seeking equitable relief against enforcement of . . .Act, or of regulations promulgated under it, resort to the Emergency Court of Appeals only after first pursuing prescribed administrative procedure. Id. 1020.

Article III left Congress free to establish inferior federal courts or not as it though appropriate. It could have declined to create any such courts, leaving suitor to the remedies afforded by state courts, with appellate review by this Court as Congress might prescribe. Kline v. Burke

ISAIAH'S WINGS, LLC. Plaintiffs-Appellees -vs- DIANA R. MCCOURT, ET AL Defendants-Appellants

Case No. 2005-CA-39

COURT OF APPEALS OF OHIO, FIFTH APPELLATE DISTRICT, KNOX COUNTY

July 7, 2006, Date of Judgment Entry

SUBSEQUENT HISTORY: Appeal after remand at Isaiah's Wings, LLC v. Siberian Tiger Conservation Ass'n, 2008 Ohio 2147, 2008 Ohio App. LEXIS 1831 (Ohio Ct. App., Knox County, Apr. 28, 2008)

PRIOR HISTORY: [1] CHARACTER OF PROCEEDING: Civil appeal from the Mount Vernon Municipal Court, Case No. 05CVG928.

DISPOSITION: Vacated and Remanded.

CASE SUMMARY:

PROCEDURAL POSTURE: Appellee landlord brought a forcible entry and detainer (FED) action against appellant tenants. The tenants counterclaimed and brought a third party complaint against the principals of the landlord, which was a limited liability company. The Municipal Court of Mount Vernon, Knox County (Ohio), bifurcated the action and evicted the tenants. The tenants appealed.

OVERVIEW: The third-party complaint against the principals exceeded the jurisdictional amount of the trial court, so the balance of the case was transferred to the common pleas court. The appellate court found that the trial court did not automatically lose jurisdiction over the entire case due to the counterclaim and third party complaint. However, the third-party complaint alleged that the principals intentionally and fraudulently induced the tenants to enter into the lease, knowing that they could not pay the rent, and orally agreed to reduce the rent until the tenants' financial situation improved. In reality, the tenants argued, the principals intended to enforce the written lease so they could evict the tenants and assume operation of their conservation association and take possession of animals living on the property. The appellate court found that the counterclaim and third party complaint were so intertwined with the FED action that the trial court should not have bifurcated the matter. In the event tenants prevailed in common pleas court, their monetary remedy may have been inadequate if they had already lost possession of the property, their option to buy it, and the animals.

OUTCOME: The judgment was reversed. The order of eviction was vacated, and the matter was remanded to the trial court with instructions to transfer the matter to common pleas court.

CORE TERMS: municipal, forcible entry and detainer, counterclaim, common pleas, rent, eviction, lease, monetary, vacated, animals, transferred, exceeding, hear, lease agreement, assignment of error, arbitration, bifurcated

[*P1] Defendant-appellants Diana McCourt and the Siberian Tiger Conservation Association appeal a judgment of the Municipal Court of Mount Vernon, Knox County, Ohio. Appellee Isaiah's Wings had brought a complaint for forcible entry and detainer, and damages against appellants. Appellants counterclaimed and also made a third-party complaint against the principals of Isaiah's Wings, which exceeded the jurisdictional amount of the municipal court. The municipal court bifurcated the action and ruled on the forcible entry and detainer action, evicting the appellants from the property. The municipal court transferred the balance of the case the Knox County Court of Common Pleas. Appellants assign two errors to the trial court:

[*P2] "I. WHEN, IN A FORCIBLE ENTRY AND DETAINER CASE, THE DEFENDANT [2] FILES A COUNTERCLAIM WHICH EXCEEDS THE JURISDICTION OF THE MUNICIPAL COURT, DOES A MUNICIPAL COURT CONTINUE TO HAVE JURISDICTION OVER THE FORCIBLE ENTRY AND DETAINER ACTION WHEN THE ISSUES INVOLVED IN THE CASE ARE DIRECTLY RELATED TO THE UNDERLYING EVICTION CASE?

& II

[*P4] Appellants first argue Civ. R. 13 (J) requires a municipal court to certify the entire proceedings in a case to the court of common pleas if a counterclaim, cross-claim, or third-party claim exceeds the jurisdiction of the court. The parties both cite us to our case of Lyons v. Link, Knox App. No. 03CA000006, 2003 Ohio 2706, wherein this court reviewed a forcible entry and detainer action with a counterclaim exceeding the municipal court's monetary jurisdiction. In Lyons, this [3] court noted [HN1] Civ. R. 1 (C) makes forcible entry and detainer actions specifically exempt from the Civil Rules to the extent the Rules would by their nature be clearly inapplicable. In Lyons, we found [HN2] municipal courts and common pleas courts have concurrent jurisdiction to hear forcible entry and detainer actions. Appellants are incorrect in asserting the municipal court automatically lost jurisdiction over the entire matter because of the counterclaim and third party complaint.

[*P5] In Lyons, the tenant's counterclaim alleged fraud, arguing the premises were not habitable. We found these claims were severable. Although the appellant's non-payment of rent might have been excused by the landlord's failure to live up to the duties mandated by R.C. 5321.04, the appropriate remedy created by the legislature is in R.C. 5321.07. In the Lyons case, the appellant conceded he had neither paid the entire rent nor availed himself of the R.C. 5321.07 remedy. Thus, any claims the appellant had were for monetary damages only, and could be severed from the eviction proceedings and transferred to the Common Pleas Court. In addition, the appellant had vacated [4] the property, rendering the forcible entry and detainer action moot, Lyons, citing Haney v. Roberts (1998), 130 Ohio App.3d 293, 720 N.E.2d 101.

[*P6] In some circumstances, if the municipal court retains forcible entry and detainer portion of the case and transfers the damages portion to common pleas court, the municipal court can rule on the eviction without affecting the other claims of the parties. In some circumstances, however, the counterclaim and/or third party complaint is so interrelated as to require the issues all be heard together. In certain cases an award of damages may be an inadequate remedy if the lessee has been evicted from the premises.

[*P7] In the case at bar, the complaint for forcible detainer alleged appellants and appellee had entered into a written lease which required appellants to pay $ 1,700 per month. The complaint alleged appellants had paid only $ 850.00 of the rent due on October 1, 2005. Appellee's second claim prayed for damages in the amount of unpaid rent and damages and costs.

[*P8] Appellee attached a copy of the lease to their complaint, which provides, inter alia, the appellants shall have the right to purchase [5] the property within 90 days of the expiration date of the lease.

[*P9] Appellants' answer and counterclaim denied they were in default of the lease and alleged the parties had entered into a contemporaneous oral agreement requiring appellants to pay only $ 700.00 per month as rent, plus $ 150.00 per month towards a veterinarian bill. The counterclaim alleged appellee's principals, Christian and Donnalynn Laver, were members of the board of directors of appellant Siberian Tiger Conservation Association and had agreed appellee would pay the balance of the rent.

[*P10] Appellants' third-party complaint joined the Lavers as defendants, and alleged they intentionally and fraudulently induced appellants to enter into the lease agreement. Knowing appellants could not afford the $ 1700 rent, the Lavers orally agreed to reduce the rent until appellants' financial situation improved. In reality, appellants argue, the Lavers intended to enforce the written lease, so they could evict appellant McCourt, and assume operation of the Siberian Tiger Conservation Association themselves.

[*P11] At the hearing on the eviction, the appellee indicated to the court the eviction was "unique", [6] because the animals belonging to the Association would not be moved. Instead, appellee informed the court it would be able to take care of the animals once they regained possession of the property.

[*P12] We find the issues in the counterclaim and third party complaint are so intertwined with the forcible entry and detainer action that the municipal court should not have bifurcated the matter. In the event appellants prevail in common pleas court, their monetary remedy may be inadequate if they have already lost possession of the property, their option to purchase it, and the animals.

[*P13] Accordingly, the first assignment of error is sustained. The second assignment of error relating to arbitration is premature, because the common pleas court must address the matter.

[*P14] For the foregoing reasons, the judgment of the Municipal Court of Mount Vernon, Knox County, Ohio, is reversed. The order of eviction is vacated, and the matter is remanded to the municipal court with instructions to transfer the matter to common pleas court.

By Gwin, J.,

Wise, P.J., and

Farmer, J., concur

JUDGMENT ENTRY

For the reasons stated in our accompanying Memorandum-Opinion, [7] the judgment of the Municipal Court of Mount Vernon, Knox County, Ohio, is vacated, and the cause is remanded to the municipal court with instructions to transfer the matter to common pleas court. Costs to appellees.

EMERGENCY
COMPLAINT AND REQUEST FOR LEGISLATURE/CONGRESS INTERVENTION; ALSO REQUEST FOR INVESTIGATIONS, HEARINGS AND FINDINGS[1]

COMES NOW Vogel Denise Newsome before the United States Legislature and United States Congress ("Legislature/Congress") and submit to it this, her, Emergency Complaint and Request for Legislature/Congress Intervention; Also Request for Investigations, Hearings and Findings ("instant Complaint") pursuant to her rights secured/guaranteed under the United States Constitution, Civil Rights Act and/or other statutes/laws governing said matters. This instant Complaint is supported by Exhibits. Some of said exhibits may be pleadings and/or documents referencing supporting materials; however, for recordkeeping purposes and to keep the volume of this instant Complaint a minimum, the pleadings and/or documents only are provided in that I believe there is sufficient evidence to provide the Legislature/Congress with information as to where additional information may be retrieved. While this is not the standard form I rely upon in filing complaints, due to the nature of the supporting documents being in the proper format, I hope that the form used in this instant Complaint is sufficient. In support of this instant Complaint I state the following:

JURISDICTION

The jurisdiction of the Legislature/Congress over the matters addressed herein and the parties addressed is established and/or can be maintained under the United States Constitution and/or any and all supporting statutes/laws supporting the relief sought herein.

This instant Complaint is being sought in good faith and the exercising of my rights secured under the United States Constitution, Civil Rights laws and/or any and all applicable statutes/laws governing said matters.

INTRODUCTION

My name is Vogel Denise Newsome and I am an African-American female, college educated – a graduate of Florida A&M University, with a B.S. degree. I am presently employed with a law firm (which has been in practice for over 50 years) in Ohio as a Legal Assistant. I am a citizen of the United States and I currently reside in the State of Kentucky.

Why am I contacting you? Because it is imperative and of an utmost URGENT NATURE that the Legislature/Congress make an EMERGENCY INTERVENTION in matters that I am dealing with that has not only affected my life, but those of other African-Americans and/or persons of color. The racial and judicial injustices addressed herein are crucial and should not be overlooked and/or ignored. I request that the Legislature/Congress do not get discouraged by the length of this correspondence or its volume because the information contained herein is RELEVENT/PERTINENT and is CRUCIAL/CRITICAL in nature to aid in the initiation of INVESTIGATIONS and HEARINGS to be held on the matters addressed herein. PLEASE DO NOT ADVISE THAT THE LEGISLATURE/CONGRESS CANNOT GET INVOLVED – THE SATUTES/LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES ADVISE OTHERWISE![2]

CHANGE: THAT WORKS FOR YOU!!

My concern is that the Legislature/Congress may be suffering from the "Ostrich" syndrome (leaving its head stuck in the sand) and perhaps knowingly ignoring the racial injustices of our judicial system as well as the government agencies/entities designed to deter such unlawful/illegal and unethical practices addressed herein. This being the reason I am contacting you. Please be advised that prior to bringing this matter to you, an investigation will yield I sought to bring matters to the attention of the proper government entities to no avail. Moreover, that it has now gotten to the point that to continue to contact the proper authorities would prove to be futile because this situation has gotten way out of control and the racial/discriminatory treatment has escalated and infiltrated the courts/judicial system and government agencies. Moreover, has resulted in needless increase of expenses/litigation for purposes of financial devastation to me.

The continued violation of my Constitutional Rights, Civil Rights and other protected rights secured/guaranteed under the governing statutes/laws created, is clearly unacceptable and is not to be tolerated. The Legislature/Congress may agree that African-Americans and/or people of color have suffered way too long from the racial injustices by judicial officials, government officials and others. While their complaints and voices go out, they are repeatedly American Express Pub., Corp.*, 381 F.Supp.2d 1118 (2005) - Where source of legal authority is statutory and not constitutional, Congress retains ability to create and direct law, so long as it is consistent with constitutional principles, and it is particularly important for court to follow that directive.

Overlie v. Owatonna Independent School Dist. No. 761, 341 F.Supp.2d 1081 (2004) - Once Congress addresses a subject, the lawmaking authority of federal courts is greatly diminished.

Bruner v. U.S., 340 F.Supp.2d 1204 (2004) - Congress is invested with a wide discretion, and its action, unless purely arbitrary, must be accepted and given full effect by the courts.

Page v. Shelby, 995 F.Supp. 23 (1998) - Vindication of public interest in governmental observance of Constitution and law is function of Congress and President, not judiciary.

Henrietta D. v. Giuliani, 21 A.D.D. 329 (1996) - District court may enjoin executive or legislative action if that action is unconstitutional or violates statutes or regulations.

Northwest Airlines, Inc. v. Transport Workers Union of America, AFL-CIO, 101 S.Ct. 1571 (1981) - Federal lawmaking power is vested in the legislative, not the judicial, branch of government and, therefore the federal common law is subject to the paramount authority of Congress.

Doe v. McMillan, 93 S.Ct. 2018 (1973) - A court *has no authority to oversee judgment of a congressional committee in regard to what matter to include in reports prepared within the legislative sphere or to impose liability on its members if the court disagrees with their legislative judgment. subjected to racial injustices by the very government entities they are led to believe are there to provide equal protection of the laws and due process of the laws under the United States Constitution and other statutes/laws of this country. While there is a slogan, "don't take the law into your own hands, take them to court;" from the evidence contained herein, I believe the Legislature/Congress will find that the very courts and/or government agencies to which one is to go for justice and legal recourse appear to have employees who are CORRUPT and TAINTED!

I believe it would be futile to contact the Senators and Representatives for the States involved here because from my research their states rank in the top five (5) as the MOST CORRUPT states for corrupt public officials. Therefore, I have very serious concerns that they would do anything in that they may want to assure they keep their "bread buttered on the right side" – it being to their and others advantage to cover-up such legal wrongs/injustices and to allow such corruption and unlawful/illegal actions against African-Americans and/or people of color to continue. (See EXHIBIT "1" - "Article Louisiana Corrupt State in the Nation, Mississippi Second . . .," attached hereto and incorporated by reference. Also for Legislature/Congress review is a June 1, 2006 letter I received from Senator Thad Cochran which provides:

> This appears to be a private, legal matter. However, in an effort to be of assistance, I have contacted the proper Office of the Attorney General officials on your behalf. As soon as I receive a report from them, I will get back in touch with you.

See EXHIBIT "2" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

NOTE: Unless Cochran's follow-up correspondence was misplaced, to date I have not heard anything from him or the Attorney General's Office. Moreover, there are statutes/laws in place to support that the Legislature/Congress may get involved. Leaving me with very serious and valid concerns as to what ties/relationships Cochran may have with the parties involved in the conspiracy leveled against me.

Therefore, I am contacting the Legislature/Congress to request Investigations[3] into the

Watkins v. U.S., 77 S.Ct. 1173 (1957) - Power of Congress to conduct investigations is inherent in the legislative process, and is 'broad. . . . . Congress, through its committees, may obtain any information it needs for proper fulfillment of its role, and is free to determine the kinds of data that should be collected; it is only investigations conducted by use of compulsory process that give rise to the need to protect rights of individuals against illegal encroachment. 2 U.S.C.A. § 192.

Clark v. Board of Ed. of Shelbyville, Ky., 350 F.Supp. 149 (1972) - Courts may not invade the domain of the legislature; where a plaintiff is asking for legislative relief or relief which would encroach on the legislative process the courts are without power to act.

Adams Express Co. v. Young, 211 S.W. 407 (1919) - In view of Const. §§ 27, 28, delegating to the legislative department the power to legislate, it is the duty of the court to interpret and not make laws.

Ashland Oil, Inc. v. F. T. C., 409 F.Supp. 297 (1976) - Although the investigatory power of Congress is penetrating and far reaching in scope, it is not unlimited. U.S.C.A.Const. art. I, § 1 et seq.

matters presented herein, that Hearings be held and Findings be recorded. Moreover, that the necessary laws be created, enacted and amended (if necessary) to correct the wrongs complained of herein.

As for me, the racial and judicial injustices have plagued my family for approximately 112 years or more. Moreover, such injustices have plagued African-Americans and/or people of color for quite some time. IF the Legislature/Congress has its head stuck in the sand, I ask that it remove it, look around, and deal with the ever pending problems facing African-Americans and/or people of color while they consistently strive/hope for and demand equal protection of the laws and due process of laws as guaranteed by the United States Constitution and/or other governing statutes/laws. That the depiction of the blindfold on the Statue of Justice is honored and justice rendered accordingly. Through this instant correspondence, I am requesting the Legislature/Congress Investigate, gather evidence, hold Hearings and render its Findings on the criminal and civil wrongs rendered against me that affected my Constitutional and Civil Rights addressed herein as well as in the record of the courts, government entities, former employers and others. Moreover, Investigate, gather evidence and hold Hearings and render their Findings on the unlawful/illegal and unethical practices of certain Whites (in that it would be probably unfair to say "White America" in that this is commonly used term when addressing issues as those set forth herein) to use officers/employees of the judicial system and/or the government to aid in the oppression of African-Americans and/or people of color and to deprive them equal protection of the laws and due process of laws – rights secured/guaranteed under the U.S Constitution. I believe a reasonable mind would conclude how DIFFICULT it is for one to

Nixon v. Administrator of General Services, 408 F.Supp. 321 (1976) - Congressional power to investigate, although limited to areas in which Congress possesses legislative authority, is both broad and integral to the legislative process.

McDonnell Douglas Corp. v. U.S., 754 F.2d 365 (1985) - Congress has implied as well as express powers incident to its duty to legislate wisely, including power to investigate.

U.S. v. McDonnell Douglas Corp., 751 F.2d 220 (1984) - Power to investigate is necessarily incident to Congress' power to legislate.

Watkins v. U.S., 77 S.Ct. 1173 (1957) - Power of Congress to conduct investigations is inherent in the legislative process, and is broad.

Watkins v. U.S., 77 S.Ct. 1173 (1957) - Congressional power of investigation is not unlimited and there is no general authority to expose the private affairs of individuals without justification in terms of the functions of Congress.

Braden v. U.S., 272 F.2d 653 (1959) - Investigations can be made by Congress only as to matters which are proper subjects for legislation by it, and there is no congressional power to expose for the sake of exposure.

Marcello v. U.S., 196 F.2d 437 (1952) - A congressional inquiry may be as broad as the legislative purpose requires.

Raney v. Stovall, 361 S.W.2d 518 (1962) - That legislature may make wrong decision is no reason for invasion by judiciary of exclusive domain of legislature; ?and court must assume that Senate will not knowingly permit violations of constitutional provisions.

obtain the evidence and testimony produced in the records of the courts/government agencies to support the civil and criminal wrongs addressed herein and/or in the courts', government entities' records and former employers' record.

I believe because of the attacks that have been leveled against me by certain Whites and their co-conspirators, to slander my name and character in efforts of destroying my life, it is necessary to provide you with facts/evidence/feedback I have received from others that I have worked with and are familiar with my work ethics and character:

This letter is to confirm and recommend Ms. Vogel Newsome to a position of Executive Assistant, Administrative Assistant or greater. While working with Lash Marine, she performed the duties of Executive Assistant with skill and energy. Her spirit and motivation acted as a beacon of light to others. Her leadership and training of others was a great service. Always willing to share; she possess a unique ability to teach complex skills to the beginner and bring them quickly up to speed. In addition, being a caring and concerned citizen she put aside her time to train and work with Training, Inc. employees to develop their office skills for a better future.

She is an asset and will be sorely missed at Lash Marine. -- ROBERT K. LANSDEN (VICE PRESIDENT)

I have been very, very pleased with Vogel, not only in terms of her work product, but also in terms of her attitude and personality. I would rate her as one of the best legal secretaries with whom I have ever worked. I would highly recommend her to any one who is looking for a full-time legal secretary. If my previous secretary were not rejoining me, I would want Vogel to be my new permanent secretary.

If any one would care to discuss Vogel with me, please do not hesitate to give them my name and number. I will be more than happy to talk with them.

I am not certain of the exact day when my previous secretary will rejoin me. It could be immediately, or, it could be a couple of weeks. In light of that, we would like to request that we be allowed to continue to work with Vogel until further notice. However, the last thing I want to do is have Vogel miss another good opportunity that might lead to permanent employment. Therefore, if she must be reassigned, I will understand, but grudgingly so.. . . . - - RALPH B. GERMANY, JR. (ATTORNEY)

I was first introduced to Ms. Newsome over five (5) years ago. Since that time, she has been a Woman of integrity and intelligence. Ms. Newsome always has presented herself in a professional manner and has always addressed me and others with the uttermost of respect. Ms. Newsome outgoing personality and personal strengths would make her an excellent additional to anyone's staff. I have had the opportunity to work with Ms. Newsome and she has demonstrated flexibility in working outside of her field of endeavor and doing an excellent job is a strong indicator of how well she will do in her chosen field of endeavor. Ms. Newsome demonstrated a willingness to perform any task assigned to her promptly and correctly with little supervision. Ms. Newsome is a very pleasant person to associate with, works as a team player, and would truly be an ASSET to your organization because she is the best one for the job. - - LISA J. I believe you will find from the evidence contained herein (as well as from Investigations initiated by the Legislature/Congress regarding the matters brought to its attention), that before bringing this matter to the Legislature/Congress' attention, I have in good faith sought justice through several/various avenues, to no avail. Thus, leaving me to bring these matters before the Legislature/Congress – back to the doorsteps of the lawmakers and/or those whose duties it is to see that such racial injustices and judicial abuses, etc. are addressed and the applicable laws created and/or applied to correct such wrongs are enforced. Moreover, the Legislature/Congress' intervention and exercise of jurisdictional powers to direct and enforce the laws enacted and/or created by it. I sincerely request that you do not falsify a response to me and advise that the Legislature/Congress cannot get involved because this is a "private" matter and/or there is "pending" litigation, because I have researched and continue to do so and find that the Legislature/Congress may intervene. Moreover, from the hearings that are held and played in the media clearly reveals the jurisdiction and authority the Legislature/Congress has to intervene and require investigations and hearings on matters that affect citizens/public and to make such express powers effective – as in my situation and others.

To understand my present and past struggles/challenge, I believe the following facts are pertinent:

I. REV. MILLIGAN NEWSOME

Milligan Newsome ("Milligan") is my great grandfather whose life was unjustly taken by a prominent white man in his community. Milligan was a very special young minister in his time, that through the strength of empowerment for himself and for God's people, it became embedded in his heart, thoughts and actions. Who knew that when his life would be unjustly taken, he said "I will stand tall like a giant for my God." While I did not have the pleasure of meeting my great grandfather I realize the Holy Spirit within him works within me today. As told in my Aunt's book, "Naomi's Story: You Don't Have to Be Broken," my great grandfather's life was unjustly taken as told as follows:

> I learned that Rev. Milligan Newsome, her husband and my grandfather, was a special kind of person who took God's work very seriously. He was a preacher, educator, teacher, and one who felt that it was his duty to look out for all those who lived in Spindle Bottom. Everyone loved and depended on him. All of this land around our houses, church, and school once belonged to him. He, along with one deacon, built Clark Creek Church and school. He was supported by two very powerful men of God, Rev. Charles Harrison Mason and Rev. Charles Price Jones.
> "When the white community saw the progress that your grandpa was making, they tried to force him to sell all of his land. He refused to even discuss it with them. He then bean to advise others not to sell their land."
>
> . . ."Naomi, your grandfather was a wonderful, stubborn, black Indian, God fearing preacher who did not fear what man could do to him.
>
> "Within a year the head of a prominent white family came to him and let him know that if he did not sell his land, he would be killed. Your grandfather, looked him straight in the eye and said, 'If I don't sell, you're going to kill me. If I sell, you're still going to kill me. Therefore, I'm going to die standing like a giant for my God.'
> " Shortly after this encounter, your grandfather went down to the covered bridge to cut firewood. Your papa, who was only seventeen years of age and very devoted, went with him. The man who had voiced the threat came by the house and asked me where had that nigger gone. He was carrying a rifle and a baseball bat. He stated the he only wanted to talk to that stubborn boy. I made the mistake of letting him know where they had gone.
> "As the white man walked away from me, I knew within my heart that your grandfather would be killed. When he found your grandfather and shot him, your papa stood and watched. Your papa helped his dad to climb into the wagon. Your grandpa always carried the Holy Bible with him. He took the Bible from the wagon and stumbled into the house to let me know that he had been shot. Your papa and I put him in the bed. He asked me to place the Bible under his pillow, but he could hardly speak as he said, 'My love, teach our five children not to hate anyone.' He then gasped for breath and fell asleep."

. . . "To this day, I feel so guilty. I knew that your papa would never be the same. He seemed to be falling apart. He was truly a broken young man."

. . . "Within a year after this, the man who murdered your grandpa took all of the land. He went around bragging about how he had killed that nigger Indian and then took his land. There was no law in Mississippi that would help the family. They were left at the mercy of the murderer.

"About two years later, the murderer offered to give back part of the land. Your grandma refused to accept the offer. She said that she wanted all or none. None is what she received. Within this same year, the murderer entered the hospital in Vicksburg, Mississippi. He was suffering and dying from cancer that had consumed his whole body, including his brain. The word got around that as he was dying, he continued to scream these words, "I'm sorry that I killed that nigger Indian preacher for nothing.' Still the law did nothing about it."

Excerpt from Naomi Brookins' book, "Naomi's Story – You Don't Have To be Broken "at pp. 8-10. (See EXHIBIT "5" attached hereto and incorporated by reference)

Such a tragedy witnessed by my grandfather (Carrence Newsome), who is my father's dad, at such an early age which impacted not only my grandfather's life but those of his children. Who would have known that three (3) generations later such racial injustices would continue to plague our family and certain Whites would continue to use their ties, relationships and prominent connections to deprive me of not only my property and possessions but EQUAL protection of the laws and DUE PROCESS of laws – rights guaranteed/secured under the Constitution, Civil Rights Act and other governing laws. For me, my situation (the unlawful/illegal taking of my property/residence) happened on February 14, 2006, in Jackson, Mississippi where I was unlawfully/illegally removed from my property and it taken over my peaceful objections and right to defend (under the Constitution) against such actions. However, in regards to the racial injustices against me, it has been well over 20 years.

While my Aunt writes in her book, "There was no law in Mississippi, that would help the family," and while there was a death-bed confession from my great grandfather's murderer, my Aunt continues on and writes, "Still the law did nothing about it." As I believe you will find from the evidence presented herein, such practices continues today. However, I believe there were laws then that perhaps they were not aware of (surely the Constitution), as now, that are to be applied and such wrongs corrected and the property illegally taken from my great grandparents returned to my family.

THEREFORE, I am requesting an investigation into the murder of my great grandfather and, that if it is found that his land was illegally/unlawfully taken through criminal wrongs, that said land is returned to my family.

II. JENA 6

I mention this case, because it is a classic example of how the courts do not equally apply the laws when parties are Whites opposing African-Americans. Moreover, how courts use their powers to render African-Americans harsher punishment as well as fabricate the facts to cause such injustices. Statistics has provided such proof.

I have further concerns that the unlawful/illegal and unethical acts of the Courts mentioned in this correspondence as well as other documents in its possession, will further demonstrate the bias/prejudicial treatment and/or handling of cases by "certain" Whites and in keeping with concerns of how Whites in "prominent" positions, wealth, authority, etc., abuse the judicial process to render special favors for other white parties in litigation involving African-Americans and/or people of color; or use their position, powers, resources, wealth, etc. to intimidate, threaten and coerce African-Americans and/or people of color to participate in civil/criminal wrongs through the fear of losing their jobs. Wherein when the courts mentioned herein were in the position to deter such unlawful/illegal practices and uphold the Constitution, Civil Rights and other governing laws, they clearly elected to abandon such responsibilities to render injustices to African-Americans and/or people of color. Take for example the comment made by the District Attorney as to what he can do simply with a "stroke of a pen," that made the news in the Jena 6 matter which resulted in some of the feedback as follows:

> THE CASE OF THE JENA SIX: BLACK HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS CHARGED WITH ATTEMPTED MURDER FOR SCHOOLYARD FIGHT AFTER NOOSES ARE HUNG FROM TREE:
> MICHELLE ROGERS: The kids didn't say anything. They were listening. The kids were quiet. And so, District Attorney Reed Walters, you know, proceeded to tell those kids that "I could end your lives with the stroke of a pen." And the kids were just—it was like in awe that the district—you know, Reed Walters would tell these kids that. He held a pen in his hand and told those kids that, "See this pen in my hand? I can end your lives with the stroke of a pen."

JENA 6: A TEAM OF LAWYERS TAKE ON MYCHAL BELL'S APPEAL:

> Quick summary of the Jena Six case: In Jena, Louisiana, a black student challenged the de facto segregation of his high school by asking permission to sit under the "white tree." School officials told him to sit where he liked. The next day three nooses hung from the tree, which triggered an impromptu protest by the black students of Jena High. LaSalle Parish District Attorney Reed Walters, flanked by the police, informed the black students at an assembly later that day that he could end their lives "with the stroke of a pen." Racial tensions grew, the school's academic wing was burned, and Robert Bailey, a black student, *was attacked by a group of whites at a party. One person was charged with a misdemeanor for that beating. The next day Bailey and two friends were threatened with a shotgun at a convenience store by a white man who had been present at the beating. They wrestled the gun away from him and ran to report the incident to the police, who *charged them with robbery of the shotgun. Finally at school two days later, a group of white students, including the noose hangers, taunted Bailey and other students, calling them "niggers." A white student was beaten by a group of black students, taken to the hospital and released within three hours. He attended a school function that night*. Six black students were charged with second degree attempted murder for the fight. The first to be tried was Mychal Bell, whose public defender put on no case, called no witnesses, and permitted a friend of the DA, the mother of a prosecution witness, and a good friend of the victim's mother, to be empaneled on the six person jury. Bell was quickly found guilty. Robert Bailey, Theodore Shaw, Carwin Jones, and Bryant Purvis are still waiting to be tried. The sixth of the Jena Six is in the juvenile justice system.

(Cut and pasted from: http://pursuingholiness.com/2007/07/29/jena-6-a-team-of-lawyers-take-on-mychal-bells-appeal/). It is interesting to note how the incident was turned around. I believe had the white man shot them (these young men), it may have been said *he was defending his property, etc. and justification for such shooting based upon that. Furthermore, look at how the deck was stacked against these young men.

WITH THE STROKE OF A PEN

The events in Jena highlight the urgent need to significantly restrain prosecutorial discretion.

Tensions escalated: An assault on five black teens by a white man was resolved with probation and a mere wrist-slap for the perpetrator, and in a vaguely Mafioso speech seemingly directed at the black students in particular, the district attorney warned that he could end students' lives "with the stroke of a pen." Finally, on December 4, 2006, the eponymous six black students beat up one white student, who had allegedly mocked the injuries of one of black teens injured in the preceding month's assault.

(Cut and pasted from: http://www.hippolytic.com/0112/with_the_stroke_of_a_pen.html)

> "Black students protested the light sentence given to the white students and were promptly threatened by the county's district attorney who said "See this pen? I can end your lives with the stroke of a pen."
> That's a powerful statement. Its a frightening one. It stands for so much of what can go wrong with our justice system. The widely acknowledged racial biases in sentencing. The fact that lives are literally flushed down the toilet needlessly out of some misguided sense of judicial revenge. The power gap between the accused and the system that can crush them completely.

(Cut and pasted from: http://fitnessfortheoccasion.wordpress.com/2007/09/20/i-can-end-your-lives-with-the-stroke-of-a-pen/)

While Jena 6 occurred in Louisiana, it is No. 1 on the report released on October 8, 2007, by the National Press with Mississippi (who was No. 1 on prior report) as No. 2, Kentucky No. 3, and Ohio rounding out at No. 5. Moreover, I believe a reasonable mind given the facts, evidence and legal conclusions presented herein, in the records of the Court, Government Agency and others, will support an Investigation and Hearings sought through this Complaint. However, on a prior report, Mississippi ranked No. 1. See EXHIBIT "6" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

I must admit that when the News of Jena 6 came out, I was shocked to hear of the "white" tree. Why, because there was a label for such a tree where I went to High School – Utica High School (which has since been closed). To hear that such a labeling of a tree still existed over 20 years later, I found appalling and a disgrace. Confirming nothing has changed in the South. Leaving me to conclude why there is a breakdown in the rearing of some of our children and how some parents are teaching and encouraging such racial division. Moreover, why the youth seem to have no regard and/or respect for the laws – and their lack of trust in the justice system

III. CARL BRANDON ("BRANDON")

Mr. Brandon is an African-American male. Brandon alleges he was set up for political reasons in that Whites wanted his job and a person of their choosing in the position, so they concocted and/or fabricated false charges of sexual harassment against him. Brandon asserted that the sexual harassment charges were false and apparently exhausted the legal process to the best of his knowledge. To no avail.

According to Brandon and/or sources who know him, he was being stalked by those who were determined to destroy his life. However it does not appear that this is not information those in the media were willing to investigate – to find out the true motive for Mr. Brandon's shooting spree. However, stories were shared such as:

> Ed Blackmon Jr., attorney for the former Claiborne County road manager, said while the defense "won't dispute the facts as laid out by the state," psychiatrists and psychologist will be called to testify Brandon was not capable of controlling his actions. Pent-up emotions stemming from a sexual harassment accusation nine years before the 30-minute spree in 2006 were too strong to resist, Blackmon said. . . .
>
> "The evidence will show the man was mad," said Scott Johnson of the Attorney General's Office, who is joining Claiborne County District Attorney Alexander Martin and Crystal Springs attorney Marty Arrington in presenting the case. "There's a big difference between being mad and being insane." . . .
>
> Burrell, Miller and Porter all had roles in the 1997 dismissal of Brandon, who for years said he had been wrongly accused in order for political change to be made in county employment.
>
> His wrongful termination case made it to the Mississippi Supreme Court, which refused to hear the matter in 2002, which had the effect of upholding the firing. . .
> Burrell, who was 54, had practiced law in Port Gibson for 30 years and was attorney for Claiborne supervisors for 26 years. He also held a position on the professional responsibility committee of the STATE BAR association.[4]

See EXHIBIT "7" 05/31/07 Vicksburg Post Article regarding Carl Bandon. It appears that other persons were aware of the unlawful/illegal actions against Brandon, as such stalking him from job-to-job is mentioned.

While others may want to see Burrell as a victim of Brandon's shooting spree, and Burrell's story as a tragedy, one may wonder if the true facts and information which lead up to the shooting by Brandon were told, would Burrell be seen as a victim at all or a predator. Moreover, did Burrell aid and/or contribute in the bringing about of his own death through committing and/or participating in criminal/civil wrongs against Brandon – wherein there were those who sought to destroy Brandon's life. From information provided, it appears there were those who were following Brandon from job-to-job and informing employer(s) of the sexual harassment charges brought against him. (EMPHASIS ADDED). No, it was not enough that Brandon had lost his job due to such accusations; because it appears there were certain people determined to keep Brandon oppressed and to keep him from working – actions deliberately done to affect his livelihood, pursuit of happiness, liberties, etc.. Persons (apparently associated with wealth, power, ties to government entities and/or holding positions with the said entities) not satisfied until they completely ruined Brandon's life – at whatever cost. Apparently Brandon was aware that Burrell and others were in on such criminal/civil wrongs against him – it is not like Port Gibson is a large mega (metropolitan) city or anything. Those participating in such criminal/civil wrongs against Brandon knew and/or should have known what consequences may have resulted as a direct and proximate result of their unlawful/illegal actions. However, they probably thought it was funny in destroying and playing with an African-American man's life in the manner in which they were. Such unlawful/illegal acts which after years of such wrongs, Brandon simply had enough. Brandon may have experienced how money and power could buy decisions and the entities in which he contacted to address what he believe were wrongs rendered him, were CORRUPT and/or TAINTED. While Brandon may have pulled the trigger on the gun "placed in his hands" at the direction and/or as a direct and proximate result of such civil/criminal wrongs that were executed against him through such stalking, predator behavior and harassment from job-to-job, those who participated in the conspiracy to destroy Brandon should be held accountable for their roles in the unlawful/illegal stalking of him and contacts made to his employer(s) which resulted in Brandon's firings/terminations. Interfering with Brandon's life, liberties, pursuit of happiness, etc. It appears that government officials were aware of the civil/criminal wrongs leveled against Brandon and may have participated in the carrying out of such unlawful/illegal actions and continuing in their "CORRUPT" practices until they achieved the goal/object pursued – destruction of Brandon's life and to see another African-American male in jail/prison, mental institution, etc. (Known acts to be deliberately done to destroy the African-American family – lock up the head (male) of the family and watch what happens). So it would be reasonable to determine what role (if any) Burrell played in the conspiracy leveled against Brandon to see that employers knew of the charges made against him. It is IMPORTANT TO NOTE, Burrell was employed as County Attorney (government job) for Claiborne County, Mississippi and also held a position on the professional responsibility committee (what a hypocrite if he was engaging in the civil/criminal wrongs to keep Brandon unemployed) of the State Bar Association. Pertinent information in that it goes to show the powers and influences Burrell and others may have relied upon in the unlawful/illegal and unethical practices Brandon and/or others were asserting were being taken against Brandon. Moreover, Burrell's position(s) may have played a role in the outcome of the judicial/legal process in which Brandon pursued to clear his name.

[4] A position I find very interesting in that I believe it may lead a reasonable mind to conclude that Burrell may have used his position, relationships and ties to affect the outcome of agency/court actions and/or hearings brought by Burrell to clear his name.

Brandon's situation may also warrant an investigation by the Legislature/Congress as to whether such wrongs were committed against him and, if so, that said persons be held accountable for their acts in bringing about and/or aiding in Brandon's reaching such a violent outcome. One may conclude that Brandon's life, liberty and pursuit of happiness, etc. was ruined as a direct and proximate result of the stalking, predator behavior and harassment that has been alleged of others to destroy his life. While Brandon repeatedly asserted his innocence through the appropriate judicial processes, he may not have been aware of the Mississippi's reputation of having CORRUPT OFFICIALS – where special favors are known to exist. [SUCH PRACTICES WHICH "CERTAIN" WHITES HAVE USED AGAINST ME TO DESTROY MY LIFE, MAY HAVE ALSO BEEN USED TO DESTROY BRANDON'S]. Did such willful and malicious acts cause Brandon personal injury/harm to his character, reputation, property (loss, etc.) and whether there was evidence to support the sexual harassment charges brought against Brandon. Moreover, the relationships and/or interest of all involved (what did they get out of it) that brought and alleged these charges against Brandon.

> If the laws/statutes permit, I would request that the Legislature/ Congress initiate an investigation into this matter to determine whether such stalking of Brandon occurred. Acts which clearly violated Brandon's Constitutional and Civil Rights. That if there are any violations found, that the perpetrators be also brought to justice for their role the played.

A. STALKING/HARASSMENT:

While I know that there are states that have enacted stalking laws, I have not had the opportunity research whether there are federal laws. However, from the story of Carl Brandon (and I am sure there are many others) and that of myself, as evidenced provided in this instant Complaint and in the record of the Courts and Agencies addressed herein, I am requesting the Legislature/Congress initiate Investigations and hold hearings and render their findings regarding the stalking, predator behavior, and harassment of me by certain Whites and other co-conspirators who have resorted to the same civil/criminal wrongs similar to that of Carl Brandon to subject me to such unlawful/illegal and unethical practices in efforts of destroying my life as they did to him. Acts which clearly affects the PUBLIC at LARGE – therefore requiring the Legislature/Congress' intervention to enact, create (if none exist) laws and direct and enforce compliance of same to deter similar tragedies as Burrell and hold such perpetrators (and their accomplices) accountable/liable for the roles they played.

While there have been numerous shootings as that of Carl Brandon (who just could not take the stalking and harassment of those who were following him from job-to-job and providing his employer with negative remarks/comments as it related to him), those committing such unlawful practices should be punished within the confines of the laws and prosecuted for their roles they played in destroying his life. Moreover, what evidence did the government agencies/court(s) have to sustain their findings of sexual harassment, "was it mere words" and did the fact finder(s) have "factual evidence" upon which to reach their conclusion – or was ruling based on special favors owed to Burrell and/or others.

The Courts in my situation, have repeatedly allowed opposing parties and/or their counsel to present information regarding me that is clearly unrelated to the lawsuits I have filed in the United States District Court – Southern District of Mississippi (Jackson, MS) ("USDC-MS"). Moreover, have allowed certain Whites, their counsel and others to attempt to paint/portray me as a serial litigator – the record evidence will support that such attacks have been launched by those who have been stalking and/or conspired with those who have been stalking me from job-to-job, attorney-to-attorney, city-to-city, etc. as I have tried to move on. However, "certain" whites have not been satisfied with this and have launched an all out conspiracy to destroy my life and to prevent me from obtaining employment elsewhere. While the laws are clear that such acts are unlawful, this has not stopped certain Whites from committing such criminal/civil wrongs against me. What is so sad, these conspirators and their co-conspirators have engaged not only Judges, Magistrates, government officials, but employers and their employees to participate in such civil/criminal attacks leveled against me.

In pending actions in the USDC-MS, evidence has not only surfaced by my former employer (Page Kruger & Holland) as well as other counsel in the matters before said court to support their unlawful actions, but how they have somehow managed to get the Judges and Magistrates to engage and participate in such unlawful/illegal and unethical practices. While I have been more than patient, courteous, etc., and followed the appropriate avenues required to obtain redress of such criminal/civil wrongs, what else does a citizen need to do to obtain justice?

B. CLARK MONROE:

Monroe is one of several White attorneys representing clients in civil actions I have filed (or has been filed on my behalf) in the USDC-MS. Upon receipt of the record in this action, Legislature/Congress will see not only how Monroe has personal contacts with the Judges/Magistrates, but launches attacks against me as well as my attorney through his pleadings filed on behalf of his clients or through correspondence to my attorney as well as Judges/Magistrate. While they have attempted to paint me as a serial litigator (the unwarranted and unsubstantiated labeling repeatedly used by certain Whites in their masking of the unlawful/illegal and unethical practices they have engaged in to destroy my life), my March 12, 2007, addresses my opposition to such labeling as well as my concerns regarding Mr. Monroe's constant stalking, predator behavior and harassment of me. Moreover, provides sufficient evidence of how "certain" whites use their influence, power, wealth, etc. to smear/slander me and the use of the judicial process to portray me as "the boy who cried wolf," when they are fully aware of the civil/criminal wrongs rendered me. It appears Monroe (as well as others) has attempted to paint me as a serial litigator wherein such labeling is uncalled for and neither is it appropriate. I believe the Legislature/Congress upon the facts, evidence and legal conclusions presented will agree that such labeling of me as well as the stalking, predator behavior, harassment, etc. by this attorney and others is clearly prohibited by the U.S. Constitution, Civil Rights Act, statutes and laws of the United States. Nevertheless, that I have *had to suffer and endure years of such unlawful/illegal attacks from those in such legal prominent positions, authority, wealth, etc., as they sought to destroy my life. See one of my March 12, 2007 letter responding to Monroe's correspondence (See EXHIBIT "8" attached hereto and incorporated by reference), and also in my responsive pleading (one of two filed in each of the cases before said court is attached at EXHIBIT "9" and incorporated by reference) to his motion filed. Monroe filed a Motion with the court requesting an "in court hearing." However, I knew such filing was done in bad faith for ill purposes – to shield and mask his fetishes/obsession with me. Monroe was not satisfied with his efforts in having me forced to leave Mississippi to obtain employment elsewhere in order to survive, he now attempts to use the courts and others to aid him in such wrongs against me. WHEN DOES IT STOP – WHEN ARE SUCH PERSONS COMMITTING SUCH UNLAWFUL/ILLEGAL WRONGS AGAINST AFRICAN-AMERICANS (AND/OR CITIZENS) GOING TO BE HELD LIABLE FOR THE CIVIL/CRIMINAL ACTS RENDERED AGAINST AFRICAN-AMERICANS (FOR THE RACIAL INJUSTICES SPEARHEADED AND/OR THEY ENGAGE IN)?

Furthermore, the record evidence will support Monroe's communications and attacks on my attorney, Wanda Abioto, unbeknownst to me – my having to receive copies of such communications through pleadings filed by him on behalf of his clients. His outrage towards me is evidenced because he failed to obtain the unlawful withdrawal of my complaint he sought through my attorney. Abioto has been licensed to practice law for over 20 years. While Abioto ignored my calls and correspondence to her, I continued to file the required responsive pleadings in the lawsuit she is representing me in, in a timely manner. From the documentation, you will find how it appears Monroe and Abioto (and who knows what other people were involved) were working on her withdrawing from representing me – behind my back and/or unbeknownst to me. An unlawful/illegal and unethical tactic to deprive me of legal representation. Abioto, deliberately failed to have the Summons and Complaint served on one of the defendants in the lawsuit she was representing me in. Based upon documentation received from Monroe, I believe a reasonable mind may conclude that Abioto deliberately did so in efforts of throwing this case. The record evidence will reveal how upset Monroe became when his efforts failed in that upon my being abandoned by Abioto, I continued to see that the proper pleadings were filed in the lawsuit to preserve my rights. Monroe proceeded to harass me as well as the court to get them to disregard the pleadings filed by me in the lawsuit Abioto was representing me in. However, such efforts failed. I provided the facts, evidence and legal conclusions to support my right to file such pleadings – especially when the record yields he and Abioto were working behind the scenes to throw the case. Abioto fulfilling her end of the bargain with Monroe – it appears in not serving his client, and is now attempting to seek an unlawful withdrawal which I am contesting. See EXHIBIT "10" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. However, to their disappointment, I handled service of process on the other defendants (which included another one of Monroe's clients, Melody Crews) through the use of a Process Server that I retained. Through his fetish and/or obsession with me, Monroe now has voluntarily entered his second client (who Abioto failed to serve) through joining and entering of a pleading filed on behalf of his first client, Crews (who I had served by the Process Server), that was properly served with the one Abioto failed to serve; thus, waiving service of process on second client and now second client has been properly joined in lawsuit due to the joint filing by Monroe – correcting the egregious acts of he and Abioto (in withholding service of Summons and Complaint). Therefore, waiving any such defects and/or deliberate acts on the part of Abioto to aid him. The court record will support that the required pleadings containing such facts, evidence and legal conclusions has been timely submitted. Monroe also knew that Abioto could not withdraw from representing me without my consent. It is unlawful/illegal and unethical to harass, coerce, etc. a person's attorney as Monroe and/or others have done in efforts of forcing her to abandon representation of me. Nevertheless, Monroe has engaged in such practices.

I believe the Legislature/Congress may conclude from the evidence how "certain" whites resorted to unlawful/illegal and unethical practices against me to obtain withdrawal of attorneys I retained to represent me; however, upon contact from the opposing side (who were always represented by large law firms, corporations, insurance companies, etc.) they abruptly sought to end their representation of me. Leaving me to have to proceed pro se in efforts of preserving my rights secured/guaranteed under the Constitution, Civil Rights Act and other governing statutes/laws.

Monroe, wanted an "in court hearing," so hopefully he will be happy to subject to hearings before the Legislature/Congress and answer their questions and produce documents to aid in the Investigation(s) by it, as to his role in the conspiracy he has engaged in, in causing me serious injury/harm as a direct and proximate result of his knowledge of my participation in protected activities and/or my pursuit for justice. I am hoping that Monroe is just as eager to participate and provide the Legislature/Congress with the information needed to support his unlawful/illegal stalking, predator behavior and harassment of me as well as my attorneys. Moreover, his (and/or others) actions in contacting my employer(s) and notifying them of my participation and/or engagement in protected activities (i.e. lawsuits, etc.). I seek the disbarment of Monroe and his co-conspirators who are lawyers and/or members of the Bar in their respective states that they are allowed to practice; as well as he and conspirators/co-conspirators being subject to the appropriate fines and/or *imprisonment for the civil/criminal wrongs committed against me. I believe that the Investigation requested by the Legislature/Congress will yield that Monroe (who received such honor as magna cum laude[5]) knew and/or should have known that his stalking, predator behavior and harassment of the me was in violation of the laws, Constitution, Civil Rights Act and other governing laws. (See Bio for Monroe at EXHIBIT "11" attached hereto and incorporated by reference). Nevertheless, he proceed on with much zeal and tenaciousness in that his fetish/obsession with me consumed his life – he took it upon himself to stop at nothing to see that my life was ruined as well as solicited the help of others and USDC-MS Judges/Magistrates/ Officials to engage in such practices as he looked to them for "special" favors.

> MISSISSIPPI CODE OF 1972
> SEC. 97-3-107. Stalking.
>
> (1) Any person who willfully, maliciously and repeatedly follows or harasses another person, or who makes a credible threat, with the intent to place that person in reasonable fear of death or great bodily injury is guilty of the crime of stalking, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one (1) year or by a fine of not more than One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00), or by both such fine and imprisonment.
> (4) For the purposes of this section, "harasses" means a knowing and willful course of conduct directed at a specific person which seriously alarms, annoys, or harasses the person, and which serves no legitimate purpose. The course of conduct must be such as would cause a reasonable person to suffer substantial emotional distress, and must actually cause substantial emotional distress to the person. "Course of conduct" means a pattern of conduct composed of a series of acts over a period of time, however short,

[5] A title perhaps purchased/bought in that the record evidence will clearly support no qualification/evidence of earning of such honorary title. It appears that the only thing he learned in law school was how to practice law through corruption and deceit. Moreover, how to mastermind conspiracies and induce/influence others to participate in his criminal acts which he knew and/or should have known to be unlawful/illegal and unethical.

evidencing a continuity of purpose. Constitutionally protected activity is not included within the meaning of "course of conduct."

(5) For the purposes of this section, "a credible threat" means a threat made with the intent and the apparent ability to carry out the threat so as to cause the person who is the target of the threat to reasonably fear for his or her safety.

CUT & PASTED FROM: http://www.mscode.com/free/statutes/97/003/0107.htm. See EXHIBIT "12" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

Monroe has committed civil/criminal wrongs – acts prohibited by statutes/laws of the United States – spearheaded and/or providing his participation in any such conspiracies against me. He has engaged in activity which includes stalking me from job-to-job, attorney-to-attorney, court-to-court, etc. Actions deliberately, willfully and maliciously done to get me fired (termination of employment), to get my attorneys to withdraw their representations, to get my complaints dismissed, etc. ACTS *CLEARLY PROHIBITED BY STATUTES/LAWS.

The record evidence will support that Monroe wanted his opportunity to be on stage – requesting an "in court hearing." Therefore, I am hoping his request to perform (before the fact-finders) is heard before the Legislature/Congress and he is as cheerful, elated and forthcoming with his admissions of his participation of the criminal and civil wrongs rendered against me by him and others. The USDC-MS, defendants in that action and their counsel, were timely, properly and adequately notified of the LIABILITY that Monroe attracts and the casualty and/or destruction caused by him as a direct and proximate result of his civil/criminal wrongs. To no avail, they continued to aid and encourage Monroe's behavior. The record of the USDC-MS further evidences, Monroe's actions in harassing and threatening attorney(s) I retained to represent me. Such acts which are criminal in nature and clearly warrants punishment which I will seek through the bringing of this action before the Legislature/Congress.

Criminal Interference with Right to Fair Housing

This statute makes it unlawful for any individual(s), by the use of force or threatened use of force, to injure, intimidate, or interfere with (or attempt to injure, intimidate, or interfere with), any person's housing rights because of that person's race, color, religion, sex, handicap, familial status or national origin. Among those housing rights enumerated in the statute are:

- The sale, purchase, or renting of a dwelling;
- the occupation of a dwelling;

- the financing of a dwelling;
- contracting or negotiating for any of the rights enumerated above.
- applying for or participating in any service, organization, or facility relating to the sale or rental of dwellings.

This statute also makes it unlawful by the use of force or threatened use of force, to injure, intimidate, or interfere with any person who is assisting an individual or class of persons in the exercise of their housing rights.

Punishment varies from a fine of up to $1,000 or imprisonment of up to one year, or both, and if bodily injury results, shall be fined up to $10,000 or imprisoned up to ten years, or both, and if death results, shall be subject to imprisonment for any term of years or for life.

CUT & PASTE: http://www.fbi.gov/hq/cid/civilrights/statutes.htm. See EXHIBIT "13" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. It is important to note, that said information is already in the record of this Court.

Nevertheless, the record evidence will support how Monroe and others conspired to get my attorney(s) to withdraw to obtain an undue/unfair advantage in the legal actions brought by me. Furthermore, how "certain" whites and others have repeatedly used the legal process to destroy my life and/or those of African-Americans.

I believe that the record evidence will support the threats and acts taken against me by the Monroe and others for my exercising of protected rights. Moreover, that the unlawful/illegal actions of the Monroe and others, resulted in my being unlawfully/illegally forced out of my residence and said residence unlawfully/illegally seized. Moreover, that such acts by Monroe and others also has forced me to have to abandon the state in which I lived for my safety, survival and to obtain employment; in that they aggressively and maliciously sought to blacklist me and to prevent me from obtaining employment as well as destroy my life and reputation in the work community. Thus, subjecting me to further injury/harm.

SEC. 97-3-87. Threats and intimidation; whitecapping.

Any person or persons who shall, by placards, or other writing, or verbally, attempt by threats, direct or implied, of injury to the person or property of another, to intimidate such other person into an abandonment or change of home or employment, shall, upon conviction, be fined not exceeding five hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding six months, or in the penitentiary not exceeding five years, as the court, in its discretion may determine.

CUT & PASTED FROM: http://www.mscode.com/free/statutes/97/003/0087.htm. See EXHIBIT "14" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

Whitecapping: The criminal act of threatening a person – usu. a member of a minority group – with violence in an effort to compel the person to either move away or to stop engaging in a certain business or occupation. • Whitecapping statutes were originally enacted to curtail the activities of the Ku Klux Klan. – Black's Law Dictionary (Second Pocket Edition)

I knew that with my education, years of work experience and skills, that it should not be difficult for me to obtain employment; however, seeing the conspiracy leveled against me and the evidence that has surfaced, there was no alternative left for me but to move away for my livelihood, liberties, pursuit of happiness, etc.

IV. REPUBLIC OF NEW AFRICA ("RNA")

From my brief research, this organization appeared to be organized and/or assembled by Gaidi Obadele and Imari Abubakari Obadele. Their AIM: (a) To free black people in the United States from oppression; (b) To promote the personal dignity and integrity of the individual and to protect his natural rights; and (c) To support co-operative economics and community self-sufficiency. This group wanted to discuss the creation of a black nation within the United States (identifying Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina). They provided their citizens with: food, housing, clothing, education, medical treatment, and defense.

The Federal Bureau of Investigations ("FBI") immediately targeted the RNA and began raiding their meetings.

In August 1971, the FBI and the Jackson Police Department, without warning, attacked the RNA government residence with arms, tear gas, and a tank. One Jackson police officer, William Skinner, was killed, one patrolmen and an FBI agent were wounded but there were no RNA casualties . . . The RNA protested the arrests and verdicts, pointing out that the RNA 11 part of a "long pattern" of violence and injustice against Blacks in Mississippi.

See EXHIBIT "15" information on RNA - attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

While it is not clear to me why the raid on the RNA by the FBI was necessary, I however think such tactics used by the FBI may have been bogus and merely hatched to seek the results it obtained – breaking down and further oppressing African-Americans and those who sought the unity, healing and improvement of the African-American people and their communities. It is apparent that the FBI's action was merely tactics to keep African-American communities from coming together. Moreover, their use of such excessive force to send a message of their dominance and oppression.

While I do not have access to the entire record surrounding this incident (between RNA and FBI), I find it disturbing in that it appears that those who were not present were prosecuted. Moreover, concerns as to whether or not Officer Skinner was actually killed by an RNA member or was he killed by "friendly fire" – that of an FBI agent of Jackson Police Officer – and the FBI for all these years have lead the public to believe he was killed by an RNA members bullet. Such concerns I believe is valid in that the record evidence in my case will reveal that the FBI was provided with a typewritten complaint by me on June 26, 2006 (See EXHBIT "16" attached hereto and incorporated by reference), and did nothing to deter and/or punish those committing such legal wrongs against me. Moreover, to date, the FBI has failed to provide me with its findings on all of the issues raised in my Complaint. From the information I obtained from the FBI website, it is evident they handle the types of complaints I have filed and have moved to prosecute others in the past (in other matters brought to their attention); however, when I brought my complaint – as with other government agencies and courts – they took a far departure from the laws and refused to perform the duties owed to me. Thus, leaving a reasonable mind to conclude that there is something Judge Skinner and/or others may be holding over the FBI's head that they may not want coming out. It is clear that Judge Skinner has positioned himself in the courts and that he uses his judgeship to reek havoc on African-Americans and uses his special relationship with the FBI and others to commit such civil/criminal injustices against African-Americans (as that committed against me). Furthermore, the FBI has condoned and/or encouraged the unlawful/illegal and unethical actions of Judge Skinner and others. Therefore, the Legislature/Congress' intervention and request for Investigation and Hearings is being requested to render its findings on the issues presented to correct the Constitutional and Civil Rights violations rendered me.

I believe a reasonable mind may conclude that the FBI abused its power and/or authority in the RNA matter and that said matter should have been handled in a more peaceful and lawful manner. However, they probably had a headstrong leader looking for fame at the helm of things; and the FBI elected to exercise unnecessary force which resulted and/or contributed to the death of Officer Skinner. Were any of the FBI agents held accountable for Officer Skinner's death or an investigation initiated into its handling of this matter? It appears what is so obvious that the FBI motive for such invasion was for the purposes of keeping African-Americans from coming together for a positive cause – the FBI's goal being to break up the RNA to keep it from thriving and uniting the African-American culture. This group was not such a threat that such excessive force and/or violence against them was necessary. However, I am sure the FBI made sure this group was projected in such a light to Whites to place fear in them. Placing seeds of hatred and animosity in certain Whites as that displayed by Judge Skinner regarding the RNA. RELYING ON THE FEAR FACTOR!

Approximately a year later (1972), following such raid, my father retired from the United States Army and returned his family to Utica, Mississippi to live. Utica is approximately 21 miles outside of Jackson, Mississippi where the raid on the RNA occurred. While I was just a child and unaware of this incident taking place the previous year, I definitely enjoyed the "Black Power" movement and our song/slogan, "Say it loud, I'm Black and I'm proud," as well as the Afro (hairstyle) age. The adjustment to Mississippi living was interesting in that we were taken from one way of life (military where we were surrounded by diversity of cultures) and then thrown into such a hostile and racially motivated environment in Mississippi. I recall our having to walk down the dirt road and wait for the school bus to pick us (siblings and I) up. While waiting we would observe a bus passing by loaded with all white children and some of those children from time-to-time yelling out racial slurs/remarks on their way to Rebel Academy (school they attended). Of course this was new to my siblings and I, leaving us often wondering why our father, out of the choices he had, chose to return to Mississippi to raise his family. I found the military life to be beneficial to me and the fact that my parents did not teach us to hate other races as that displayed by the children on the private school bus. Such racial slurs/remarks made me even happier to be an African-American (realizing that I had to be special and such a member of an elite race), moreover, more determined to continue my education beyond high school at an African-American University. For I felt it is not where you get your education, but what you do with it once you get it. Therefore, I did just that; starting out a Mississippi Valley State University and completing my education at Florida A&M University.

Considering the racial injustices I, Carl Brandon, Jena 6 victims and other African-Americans have had to repeatedly endure, was the RNA wrong for their ideas and pursuit to remedy the injustices of African-Americans and their cries for equal protection of the laws, due process of laws (JUSTICE), etc.? Was this group wrong for wanting to make a better life for their people that the Legislature/Congress has repeatedly pretended and/or may have stuck their heads in the sand because they did not want to deal with it? What has our government done to assure African-Americans are rendered equal protection of the laws and due process of laws? Merely the passing of laws and not enforcing them clearly is a sham/farce in that it places false hope within citizens who want to believe the laws and the legal processes are in place to assure justice. Moreover, deter the unlawful/illegal and unethical practices of certain Whites as evidenced herein and in the records referenced herein (that can be obtained through Investigations by the Legislature/Congress). It is clear that African-Americans are heavily underrepresented when it comes to privately-owned businesses; while we are represented in government (federal and state – depending on where you live I'm finding) jobs, this is only where you will find many of African-Americans because of such policies which require hiring. However, in looking at the other side in the private sector, you will find that African-Americans and/or people of color are not fairly and adequately represented with private employers – in some places with such employers the work force is entirely white (with no African-American and/or person of color). The only reason why you may see African-Americans and/or people of color at some predominantly owned businesses is because such businesses may have obtained some government contract (for appearance purposes only). However, there are many, many, . . . white privately owned businesses where they are certain not to hire African-Americans and/or people of color. While I look at the fight against "AFFIRMATIVE ACTION," I believe such fights are mainly lead by "certain" whites which may have strong ties to racist organizations (such as the KKK). "Certain" whites who know goodness well that without the applicable laws in place African-Americans and/or people of color would not have some of the jobs they have today. While "concentrated" to government jobs in which African-Americans are employed, these may only be for monitoring/regulating purposes and given to certain African-Americans while their stringent "screening" process is used to deprive certain African-Americans job opportunities as well. Clearly, the United States has a long way to go.

As with Carl Brandon, "certain" whites use the system to incarcerate the African-American male, providing him with a criminal record thus precluding him from finding gainful employment upon release – all a part of a system to continue to oppress the African-American race and/or the person one may expect to be the head of the household/family. Research will show how funding is being requested to build more prisons/cages in preparation of future incarceration of our African-American males. It appears the present focus is on the African-American youth (as in the Jena 6 situation).

V. JUDGE WILLIAM L. SKINNER, II

This is a White judge presently serving in the Hinds County Court in Jackson, Mississippi. He is the son of the deceased Officer William Skinner – who was shot and killed during the 1971 FBI raid on the RNA (EMPHASIS ADDED). Prior to this position, Judge Skinner was a judge in the Hinds County Justice Court where I first had an opportunity to meet him under unpleasant circumstances and as a direct and proximate result of violations to rights secured/guaranteed under the United States Constitution, Civil Rights Act, Landlord & Tenant Act and other statutes/laws; in which my landlord was attempting to unlawfully and illegally obtain my property. The record evidence contained herein will support that Judge Skinner uses his judgeship to abuse the laws and knowingly commit civil and criminal wrongs against African-Americans; moreover, uses his position in an unlawful/illegal and unethical manner to shield/mask his retaliation and vengeance-seeking practices to vindicate his father's death – in which I have been subjected to. I have had the opportunity to experience first-hand Judge Skinner's hatred, racism and discriminatory application of the laws to African-Americans (especially if they are educated). THIS IS A JUDGE NOT FIT TO PRESIDE IN THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM AND IS TO BE REMOVED IMMEDIATELY THROUGH THE APPROPRIATE LEGAL PROCESS.

Such outrage is evidenced in an article (as there were many surrounding this incident) where he makes statements such as, "This man is a terrorist" and "He ran a terrorist organization, and there is no difference between him an Osama bin Laden," as he refers to Imari Obadele who was invited to speak at an event honoring Black History Month. Judge Skinner going to on to say, "I'm mad as hell, and I'm not going to take this crap" as according to reporter. (See EXHIBIT "17" attached hereto). Neither was Obadele present at the shootout/raid, according to reports, when Officer Skinner was shot. Such needless outrage by Judge Skinner apparently against a man (Obadele) who was not present at the shootout that eventually led to the death of his father.

In an article, a statement was made by a person by the name of Chokwe Lumumba which reads, "white supremacy is still alive in law enforcement as it was in the 1970's. Referring to the Hinds County Sheriff Malcolm McMillin's (one of the key defendants in a lawsuit I have filed in the USDC-MS and one in which said records will support the voluminous lawsuits (See EXHIBIT "18" attached hereto and incorporated by reference) filed by other citizens against him) stance against Obadele's visit, he said white supremacy is alive today, but different." From the article, one may see just how prevalent the racial divide and racial injustices are, and the bitterness that flows from such behavior.

However, my personal experience and the evidence contained herein will only support and/or echo such truthful statements. Whether, such "white supremacy" is "different," BASED ON MY PERSONAL EXPERIENCE, I WOULD SAY NOT. To me it is all the same, alive and widely encouraged by the Klu Klux Klan and the likes of such groups masquerading themselves in positions such as judges, lawyers and others wherein they have strategically sought employment in positions where they can manipulate the judicial/legal process as well as further the agenda of the KKK and/or other racist organizations created to destroy the lives of African-Americans and/or people of color, merely done to further oppress me and other African-Americans and/or people of color. Such groups' reliance on their network connections and relationships with people in key prominent positions (such as judges) to fulfill their end of the agreement reached between them. Not only that, the evidence contained with this correspondence will clearly support Judge Skinner's arrogance and other certain whites' abuse of the laws and the judicial and/or governmental process to obtain unlawful/illegal and undue advantage over African-Americans such as myself. Moreover, how they place themselves above the law and believe they cannot be reached and/or the laws do not apply to them. How certain whites rely upon their special relationships/alliances to judges such as Judge Skinner and others to inflict, oppress and destroy the lives of African-Americans (as they did with me). From my observation of Judge Skinner (and this is before I knew what had happened to his father) I discerned from Judge Skinner's demeanor in court and countenance he was racist, prejudice, etc. and he is using his position to subject African-Americans to unjust/unlawful rulings to aid whites and/or members of his race. No from my experience with Judge Skinner his prejudice was so obvious and radiated from the bench. After my incident and obtaining additional information regarding Judge Skinner, it was clear that he was using his father's murder to exact revenge on African-Americans. Not being able to let go and move on after his father's death and not being happy people had served time in prison (for a crime they probably did not commit and may have been defending their property against an unlawful/illegal raid by the FBI – a right secured under the Constitution).

No, that was not enough as displayed by his remark(s), "I'm mad as hell, and I'm not going to take this crap." This is a judge who has run amuck and is clearly out of control. Approximately 33 years later (from his father's death) when this story was taken, and he still harbors such animosity. Clearly Judge Skinner has not healed, and neither has he let go to move on with his life. His disappointment in failing in such efforts to keep Obadele from speaking is clear. Apparently his father did not instill in him the importance of forgiveness and letting the laws handle such wrongs – instead he learned to harbor resentment, hatred and anger towards African-Americans and wanted a job in which he could take out his frustrations and revenge.

While I am not aware of any evidence to support the conviction of Obadele, what is clear, Obadele served his time on what appears to be charges of conspiracy so Judge Skinner needs to move on. Instead he continues to rely on special favors from his relationships with the FBI and make public outburst of rage as displayed in articles.

Judge Skinner is one of the defendants I have filed a lawsuit against in the USDC-MS. Judge Skinner authorized the unlawful/illegal removal/eviction and taking of my residence and property. Judge Skinner doing so with knowledge that he had no jurisdiction of the matter brought before him. Therefore, as a matter of statutes/laws, Judge Skinner is not immuned from lawsuits. The evidence in this correspondence will support Skinner's knowledge of landlord/tenant laws, so he knew and/or should have known that he was committing civil/criminal wrongs against me. Nevertheless, he proceeded with total disregard to my protected rights (as certain Whites do in scoff thereof). Furthermore a NEXUS can be established between Judge Skinner relationship with the FBI and others. Information to sustain the conflict of interest of the FBI and its agents and the agency's blatant refusal to uphold the laws and its allowances of Judge Skinner's and others criminal behavior against African-Americans, such as myself: No clearly the FBI is not going to do anything and attempt to force me to bring legal actions through the judicial process rather than them prosecuting in that they are aware that due to the conspiracy leveled against me and participation on their part in furtherance of said conspiracy that they want it to appear that I am suffering from the "boy who cried wolf" syndrome. Attempting to play games and make it seem that I do not have valid claims and/or actions which fall under their jurisdiction as evidenced in their correspondence to me – wherein they are refusing to perform the ministerial duties owed me and force me through waste my time in the judicial process; wherein they are fully aware the deck has been stacked. See EXHIBIT "19" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

A. JUDGE SKINNER FATHER'S INFO:

Shot during the 1971 FBI unannounced raid on the RNA (Republic of New Africa): Note – Only fatally of this raid (?). While I have not viewed the record, I am left with doubts and/or wondering whether or not Officer Skinner was shot by friendly fire (from another police officer or an FBI agent) and the FBI covered up such information. Moreover, Officer Skinner's son, Judge Skinner's, using his father's death as a ransom over the head of the FBI and relying upon the FBI's guilt for Officer Skinner's death to obtain special favors from the FBI. Surely the record will support that the FBI is required to handle investigations into the civil/criminal wrongs rendered me; however, they failed to do so. So the question would need to be answered through an Investigation and Hearings why the FBI has taken such a far departure from the laws and has elected to deprive me equal protection of the laws and/or due process of laws in the handling of the complaint I filed with its agency. THEREFORE, I seek the findings of all issues raised in the FBI Complaint I filed.

The Jackson, Mississippi Police Academy is named after him (William L. Skinner Training Academy). See EXHIBIT "22" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

> Lieutenant William Skinner was shot and killed during a standoff with a group of militants who were barricaded in a house. Lieutenant Skinner was standing beneath a tree when he was struck in the head by a single round that had been fired from underneath the house.
> The Black Liberation Army[6] was a violent, radical group that > attempted to fight for independence from the United States government in the late 1960's and early 1970's. The BLA was responsible for the murders of more than 10 police officers around the country. They were also responsible for violent attacks around the country that left many police officers wounded.

One may question, whether or not Officer Skinner was standing beneath a tree, or was he in his car? See EXHBIT "21" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. There are conflicting stories as to where he was when he was shot. Therefore, raising some serious and reasonable doubts surrounding the shooting of Officer Skinner.

B. THE ARREST:

In January 2006, there was a matter brought before Judge Skinner by my landlord. My landlord using unlawful/illegal tactics it has repeatedly relied upon to have African-Americans and/or people of color unlawfully/illegally removed from its property. In that I was told I had to be in court, I went. Judge Skinner attempted to get me to argue the merits of the landlord's case. I refused and advised I was there to confirm the improper service of process. During the process (upon reviewing the paperwork), Judge Skinner asked whether or not I was an attorney and I advised him no; and neither did I provide him with information that I worked for a law firm. I believed that justice should be applied to the laws whether one is an attorney or not. I came away with the impression that if I were an attorney, Judge Skinner would not have acted in the unlawful/illegal and unethical manner in which he did. When Judge Skinner insisted that I defend against the landlord's claims, I simply refused, turned and walked out of his court. I was not required to be there and I found the acts of Judge Skinner to be atrocious. Clearly Judge Skinner was making a MOCKERY of the judicial process – to his amusement. In retaliation of my leaving his courtroom, Judge Skinner took it upon himself to date and sign a "REMOVAL" document as my attorney in which he was not. (See EXHIBIT "23" attached hereto and incorporated by reference).

The record evidence will support the felonious actions of "certain" Whites and others against me.

> Felonious: 2) Constituting or having the character of a felony. 3) Proceeding from an evil heart or purpose; malicious; villainous. 4) Wrongful; (of an act) done without excuse or color of right. – Black's Law Dictionary (Second Pocket Edition)

The record evidence will support that "felonious restraints" I was subjected to.

> Felonious Restraint: 1) The offense of knowingly and unlawfully restraining a person under circumstances that expose the person to serious bodily harm. Model Penal Code § 212.2(a). 2) The offense of holding a person in involuntary servitude. Model Penal Code § 212.2(b). – Black's Law Dictionary (Second Pocket Edition)

VI. CONSTABLE JON LEWIS

Constable Jon C. Lewis (and real good friend of Judge Skinner) is the "government" official who subjected me to an unlawful/illegal arrest and had me detained against my will while that went through my residence, destroyed evidence, stole property, etc. During the February 14, 2006 incident, I had my microcassette recorder on me recording what was going on. Why the recording, because it has been projected that we (African-Americans) are expected not to be too bright and prone to violence. Moreover, the known abuse by public officials (police officers, etc.) during arrests. While I was outside the apartment (being requested to step out by the Lewis), Lewis appeared to be upset because I would not leave. I advised I had the right to be there and they were in violation of said rights. So that they could continue their unlawful/illegal acts (destroy evidence to cover-up their illegal wrongs and theft of my property, etc.), Lewis placed me under arrest. He searched my pockets and found the tape recorder and removed it. He did not turn it in at the Hinds County Detention Center where I was taken, and neither did he return the property to me. While I requested that Lewis return my property, he failed to do so. Taking my property and destroying the evidence contained thereon. See EXHIBIT "24" March 17, 2006 Request for Arrest Report & Return of Personal Property Retrieved by Constable Jon C. Lewis. . ."

A. OTHER CORRUPT INFORMATION THAT SURFACED ON CONSTABLE LEWIS:

The record evidence will support that Lewis, Crews, representatives Dial Equities, Inc., representatives of Spring Lake Apartments and others resorted and/or relied upon the carrying out of criminal acts in which they: 1) invaded the my privacy; 2) unlawfully seized, stole and/or allowed to be stolen my property or damage of property; 3) destruction of evidence in that they were notified by the me that would be used in legal actions against them, 4) personal injury/harm to me, etc.. Lewis has welcomed an investigation into his practices. Therefore, I hope that Lewis is just as zealous, forthcoming and willing to aid the Legislature/Congress in the Investigation I bring before this body. Moreover, that he is willing to accept whatever punishment as a direct and proximate result for his unlawful/illegal and unethical practices (if found). As the record will reflect that Constable Lewis conducts business in his official capacity that appears to be criminal in nature and clearly affects the public at large:

> WLBT Channel 3 TOP STORY – 04/19/06 – Supervisors Looking Into Constable's Methods:
> The Hinds County Board of Supervisor's is looking into the methods used by the county's constable. At issue, is how he collects his fees. The constable says he has done nothing wrong.
>
> In a letter to the county administrator, Justice Court Clerk Patricia Woods accused Constable John Lewis of using questionable tactics.

"There is absolutely nothing criminal here, nothing wrong," said Constable Jon Lewis.

The clerk said Friday, April 7th, several defendants appeared at justice court to pay fines, but a judge wasn't present. A Utica man received a letter telling him to appear, but the man had already paid his speeding ticket in January.

After learning that, the clerk told her staff not to collect any fees from defendants who did not have outstanding warrants.

"I refuse to be a part of his collection process," said Woods in her letter to County Administrator Anthony Brister. "I cannot imagine how many letters were mailed or payments received at his home address."

"I am welcoming an investigation from the auditor's office. I would like it to be looked into very thoroughly," said Lewis.

Constable Lewis says the letter to the defendant about the speeding ticket was a mistake on his part,[7] but he makes not apologies for using tough methods.

See EXHIBIT "25" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. THROUGH THIS SUBMITTAL TO THE LEGISLATURE/CONGRESS, I REQUEST THAT Lewis' request to be investigated be granted and thorough investigation(s) be initiated. Moreover, the evidence will show that I filed a formal written complaint with the Hinds County Board of Supervisors on or about August 11, 2006 (See EXHIBIT "26" attached hereto and incorporated by reference) as well as placed the County on notice of my intent to sue. However, said Board elected to do nothing and to date I have not been provided with a ruling from the Board regarding my official complaint filed against Constable Lewis. Therefore, a reasonable mind may conclude that the Board knew and/or should have known of the unlawful actions of Constable Lewis and allowed him to continue to conduct business on their behalf with knowledge that he was performing said duties in a criminal and unlawful/illegal manner.

A reasonable mind may conclude from the facts, evidence and legal conclusions presented in the record, that perhaps Constable Lewis' eagerness for an investigation was due to the fact he thought the "ball would remain in desired court(s)," ballpark and/or with the Board of Supervisors – who would all seek to protect him and render him special favors as they endorsed his corrupt practices. For to expose him would expose them also; I believe it would be hard for Constable Lewis to be willing to take the fall alone for the criminal acts of his co-

[7] Only because he has probably been practicing in such unlawful/illegal ways for so long and never expected to be exposed or that they would find out that he was having payments coming directly to him at home – were these payments reported? Hopefully, an investigation by the Legislature/Congress will yield this information. Providing Constable Lewis with the investigation he is requesting.

conspirators after perhaps obtaining assurance from them that he would be alright – to "stick with them." However, to Constable Lewis' and others disappointment, I am requesting that the Legislature/Congress initiate an Investigations and hold Hearings regarding this instant Complaint.

The record evidence will support that Constable Lewis unlawfully/illegally removed personal property from my person during his unlawful arrest of me and destroyed and/or tampered with said evidence in that he knew that I would use it in a lawsuit against him. Although I requested the return of my property – See EXHIBIT "24" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. To date, Constable Lewis has failed to return my property; moreover, his attorneys have engaged and/or endorsed such criminal acts. Moreover, the FBI is aware of such unlawful/illegal and unethical practices of Constable Lewis and also failed to do anything to correct such injustices.

§ 97-9-125. Tampering with physical evidence.

(1) A person commits the crime of tampering with physical evidence if, believing that an official proceeding is pending or may be instituted, and acting without legal right or authority, he:

(a) Intentionally destroys, mutilates, conceals, removes or alters physical evidence with intent to impair its use, verity or availability in the pending or prospective official proceeding;

(b) Knowingly makes, presents or offers any false physical evidence with intent that it be introduced in the pending or prospective official proceeding; or

(c) Intentionally prevents the production of physical evidence by an act of force, intimidation or deception against any person.

(2) Tampering with physical evidence is a Class 2 felony.

§ 97-9-129. Sentencing

(1) A person who has been convicted of any Class 1 felony under this article shall be sentenced to imprisonment for a term of not more than five (5) years or fined not more than Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000.00), or both.

(2) A person who has been convicted of any Class 2 felony under this article shall be sentenced to imprisonment for a term of not more than two (2) years or fined not more than Three Thousand Dollars ($3,000.00), or both.

(3) A person who has been convicted of any misdemeanor under this article shall be sentenced to confinement in the county jail for a term of not more than one (1) year or fined not more than One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00), or both.

Sources: Laws, 2006, ch. 387, § 15, eff from and after July 1, 2006.

See EXHIBIT "27" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. Furthermore, the record evidence will support that instead of filing an answer to the lawsuit filed by me in the USDC-MS against Constable Lewis; he elected to bring malicious charges against me and waived any such defense and/or failed to defend against the claims filed in the lawsuit brought by me in the court. NOW HE AND HIS ATTORNEYS ARE RELYING UPON "SPECIAL" FAVORS FROM THE JUDGES/MAGISTRATE TO AID THEM IN THE FURTHERANCE OF THE CONSPIRACY LEVELED AGAINST ME AND TO DEPRIVE ME "EQUAL" PROTECTION OF THE LAWS AND "DUE PROCESS" OF LAWS – ATTEMPTING TO HAVE THE LAWSUIT FILED AGAINST HIM UNLAWFULLY/ILLEGALLY DISMISSED!

In the taking of my microcassette (and who knows what else Constable Lewis helped himself to of my property when he returned and/or upon leaving me at the Hinds County Detention Center), Lewis failed to turn in such evidence at the Hinds County Detention Center at the time of my admission. Instead, Constable Lewis knowingly, deliberately and with forethought kept the microcassette in that I advised him that I would be bringing legal action against him and the others. Therefore, Constable Lewis intentionally, deliberately concealed, removed and/or destroyed evidence with the intent to impair and/or prohibit its use in the lawsuit he was advised would be brought against him.

I believe the record evidence will support the civil/criminal wrongs of Constable Lewis, Crews, representatives of Spring Lake Apartments, representatives of Dial Equities Inc. and others in the unlawful/illegal posting of notices and/or tampering with said notices for purposes of depriving me equal protection of the laws, due process of laws, and efforts to obtain an undue and/or unlawful advantage over me. Moreover, that the actions by said persons being done to threaten, incite fear and intimidation in me to force me to give up my residence. When I refused to do so and legally took a stand on my protected rights, said persons proceeded to have my residence and property unlawfully seized and participated in the unlawful act arising out of such practices.

I believe that the record evidence will support a pattern-of-practice by the "certain" Whites and others. Moreover, their use of government entities/resources and said entities' authority to commit civil/criminal wrongs against me. Moreover, that such pattern-of-practice, resulted in my being subjected to excessive force, discriminatory harassment, false arrest, unlawful seizure of property and residence, unlawful arrest, forced out of my residence and having to move away, etc.

Pattern and Practice

This civil statute was a provision within the Crime Control Act of 1994 and makes it unlawful for any governmental authority, or agent thereof, or any person acting on behalf of a governmental authority, to engage in a pattern or practice of conduct by law enforcement officers or by officials or employees of any governmental agency with responsibility for the administration . . . justice or the incarceration . . . that deprives persons of rights, privileges, or immunities secured or protected by the Constitution or laws of the United States.

Whenever the Attorney General has reasonable cause to believe that a violation has occurred, the Attorney General, for or in the name of the United States, may in a civil action obtain appropriate equitable and declaratory relief to eliminate the pattern or practice.

Types of misconduct covered include, among other things:

1. Excessive Force
2. Discriminatory Harassment
3. False Arrest
4. Coercive Sexual Conduct
5. Unlawful Stops, Searches, or Arrests

CUT & PASTED FROM: http://www.fbi.gov/hq/cid/civilrights/statutes.htm. See EXHIBIT "13" It is important to note, that said information is already in the record of this Court.

I believe that the record will support that government officials (Judges/Magistrates, government officials, agents, constable, etc.) acting under color of law, statute, ordinance, regulations, did willingly, knowingly, deliberately with malicious intent deprive or cause me to be deprived of rights, privileges, etc. secured or protected by the Constitution, Civil Rights Act and other statutes/laws of the United States.

Title 18, U.S.C., Section 242
Deprivation of Rights Under Color of Law

This statute makes it *a crime for any person acting under color of law, statute, ordinance, regulation, or custom to willfully deprive or cause *to be deprived f*rom any person those rights, privileges, or immunities secured or protected by the Constitution and laws of the U.S.

This law further prohibits a person acting under color of law, statute, ordinance, regulation or custom to willfully subject or cause to be subjected any person to different punishments, pains, or penalties, than those prescribed for punishment of citizens on account of such person being an alien or by reason of his/her color or race.

Acts under "color of any law" include acts not only done by federal, state, or local officials within the bounds or limits of their lawful authority, but also acts done without and beyond the bounds of their lawful authority; provided that, in order for unlawful acts of any official to be done under "color of any law," the unlawful acts must be done while such official is purporting or pretending to act in the performance of his/her official duties. This definition includes, in addition to law enforcement officials, individuals such as Mayors, Council persons, Judges, Nursing Home Proprietors, Security Guards, etc., persons who are bound by laws, statutes ordinances, or customs.

Punishment varies from a fine or imprisonment of up to one year, or both, and if bodily injury results or if such acts include the use, attempted use, or threatened use of a dangerous weapon, explosives, or fire shall be fined or imprisoned up to ten years or both, and if death results, or if such acts include kidnapping or an attempt to kidnap, aggravated sexual abuse or an attempt to commit aggravated sexual abuse, or an attempt to kill, shall be fined under this title, or imprisoned for any term of years or for life, or both, or may be sentenced to death.

I seek the intervention of the Legislature/Congress and request Investigations and Hearings to address the ongoing conspiracy and to enact and direct the enforcement of the laws which deter such unlawful/illegal actions rendered me by the "certain" Whites, their counsel, government entities (their officials/employees) and others. Conspiracy actions orchestrated and/or initiated by certain "Whites" against me for purposes of injuring, oppression, threats and intimidation to prevent me from exercising protected rights secured under the Constitution as well as other statutes/laws.

Title 18, U.S.C., Section 241
Conspiracy Against Rights

> This statute makes it *unlawful for two or more persons to conspire to injure, oppress, threaten, or intimidate any person of any state, territory or district in the free exercise or enjoyment of any right or privilege secured to him/her by the Constitution or the laws of the United States, (or because of his/her having exercised the same).
>
> It further makes it unlawful for two or more persons to go in disguise on the highway or on the premises of another with the intent to prevent or hinder his/her free exercise or enjoyment of any rights so secured.
> Punishment varies from a fine or imprisonment of up to ten years, or both; and if death results, or if such acts include kidnapping or an attempt to kidnap, aggravated sexual abuse or an attempt to commit aggravated sexual abuse, or an attempt to kill, shall be fined under this title or imprisoned for any term of years, or for life, or may be sentenced to death.

I further seek the Legislature/Congress' intervention and request Investigations, Hearings and render findings in that I believe the record will support the felonious acts that "certain" Whites and others have taken against me; in which I will seek indictments against those found guilty (if any) of such criminal/civil wrongs alleged against me.

VII. HINDS COUNTY

I believe Investigations will yield information as to the role Hinds County Officials played in the conspiracy and their knowledge of the civil/criminal acts of Hinds County employees (such as Judge Skinner, Constable Lewis and others); however, elected to do nothing because of its knowledge of my participation in protected activities. Thinking that such knowledge of my participation in protected activities, licensed them to commit civil/criminal wrongs against me and assuming that should legal action be brought against it, it would attempt to build a defense around its knowledge of my participation in other protected activities.

On or about August 11, 2006, I submitted an Official Complaint against Constable Jon C. Lewis. To date, I have heard nothing of this Complaint.

On or about August 11, 2006, I also notified Hinds County of my "Intent to File Lawsuit."
See EXHIBIT "26" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

On or about July 11, 2007 (deadline to file Answer to complaint), rather than file an Answer to my civil lawsuit filed against him, Constable Lewis filed (on July 16, 2007) an untimely "Motion to Dismiss/Motion to Quash" – which was met by a timely Motion to Strike . . . by me. Constable Lewis instead of filing a timely Answer to the complaint I filed in USDC-MS, moved in the Hinds County Justice Court (where his friend Judge Skinner worked) to bring malicious charges against me alleging "Resisting Arrest" and "Disorderly Conduct Failure to Comple (sic) With Law Enforcement." See EXHIBIT "30" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. These charges were dismissed. See EXHIBIT "31" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. The malicious charges brought against me by Constable Lewis was unlawful/illegal and merely brought as a dilatory tactic to provide a defense to the civil lawsuit I had filed against him in the USDC-MS – Case No. 3:07-cv-00099. Constable Lewis brought such malicious charges against me well over a year (approximately 16 months later – after his arrest of me). Constable Lewis was aware as early as February 14, 2006, that he would be sued. I believe a reasonable mind may conclude that based upon the evidence, one may conclude that the actions by Constable Lewis in the filing of said malicious charges against me, were done under the advisement of his counsel of the law firm of Page Kruger & Holland (my former employer who terminated my employment upon learning of my engagement in protected activities – filing of lawsuit(s))

VIII. CONSPIRACY

I believe the record evidence will support the conspiracy acts of "certain" Whites and others against me. Therefore, I seek the intervention of the Legislature/Congress to enact and/or direct said laws that prohibit such acts and render the appropriate punishment permissible by statutes/laws.

MISSISSIPPI CODE OF 1972

SEC. 97-1-1. Conspiracy.

If two (2) or more persons conspire either:

(a) To commit a crime; or

(b) Falsely and maliciously to indict another for a crime, or to procure to be complained of or arrested for a crime; or

(c) Falsely to institute or maintain an action or suit of any kind; or

(d) To cheat and defraud another out of property by any means which are in themselves criminal, or which, if executed, would amount to a cheat, or to obtain money or any other property or thing by false pretense; or

(e) To prevent another from exercising a lawful trade or calling, or doing any other lawful act, by force, threats, intimidation, or by interfering or threatening to interfere with tools, implements, or property belonging to or used by another, or with the use of employment thereof; or

(f) To commit any act injurious to the public health, to public morals, trade or commerce, or for the perversion or obstruction of justice, or of the due administration of the laws; or

(g) To overthrow or violate the laws of this state through force, violence, threats, intimidation, or otherwise; or

(h) To accomplish any unlawful purpose, or a lawful purpose by any unlawful means; such persons, and each of them, shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction may be punished by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars ($5,000.00) or by imprisonment for not more than five (5) years, or by both.

> Provided, that where the crime conspired to be committed is capital murder or murder as defined by law or is a violation of section 41-29-139 (b)(1) or section 41-29-139 (c)(2)(D), Mississippi Code of 1972, being provisions of the Uniform Controlled Substances Law, the offense shall be punishable by a fine of not more than five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000.00) or by imprisonment for not more than twenty (20) years, or by both.
> Provided, that where the crime conspired to be committed is a misdemeanor, then upon conviction said crime shall be punished as a misdemeanor as provided by law.

CUT & PASTED FROM: http://www.mscode.com/free/statutes/97/001/0001.htm. See EXHIBIT "32" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

I believe Investigations by the Legislature/Congress will yield the following in regards to legal actions I have brought in which persons conspired to: a) commit a crime, or b) falsely and maliciously accuse me of a crime and subjected me to an unlawful/illegal arrest; c) falsely and maliciously repeatedly instituted lawsuits against me – ongoing behavior in which they are now attempting to bring another malicious action against for an alleged traffic violation approximately three (3) years ago and threatening me with a "warrant for my arrest." See EXHIBIT "33" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. An action in which they failed to prosecute. Moreover, an action wherein at the time of the alleged charges the City Prosecutor, Barbara Blunston, was an attorney I worked with during a contract assignment with the Mississippi Division of Medicaid and a person upset when I turned down the job opportunity offered me – after conflict with salary offer. This is merely evidence of continued acts to destroy my life, harass me, subject me to an unlawful arrest; d) cheat and defraud me out of my residence through the use of criminal acts and being executed under false pretense to unlawfully/illegally obtain property to destroy evidence, etc. known to them to be brought in lawsuit against them; e) commit willful and deliberate acts to obstruct the administration of justice; f) to overthrow or violate the laws of the United States as well as the state in which I resided; g) willfully, deliberately and maliciously accomplish unlawful/illegal purposes against me.

> For the Legislature/Congress to obtain the facts, evidence and legal basis of the civil/criminal wrongs rendered me, attached at EXHIBIT "34" is the civil complaint I filed in Case No. 3:07-cv-00099 of the USDC-MS.

For such actions taken against me by "certain" Whites was knowingly, deliberately and maliciously done through purposes of "force or threat of force willfully injuring, intimidation or interferences" to me because I am African-American and have sought to seek justice through protected activities in the exercise of my rights against such unlawful/illegal violations rendered me. Moreover, actions taken against me by "certain" Whites to further their agenda against African-Americans and/or persons of color. See 42 U.S.C. § 3631- EXHIBIT "35" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

IX. FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION (FBI)

On or about June 26, 2006, I filed a "formal" typewritten Complaint in person with the FBI in Jackson, Mississippi. See EXHIBIT "16" attached herto and incorporated by reference. On August 5, 2006, I followed up requesting the status of the Complaint and noted certain concerns such as:

> My concerns, as conveyed in the Complaint, was whether or not the FBI would be willing to investigate the allegations of my Complaint and remain impartial in their handling thereof, due to the fact that Judge Skinner (Justice Court Judge) – whose father was killed in the line of duty during an FBI raid in 1971 on the Republic of New Afrika – the/his Constable (Jon Lewis) and others, associated with Judge Skinner, may have engaged in criminal wrongs against me which violated my civil rights and other protected rights.
> Upon my recent visit to the FBI's website, I found where the FBI handles Complaints such as mine, which I believe falls under CIVIL RIGHTS – COLOR OF LAW: (1) Excessive force, (2) False Arrest and Fabrication of Evidence, and (3) Failure to Keep from Harm.

See EXHIBIT "36" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

The Legislature/Congress' intervention is sought to Investigate the FBI's handling of the complaint I filed in that the evidence supports the claims brought by me were within the jurisdiction of the FBI; however, they failed to perform the ministerial duties owed me. Furthermore, it raises reasonable doubts as to such failure by the FBI may be in furtherance of the conspiracy leveled against me and acts taken to render Judge Skinner and others "special" favors. I believe Investigations will yield evidence that the FBI in failing to deter the legal/civil/criminal wrongs brought to its attention, deprived me of rights secured under the Constitution, Civil Rights Act, the statutes/laws upon which they were created and/or are required to uphold. Furthermore, I believe the Legislature/Congress will find that there was never an investigation or inquiry by the FBI as to the claims asserted in the complaint I filed with it, in that said agency compromised its integrity for purposes of rendering of "special" favors for Judge Skinner and others as well as actions deliberately done to force me to file legal actions against Judge Skinner and others in that they would conspire to make infringe upon depriving me of civil rights, constitutional rights, and other statutes/laws in which I am entitled.

The record evidence will support that a timely Complaint was filed with the FBI notifying of the civil/criminal wrongs rendered me; however, the FBI elected to do nothing and to date has done nothing although they are aware of the conspiracy against me – raising very valid concerns that the FBI is playing such a role in the conspiracy leveled against me.

My concerns regarding the FBI's handling of this matter is the fact that, such failure may be due to its relationships and ties to Judge William Skinner as well as the Judges, attorneys and other friends of the FBI officials. It is important to note that Judge Skinner's father has a police academy in Jackson, Mississippi named after him – William L. Skinner Training Academy. Given the facts one may conclude the FBI's failure to prosecute may be a direct and proximate result of the role it played in Judge Skinner's father's death (then blaming it on the RNA) during the 1971 raid on the New Republic of Africa. Moreover, has for all these years covered up such facts for the purposes of destroying African-American lives and subjecting them to prison.

Judge Skinner's background does not only link him to an association and or alliance with the FBI through is father's death, but his SWAT Training FBI, Crisis Management FBI, FBI Defensive Tactics Instructor Certification, Semi-Automatic Weapon FBI/JPTA and Pistol Transition of Instructors FBI. See EXHIBIT "37" attached hereto. While he asserts Obadele to be a terrorist, articles and pictures supports his obsession with guns – moreover a medical discharge from the police department – raising serious concerns as to his medical state (what drugs – if any- he is taking) and whether he is even fit to preside as a Judge in that such a position requires decisions that affects the lives of citizens and/or the public at large. When was the last time he was required to submit to a "drug" test?

X. BARIA FYKE HAWKINS & STRACENER (BFH&S)

This is a law firm I began working for in late 2002. It is a law firm I was employed with while I was involved in a lawsuit against Entergy (USDC-Eastern District of LA, New Orleans; Case No. 2:99-cv-03109) See EXHIBIT "38" – Docket Sheet attached hereto and incorporated by reference. As a matter of law, this case is still pending (while the Docket may show it as closed) because no final judgment (although I have repeatedly requested entry of "final" judgment) has ever been entered in this case. Clearly, further evidence of the courts' blatant disregard for my rights and refusal to enter the required judgments in compliance with the statutes/laws in which they are governed. Therefore, this is a matter that I also bring before the Legislature/Congress during its handling of this instant Complaint submitted it. Through this instant Complaint, I am also requesting that the Legislature/Congress through its Investigations determine whether Entergy, its counsel and/or others have been participating the in the conspiracy leveled against me.

Shortly after one of the partners' (David Baria) BFH&S trip to New Orleans, my employment with BFH& S was terminated. The following e-mail evidences my employment:

06/27/03 E-Mail:

VN: David, In that I am presently working and due to the circumstances involving my employment with BFH&S, I would like to have a friend of mine pick up my paycheck on Monday. Also, would like to know whether or not I will be getting my vacation pay as well. If so, please have these checks ready for my friend when she comes by. If there is a problem with this request, kindly advise.

See EXHIBIT "39" June 27, 2003 E-mail between myself and Baria; attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

While employed at BFH&S, I worked with David Baria (Former President of the Mississippi Trial Lawyers Association). Prior to a trip to New Orleans, Louisiana for a conference, I realized that Mr. Baria's behavior and/or attitude towards me had changed. After his return from New Orleans it was more noticeable and his demeanor very agitated, hostile, etc. I felt that prior to and during his trip to New Orleans that he probably had met with attorneys representing Entergy in a lawsuit I had filed. Baria abruptly terminated my employment with BFH&S telling me that I did not seem to be happy there, so he was letting me go to do something else. Such a statement which I knew was false and never did I advise him I was not happy there. I gathered that my termination from BFH&S was a mutual agreement (in the conspiracy that had been hatched against me to ruin my life and blacklist me) in that after the malicious deeds of Baria, he and the other owners left to go to lunch. My termination was prior to lunch. After notifying me of my termination, he left with them for lunch. I must note, that while there, I was commended for the good job I was doing. In fact, the employment agency, which assigned me there, advised me of the positive feedback they had received in regards to my job performance and how the firm wanted to extend to me a job. A job in which I accepted. While I believed that my abrupt termination with BFH&S was due to the fact that I was suing Entergy and was done as a favor for Entergy's attorneys, I had no proof so I merely moved on. However, I believe that based upon the evidence presented herein as well as that obtained through Investigations by the Legislature/Congress, it will yield additional evidence to sustain the allegations asserted by me.

A. BRUNINI GRANTHAM GROWER & HEWES:

After leaving BFH&S an employment agency assigned me to the law firm of Brunini Grantham Grower & Hewes (BGG&H). The people there seemed so nice. Only being there for a few days, the person I was assigned to work with Charles L. McBride ("Chuck") was pleased with my work. I was approached by the Human Resource person and asked if I was interested in the job and that BGG&H was interested in hiring me. I advised that I was interested and accepted. I then had a conversation with Chuck which during that conversation he had mentioned to me the need to run everything (correspondence, etc.) by him before going out because he was aware of a situation where a secretary had inadvertently mailed out legal documents to the opposing side in error. Had he been the attorney on the other side, he would not have opened the document and would have destroyed realizing that it was information that he should not have received. I advised Chuck I understood. I had first-hand of the situation Chuck was referring to from the additional information he provided. Upon leaving his office and thinking on our conversation, I returned to advise Chuck that I had first-hand knowledge of the situation he brought to my attention because I was the secretary for the other law firm (which was BFH&S) who had received this information and left it at that. Chuck advised me that he would have to check into this; however, it should be okay. However, it was to the contrary. Apparently, upon checking with BFH&S – David Baria – Baria was upset and objected to their hiring me. As a direct and proximate result of Baria's behavior and his threats to bring legal action against BGG&H if they hired me, it resulted in BGG&H's offer of employment being rescinded. When I discussed this matter with an attorney I had worked with at another firm, I was advised that BGG&H could have taken actions in that lawyers are known to do this all the time. That if there were concerns, all they needed to do was have me sign an agreement to confidentiality - not only that, Chuck and the case or files in relation to the case in question were not even in the department of BGG&H that I would be working for. Nevertheless, this is what happened.

It is important to note that while BGG&H also contacted a former employer of mine (Owens Law Firm – African-American owned) to see if there would be a problem with my working for them. Owens Law Firm had no problem with my working with BGG&H. However, you can see how BFH&S (White owned law firm) began to create problems for me.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE: That there should be documentation in the records of BFH&S and BGG&H in that upon obtaining a receipt of Baria's correspondence relating to this matter and my assurance to Baria that I would abide by any confidentiality required. However, this was not acceptable. Apparently, Baria did not think that as his secretary I knew anything, so in his response to my correspondence he gave the go ahead in advising that I was under no such obligations of confidentiality. Therefore, I responded in kind (via correspondence) where I sung like a mockingbird and advised both Baria's firm and BGG&H what I knew and addressed the concerns of unethical practices of Baria's wife, Marcie Fyke, in that she was engaging in acts she knew were prohibited by Court Order. I was performing tasks for her not knowing that the Court had issued certain orders prohibiting certain acts. Fyke was providing information to the media, etc. when she knew that what she was doing was unethical, etc. As I mentioned BFH&S and BGG&H have the documentation surrounding this matter. I'm thinking that from her acts and the information provided to BGG&H, something happened, because for a period of time Fyke was not practicing law. (See EXHIBIT "40" attached hereto and incorporated by reference – thus an Investigation and Hearings as to the reasons for her inactivity is pertinent in this matter. Moreover, the reasons why she appears to be in sole practice now). I was thinking that BGG&H sought actions against Fyke for such unethical practices and violations. This probably being why BFH&S (Baria Fyke Hawkins & Stracener) dropped her name from the firm and it later became "Baria Hawkins & Stracener." See EXHIBIT "41" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. Since then, it appears Baria has left and the other two attorneys (Hawkins and Stracener) have picked up another partner to join the firm and the new name is "Hawkins Stracener & Gibson, PLLC." (See EXHIBIT "42" attached hereto) – Now dropping both Baria and Fyke (David Baria's wife) from the name of the firm. Perhaps wanting to be sure they get rid of any possible future liability to them.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE: Prior to forming the law firm of BFH&S, Stracener (Eric) worked with a law firm by the name of Page Kruger & Holland (my former employer – employment which ended in May 2006). Baria and Stracener knew I was working at Page Kruger & Holland.

B. MARY ("MARCIE") MARVEL FYKE:

This being David Baria's wife and she worked at the law firm Baria Fyke Hawkins & Stracener. At the time of my discharge from Page Kruger & Holland, the Mississippi Bar had Marcie listed as "Inactive." While I am not sure for such status, my checking every now and then after the information I provided revealed that she had been Inactive for quite some time. However, upon my mentioning this and the conspiracy hatched against me in the federal lawsuit filed in USDC-MS (Case No. 3:07-cv-00099), Marcie resurfaced and apparently has active status since the filing of my lawsuit filed in February 2007. However, it appears she is solo. See EXHIBIT "43" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

XI. PAGE KRUGER & HOLLAND ("PKH")

Is the law firm I was employed with at the time of my arrest on February 14, 2006. Prior to my termination of employment, the PKH did not advise me of any employment violations and neither was I on probation for any employment issues. In fact, during my employment, I was commended on my work ethics and sustain the Letter of References provided in EXHIBIT "4" of this instant action:

> TP: "You looked very smart & professional as you walked toward the building!"
>
> VN: "Why thank you. I strive to dress and carry myself in the manner in which PKH requires. ☺"
>
> TP: "You do it well."

See EXHIBIT "44" attached hereto and incorporated by reference

> Vogel, First and foremost, you are doing an excellent job. These are just a few things that I thought of that might save us both some time and help things flow smoother. . . - - SUSAN O. CARR

See EXHIBIT "45" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. It is important to note that since leaving PKH and from information obtained from research, Carr has since left PKH as well and is presently Law Clerk for one of the Mississippi Courts. See EXHIBIT "46" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

Attached at EXHIBIT "47" is PKH Phone Directory/Roster; attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE in looking at the PKH Phone Directory, during my employment with PKH and from my understanding, there was a Legal Assistant, John Noblin, who was an attorney; however, did not want to practice law. Therefore, as a filler (until something better came along) he worked at PKH. John later left PKH to accept another job opportunity (non-legal). John is the son of the Clerk of the Court - USDC – Southern District MS (Jackson Division) – J. T. Noblin. See EXHIBIT "48" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that since my employment with PKH was terminated it appears that at least two of the attorneys are now working "WITHIN" the courts (judicial system) in Mississippi. Carr being a Clerk now and another attorney by the name of A.B. (Trey) Smith III is a judge in a Mississippi court. (See EXHIBIT "49" attached hereto and incorporated by reference).

> EMPHASIS ADDED: Because the evidence presented herein reveals the "special" relationships my former employers have with the courts.

The reasons provided me at the time of my termination are set out in my e-mail of May 15, 2006. Although I requested whether or not I would be given written reasons (pink slip) for my termination, PKH denied providing me with the grounds upon which they were basing their termination of my employment. Therefore, as a follow-up and to memorialize the reasons provided for my termination, I submitted their reasons for my termination in an e-mail:

> E-MAIL of 05/16/06 from Vogel Newsome to Louis J. Baine III (shareholder), Thomas Y. Page, Jr. (shareholder), Linda Thomas (Office Administrator) – providing the reasons given for my termination. Page Kruger & Holland's advising being contacted and having knowledge of lawsuit filed by me.

See EXHIBIT "50" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

> E-MAIL of 03/30/06 regarding CONFLICT CHECK to Lawson Hester (shareholder) and providing Linda Thomas (Office Administrator) a copy on 06/31/06:
> VN: Lawson: I recently had a matter occur with a Constable of Hinds County, where I am presently considering. Would this present a conflict? Thanks.

NOTE: My concerns went unaddressed. See EXHIBIT "51" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. The record evidence further supporting that PKH was timely notified of my concerns of conflict in their representing Hinds County, as well as my advising of considering filing a lawsuit against Constable Lewis. It is important to note that this conflict was also brought to my attention by another attorney, Raymond Fraser (African-American attorney with whom I worked and in whom I advised of what I was dealing with – aware of my arrest.) In fact, Fraser advised me that he had tried to call me back on the day I was arrested in follow up to our telephone conversation because I had called him during the time Constable Lewis, Crews and others were in my residence to advise him of what was going on. During said conversation Fraser confirmed that the actions being rendered by unlawful and his surprise in the way things were taking place since he had knowledge of the legal pleadings that were before the court which prohibited such practices.

It is important to note that Fraser also advised that I should talk to Jamie Travis (an African-American attorney at PKH – who during the time of my employment was an Associate; however, since my termination and the filing of lawsuit, it appears PKH has made him a shareholder –perhaps a move to buy his silence in that from my understanding during my employment Travis had been seeking shareholder status for a while and felt that he was entitled to it; however, PKH was not budging) in that Travis went to school with Judge Skinner and may be able to assist in getting the matter resolved. How would the average citizen with no connection to law firms, or the legal industry be aware of such a relationship? Based upon the information provided by Fraser, I have found the following: a) Travis completed laws school (Mississippi College of Law in 1999) and was admitted to practice 09/28/1999; and b) Judge Skinner completed law school (Mississippi College of Law in December 1998, and was admitted to practice 4/27/99). See Travis' Bio at EXHIBIT "52" and incorporated herein by reference, and Skinners Resume at EXHIBIT "20." However, I did not discuss this matter with Travis in that I knew that the actions rendered me were unlawful/illegal and the very acts of engaging Travis to seek what I took as "special" favors due to his relationship with Judge Skinner to me was unethical and clearly went to the very concerns that I realized that African-Americans have believed for years - the judicial system is tainted and the "shady/corrupt" dealings that take place behind the scenes. I definitely did not want to be a part of such corrupt practices that I as well, as other African-Americans, knew was present and the reason why the laws are so adverse towards them when faced with judicial and/or justice issues. Leaving me wondering whether or not Travis used my incident and/or PKH knew from my incident that making Travis a partner/shareholder was simply a "buy-out" tactic (for his silence) – giving him an interest in the firm in efforts of warring of any liability it knew it would be facing and any other possible conflicts of interest – due to Travis' (and perhaps others) relationship with Judge Skinner. I wanted justice to be based upon the statutes/laws and not upon such improprieties.

A. CCH EEOC DECISIONS:

> Charging Party was hired by Respondent on June 4, 1968, as a bookkeeper. On November 21, 1969, Charging Party was discharged. Charging Party asserts that he had never been reprimanded in connection with his work, and that his supervisor was antagonistic because he is a Spanish surnamed American and because he filed a charge of discrimination against another employer.

Respondent denies the charge and contends that Charging Party was discharged because he was belligerent, uncooperative and unable to perform work assigned.

One of three of Respondent's officials who participated in the decision to discharge Charging Party stated in an affidavit that he had contacted an employer against whom Charging Party had made a previous Commission charge. He states that the employer recommended *that "we take action now for our own protection."* He also stated that "the material in (Charging Party's personnel file) gave indication the (Charging Party) was not rational (sic). The file reflected that he had filed a Civil Rights charge with EEOC. I was sure the same thing would eventually happen me." The record also reveals that Charging Party received salary increases of $50 and $75 per month in 1968, before Respondent became aware of Charging Party's earlier charge. There is no evidence on the record indicating that Respondent would have discharged Charging Party had it not been aware of Charging Party's earlier charge. Such an action based, at least in part, upon Charging Party's participation in Commission proceedings violates Section 704(a) of Title VII.

Decision: There is reasonable cause to believe that Respondent engaged in an unlawful employment practice in violation of Section 704(a) of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 by discharging Charging Party.

See EXHIBIT "53" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

B. 7 POF 2D RETALIATORY JOB TERMINATION § 4:

Among employee activities that are protected against retaliatory discharge is the filing of formal unlawful employment practices charges with the EEOC or a state employment practices commission. The filing of charges is protected even if the charge contains collateral statements which are false and apparently malicious, and this includes charges filed against a previous employer. Also protected is an employee's participation in an EEOC investigation or proceeding, or his refusal to participate in proceedings commenced by another . . .

See EXHIBIT "54" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

I believe Investigations will yield the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission's ("EEOC") officials roles in the conspiracy leveled against me and its failure to enforce the statutes/laws wherein it created and governed. Moreover, how the EEOC's officials/employees used its unlawful/illegal practices to create a pattern-of-practice against me and create its own profile of me so that when I would bring complaints to its attention, they merely ignored the employment violations under Title VII as well as other Civil Rights statutes/laws upon which they were created and/or governed. Investigations into the EEOC' handling of the complaints I filed with it will also yield how I provided typewritten complaints containing facts, evidence and legal conclusions to sustain my complaint; however, they clearly elected to take a far departure from the statutes/laws to deprive me equal protection of the laws and due process of laws.

XII. ENTERGY

This is a company I was assigned to a contract position through an employment agency wherein I was subjected to discriminatory practices by the manger and a recently hired employee. IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that after my filing with the EEOC both of these employees employment with Entergy ended. While I do not know the reasons, I believe a reasonable mind may conclude that based upon the facts, evidence and statutes/laws in place, violations under Title VII were found. However, do Legislature/Congress think the EEOC or Entergy made this information public. No. They kept it to themselves and whether than prosecute and hold Entergy liable for said violations, it simply provided me with a Right to Sue Letter. Depriving me rights secured under the Constitution, Title VII, Civil Rights Act and other statutes/laws governing said matters.

The laws are clear that decisions/rulings/judgments entered that lack evidence, legal conclusions to sustain them are deemed to be arbitrary and/or capricious. Moreover, rendered in bad faith and to deprive one equal protection of the laws and due process of laws; furthermore, obstruct the administration of justice.

I AM REQUESTING the Legislature/Congress obtain the records of the EEOC, initiate an investigation into its handling of the Charge submitted by me, hold hearings and render its Findings and/or decisions based upon said investigation. If said violations as to my Constitutional Rights, Civil Rights, etc. are found, that the applicable actions be taken to deter such unlawful/illegal and unethical practices – restoring the integrity and the public confidence in said entity.

I AM REQUESTING the Legislature/Congress based on the information presented herein, initiate investigations, hold Hearings and render its Findings and/or decisions in regards to the USDC's handling of the lawsuit filed by me. If said violations as to my Constitutional Rights, Civil Rights, etc. are found, that the applicable actions be taken to deter such unlawful/illegal and unethical practices – restoring the integrity and the public confidence in said entity.

XIII. MITCHELL McNUTT & SAMS ("MMS")

Former employer of mine who subjected me to very very. . . hostile, sexual and discriminatory treatment. Also encouraged and/or condoned its employees providing of false information during government investigation for purposes of depriving me rights secured under the Constitution, Civil Rights Act, and other statutes/laws for the purpose of obstructing the administration of justice, depriving me equal protection of the laws, due process of laws, etc.

CUT & PASTED FROM: http://miami.fbi.gov/statutes/title_18/section1001.htm

Title 18, U.S.C., Section 1001 - False Statements or Entries Generally

> This statute makes it a crime for falsifying, concealing, or covering up material facts surrounding a civil rights investigation, or making false statements, representations, or writings.
>
> This law prohibits a person acting under color of law, statute, ordinance, regulation or custom to make false statements or misrepresentations surrounding their individual or collective actions, during a civil rights investigation. It has been successfully applied to civil rights investigations involving the loss of life, where the subjects of the investigation lied to protect their careers and those of other co-conspirators.
> Punishment varies from a fine or imprisonment of up to five years or both.

MMS conducting and/or operating a business in which it knew it was violating the Fair Labor Standards Act ("FLSA"), Title VII, Occupational Safety & Health Administration ("OSHA"). I brought such unlawful practices to MMS' attention and as a direct and proximate result, the MMS allowed its employees to subject me to retaliatory practices, constant hostile, sexual and discriminatory practices. MMS was aware of their employees' unlawful/illegal actions towards me; however, did nothing to deter such behavior. Instead, MMS moved to terminate and/or fire me. IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE: I was able to obtain such admission of hostile, sexual harassment and discrimination from MMS' employees during cross examination during the Mississippi Department of Employment Security handling of my request for Unemployment Benefits. Such examination will further support MMS' willingness to produce employees who are willing to falsify and/or perjure themselves to protect their jobs and to see that I am deprived unemployment benefits. (See EXHIBIT "59" – Excerpt of Transcript attached hereto and incorporated by reference.)

A. MISSISSIPPI DEPARTMENT OF EMPLOYMENT SECURITY ("MDES")

Decision Code No. 2400
Reporting Point No. 0480
Case No. 00002-R-05-01 and 00241-R-05-01
Circuit Court Case No. 251-2005-163CIV

The record evidence will support a pattern-of-practice and how and how Defendants have a total disrespect for the laws and place themselves above the laws, relying upon the special favors of government employees and/or Courts. Moreover, their links ties to key organizations. How they stopped at nothing to deprive me the relief I sought through the action with the MDES. How MMS' employees were willing to come before the MDES and produce information they knew to be false and/or misleading. They came with what they thought was a well laid out plan, that before they knew it, they were providing testimony to support my claims of retaliation, discrimination, hostile treatment, etc.

> DeCarlo v. Bonus Stores, Inc., 413 F.Supp.2d 770 (S.D.Miss.,2006.) - In his complaint, McArn charged that Terminix maliciously defamed him before the Mississippi Employment Security Commission by stating he was fired for a "bad attitude." At trial, McArn testified that Terminix's > contention that he was insubordinate was false. That is the extent of McArn's evidence of defamation.
> (n. 10) Under Mississippi law, public policy exception to employment at will doctrine permits employee to bring action in tort for damages against his employer if he is terminated for: (1) refusing to participate in illegal act, or (2) reporting illegal acts of his employer to employer or anyone else.
> McArn v. Allied Bruce-Terminix Co., Inc., 626 So.2d 603 (Miss.,1993) - [3] McArn argues that the Mississippi Employment Security Commission was falsely told that he was terminated for a bad attitude and not told the true reason for his firing. McArn argues that Miss.Code Ann. § 71-5-131 (1972) permits a claim for defamation whenever the employer makes statements to the Commission which are "false in fact and maliciously ... made for the purpose of causing a denial of benefits."
> There is no question but that Miss.Code Ann. § 71-5-131 provides that communications between an employer and the Commission are privileged and "when qualified privilege is established, statements or written communications are not actionable as slanderous or libelous absent bad faith or malice if the communications are limited to those persons who have a legitimate and direct interest in the subject matter." Benson v. Hall, 339 So.2d 570, 573 (Miss.1976).

> In his complaint, McArn charged that Terminix maliciously defamed him before the Mississippi Employment Security Commission by stating he was fired for a "bad attitude." At trial, McArn testified that Terminix's contention that he was insubordinate was false. That is the extent of McArn's evidence of defamation.

See EXHIBIT "59" Testimony taken under cross-examination and former employer admitting to discriminatory practices and harassment of me. Information was easily obtainable had the government agency(s) to which I filed complaints, would have found if they really wanted to determine the truth and/or merits of my claims; however, failed to uphold the laws as a direct and proximate result of depriving me equal protection of the laws and due process of laws. The record evidence supports that MMS falsely accused me of insubordination and deliberately created situations through their retaliatory practices which required my objections. Moreover, that MMS and employees were aware of my reporting of such unlawful/illegal practices by them.

I REQUEST the Legislature/Congress initiate an Investigation, obtain the record in the MDES action, hold Hearings to determine whether there were violations of my Constitutional/Civil Rights. Moreover, MMS' as well as the MDES role (if any) played in the conspiracy alleged. I believe that an investigation may also yield that as MMS did with the Wage & Hour Division, they provided MDES with information clearly outside the proceedings addressing my engagement in protected activities; or, the MDES took it upon itself to deprive me of rights guaranteed/secured under the Constitution, Civil Rights Act and/or governing statutes because of its knowledge of my engagement in protected activities.

Case No. 4-1220-04-027 or 4-1220-05-04

I REQUEST the Legislature/Congress initiate an Investigation, obtain the record in the OSHA action, hold Hearings to determine whether there were violations of my Constitutional/Civil Rights. Moreover, MMS' as well as the OSHA's role (if any) played in the conspiracy alleged. I believe that an investigation may also yield that as MMS did with the Wage & Hour Division, they provided OSHA with information clearly outside the proceedings addressing my engagement in protected activities; or, the OSHA took it upon itself to deprive me of rights guaranteed/secured under the Constitution, Civil Rights Act and/or governing statutes because of its knowledge of my engagement in protected activities.

C. EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY COMMISSION ("EEOC"):

I REQUEST the Legislature/Congress initiate an Investigation, obtain the record in the EEOC action, hold Hearings to determine whether there were violations of my Constitutional/Civil Rights. Moreover, MMS' as well as the EEOC's role (if any) played in the conspiracy alleged. I believe that an investigation may also yield that as MMS did with the Wage & Hour Division, they provided EEOC with information clearly outside the proceedings addressing my engagement in protected activities; or, the EEOC took it upon itself to deprive me of rights guaranteed/secured under the Constitution, Civil Rights Act and/or governing statutes because of its knowledge of my engagement in protected activities.

Furthermore, I am requesting that the Legislature/Congress Investigate the handling of ALL charges I have filed with the EEOC and determine whether the ruling of each charge was influenced by any other charges that I may have filed. Moreover, whether or not the EEOC's officials/employees engaged in any conspiracy alleged by me and/or entered arbitrary rulings for purposes of aiding the employer. I believe a reasonable mind may conclude that based upon all of the Charges I filed with the EEOC, there was sufficient information to warrant an investigation and to see that employers were sanctioned and/or required to comply with the laws. However, this did not happen and the EEOC merely engaged in a "pattern-building" manner and unlawfully/illegally dismissed valid charges for failure of not wanting to perform their duties. I am requesting that if said violations are found by the EEOC and its officials/employees that the proper punishment be rendered to deter such actions in the future. Moreover, the EEOC has repeated evidenced its lack of ability to abide by the statutes/laws upon which it was created. Therefore, I would request that the Legislature/Congress determine whether or not the EEOC needs to continue to operate and/or exist. Apparently from my charges brought, they are not enforced the statutes/laws upon it was created. Therefore, not having any purposes for existing and needs to be dismantled and/or overhauled with employees that are willing uphold the statutes/laws.

D. WAGE & HOUR DIVISION ("WHD"):

The record evidence will support that the Department of Justice/Office of Solicitor General, U.S. Department of Labor/ESA – Wage and Hour Division, and Administrative Review Board were timely properly and adequately placed on notice of MMS violation of the FLSA. To no avail. Said agency(s) records will support sufficient facts, evidence and legal conclusions presented to sustain the complaint and/or concerns I brought to its attention. While these agency(s) were aware of MMS' violation of the laws governing the FLSA and/or Wage and Hour Laws, they did nothing to deter such acts or to see that the wrongs complained of were corrected and that the injustices rendered against me as a direct and proximate result of my reporting said violations were corrected. Instead said agency, its agents and others engaged in conspiracy.

U.S. Department of Labor – FLSA NARRATIVE REPORT:

> Evidence: Interviews of Supervisor Robert Gordon, Attorney Mike Farrell, and Secretary Ladye Margaret Townsend[8] revealed that Ms. Newsome had been rebellious and insubordinate in job duties assigned her from the start of her employment.

pursue a lawsuit. . . After this incident Ms Newsome began working on whether she was paid properly . . . Newsome disagreed with Attorney Farrell and told Cochanuer and Townsend she was going to contact Wage Hour. [redacted] didn't know if Newsome did or not because nothing came of it. [redacted] further confirmed other events of insubordination. (Exhibit [redacted]).

(Note) During the course of this investigation, District Director ("DD") Billy Jones retired from the department. Regional Administrator McKeon assigned Assistant District Director ("ADD") Oliver Peebles as Acting DD fro the Gulf Coast District. DD Peebles has been advised through all actions of this case, and all of his instructions have been followed.

See EXHIBIT "60" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. I believe the redacted information is pertinent, that I may not have been provided with the entire file. During my employment with MMS, I noticed how Billy Jones would call quite often requesting to speak to Michael Farrell (one of the attorneys). I found it interesting because during one of the meetings with Farrell, he made it known how he was familiar with the Wage & Hour Division; moreover, how he had the employees personal direct lines and provided such information. I believe an Investigation by the Legislature/Congress may yield evidence of the government agency(s) and/or its agents cover-up in aiding her former employers in covering up civil/criminal wrongs rendered against me. Moreover, how they secretly handled issues evidencing the wrongs complained of by me; however, failed to assure that the employers were required to come into compliance with the laws. For instance, while they wanted me to believe I did not understand the FLSA and that my employer was not in violation, such is not the case. Prior to bring ingsuch action, I spoke with an attorney I had worked with at another firm and said attorney confirmed my understanding of the statute/laws was correct. In fact, said attorney had also advised that they had recently represented a client who was paying its employees in the same way as MMS and violations were found and the matter was resolved. Moreover, such confirmation has been solidified with my present employer – that my understanding of the FLSA was correct.

IT IS IMPORANT TO ALSO NOTE that shortly after being employed with PKH, one of the attorneys brought it to my attention that PKH was recently found to be in violation and sanctioned. This is pertinent information, because an investigation will yield that although PKH was sanctioned, it was still operating in violation of the laws during my employment. Thus, going to additional motive behind my unlawful/illegal termination. Not only that, it goes to the fact that there are many employers that are operating in violation of the FLSA and/or Wage & Hour laws and the WHD is aware of such and discriminatively apply the laws to employers – sanctioning some and allowing some to continue to practice in ways contrary to the statutes/laws governing payment of employees wages. THIS IS IMPORTANT in that the public at large is affected and employers are relying upon unlawful/illegal methods to keep from having to pay their employees their full wages.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that to have found MMS in violation, MMS would have been required to compensate all of its employees (hourly/salaried/non-exempt) back wages owed for all of the time in which they had been practicing in such a manner. For the WHD to have acknowledged the violations would have been very costly in that MMS, PKH and others who have been conducting business in violation of the FLSA and/or Wage & Hour laws for quite some time. Moreover, an investigation by the Legislature/Congress would yield the name of government employees that knew of such violations and did nothing – allowing MMS, PKH and others to continue in a manner they knew were in violation of the FLSA and/or Wage & Hour laws.

CUT & PASTED FROM: http://www.mscode.com/free/statutes/97/009/0061.htm. See EXHIBIT "61" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

It appears from the information obtained MMS employees were willing for falsify and/or provide false statements for the purposes of obstructing the administration of justice and to see that I was deprived the relief sought. See Title 18, U.S.C., Section 1001 - False Statements . . . above.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE: That prior to filing my claim with the Jackson Wage & Hour Division, I had spoken with an attorney at another law firm where I worked and this attorney advised me that my understanding of the law was correct and that their firm had just settled a matter for one of their clients because the client was paying in such a manner as MMS. Moreover, also important to note, my present employer have lawyers who have experience and understanding of the laws governing said matters and my working there has confirmed my understanding of the FLSA and/or Wage & Hour statutes/laws. Further, confirmed my understanding the method of payment that MMS was using prior to and during my employment was in violation of the FLSA and/or Wage & Hour laws.

E. PUBLIC INTEREST:

I believe this matter is of public concern in that it affects the financial welfare and/or being of other citizens. I believe an Investigation by the Legislature/Congress will yield findings that employers who use such unlawful/illegal practices to deprive employees has knowingly done so with the willful and malicious intent to withhold wages/earnings from its employees. Furthermore, the Wage & Hour Division's assistance and condoning such unlawful/illegal practices; because to find in favor of the evidence (such as that presented by me), will require that MMS compensate its employees as well as myself for the unpaid wages earned that they failed to pay. Thus, being a huge financial hit on MMS. However, had they complied with the statutes/laws, they would not now be required to compensate employees for the monies/wages illegally/unlawfully withheld.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE: That there is a Mississippi Appeals Court Judge who was employed by MMS prior to taking judgeship role. This judge's name is Donna Barnes. See EXHIBIT "62" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. I also attach a copy of the MMS Phone Directory for its employees during my employment. See EXHIBIT "63" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE: That it appears MMS has closed its Jackson, Mississippi Office in which I was working AFTER the MDES matter and their receipt of the Transcript provided from the MDES hearing. However, while the MDES was in the position to deter and punish MMS and its employees for the unlawful/illegal actions committed against me, said government agency failed to do so for the purposes of aiding MMS and its employees. So attorneys Mike Farrell and Robert Gordon along with co-worker Ladye Margaret Townsend would have to look elsewhere. MMS closing of the downtown Jackson, Mississippi location when they had moved into the facility about May 2004, and had had plans of expanding.

F. BOARD OF REVIEW – U.S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR:

I request the Legislature/Congress intervention and that the necessary Investigations, Hearings and Findings be rendered in that I believe the record evidence will also yield how I did not leave this matter in the hands of the Jackson Office to resolve – out of concerns of conspiracy acts and relationships with Billy Jones and/or other government agents/employees with MMS and others; Moreover, said relationships would preclude government agencies and/or their employees from remaining fair, just and impartial in the handling of this matter. Nevertheless, I believe the Legislature/Congress will find that although I took extra steps to see that justice prevailed, even taking the matter to Washington, D.C. for handling, also proved to be futile. Providing several officers with pertinent evidence to sustain my defense and to expose the unlawful/illegal practices of MMS. See EXHIBIT "63" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. Moreover, that Billy Jones (District Director of the Wage & Hour Division) was timely notified of my concerns and the Wage & Hour Division's failure to enforce the laws. WHD being given the opportunity to correct its error. To no avail. WHD was determined to render MMS special favors based upon the established relationships it had with MMS and its employees. See EXHIBIT "64" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that I went as far as also notifying the Secretary of Labor, Elaine L. Chao. Still the Department of Labor did nothing to see that MMS compensate me (and/or its salaried/non-exempt employees) for unpaid wages earned. I believe an investigation will yield how the Department of Labor shielded such unlawful/illegal acts from me as well as the public in an effort to protect and/or render MMS Special favors. See EXHIBIT "65" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. Said Exhibit is merely provided to evidence that documentation is in the record of the Department of Labor as well as with the office of the Secretary of Labor. This being one of many documentation to said office to notify them of the unlawful/illegal actions of MMS. Merely, getting Billy Jones to leave without exposing the unlawful/illegal actions of MMS was merely a bandage and did nothing to deter and/or end such unlawful/illegal actions by MMS. Moreover, was done to make it appear that I had no valid charge where in fact I was correct in the reporting of the unlawful/illegal actions of MMS.

XIV. AGENCY ACTIONS

I am requesting the Legislature/Congress' intervention and Investigations, Hearings be held and their Findings submitted in regards to the government entities (EEOC, Wage & Hour Division, OSHA, United States Federal and State Courts, etc.) handling of matters presented by me and/or on my behalf. Moreover, whether I have been deprived of Constitutional Rights, Civil Rights and /or any other rights secured/guaranteed under the statutes/laws under which they are governed to determine whether additional laws need to be created to correct such injustices, for the enforcement of such laws and any and all other recourse the Legislature/Congress is available to the public to address such legal wrongs complained of herein.

I believe that the record evidence of this Court will support that I have been repeatedly subjected to discriminatory handling/treatment of complaints filed by me and/or on my behalf. Moreover, that government entity has allowed continued practices such as those displayed by my former employers and others as exhibited and/or evidenced in this instant Complaint with the Legislature/Congress. Moreover, how confident "certain" Whites are and their total disrespect for the laws and the rights of African-Americans and/or people of color. So confident, that as in USDC-MS actions as well as other government-entity actions, said persons are so comfortable in coming before the fact-finders and are willing to commit perjury and/or provide false information that they know is clearly prohibited by laws. Therefore, I seek the intervention of the Legislature/Congress to address such Constitutional violations and direct the enforcement of laws to punish such acts.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that in the complaints that I have submitted to the government entities mentioned in this instant Complaint, said complaints with those entities were supported by evidence and/or provided sufficient information as to where the evidence could be found; as well as provided sufficient information to provide government agencies with facts to guide them in the right direction where to obtain additional information had they in good faith wanted to uphold the statutes/laws under which they were governed. For example, with MMS an investigation by the Legislature/Congress will yield that I filed a timely typewritten Charge of Discrimination Complaint against MMS with the EEOC; however, the EEOC refused to perform the ministerial duties owed me in its efforts to aid MMS and in furtherance of the conspiracy I have alleged. See EXHIBIT "66" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. Moreover, a timely Retaliation Complaint against MMS was also filed with the EEOC. Again, to no avail, because of efforts of this agencies determination to aid MMS and its employees in depriving rights secured under the Constitution, Civil Rights Act, Title VII, and/or the applicable governing statutes/laws. See EXHIBIT "67" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

XV. MISSISSIPPI COMMISSION OF JUDICIAL PERFORMANCE ("MCJP")

I believe that the Legislature/Congress' intervention is also necessary to initiate Investigations, Hearings and render their Findings as to the actions of government officers, as well as attorneys actions and/or conduct that have engaged in the unlawful/illegal and unethical practices rendered me. I believe the record evidence will support that due to the "special" relationships that my former employers have established with government entity officials, to continue to file complaints with the required Associations to exposes the unethical practices of government officials, would prove to be futile. Therefore, the Legislature/Congress is hereby being requested to handled said matters.

For example, the record evidence will support that I filed a timely typewritten Complaint regarding Judge Skinner with the MCJP; however, they elected not to correct the wrongs timely, properly and adequately presented to it. Judge Skinner wherein the record provided herein establishes his strong ties to government operations and the ability to influence decisions based upon well-established relationships. The MCJP allowing a judge they knew and/or should have known based on the information provided and information that would have surfaced during an investigation to continue to obtain the bench rather than have him removed and/or the applicable actions taken deter such conduct in the future. Judge Skinner from my understanding who attempted to seek a position with the highest court (Mississippi Supreme Court); however, lost. So now it appears he is working his way up the judicial chain so that his next run for the Mississippi Supreme Court is successful – starting out in the Hinds County Justice Court and now he has moved up to the Hinds County Court. This is a judge in which the record evidence supports that he has his own laws and renders ruling clearly contrary to the statutes/laws for purposes of furthering his own agenda and rendering "special" favors to his friends, associates, colleagues, etc.

Therefore, I now come before the Legislature/Congress to request an Investigation, Hearings and its Findings as to the actions of Judge William Skinner. Moreover, now the actions of the Judges/Magistrates in the USDC-MS actions – that they be required to provide testimony and evidence to rebut that presented by me and in the record of courts to support their "judicial abuse." Moreover, the evidence provided in Skinner's Resume will support that he had extensive training in the Landlord & Tenant laws; however, elected to take a far departure from the laws and allow the abuse and/or use in the handling of Service of Process for purposes of illegally/unlawfully obtaining jurisdiction over citizens (over the citizens objections). For example: a) Skinner did not operate with the guidelines of the Code of Judicial Conduct governing Justice Court officials - See EXHIBIT "68" attached hereto and incorporated by reference; b) Skinner knew and/or should have known that Summons and Complaint was not handled in compliance with the statutes/laws of the state of Mississippi and neither was I given the time to respond in accordance with the laws governing said matters because the Landlord was attempting to obtain property through unlawful/illegal manner. See EXHIBIT "68" attached hereto and incorporated by reference; and c) that even the Mississippi Justice Court Guide provides helpful information to judges to aid them in determining whether Process was perfected. See EXHIBIT "69" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. Nevertheless, Skinner takes it upon himself to create and determine his own justice rather than uphold the laws of the state in which he presides. The evidence provided through is Resume reveals that he is an officer of the Mississippi Justice Court Judges Association – President (2005-2006 and 2006-2007) – See EXHIBIT "20" attached hereto..

IT IS IMPORANT TO NOTE that a timely complaint was filed with the MCJP against Judge Skinner. See EXHIBIT "70" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. However, the MCJP elected not to do anything and failed to address all of the issues raised against Judge Skinner. See EXHIBIT "71" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. I submitted my timely objections to the handling of the MCJP handling of this matter. To no avail. Said submittal proved to be futile. Thus, requiring the Legislature/Congress' intervention. See EXHIBIT "72" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO REITERATE that I believe Judge Skinner's goal is the Mississippi Supreme Court and/or higher courts in which the record evidence will sustain he is not qualified as well as the harm that would be rendered the public if he is continued to climb the judicial ladder in which he displaying and rendering clearly arbitrary and/or capricious rulings for the purposes of depriving citizens justice and "special" favors to persons/groups in which he has personal interest and/or gains. Moreover, raising serious concerns that Skinners pursuit of such positions are merely masking his ties to "racist" organizations such as the KKK and the furtherance of said racist organizations agendas underhandedly. Because it is clear that Skinner does not operate within the guidelines of the laws.

IT IS IMPORANT TO NOTE that due to the "special" relationships and/or ties my former employers have to major organizations – such as the Mississippi Defense Lawyers Association (wherein attorneys holding key positions such as "President/President-Elect," "Vice President" – as James D. Holland and W. Wright Hill, Jr. of PKH - See EXHIBIT "73" attached hereto and incorporated by reference; and PKH employing John Noblin, son of the Clerk of the Court USDC-MS) - which I believe has made it very difficult for me to obtain justice through the appropriate legal and/or judicial process based on such "special" relationships and the conspiracy leveled against me. Furthermore, the record evidence will support that my termination at PKH was deliberately orchestrated through said conspiracy to destroy my life. In fact, my termination with PKH occurred on or about Monday, May 15, 2006 – only three days before my court hearing on Thursday, May 18, 2006, in the Hinds County Court regarding Motions (such as my attorney Brandon Dorsey's Motion to Withdraw as my attorney, Injunctive Relief I was seeking, etc.) See EXHIBIT "74" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. Which clearly evidences a NEXUS between my termination of employment and my participation in a protected activity and PKH's efforts to aid opposing counsel in the lawsuit in which I filed – my termination coming cause me financial devastation and preclude me from defending lawsuit. Moreover, said court's granting of an unlawful withdrawal to provide the opposing with an undue/unfair advantage over me – "White" justice in full form.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that "personal" and/or "special" interest has been confirmed in the USDC-MS matter. Magistrate Judge has recused himself – not before committing judicial abuse and/or unlawful/illegal and unethical practices – for "conflict of interest." However, he failed to disclose to parties what said conflict was as required by law. Furthermore, in efforts of hiding his hand, he failed to provide me with a copy of his Order and I had to retain a copy through other process. See EXHIBIT "75" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. Magistrate Judge prior to filing his recusal order filed a ruling requiring me to pay a bond to proceed with my lawsuit. As a matter of law, said illegal bond setting, is prohibited by laws and neither can the court provide evidence to sustain the issuance of such an order. Upon review of the complaint filed in the USDC-MS wherein said court is requiring bond, it will be found that said complaint was drafted in compliance with the statutes/laws governing federal actions; moreover, that the complaint is sustained by "factual" evidence and "legal" conclusions to support the relief sought therein. NEVERTHELESS, as the record will reveal Judges in the USDC-MS action is attempting to uphold the void/null Order of the Magistrate Judge although timely objections, facts, evidence and legal conclusions have been presented to support that the court cannot require the bond sought. See EXHIBIT "76" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that the proper pleading has been filed with the USDC-MS for the certification of the record in preparation for review and/or intervention by the Legislature/Congress. See EXHIBIT "77" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that the USDC-MS is unlawfully/illegally attempting to deprive me access to said court and has entered arbitrary rulings/decisions to that effect. I have filed timely objections to said rulings which are in the record of said court. THEREFORE, DUE TO THE FACT THAT THE USDC-MS IS ATTEMPING TO CLOSE ITS DOORS TO ME, THE LEGISLATURE/CONGRESS' INTERVENTION IS SOUGHT TO CREATE AN APPLICABLE SUPERIOR COURT AND/OR COMMITTEE TO PULL USDC-MS DOCUMENTS AS WELL AS OTHERS THAT ARE BEING REQUESTED THROUGH THIS INSTANT COMPLAINT.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that such unlawful/illegal and unethical actions by the USDC-MS in attempting to close its doors to me is also an attempt by said courts to aid PKH, MMS and others against future lawsuits they have been notified are to be filed by me. For example, MMS was timely placed on notice of my intent to file legal action through the judicial process - See EXHIBIT "77" attached hereto and incorporated by reference – as well as PKH, see EXHIBIT "50" attached hereto.

XVI. MY ATTORNEYS

I request the Legislature/Congress Investigate, hold Hearings and render its Findings on my attorneys' handling of the lawsuits in which they represented me. Moreover, inquire into the reasons for their unlawful/illegal and unethical withdrawals as well as their unlawful/illegal handling of my lawsuits. While the Legislature/Congress may want to direct me to the appropriate agency (Bar Association of the state in which attorneys practice, I believe the record evidence will sustain that such efforts would prove to be futile as a direct and proximate result of the ties/relationships attorney may have with the fact-finders of said association; moreover, how it would be apparent that the association would do nothing in that it would rely upon information outside the proceedings – my participation in protected activities to cloud their judgment). Therefore, the Legislature/Congress' intervention is being sought.

The USDC-MS is presently attempting to close its doors to me unless I subject myself to the illegal bond setting they have implemented. The investigation of my attorneys' handling is also pertinent in that it clearly supports the attorneys' belief in the merits of my lawsuits; however, for some apparent reason they abruptly move to withdraw and clearly elect to violate the Code of Professional Conduct, etc. for the purposes of aiding the court as well as opposing counsel in depriving me the relief sought through the legal actions in which they were retained to represent me. Moreover, such an Investigation, Hearings and Findings are necessary in that upon the court's and the conspirators' success in inducing my attorneys to commit civil/criminal wrongs against me through their unlawful/illegal and unethical practices, I was left with having to proceed pro se to preserve my rights in the lawsuits involved. Therefore, I request the Legislature/Congress Investigate, hold Hearings and render its Findings regarding attorneys conduct:

Brandon I. Dorsey was the first attorney I retained to represent me in the civil matter against leading to the USDC-MS actions. Upon being contacted and being provided with documentation of previous lawsuits by me, he abruptly moved for a withdrawal and deliberately and knowingly provided information he knew to be false and/or misleading. While I knew that such actions by Dorsey were unlawful and unethical and contested his withdrawal, the court obliged him for the purposes of aiding opposing counsel and providing opposing parties with an undue/illegal and unlawful advantage over me. Dorsey advised me during his representation of me, that he has to live in Mississippi and feed his family – not being able to handle the pressure from opposing counsel and others. See Title 42, U.S.C., Section 3631 - Criminal Interference with Right to Fair Housing above. Dorsey required a Retainer to represent me, which he returned. However, this does not shield him from any investigation by the Legislature/Congress to determine whether or not such actions by him violated my Constitutional and Civil Rights and/or statutes/laws governing said matters. Moreover, his role (if any) played in the furtherance of the conspiracy alleged by me in the USDC-MS (3:07-cv-00099) action.

Wanda X. Abioto was the second attorney I retained to represent me in the civil matter after Dorsey abandoned me and has recently filed a Motion to Withdraw after representing me in the County Court and authorizing the filing of the Complaint in Federal Court. She represents me in USDC-MS Case No. 3:07-cv-00560. See EXHIBIT "55" the Complaint submitted on my behalf – attached hereto and incorporated by reference. While Abioto submitted her Motion to Withdraw, said motion was met with my opposition pleading. See EXHIBIT "10" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. From said pleading and the supporting attachments, I believe the Legislature/Congress may reach the same conclusion that I did upon doing research on Abioto, that opposing counsel may have obtained information regarding her sanctions by the Tennessee Bar and Mississippi Bar and used such information to strong-arm her in abandoning me; moreover, taken to get her to throw the lawsuit – wherein she tried in her deliberate and willful acts in not having one of the defendants (only one I gave her to handle in that I had process serve handle service on other parties) in said action served. As a matter or law, such error has been corrected by this defendant's attorney, Monroe, filing a joint pleading with a properly served defendant, Melody Crews. She clearly ignored my e-mails and phone calls requesting she contact me. I had to find out through Monroe's filings on behalf of his clients what he had been up to – badgering, harassing and attempting to get Abioto to withdraw the lawsuit filed on my behalf. Monroe making such threats and attacks on Abioto via correspondence. See EXHIBIT "56" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. Monroe going as far as requesting "in court hearing," which was timely met with my objections. See EXHIBIT "9" attached hereto. The actions of Monroe clearly is prohibited by statutes/laws. See Title 42, U.S.C., Section 3631 - Criminal Interference with Right to Fair Housing above. Abioto required a Retainer to represent me, which she has only returned $500 and apparently spent the rest. However, this does not shield her from any investigation by the Legislature/Congress to determine whether or not such actions by her violated my Constitutional and Civil Rights and/or statutes/laws governing said matters. Moreover, her role (if any) played in the furtherance of the conspiracy alleged by me in the USDC-MS (3:07-cv-00099) action.

Richard Rehfeldt was the attorney I retained to represent me in the criminal matter arising out of my February 14, 2006 unlawful/illegal arrest. While he was retained to represent me, protect my interest and rights, I believe he may have conspired with opposing counsel in my civil lawsuit(s) and others to set me up and their goal was to obtain a "guilty" verdict. I am also concerned that the FBI would have been in on such unlawful/illegal activities had not put them on notice through my correspondence addressing concerns of corrupt practices – See EXHIBIT "57" – 10/01/07 Correspondence to FBI "Concerns of FBI Cover-Up of Criminal Actions; Status of Findings Regarding June 26, 2006 Complaint Filed With FBI" – attached hereto and incorporated by reference. I believe the FBI would have aided in the unlawful conviction of me; however upon receipt of my October 1, 2007 correspondence and not certain what other persons were obtaining copies of this document, squashed their plans to railroad me. The "CONSPIRACY" plan was to find me "guilty" so that the "certain" Whites (Judge Skinner, Hinds County, Sheriff, etc) and their counsel would have a defense against the civil lawsuit I had filed. Unbeknownst to Rehfeldt, he was not aware that I had contacted the FBI. I knew after my meeting with him in August 2007, that he would probably attempt to compromise my case. Therefore, I contacted the FBI. See EXHIBIT "58" – E-mails to Richard Rehfeldt. I gathered from my August 2007 meeting with Mr. Rehfeldt, when he was trying to set me up to accept being found guilty that he did not like the fact that I would research information he provided to determine whether his advice was accurate. He was employed to represent me and I wanted to be sure that my rights and interests were protected. It was apparent Rehfeldt did not expect me to go and research the laws to determine the best defense. He thought I was going to be stupid enough to place everything in his hands without feedback. It was a good thing I did not do this because it was clearly a setup. I provided Rehfeldt with instructions on how I wanted him to proceed with the representation of me in the criminal matter. From the deliberate acts of Rehfeldt – in his failing to notify me of the court date, it is obvious that he was working with others to assure that I would not appear in court in hopes of getting the court to find me guilty. It will be very interesting to find out what explanation he provided the court for my absence. I do know he attempted to call me after everything to pretend like he did not know why I was not there in court. The reason being because he deliberately failed to advise me of the court date that had been set on the charges brought by Constable Jon Lewis. Rehfeldt required a Retainer to represent me, which to date he has not returned any unearned portion. However, this does not shield him from any investigation by the Legislature/Congress to determine whether or not such actions by his violated my Constitutional and Civil Rights and/or statutes/laws governing said matters. Moreover, his role (if any) played in the furtherance of the conspiracy alleged by me in the USDC-MS (3:07-cv-00099) action.

XVII. KENTUCKY MATTER

Before I begin to address the Kentucky issue, I believe it is important to raise my concerns as to how there appears to be a systematic and/or well-designed conspiracy network between "certain" whites across states and/or the country. From the information contained in this record, the evidence will yield a pattern-of-organized-criminal wrongs involving government entities/employees to oppress African-Americans and/or people of color seeking to exercise rights under the Civil Rights Act, Title VII, Fair Housing Act, Constitution, etc. – the laws created and designed to protect persons of color from the unlawful/illegal wrongs complained of herein. What is disturbing, is not that it is following me, but how the government has used its resources to "blacklist" me and "network" within their own organizations and engage in such unlawful/illegal and unethical practices against me for the purposes of obstructing the administration of justice and to deprive me equal protection of the laws and due process of laws. Yes, I find our government's participation in such activities very disturbing in that when a citizen brings concerns of such injustices (without evidence) they are projected as being crazy or mentally imbalanced, etc. However, when they have the evidence to sustain their claims (as in my case), the government officials participate with others to further such civil/criminal injustices against me. I am entitled to an explanation for such actions by our government and through this instant Complaint demand such.

While I presently work in Ohio, my residence is in Kentucky. Since moving here, I have found that Kentucky is well known for its Klu Klux Klan (KKK) associations. Which I find very sad. I also have learned that the courts here operate under the "Good Boy" association – which to me excludes African-Americans and/or people of color – wherein they are known to disregard the laws in efforts of yielding special favors for one another.

Based upon the facts, evidence and legal conclusions presented in this instant Complaint the Legislature/Congress' intervention is sought to pull all matters addressed herein and/or made known to it in relation to the matters addressed herein and create the required "inferior" court and/or committee to address the civil/criminal wrongs involving the Constitutional and Civil Rights violations addressed.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE as I have mentioned, that I am currently employed with a law firm in Ohio. Said law firm authorized one of its attorneys to assist me in the Kentucky matter; however, said attorney (white) became upset when confronted with the bad advice being provided. Moreover, it was made known to me that opposing counsel (white) reputation for corrupt practices and making Kentucky news for being a slumlord. It appears they were attempting to force me to give up my residence and a place I enjoyed rather than comply with the laws. Therefore, the attorney assigned me by the firm abandoned me and I am proceeding on. I am very disturbed by the fact that it appears that "certain" Whites feel that they have the right to determine where I want to live and if I do not agree with their unlawful/illegal demands to give up my residence, they result to civil/criminal actions TO FORCE ME OUT!

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that I have filed a civil lawsuit against the Landlord in Kentucky. See EXHIBIT "78" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. The record evidence will sustain that said filing was not made before diligent efforts were taken to resolve the issues addressed. IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that the attorney representing the landlord, James West, also worked with the Judge, Gregory M. Bartlett, before Bartlett took the bench. Do you think this was information made known to me by the court? NO. This information was provided to me by one of the lawyers at the law firm I am presently employed at. Moreover, said lawyer advised me why some attorneys do not like practicing in the state of Kentucky – because of the "GOOD BOY" network in place in Kentucky. Therefore, I believe it is safe to conclude that rather than the laws being upheld in Kentucky, they are rendered as special favors to attorneys, judges friends, colleagues, etc. IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that in said action I have successfully obtained an Injunction/Restraining Order against the Landlord; however, since obtaining same, West through the assistance of Bartlett has been trying to get it removed/lifted and attempting to unlawfully/illegally get their hands on rent money being retained in Escrow. However, the proper pleadings have been filed to preserve my rights. IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that I have filed the applicable pleadings requesting the recusal of Bartlett from this matter; however, he has failed to do so. He has also failed to obey the ruling of the higher court (Kentucky Court of Appeals) and refuses to enter rulings in compliance with the statutes/laws. Therefore, this matter and the unresolved issues are presently pending.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that the Kentucky Court of Appeals presently have before it pending actions regarding a Writ of Prohibition I have filed against Judge Bartlett. Said filing was made in compliance with the Order issued by the KY Court of Appeals. However, it now appears said court is attempting to back paddle and extend special favors against my objections. Timely pleading has been filed to notify the Court of Appeals of my intents to engage this Legislature/Congress in said matters. See EXHIBIT "79" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. To support the issuance of the Writ of Prohibition and the civil/criminal wrongs involving Judge Bartlett and landlord's counsel, James West, I provide a copy of the Writ of Prohibition filed with the KY Court of Appeals. Said pleading sets for the facts, evidence and legal conclusions to sustain the relief sought therein. See EXHIBIT "80" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that I have also filed charges with the Kentucky Commission on Human Rights. To no avail. This agency has elected to circumvent the laws over my objections. A copy of the complaint filed with said agency is attached hereto at "EXHIBIT "81" and incorporated by reference. IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that while there is evidence in the Commissions record to support the landlords providing of required repairs to other tenants and other tenants not being forced and/or required to move out, said landlord has failed to provide me with the same services. Therefore, I believe it may be due to the landlord and their counsel's knowledge of my engagement in protected activities as well as their knowledge of my matters pending before USDC-MS. IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that the Commission has taken a far departure from the laws/statutes under which they are governed to deprive me equal protection f the laws and due process of laws. I believe such unlawful/illegal actions by said agency is due to its knowledge of my engagement in protected activities and merely this government agency furthering the conspiracy I have alleged.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that in an effort to shield/mask its illegal/unlawful activities the Kentucky Commission has refused to provide me with a copy of the record. The laws clearly provide provisions for such requests; however the Commission has denied me a copy of the record. Providing me with copies of documents that I submitted; however, attempting to keep me from obtaining documentation that would expose their criminal/civil violations against me. IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that I am attempting to file the required Writ of Mandamus action against the Kentucky Commission; however, such efforts have been met with unlawful/illegal resistance. I have filed the applicable Motion to Compel with the KY Court of Appeals - See EXHIBIT "82" attached hereto and incorporated by reference – as well as the applicable pleading to stay actions in that the Kentucky Commission is aware of my intent to bring a Writ of Mandamus action against it. The Kentucky Commission has resorted to actions clearly prohibited by laws to preclude me from obtaining a copy of the record in that it will reveal the unlawful/illegal and/or civil/criminal wrongs of its employees.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE that the KY Court of Appeals is attempting to aid the Kentucky Commission in the shielding/record without legal and/or just cause but to keep me from seeing the civil/criminal acts of the Commissions officers/employees. I have filed the Motion for Findings as well as placed the KY Court of Appeals on notice of my intention to seek the Legislature/Congress intervention. See EXHIBIT "79" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

A. ATTORNEY

It is important to note that I retained an attorney to represent in this matter. This attorneys name was Brian Bishop. However, in keeping with the pattern-of-illegal/unlawful actions, Judge Bartlett granted a his Motion to Withdraw. Said motion which is also being contested. Bishop required a Retainer to represent me, which I paid and which to date he has not returned any unearned portion. However, this does not shield him from any investigation by the Legislature/Congress to determine whether or not such actions by him violated my Constitutional and Civil Rights and/or statutes/laws governing said matters.

THEREFORE, the Legislature/Congress' intervention in this matter is requested to aid in the protection of my Constitutional and Civil Rights.

XVIII. RELIEF SOUGHT

WHEREFORE PREMISES CONSIDERED, Vogel Denise Newsome request the following relief through this Emergency Complaint and Request for Legislature/Congress Intervention; Also Request for Investigations, Hearings and Findings:

1. Pursuant to a) Article 1 – The Legislative Branch; b) Article 1 § 8 – Powers of Congress,; c) Article 3 § 1 – Judicial powers and create the applicable tribunal (inferior court and/or committee(s)) to address the Constitutional Right and/or Civil Rights violations addressed herein. Moreover, civil/criminal wrongs rendered through said Rights and/or violations of the statutes/laws associated and/or governing said Rights; and d) Article 4 – The States: wherein I am requesting the Legislature/Congress intervention in any/all state matters addressed herein regarding me and/or made known to it through the filing of this instant Complaint.

2. I seek the relief sought in this instant Complaint under the United States Constitution, the Constitution of the States addressed and/or affected by said filing

3. Trouble at Hinds Youth Detention Center

File Photo

Hinds County Supervisor Peggy Calhoun says that she has been shut off from the detention center since the county took authority away from Judge Bill Skinner.

by Ward Schaefer
June 3, 2009

A rash of suicide attempts at the Hinds County Youth Detention Center brought a long-simmering conflict to a boil Monday. The center, also called Henley-Young, saw six suicide attempts last month, District 3 Supervisor Peggy Calhoun revealed at a Board of Supervisors meeting. Over repeated objections from George Smith, president of the county Board of Supervisors, Calhoun suggested that a "cover-up" was responsible for the lack of communication between the center and supervisors.

"Why wasn't the Board of Supervisors notified of these incidents?" Calhoun asked. "I had to request documentation of this information twice, long after the fact. If a child is hurt at the center, then the Board of Supervisors is liable. It appears that there have been efforts to cover up these incidents."

Among other incidents, Calhoun described a male detainee hitting his head repeatedly against his cell door and a female detainee tying socks around her neck. Henley-Young staff may not be providing adequate supervision or communicating enough with each other, Calhoun suggested.

"When the detention center was under the supervision of the judge, there was no problem disclosing what was going on at the center," Calhoun noted, referring to Hinds County Court Judge Bill Skinner.

The Supervisors gave Skinner authority over the detention center, in addition to his powers as Youth Court judge, more than a year ago, but in January, it voted 3-2 in executive session to revoke that authority due to complaints. "The board had received information that we believe were federal violations regarding the operation of the center," Supervisor Robert Graham told the Jackson Free Press Tuesday.

Calhoun and District 4 Supervisor Phil Fisher opposed the move, and Skinner has asked a chancery-court judge for an injunction on his behalf. Skinner still serves as a Youth Court judge, however, which means that he controls the influx of juveniles into the detention center.

Skinner did not return calls Tuesday.

Speaking to the Jackson Free Press after the meeting, Graham cautioned that, while serious, Calhoun's comments were merely allegations and require investigation.

"We're going to move on these allegations and make sure that the children are being protected no matter what," Graham said. "We've requested that the state come in just to check out the allegations."

Calhoun provided documentation for her allegations in the form of reports from Henley-Young Director Darron Farr to County Administrator Vern Gavin. The reports detail the seven suicide attempts at Henley-Young since January, as well as incidents of detainee misconduct and an injury that a guard suffered May 28 while trying to break up a fight.

Donald Beard, director of the state's Juvenile Facilities Monitoring Unit, said state evaluators will visit the center June 10. A visit from the agency earlier this year turned up numerous violations. Evaluators found that the center was holding juveniles and adults in the same areas and detaining non-criminal runaways with criminal offenders, both of which violate state law.

Beard said evaluators will first look at whether Henley-Young is adequately staffed. Following national standards, his agency recommends that detention centers hold no more than eight juveniles for each staff person in order to prevent problems. If a detainee is on suicide watch, guards should have visual contact with him or her every five minutes, Beard said.

"Our recommendation is that we never allow overcrowding in detention centers for fear of something happening—very much what's alleged at Henley-Young," he said.

Youth Court judges have substantial discretion in dealing with juvenile offenders, Beard added. Instead of detention, judges can refer juveniles to a mental institution or a monitoring program.

"If the detention centers is at full capacity, then some other alternatives should be looked into," Beard said.

Henley-Young Director Farr referred all questions to Gavin, who acknowledged the center's staffing problems.

"We were understaffed for maximum capacity, but at this particular point we are operating at maximum capacity," Gavin said. "So we're caught in a situation where we need additional staff."

The center is currently holding its maximum capacity of 84 juveniles, Gavin said. It has 24 people on staff, but not all of those are on duty at the same time. Gavin also said that Farr has recommended a lower staff-to-detainee ratio of five to one. Farr himself has little control over the number of juveniles he must hold. That figure is the responsibility of the Youth Court and Judge Skinner.

“Whether or not they are released or booked is the decision coming from the judge,” Gavin said. “The court side determines who stays and who goes.”

The Mississippi Youth Justice Project, an advocacy organization focusing on juvenile justice, toured Henley-Young in December 2008 and found several causes for concern, including the center’s use of a restraint chair without properly trained staff. MYJP Director Bear Atwood, the center has stopped using the restraint chair, but she still has concerns about the lack of mental health screening.

“They should be able to say, ‘We can’t take a child who we can’t care for,” Atwood said this week.

COMMENTS

I hate to say it, but I have to be honest!

But let's face facts:

1. DHS is so big, maybe the focus should be put on moving juvenile justice under another umbrella?

2. The Department of Corrections understands how to house and care for aggressive youth and they process juvenile offenders through Corrections and then tranport them over to DHS anyway.

My conclusion, move the responsibility from one agency to another that specializes in that area anyway.

Most people do not understand that the Youth Detention Center is a "holding facility" and not a juvenile prison. Children are held there for all sorts of reasons - not just because they are "aggressive youth" and would be charged as having committing a "crime" if they were considered adults. These are children. Some are held for their own protection until such time as they can be released to their parent or guardian. But all children booked into the facility are done so under the direction and administration of the Youth Court Services, which comes under the authority of the Judge - not DHS. The Department of Corrections deals with those considered juveniles but who have broken the law and are considered adults by reason of the law.

so kb5vag777, riddle me this? when Southern Poverty Law Center sued the state of Mississippi - what agency took the blame or was held responsible for the action?

baquan2000: I think your asking that question proves my point - "most people do not understand..." the purpose of the Henley-Young Juvenile Justice Center.

"Truth" about Henley Young Center, The

0 Comments | Jackson Advocate, Nov 12-Nov 18, 2009

Judge William Skinner has been at The Henley Young Juvenile Justice Center (HYJJC) for three years. In that three-year period, there has been three different Detention Center directors. In the first year, Betty Longino was the director. But she was isolated and did not have any communicative relationship with Skinner. There was never even a meeting between the two. The reasoning was that Skinner did not have full control over the HYJJC; that he only controlled the courtside. Longino went on to retire because of Skinner's antics of refusing to work with her as a collective unit.

In the second year, Lakesha Bell Wilson, who had the same problems with Skinner, was employed for only a year: April 2007 to April 2008. In January 2008, the Board of Supervisors awarded Skinner full control over the Detention Center and the Youth Court. Skinner wasted no time. On February 4, 2008, Skinner demoted Wilson from Director to a Supervising Officer, and on April 14, 2008, she resigned. Likewise, Wilson refused to be one of Skinner's flunkies.

The third and current director is Darron Farr. It is clear that Skinner sought after Mr. Farr, persuading him to come on board with the understanding Farr had expertise in the area of state and federal rules and regulations and laws that pertain to juveniles. This may have been due to the fact Skinner was facing numerous federal and state violations. Apparently, he needed Farr to help keep the federal and state monitors off his back. Once Skinner realized Fair was not willing to violate state and federal regulations, Skinner immediately began planning Farr's demise. It appeared once again that Skinner had lost control of the detention side and was again in the media attempting to destroy yet another Director.

Skinner routinely housed adult inmates with juveniles at HYJJC knowing this was a violation of state and federal laws. Skinner was prone to lock up non-felon juveniles for numerous days, sometimes 20-30 days before a hearing. At the hearing, he would sentence these same juveniles to an additional 89 days, not counting the time already served. This was supposed to be the judge's program for rehabilitation.

However, only the punishment, not the rehabilitation, applied. Skinner hired a LPN, but according to the Board of Nursing, she could not carry out all of the day-to-day healthcare needs at the facility because she is not qualified to do so as a LPN; a RN is required. The LPN Skinner hired was a family member-his brother's wife's mother.

The Detention Center houses 99% to 100% minorities. The other possible 1% comes from outside counties. Because Skinner does not get paid any extra money whether he is in control of the facility or not, one would ask why Skinner, with nothing to gain, would want full control of the facility. We would say it has to be the money!

Concerned Citizens for Hinds County

Group Says Henley-Young Punishing, Not Helping Kids

Youth Detention Facility's Goal Is Rehabilitation

POSTED: 2:35 pm CDT July 23, 2009
UPDATED: 8:44 am CDT August 11, 2009

JACKSON, Miss. -- The Henley-Young Youth Detention Center is meant to help put children headed down the wrong path on the right one. Unlike the adult criminal system where punishment is the purpose, the youth system's goal is rehabilitation.

But inside Hinds County's Henley-Young, many said that goal isn't being reached. The Mississippi Youth Justice Project said that the children are being locked up on minor offenses and children with mental illness aren't getting treatment. They said that the facility is more of a revolving door than a center for rehabilitation.

"It's a jail -- it's no more, no less," Bear Atwood with the Mississippi Youth Justice Project said. "If you go inside, it looks like any prison movie you ever saw."

At 84 beds and 54,000 square feet, the Henley-Young Juvenile Detention Center is where youth court sends children who break the law. The children range in age from 10 years old to 17 years old. The center's goal is to hold the children until they see a youth court judge. For the children who are sentenced to serve time at the center, the goal is rehabilitation.

"What we are doing in Hinds County is completely the wrong way to go about it," Atwood said.

The Mississippi Youth Justice Project monitors the youth facility, and representatives make regular visits.

"They are at risk for a serious incident -- of a youth being seriously hurt or of a staff member being seriously hurt. They are at risk for a youth suicide,"

Atwood said.

Mississippi's Juvenile Facilities Monitoring Unit released a report last month about Henley-Young and found several problems. As a result, the unit made recommendations including the following:

• Henley-Young should report all suicide attempts and threats to the judge, Hinds County Board of Supervisors and the monitoring unit immediately.
• Mental health screenings should be performed as soon as a youth is brought into the facility instead of after the detention hearing.
• Henley-Young should hold a meeting with Jackson Public Schools officials to keep local schools from using the center as a dumping ground for disruptive kids.
• Henley-Young should stop feeding children in their cells, unless there is a security issue. Right now kids are fed in their cells, where they also have a toilet to use the bathroom.

“Seventy-90 percent of the kids there have a mental health diagnosis. Many of them come without medication. If they don’t have their medication with them or their family doesn't bring them, they don’t get it at all,” Atwood said.

Atwood said the court dumps the mentally ill children at Henley-Young because they don't know where to put them. But Henley-Young staff members said that placing the kids in the proper mental health facility isn't always possible right away.

“The last thing we want is for any child to be in this facility that should be somewhere else, but there is a process. Sometimes it takes between eight and 24 hours,” Henley-Young resource Officer Claude McInnis said.

McInnis said locations for children with mental illnesses are often backlogged, making it difficult to place a child right away.

“Henley-Young is never going to release a child back to a situation where that child could harm others or harm themselves,” McInnis said. “We would rather secure that child in a facility that's designed for juveniles.”

McInnis showed 16 WAPT News around Henley-Young. He showed reporter Joseph Pleasant the visitation, booking and on-site school areas. McInnis said he agrees with Atwood and others when it comes to staffing. He said they need more guards and professional counselors, but filling those positions is up to the Board of Supervisors.

Board of Supervisors President Greg Smith said the problem is that the county can't estimate how many children will come into the facility.

“We have not had the population that we have now, so therefore that’s something we have to address,” Smith said.

Youth Court Judge William Skinner controls the population. Skinner declined to be interviewed for this story.

“I think we are doing a good job. I do think they are some deficiencies,” Smith said.

Henley-Young officials admit to the problems they are having, including the numerous violations, understaffing and suicide attempts, but they said right now, they are working on ways to make sure the facility is safe and healthy for the children who come there.

“The administrator is in the process of making sure every staff member knows what their role and responsibility is,” Smith said.

Henley-Young staff members said that they are also working with the Mississippi Youth Justice Project to improve the quality of service.

“Our challenge is to make sure that not only do we do that, but we continue to educate that child,” Smith said.

Youth court judge battles Board of Supervisors

HINDS COUNTY, MS (WLBT) - He's been heralded as a problem-solver who gets results. But now, Hinds County Youth Court Judge Bill Skinner is facing serious allegations.

At least, that's according to Hinds County Supervisor Robert Graham, who couldn't give specifics because of pending litigation.

"Nothing where children are in any immediate type of threat or danger, but there was not just one allegation, there were several, and as I stated, they were substantial and some have been verifiable," said Graham.

And so, on January 5th, almost a year after the Hinds County Board of Supervisors voted to give Skinner control of the Henley-Young Juvenile Justice Center, they voted 3-2 to take it away. Skinner still oversees youth court, but his duties at the youth detention center were handed over to executive director Darren Farr.

Some supervisors believe the move is completely political.

"I think ego had a lot to do with it and just the desire to have more power," said Hinds County Supervisor Phil Fisher. "This veil, these allegations of this that and the other, it's all something to hide behind. The point of the matter is, the judge has done an excellent job."

Judge Skinner's attorney, Brandon Dorsey, said it's too early to comment at this point, except to say he hasn't been made aware of any allegations against the youth detention center.

Skinner filed an injunction January 8th, hoping to regain control of the detention center. The injunction cites Attorney General Jim Hood's opinion that "it is the youth court judge who has the final legal responsibility for administering the youth detention facility."

No Hinds County judge has agreed to hear the case, so it's being turned over to the Mississippi Supreme Court.

Graham said the supervisors voted to put Skinner in charge of the center, which was previously run by the board of supervisors, because he promised to save money for the county and improve performance.

"Several supervisors don't believe he was able to deliver on the promise he made. In fact, the budget went up in several different areas," said Graham.

Fisher said the budget has increased because of improved technology and conditions at the facility.

"I don't think Judge Skinner has done anything outside the lines of what any other good manager would do," said Fisher. "I think there are too many other things in the county that are broken, that the board of supervisors doesn't need to get involved and break something that's working."

"Honestly, I think this is one of those issues where the buildings on fire and the board of supervisors are fighting over a parking spot," added Fisher.

The Mississippi Youth Justice Project is investigating the center. Representatives said there are some concerns with the center's education standards and conditions, but wouldn't go into detail. MYJP added that the center is working hard to make sure it's up to standard.

Trouble at Hinds Youth Detention Center

Jackson Free Press, 2009. június 3., 14:03

by Ward Schaefer June 3, 2009 A rash of suicide attempts at the Hinds County Youth Detention Center brought a long-simmering conflict to a boil Monday. The center, also called Henley-Young, saw six suicide attempts last month, District 3 Supervisor Peggy Calhoun revealed at a Board of Supervisors meeting. Over repeated objections from George Smith, president of the county Board of Supervisors, Calhoun suggested that a cover-up was responsible for the lack of communication between the center and supervisors.

Dear Ms. Abioto:

This letter concerns the case you purportedly filed against my clients Melody Crews and Dial Equities, Inc. asserting certain Fair Housing Act violations, among other things. I am attaching to this letter a letter from your client, Mrs. Newsome, to the Clerk of the United States District Court providing six (6) filings which she signed with her name over your signature block. I attach only the first four (4) of those filings. I note Vogel Newsome carbon copied you on the filings as well.

Vogel Newsome represented to the Court you were sick so she was making the filings for you. This implies, to me, that you have read and approved the content of those filings which defame and make unprofessional accusations against a siting United States Magistrate Judge. This is wholly unacceptable. I have called you today and yesterday about this and you have ignored me. I emailed you on February 14, 2008 and again today. You have failed to respond. I have also noted that you did not even sign the Complaint. Rather it appears your client signed your name to the initial complaint. Do you even represent her?

Therefore, please accept this letter as my final attempt to request that you either contact me and discuss this or make arrangements with the Court to withdraw these accusations and confirm your involvement as counsel for Ms. Newsome. If you fail to respond on or before Thursday, February 21, 2008 by 5:00 p.m. then I will consider your silence to be ratification of the attached filings and will advise the Court you have failed to dispute your involvement in these accusations. I also demand you sign the Complaint and all submitted motions of record to date.

I do not believe I can overstate to you how critical it is that you clear up this matter immediately. I look forward to your immediate response to me or via filings with the Court in this matter.

Cordially,

Re: Vogel Newsome v. Melody Crews, et. al., Civil Action No. 3:07cv00560

Dear Ms. Abioto:

This confirms your call yesterday regarding my letter to you of February 19, 2008. In that call you confirmed to me that you authorized the filing of the complaint in this matter. You also advised you presently represent Mrs. Newsome and that you authorized Mrs. Newsome to sign your name to the initial Complaint and send it to the Court for filing on your behalf as her lawyer.

You also advised you did not know about the subsequent filings in this case made by Mrs. Newsome in which she made numerous accusations against United States Magistrate Judge Anderson. You have advised you do not endorse her statements made therein. You also advised that you would be filing a Notice of Withdrawal as counsel as a result of these actions.

As I expressed to you yesterday, we will not agree that you may withdraw as counsel unless you dismiss the entire lawsuit. Pursuant to the Local Rules for the Northern and Southern District of Mississippi, Rule 83.1(B)(3) "when an attorney enters an appearance in a civil action, he or she shall remain as counsel of record until released by formal order of the court." The rule requires that a motion must be filed. It is our position that you knew Mrs. Newsome would make unauthorized filings when you agreed to file this suit. We also take the position that you knew that she had already filed Civil Action No. 3:07cv00099 and that the case you filed was based upon the same facts and circumstances. You were fully aware that Mrs. Newsome would be a difficult client and one you could not control. However, notwithstanding this knowledge, you chose to sue my clients and instigate this now third frivolous lawsuit against my client on Mrs. Newomse's behalf. Therefore, unless the Court releases you we have no intent of agreeing to your withdrawal as counsel. Also, even if released, you remain responsible for the filing of the Complaint pursuant to Rule 11 and we are going to seek sanctions under that rule.

I regret this position is necessary, but the costs to my client to date have exceed the bounds of reasonableness and much of it is directly due to your knowingly filing this frivolous suit and presumably encouraging Mrs. Newsome's belief that she has a valid claim.

Cordially,

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF MISSISSIPPI
JACKSON DIVISION

VOGEL NEWSOME — PLAINTIFF

vs. — Case No. 3:07-cv-00099-TSL-JCS

MELODY CREWS, ET AL. — DEFENDANTS

PLAINTIFF'S MOTION TO STRIKE STATEMENTS AND MATERIALS OF DEFENDANTS', JON C. LEWIS AND WILLIAM L. SKINNER, II, MOTION TO DISMISS, OR IN THE ALTERNATIVE, MOTION TO QUASH[1]

COMES NOW Plaintiff, Vogel Newsome ("Plaintiff") and files this her Motion to Motion to Strike Statements and Materials of Defendants', Jon C. Lewis and William L. Skinner, II, Motion to Dismiss, or in the Alternative, Motion to Quash pursuant to Rule 12(f) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure (FRCP), consolidating said Motions pursuant to Rule 12(g) of the FRCP; and seeks, as a matter of law, that this Court enter individual Default Judgments in favor of Plaintiff of and against each of these Defendants, one for Jon C. Lewis ("Lewis") individually and in his official capacity; and, one for William L. Skinner, II ("Skinner"), individually and in his official capacity.

This Plaintiff moves this Court to strike the opening paragraph, paragraphs numbered 1 through 8, unnumbered paragraph following paragraph number 8, any and all supporting statement and materials provided with Lewis' Motion to Dismiss, including Exhibit A and Exhibit B, pursuant to Rule 12(f) of the FRCP in that said paragraphs are either irrelevant, immaterial and/or scandalous to this lawsuit and is not permissible as a matter of law and cannot be substantiated to support any such defenses against the claims brought by the Plaintiff in her

[1] Boldface, italics and/or underline in this pleading has been added for emphasis.

Complaint.

This Plaintiff moves this Court to strike the opening paragraph, paragraphs numbered 1 through 9, and following unnumbered paragraph following paragraph number 9, any and all supporting statement and materials provided with Skinner's Motion to Dismiss, including Exhibit A and Exhibit B, pursuant to Rule 12(f) of the FRCP in that said paragraphs are either irrelevant, immaterial and/or scandalous to this lawsuit and is not permissible as a matter of law and cannot be substantiated to support any such defenses against the claims brought by the Plaintiff in her Complaint.

Moreover, to let said statements and material to remain in the record would heavily prejudice the Plaintiff and infringe upon rights secured under the United States Constitution, Civil Rights Act and other statutes/laws outlawing such practices many years ago. In support thereof, the Plaintiff incorporates the Affidavits of the Process Server, David Langley, attached hereto as Exhibit "1" as it relates to service of process on Defendant Lewis and is incorporated by reference and made a part of this pleading; and, Exhibit "2" as it relates to service of process on Defendant Skinner and is incorporated by reference and made a part of this pleading, thus, states the following:

1. This instant Motion is provided in good faith and is not being provided to delay, hinder and/or obstruct the administration of justice.

2. The Motions to Dismiss filed by Defendants Lewis and Skinner are UNTIMELY filed.

3. As a direct and proximate result of Lewis' and Skinner's failure to file a timely Answer and/or responsive pleading, these Defendants have WAIVED any such defenses they assert through their dilatory Motions to Dismiss.

4. Summons issued on Defendant Lewis was not defective.

5. Summons issued on Defendant Skinner was not defective.

6. Defendants Lewis nor Skinner can show any excusable neglect.

7. Defendants Lewis and Skinner: (1) aware of Complaint – lawsuit filed; (2) filed a responsive pleading through their attorney; and (3) appearance in action through their attorney. Thus, waiving any arguments and/or defenses as to this Court's jurisdiction.

8. Answer and/or responsive pleading was due on July 11, 2007, for Lewis. Summons and Complaint were served on June 21, 2007. Instead of filing an Answer and/or responsive pleading on July 11, 2007, Lewis elected to forgo his rights, and, instead, on July 11, 2007 – on the date his Answer and/or responsive pleading was due in this lawsuit – he elected to subject the Plaintiff to another malicious lawsuit by filing a complaint against the Plaintiff in the Hinds County Justice Court for: (1) Docket No. 1180, Page 584, No. 999-0049429 alleging "Disorderly Conduct – Failure to Comple [sic] With Law Enforcement;" and (2) Docket No. 1180, Page 5855, No. 999-0049430 alleging Resisting Arrest. Lewis' malicious lawsuit was filed in retaliation and for malicious purposes to cause the Plaintiff additional injury/harm. Thus, further supporting Lewis was aware of the significance of the July 11, 2007, date; however, elected forgo his rights and embark on a frivolous lawsuit against the Plaintiff. Clearly supporting where Lewis placed his priorities ((i.e. instituting his malicious and frivolous complaint in Justice Court rather than file an Answer and/or responsive pleading in this lawsuit). The time for attacking process of service lapsed on July 11, 2007 and the defenses Lewis attempts to assert at this late stage in the lawsuit as well. See Exhibit "3" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

9. Answer and/or responsive pleading was due on July 11, 2007, for Defendant Skinner. Therefore, said Defendant's Answer and/or responsive pleading to the Summons and Complaint were due July 11, 2007. However, said Defendant has elected to WAIVE any such rights that he may assert he is entitled to. Skinner in his official capacity is a judge, so he knew and/or should have known the criticalness of filing an Answer and/or responsive pleading if he wanted to assert any such defenses. The time for attacking process of service lapsed on July 11, 2007 and the defenses Skinner attempts to assert at this late stage in the lawsuit as well.

10. Pursuant to Rule 4 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure ("FRCP") Lewis was served with Notice of Lawsuit and Request for Waiver of Service of Summons on April 26, 2007, which included document from Plaintiff entitled, "Notification Accompanying Waiver Request" which notified said Defendant that his "responsive pleading shall comply with Federal Rules of Civil Procedure Rule 8 and/or other applicable laws governing said matters and those responses to Complaint." See Exhibits "4" herein incorporated by reference and made a part of this pleading – Notice served on Lewis (with copy of U.S. Postal Service Signature Confirmation Receipt). Said Notice was received on or about May 1, 2007; therefore giving Defendant Lewis 30 days to sign and return waiver and would have given him

60 days to file an Answer and/or responsive pleading to the Plaintiff's Complaint. Had Lewis executed said Waiver, he would have been allowed until June 25, 2007, to file Answer to Complaint and/or responsive pleading. Said Notice provided Lewis with the required and/or pertinent information (i.e. Court, Caption and Case Number of the lawsuit brought, etc.). Moreover, the Summons provided with the Complaint provided Lewis with the "Case Number." However, although required, Lewis elected not to comply with Rule 4 of the FRCP requiring the Plaintiff to have him served with Summons and Complaint. Lewis clearly does not deny not being given his mail or the person(s) in charge of receipt and delivering his mail was not authorized to receive mail and deliver it. Thus, Lewis having NOTICE of the instant lawsuit as early as April 2007, if not notified sooner through any other resources and/or means available to him.

11. It is important to note that Defendant Lewis is also being sued in his "official" capacity as well and is; therefore, also subject to the provisions of Rule 4 and required to comply with said Rule to save the cost of litigation. However, said Defendant failed to do so. Therefore, process was had at Lewis' place of employment with another employee and/or person of proper age and competency to receive service on behalf of Lewis accepted service on his behalf. Moreover, person authorized by law to receive process.

12. Pursuant to Rule 4 of the FRCP Defendant Skinner was served with Notice of Lawsuit and Request for Waiver of Service of Summons on April 26, 2007, which included document from Plaintiff entitled, "Notification Accompanying Waiver Request" which notified said Defendant that his "responsive pleading shall comply with Federal Rules of Civil Procedure Rule 8 and/or other applicable laws governing said matters and those responses to Complaint." See Exhibits "5" herein incorporated by reference and made a part of this pleading – Notice served on Lewis (with copy of U.S. Postal Service Signature Confirmation Receipt). Said Notice was received on or about May 1, 2007; therefore giving Defendant Skinner 30 days to sign and return waiver and would have given him 60 days to file an Answer and/or responsive pleading to the Plaintiff's Complaint. Had Skinner executed said Waiver, he would have been allowed until June 25, 2007, to file Answer to Complaint and/or responsive pleading. Said Notice provided Skinner with the required and/or pertinent information (i.e. Court, Caption and Case Number of the lawsuit brought, etc.). However, Skinner elected not to comply with Rule 4 of the FRCP requiring the Plaintiff to have him served with Summons and Complaint. Skinner clearly does not deny not being given his mail or the persons handling and/or delivering his mail was/were not authorized to receive mail and deliver it.

13. Defendant Skinner is also being sued in his "official" capacity as well and is; therefore, also subject to the provisions of Rule 4 and required to comply with said Rule to save the cost of litigation. However, said Defendant failed to do so. Therefore, process was had on Skinner at his place of employment with another employee and/or person of proper age and competency to receive service on behalf of Lewis accepted service on his behalf. Moreover, authorized by law to receive process. Thus, Lewis having NOTICE of the instant lawsuit as early as April 2007, if not notified sooner through any other resources and/or means available to him that Plaintiff would be bringing action against him.

14. The dilatory Motions to Dimiss of Defendants Lewis and Skinner have been provided for purposes of fraud, deception, malicious intent, malice, harassment, delay and/or hindering proceedings, obstructing administration of justice, in furtherance of malicious prosecution actions, and those known to Defendant Lewis Skinner.

15. A question arises as to whether the herein named Defendants (Lewis and Skinner) have ever been served with process at their place of employment in their official capacity.

16. Defendants' Lewis and Skinner attorneys' law firm (Page Kruger & Holland) in this in this lawsuit is a former employer of the Plaintiff.

17. Plaintiff's employment with the Page Kruger & Holland was terminated as a direct and proximate result of their knowledge of a lawsuit brought by her against other named Defendants (Melody Crews, Spring Lake Apartments, LLC and Dial Equities, Inc.).

18. Prior to Plaintiff's termination, they were notified of CONFLICT the Plaintiff had and intent to bring action. See Exhibit "6" attached hereto and incorporated herein by reference.

19. While the Plaintiff ask for no special favors from Page Kruger & Holland, she is very thankful that they have elected not to timely file an Answer and/or responsive pleading on behalf of their clients – Jon C. Lewis and William L. Skinner, II. As well as may have advised Defendant Lewis to file his Justice Court action instead – banking on the frivolous assertions provided in these Defendants' Motion to Dismiss.

20. Defendant Skinner may have attended law school with attorney(s) at Page Kruger & Holland. Thus, relying upon their services; however, failed to assure that his attorneys met the filing deadline in responding to the Complaint filed by the Plaintiff. Indeed, justice is now served and he is reaping from the unlawful, illegal and unethical practices he has dished out unjustly. As Theodore Roosevelt is quoted as saying:

> LAST WORDS: Straight from Teddy Roosevelt: "Unless a man is honest we have no right to keep him in public life, it matters not how brilliant his capacity, it hardly matters how great his power of doing good service on certain lines may be . . . No man who is corrupt, no man who condones corruption in others, can possibly do his duty by the community."

See Exhibit "7"- FBI Article "Investigation of Public Corruption: Rooting Crookedness Out of Government," attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED, Plaintiff respectfully request this Court:

a. Strike the opening paragraph, paragraphs numbered 1 through 8, unnumbered paragraph following paragraph number 8, any and all supporting statement and materials provided with Lewis' Motion to Dismiss, including Exhibit A and Exhibit B, pursuant to Rule 12(f) of the FRCP in that said paragraphs are either irrelevant, immaterial and/or scandalous to this lawsuit and is not permissible as a matter of law and cannot be substantiated to support any such defenses against the claims brought by the Plaintiff in her Complaint. Moreover, Defendant Lewis' Motion to Strike is UNTIMELY has been provided for purposes of delay, hindering proceedings, obstructing the administration of justice, fraud, harassment, increasing the costs associated with litigation, and for other such reasons known by him. Therefore, as a matter of laws, any such defenses that Defendant Lewis may have asserted are hereby WAIVED. For this Court to allow the statements and materials of Defendant Lewis's Motion to Dismiss filing to remain in the record, would prejudice the Plaintiff and infringe upon her rights secured under the United States Constitution, Civil Rights Act and other governing laws as it relates to such matters.

b. Strike the opening paragraph, paragraphs numbered 1 through 9, and following unnumbered paragraph following paragraph number 9, any and all supporting statement and materials provided with Skinner's Motion to Dismiss, including Exhibit A and Exhibit B, pursuant to Rule 12(f) of the FRCP in that said paragraphs are either irrelevant, immaterial and/or scandalous to this lawsuit and is not permissible as a matter of law and cannot be substantiated to support any such defenses against the claims brought by the Plaintiff in her Complaint. Moreover, Defendant Skinner's Motion to Strike is UNTIMELY has been provided for purposes of delay, hindering proceedings, obstructing the administration of justice, fraud, harassment, increasing the costs associated with litigation, and for other such reasons known by him. Therefore, as a matter of laws, any such defenses that Defendant Skinner may have asserted are hereby WAIVED. For this Court to allow the statements and materials of Defendant Skinner's Motion to Dismiss filing to remain in the record, would prejudice the Plaintiff and infringe upon her rights secured under the United States Constitution, Civil Rights Act and other governing laws as it relates to such matters.

c. That this Court on its own initiative sanction these Defendants herein named and their attorneys in the amount of $50,000.00 each to deter such practices from them and their counsel; moreover, the applicable punishment permissible under the laws for Rule 11 for violations up to and including contempt – if permissible;

d. Grant the Plaintiff default judgment of and against Defendant Jon C. Lewis in his Individual capacity and in this Official capacity.

e. Grant the Plaintiff a default judgment of and against Defendants William L. Skinner, II, in his Individual capacity and in Official capacity.

f. Furthermore, the averments in the Plaintiff's Complaint, as a matter of law, are deemed admitted. Thus, entitling her to the relief sought in the Complaint filed in this lawsuit.

g. Any and all other relief this Court deems necessary and appropriate to correct the wrongs, injustice and prejudice complained of and rendered the Plaintiff.

NOTICE OF LAWSUIT AND REQUEST FOR WAIVER OF SERVICE OF SUMMONS

TO: (A) Jon C. Lewis

as (B) _____ of (C) _____

A lawsuit has been commenced against you (or the entity on whose behalf you are addressed). A copy of the complaint is attached to this notice. It has been filed in the United States District Court for the (D) Southern District of Mississippi (Jackson) and has been assigned docket number (E) 3:07-cv-00099.

This is not a formal summons or notification from the court, but rather my request that you sign and return the enclosed waiver of service in order to save the cost of serving you with a judicial summons and an additional copy of the complaint. The cost of service will be avoided if I receive a signed copy of the waiver within (F) 30 days after the date designated below as the date on which this Notice and Request is sent. I enclose a stamped and addressed envelope (or other means of cost-free return) for your use. An extra copy of the waiver is also attached for your records.

If you comply with this request and return the signed waiver, it will be filed with the court and no summons will be served on you. The action will then proceed as if you had been served on the date the waiver is filed, except that you will not be obligated to answer the complaint before 60 days from the date designated below as the date on which this notice is sent (or before 90 days from that date if your address is not in any judicial district of the United States).

If you do not return the signed waiver within the time indicated, I will take appropriate steps to effect formal service in a manner authorized by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and will then, to the extent authorized by those Rules, ask the court to require you (or the party on whose behalf you are addressed) to pay the full costs of such service. In that connection, please read the statement concerning the duty of parties to waive the service of the summons, which is set forth at the foot of the waiver form.

I affirm that this request is being sent to you on behalf of the plaintiff, this 26th day of April, 2007.

Vogt Henson

Signature of Plaintiff's Attorney
or Unrepresented Plaintiff

NOTE: To save cost in litigation this Notice of Lawsuit and Request for Waiver of Service of Summons and Waiver of Service of Summons is being provided you. Plaintiff has also attached to form document entitled, "Notification Accompanying Waiver Request" which she believes contains pertinent information regarding Answering of Complaint.

A—Name of individual defendant (or name of officer or agent of corporate defendant)
B—Title, or other relationship of individual to corporate defendant
C—Name of corporate defendant, if any
D—District
E—Docket number of action
F—Addressee must be given at least 30 days (60 days if located in foreign country) in which to return waiver

NOTIFICATION ACCOMPANYING WAIVER REQUEST

You are hereby NOTIFIED that your responsive pleading shall comply with Federal Rules of Civil Procedure Rule 8[1] and/or other applicable laws governing said matters and those responses to Complaint shall:

1. State in short and plain terms the your defenses to each claim asserted and shall admit or deny averments upon which you rely;

2. If you are without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of an averment, you shall so state and this has the effect of a denial. However, said denials shall fairly meet the substance of the averments denied;

3. If you intend in good faith to deny only a part or a qualification of an averment, then you shall specify so much of it as is true and material and shall deny only the remainder; and

4. Be subject to the provisions of Federal Rules of Civil Procedure Rule 11. Your "failure to comply with Rule 11 may be attacked by a motion to strike." "An attorney who willfully violates Rule 11 is subject to possible disciplinary action." Your signing of pleading constitutes a certificate of the following:

    a. That the attorney (or party) has conducted a reasonable inquiry;

    b. That he or she is satisfied that the paper is well grounded in fact;

    c. That the pleading has a basis in existing law or that the attorney (or party) has a good faith argument to amend or reverse existing law;

    d. That the pleading is not interposed for any improper purpose, such as harassment, delay or needless increase of his opponent's costs of litigation.

    . . . If the pleading or other paper is signed in violation of this Rule, appropriate sanctions shall be imposed by the court on motion or on its own initiative. Sanctions may include an order to pay the other party the amount of reasonable expenses caused by the violation, including reasonable attorney's fees.[2]

You are hereby further NOTIFIED that:

5. That you are to familiarize and/or acquaint yourself with the Rules governing responsive pleadings. Answers such as "failure to state a claim," "lack of subject matter jurisdiction," provided for purposes of misrepresentation, delay of proceedings, obstruction of justice, etc., will be subject to the provisions of Rule 11 – excerpts of pleading requirements of the Complaint are attached hereto;[3]

6. If your answer is not sufficiently definite in nature to give reasonable notice of the allegations in the Complaint sought to be placed in issue, the Plaintiff's averments may be treated as admitted (i.e. a corporate defendant's denial of "each and every allegation" did not give "plain notice.").[4]

7. A denial of knowledge or information requires that you not only lack first-hand knowledge of the necessary facts involved, but also that you lack information upon which you reasonably could form a personal belief concerning the truth of the Plaintiff's allegations.[5]

8. Normally, you may not assert lack of knowledge or information if the necessary facts or data involved are within your knowledge or easily brought within your knowledge – (i.e. An answer denying information as to the truth or falsity of a matter necessarily within the knowledge of the party's managing officers is a sham, and will be treated as an admission of allegation of the complaint.[6])

9. An averment, that you are without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to matters that are of common knowledge or of which you can inform yourself with the slightest effort, will be treated as patently false and the effect and purpose will be taken as such to merely delay justice.[7]

10. If the Answer to the Complaint is not in compliance with the rules and/or laws governing said matters, the applicable Motion to Strike the Answer will be filed and request for proper relief (i.e. sanctions against you and or attorney [if applicable]) will be sought.

You are NOTIFIED that unless you serve and file a written responsive pleading within the specified time, the Plaintiff will take judgment against you by default for the relief demanded in the Complaint.

Respectfully submitted,

NOTE: Most federal courts allow only an attorney admitted in that federal jurisdiction to file and appear. The general rule is that to be admitted to a district, the attorney must be a member of the bar of that state. Be sure to check Local Rules, e.g., Rule 2.2.1 of Central District of California.

7.530 Signing of Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers

Effective August 1, 1983, Rule 11 was amended. It now governs the signing of all pleadings, motions and other papers and states that the signing of such documents by an attorney constitutes a certificate of the following:

(1) That the attorney (or party) has conducted a reasonable inquiry;
(2) That he or she is satisfied that the paper is well grounded in fact;
(3) That the pleading has a basis in existing law or that the attorney (or party) has a good faith argument to amend or reverse existing law;
(4) That the pleading is not interposed for any improper purpose, such as harassment, delay or needless increase of his opponent's costs of litigation.

Non-signing of the pleadings and other papers, may result in the document being stricken. If the pleading or other paper is signed in violation of this Rule, appropriate sanctions shall be imposed by the court on motion or on its own initiative. Sanctions may include an order to pay the other party the amount of reasonable expenses caused by the violation, including reasonable attorney's fees.

7.540 Verification

Some states allow verification of all pleadings whether required or not. Where a pleading is verified, the response must likewise be verified, e.g., California Code of Civil Procedure § 446. Rule 11 provides that except where specifically required by statute or rule, pleadings need not be verified. Under Hanna v. Plumer, supra, the rule or statute referred to is federal not state. Some of the Federal Rules which require verification are Rules 23.1, 27(a), 65(b), and 66. For a listing of statutes requiring verification, see 5 Wright & Miller § 1335.

NOTE: The rules applicable to captions, signing and other matters of form of pleadings apply to all motions and other papers provided for in the Federal Rules. (See, Rule 7(b)(2)).

NILES

FEDERAL CIVIL PROCEDURE

Exhibit C

formulate the issues to be tried. Thus, only ultimate facts are allowed while conclusions of law and evidentiary statements are not. Black v. First Nat'l Bank, 255 F2d 373 (5th Cir. 1958).

7.100 PLEADINGS ALLOWED

Rule 7(a) sets out those pleadings which are allowed in the district courts:

(1) Complaint;
(2) Answer;
(3) Reply to a counterclaim denoted as such;
(4) Answer to a cross-claim if the answer contains a cross-claim;
(5) Third party complaint if a party who was not an original party is summoned under Rule 14;
(6) Third party answer if a third party complaint is served.

No other pleadings are allowed unless the court orders a reply to an answer or third party answer.

Note that a reply is mandatory only where the answer contains a counterclaim designated as such (See, Counterclaims § 9.200 et. seq.).

Rule 7(c) specifically abolishes "demurrers, pleas and exception to sufficiency of a pleading . . .". Although the demurrer is abolished, a motion to strike an insufficient answer under Rule 12(f) and a motion to dismiss the complaint for failure to state a claim under Rule 12(b)(6) perform functions similar to a demurrer (See, Motion Practice § 11.450 and 11.575).

7.200 GENERAL RULES OF PLEADING

The general rules of pleading in the district courts are provided by Rule 8. Briefly summarized they provide the following:

(1) That all claims and defenses are to be stated in short and plain terms (See, Rule 8(a) & (b)). Averments are to be simple, concise and direct and no technical forms of pleadings or motions are required (See, Rule 8(e)(1)). Accordingly, the degree of particularity will depend on the complexity of the matter. However, except for Rule 9 which requires pleading of special matter, such averments can be made in general terms.
(2) Under Rule 8(e)(2), pleadings can be alleged in the alternative or hypothetical and do not have to be consistent subject to the obligations of Rule 11 (See, Signing § 7.500).

(3) A general denial to the entire pleading is allowed provided Rule 11 is not violated (See, Rule 8(b)).

(4) The pleader is not bound by any theory of pleading and there is no longer any distinction between law and equity insofar as pleadings are concerned (See, Rule 8(e)(2)).

(5) Pleadings are to be construed to do substantial justice (See, Rule 8(f)).

NOTE: The FRCP govern the details of pleading in the district courts, Hanna v. Plumer, 380 US 460, 85 S Ct 1136 (1965). In addition, they control the allocation of the burden of pleading and signing of pleadings.

Under Rule 8(a), any pleading which sets forth a claim for relief whether an original claim, counterclaim, cross-claim or third party claim must contain the following:

(1) A short and plain statement of the ground upon which the court's jurisdiction depends unless the court already has jurisdiction;

(2) A short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief;

(3) A demand for judgment for the relief to which the pleader deems himself entitled;

(4) Relief in the alternative, or of several different types, may be demanded.

7.210 Pleading Jurisdictional Grounds

Because federal courts are of limited jurisdiction, it is mandatory that the complaint aver the subject matter jurisdiction of the court. Rotolo v. Burough of Chareroi, 532 F2d 920 (3rd Cir. 1976) (See, Subject Matter Jurisdiction § 2.200 et. seq.).

7.211 Federal Question

If jurisdiction is based on a general federal question under 28 USC § 1331, then jurisdiction should be pleaded as follows:

> The action arises under (the Constitution of the United States Article . . . section . . .); (the . . . Amendment to the Constitution, section . . .); (The Act of . . . , . . . Stat . . . : USC, Title . . . , § . . .); (the Treaty of the United States with (here describe treaty),[1] as hereinafter more fully appears.[2]

1. "Use the appropriate phrase or phrases. The general allegation of the existence of a Federal question is ineffective unless the matters constituting the claim for relief as set forth in the complaint raise a Federal question."
2. As of December 1980, it is no longer necessary to allege a minimal jurisdictional amount. The Form and note 1 are taken from Official Form 2(b) (See, § 7.1103). The Official Forms found at the end of the FRCP will be referred to from time to time including their examples of acceptable pleading in the district courts.

NOTE: Rule 84 makes the Official Forms "sufficient under the rules."

7.212 Special Federal Question

If a specific federal statute is the basis of subject matter jurisdiction, then the following adopted from Form 2(c) should be used:

> The action arises under the Act of . . . , . . . Stat . . . ; USC, Title . . . § . . . as hereinafter more fully appears.

7.213 Diversity and Alienage Cases

The party invoking diversity jurisdiction must plead the existence of diversity. Christy v. Atlantic Int'l Oil Corp., 59 FRD 651 (SD Ohio 1972). Official Form 2(a) sets out such an averment:

> Plaintiff is a (citizen of the State of Connecticut) (corporation incorporated under the laws of the State of Connecticut having its principal place of business in the State of Connecticut) and defendant is a corporation incorporated under the laws of the State of New York having its principal place of business in a state other than the State of Connecticut. The matter in controversy exceeds, exclusive of interest and costs, the sum of ten thousand dollars.

(a) Form for Natural Person

Since residency is not the same as citizenship, an averment that a party is a resident of a certain state or foreign country is not sufficient. DeVries v. Starr, 393 F2d 9 (10th Cir. 1968). Nor is an averment that a natural person is a citizen of the United States without alleging that he is a citizen of a certain state. Clapp v. Stearns Co., 229 F Supp 305 (SD NY 1964). Rather the averment should be that a natural person is a citizen of a specific state as shown in the Form above, or in the case of an alien, that the alien is a subject of or citizen of a foreign country.

Since corporations may have dual citizenship for purposes of diversity, i.e., a citizen of the state of its incorporation, as well as a citizen of the place where its principal place of business is, both must be pleaded to show diversity exists. Moore v. Sylvania Elec. Prods. Inc., 454 F2d 81 (3rd Cir. 1972) (See, Diversity § 2.230 et. seq.).

(b) Allegation of Jurisdictional Amount

In diversity cases the jurisdictional amount in controversy must be alleged (See, 28 USC § 1332). The last sentence of Form 2(a) above meets this requirement. Although general federal questions no longer require that there be an amount in controversy, certain federal statutes may require the pleading of same. For example, statutory interpleader has a requirement that the amount in controversy exceed $500 (See, 28 USC § 1335).

The failure to allege jurisdictional grounds will result in the dismissal of the action unless the defect can be cured by amendment. Lack of jurisdiction can be raised at any time, even on appeal. Ramsey v. Mellon Nat'l Bank & Trust, 350 F2d 874 (3rd Cir. 1965). If defendent attacks the jurisdictional grounds, then the burden is on the plaintiff to show its existence. Krasnov v. Dinan, 465 F2d 1298 (3rd Cir. 1972).

7.220 Statement of Claim

Under Rule 8(a)(2), the complaint need only consist of a short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief. Unlike code pleading, all the pleader is required to do is to give the opposing party fair notice of the claim and an indication of the type of litigation involved. Banco Continental v. Curtiss Nat'l Bank, 406 F2d 510 (5th Cir. 1969). A complaint is sufficient if plaintiff would be entitled to relief under any state of facts that could be proven in support of the claim alleged. Arthur Richland Co. v. Harper, 302 F2d 324 (5th Cir. 1962). A complaint is sufficient so long as some legal theory is presented even though it was not the one in the mind of the pleader. A complaint should not be dismissed for failure to state a claim unless it appears beyond doubt that the plaintiff can prove no set of facts in support of his claim which would entitle him to relief. Conley v. Gibson, 355 US 41, 78 S Ct 90 (1957).

NOTE: While the FRCP are less stringent than those for code pleading, there is no excuse for sloppy pleading. In simple cases the Official Forms may suffice. For specific matters see 5 Wright & Miller §§ 1222–1254.

7.230 Demand

Rule 8(a)(3) provides that there must be a demand for judgment of the relief which the pleader believes that he is entitled to contained in his claim. Only one demand is required regardless of the number of claims asserted. Liberty Mutual Ins. Co. v. Wetzel, 424 US 737, 96 S Ct 1202 (1976). However, the demand for judgment is not considered a part of the claim for purposes of testing the sufficiency of the claim. Schoonover v. Schoonover, 172 F2d 526 (10th Cir. 1949).

Even if an improper remedy is selected in the demand, so long as the claim indicates entitlement to some type of relief, the pleadings are not defective. Kansas City, St. L. & C. R. Co. v. Alton R. Co., 124 F2d 780 (7th Cir. 1941). For examples of alleging demands see Official Forms 3, 9 and 13 (See, §§ 7.1104, 7.1110, 7.1113).

NOTE: Default judgments are limited to the demand prayed for (See, Default Judgments § 15.900 et. seq.).

7.240 Alternative, Hypothetical, and Inconsistent Pleadings

Under Rule 8(e)(2) a party may plead a claim or defense in the alternative or hypothetically, either in one count or defense or in separate counts or defenses. It further provides that separate claims or defenses may be inconsistent. This Rule is supplemented by Rule 8(a)(3) which states that relief in the alternative may be demanded and by Rule 18(a) which permits joinder of claims as independent or alternative claims (See, Joinder of Claims § 9.120).

Alternative and hypothetical pleadings are, by their nature, inconsistent. However, such pleading is allowed. The only restriction on inconsistent pleadings is that it meet the good faith and honesty requirements of Rule 11 (Rule 8(e)(2)) (See, Signing of Pleadings § 7.500 et. seq.).

7.250 Standards of Pleading

Rule 8(e)(1) states that averments must be simple, concise and direct. This Rule supplements Rules 8(a), (b) and (c) which deal more with the substantive content of pleadings. What is "simple and concise" depends on the nature of the litigation. The more complex the action the more details will be required to be pleaded, particularly in fraud actions, as a result of Rule 9(b). This Rule applies to all pleadings.

7.260 Denials

Under Rule 8(b), "[a] party shall state in short and plain terms his defenses to each claim asserted and shall admit and deny the averments upon which the adverse party relies. . . ." Rule 8(b) applies to any pleading where a defense or denial can be set out. Thus, in addition to an answer to a complaint, it applies to answers to cross-claims or an answer to a third party claim as well as a reply to a claim. Under Rule 8(d), failure to deny an averment in a pleading, except as to the amount of damages, is an admission (But see, Rule 12(h) for defenses which are reserved). However, where no responsive pleadings are required, then the averments in the pleadings are deemed denied or avoided.

Under Rule 8(e)(2), the answer may contain as many defenses which the party can raise which may be pleaded alternatively, hypothetically, or inconsistently. An example of how to plead an answer, including affirmative defenses, is found in Official Form 20 (See, § 7.1119).

A party who is without information or belief sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of an averment is allowed to so plead under Rule 8(b). Such a pleading has the effect of a denial. The third defense of Official Form 20, infra, is an example of such a pleading.

Although not provided for in Rule 8, a party may deny on information and belief. However, if the information is within the personal knowledge of the pleader or within the general knowledge of the community or is a matter of public record, then this type of denial cannot be used. Oregon Mesabi Corp. v. C. D. Johnson Lumber Co., 166 F2d 997 (9th Cir. 1947), cert. den. 334 US 837 (1948). A form of denial on information and belief is as follows:

> Defendant is informed and believes that the allegations of paragraph _____ of the complaint are untrue and basing his denial on that ground denies each and every allegation contained in such paragraph _____.

Under Rule 9(a) and (c), there are two situations where specific pleading of denials are required:

(1) in order to put into issue the capacity of a party and
(2) the responding party must make a specific denial to an averment of performance or occurance of conditions precedent.

Pleading affirmative defenses under Rule 8(c) is discussed at § 7.270.

7.261 Types of Denials

A defendant can make a general denial to the entire complaint subject to Rule 11 (Rule 8(b)). (See, Signing of Pleadings § 7.500 et. seq.). An example of such a denial is, "Defendant denies each and every allegation in the complaint."

(a) Specific and Qualified Denials

If a party in good faith cannot deny each and every averment of the complaint, then that party may make ". . . specific denials of designated averments or paragraphs . . ." under Rule 8(b). See the Third Defense of Official Form 20 (See, § 7.1119) for such a denial.

If the defendant wants to controvert almost all of the averments except such designated averments or paragraphs which he expressly admits, such a pleading would be, "Defendant denies each and every paragraph contained in the complaint except that Defendant admits paragraph. . . ."

(b) Negative Pregnants and Argumentative Denials

Under Code Pleading, if plaintiff pleads that defendant is indebted to him in the sum of $15,000 and defendant generally denies such an allegation, then technically defendent has admitted that he is indebted to plaintiff in a sum greater or lesser than $15,000. This is called a negative pregnant. In Code pleading states, to avoid a negative pregnant, defendant's denial would be, "Defendant is not indebted to plaintiff in the sum of $15,000 or any other sum."

An argumentive denial is not a denial but an affirmative statement of facts inconsistent with the truth of the averment sought to be controverted.

Under the FRCP, the failure to avoid a negative pregnant or pleading an argumentive denial should not be fatal to the pleading since under Rule 8(f) pleadings are to be construed to do substantial justice. However, it is recommended that code pleading practice may avoid any potential problems.

7.262 Effect of Failure to Deny

Under Rule 8(d), when a responsive pleading is required, the failure of a responding party to deny an averment is deemed an admission of such averment except as to the amount of damages. Of course, where no responsive pleading is required, the averments are deemed denied.

WAIVER OF SERVICE OF SUMMONS

TO: _____
(NAME OF PLAINTIFF'S ATTORNEY OR UNREPRESENTED PLAINTIFF)

I, _____, acknowledge receipt of your request
(DEFENDANT NAME)

that I waive service of summons in the action of Newsome v. Crews, et al.,
(CAPTION OF ACTION)

which is case number 3:07-cv-00099-TSL-JCS in the United States District Court (DOCKET NUMBER)

for the Southern District of Mississippi (Jackson Division).

I have also received a copy of the complaint in the action, two copies of this instrument, and a means by which I can return the signed waiver to you without cost to me.

I agree to save the cost of service of a summons and an additional copy of the complaint in this lawsuit by not requiring that I (or the entity on whose behalf I am acting) be served with judicial process in the manner provided by Rule 4.

I (or the entity on whose behalf I am acting) will retain all defenses or objections to the lawsuit or to the jurisdiction or venue of the court except for objections based on a defect in the summons or in the service of the summons.

I understand that a judgment may be entered against me (or the party on whose behalf I am acting) if an answer or motion under Rule 12 is not served upon you within 60 days after _____, or within 90 days after that date if the request was sent outside the United States.
(DATE REQUEST WAS SENT)

(TITLE) (CORPORATE DEFENDANT)

Duty to Avoid Unnecessary Costs of Service of Summons

Rule 4 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure requires certain parties to cooperate in saving unnecessary costs of service of the summons and complaint. A defendant located in the United States who, after being notified of an action and asked by a plaintiff located in the United States to waive service of summons, fails to do so will be required to bear the cost of such service unless good cause be shown for its failure to sign and return the waiver.

It is not good cause for a failure to waive service that a party believes that the complaint is unfounded, or that the action has been brought in an improper place or in a court that lacks jurisdiction over the subject matter of the action or over its person or property. A party who waives service of the summons retains all defenses and objections (except any relating to the summons or to the service of the summons), and may later object to the jurisdiction of the court or to the place where the action has been brought.

A defendant who waives service must within the time specified on the waiver form serve on the plaintiff's attorney (or unrepresented plaintiff) a response to the complaint and must also file a signed copy of the response with the court. If the answer or motion is not served within this time, a default judgment may be taken against that defendant. By waiving service, a defendant is allowed more time to answer than if the summons had been actually served when the request for waiver of service was received.

AO 398 (Rev. 12/93)

NOTICE OF LAWSUIT AND REQUEST FOR WAIVER OF SERVICE OF SUMMONS

TO: (A) William L. Skinner, II

as (B) _____ of (C) _____

A lawsuit has been commenced against you (or the entity on whose behalf you are addressed). A copy of the complaint is attached to this notice. It has been filed in the United States District Court for the (D) Southern District of Mississippi (Jackson) and has been assigned docket number (E) 3:07-cv-00099.

This is not a formal summons or notification from the court, but rather my request that you sign and return the enclosed waiver of service in order to save the cost of serving you with a judicial summons and an additional copy of the complaint. The cost of service will be avoided if I receive a signed copy of the waiver within (F) 30 days after the date designated below as the date on which this Notice and Request is sent. I enclose a stamped and addressed envelope (or other means of cost-free return) for your use. An extra copy of the waiver is also attached for your records.

If you comply with this request and return the signed waiver, it will be filed with the court and no summons will be served on you. The action will then proceed as if you had been served on the date the waiver is filed, except that you will not be obligated to answer the complaint before 60 days from the date designated below as the date on which this notice is sent (or before 90 days from that date if your address is not in any judicial district of the United States).

If you do not return the signed waiver within the time indicated, I will take appropriate steps to effect formal service in a manner authorized by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and will then, to the extent authorized by those Rules, ask the court to require you (or the party on whose behalf you are addressed) to pay the full costs of such service. In that connection, please read the statement concerning the duty of parties to waive the service of the summons, which is set forth at the foot of the waiver form.

I affirm that this request is being sent to you on behalf of the plaintiff, this 26th day of April, 2007.

Signature of Plaintiff's Attorney
or Unrepresented Plaintiff

NOTE: To save cost in litigation this Notice of Lawsuit and Request for Waiver of Service of Summons and Waiver of Service of Summons is being provided you. Plaintiff has also attached to form document entitled, "Notification Accompanying Waiver Request" which she believes contains pertinent information regarding Answering of Complaint.

NOTIFICATION ACCOMPANYING WAIVER REQUEST

You are hereby NOTIFIED that your responsive pleading shall comply with Federal Rules of Civil Procedure Rule 8[1] and/or other applicable laws governing said matters and those responses to Complaint shall:

1. State in short and plain terms the your defenses to each claim asserted and shall admit or deny averments upon which you rely;

2. If you are without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of an averment, you shall so state and this has the effect of a denial. However, said denials shall fairly meet the substance of the averments denied;

3. If you intend in good faith to deny only a part or a qualification of an averment, then you shall specify so much of it as is true and material and shall deny only the remainder; and

4. Be subject to the provisions of Federal Rules of Civil Procedure Rule 11. Your "failure to comply with Rule 11 may be attacked by a motion to strike." "An attorney who willfully violates Rule 11 is subject to possible disciplinary action." Your signing of pleading constitutes a certificate of the following:

   a. That the attorney (or party) has conducted a reasonable inquiry;

   b. That he or she is satisfied that the paper is well grounded in fact;

   c. That the pleading has a basis in existing law or that the attorney (or party) has a good faith argument to amend or reverse existing law;

   d. That the pleading is not interposed for any improper purpose, such as harassment, delay or needless increase of his opponent's costs of litigation.

   . . . If the pleading or other paper is signed in violation of this Rule, appropriate sanctions shall be imposed by the court on motion or on its own initiative. Sanctions may include an order to pay the other party the amount of reasonable expenses caused by the violation, including reasonable attorney's fees.[2]

You are hereby further NOTIFIED that:

5. That you are to familiarize and/or acquaint yourself with the Rules governing responsive pleadings. Answers such as "failure to state a claim," "lack of

6. If your answer is not sufficiently definite in nature to give reasonable notice of the allegations in the Complaint sought to be placed in issue, the Plaintiff's averments may be treated as admitted (i.e. a corporate defendant's denial of "each and every allegation" did not give "plain notice.").[4]

7. A denial of knowledge or information requires that you not only lack first-hand knowledge of the necessary facts involved, but also that you lack information upon which you reasonably could form a personal belief concerning the truth of the Plaintiff's allegations.[5]

8. Normally, you may not assert lack of knowledge or information if the necessary facts or data involved are within your knowledge or easily brought within your knowledge – (i.e. An answer denying information as to the truth or falsity of a matter necessarily within the knowledge of the party's managing officers is a sham, and will be treated as an admission of allegation of the complaint.[6])

9. An averment, that you are without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to matters that are of common knowledge or of which you can inform yourself with the slightest effort, will be treated as patently false and the effect and purpose will be taken as such to merely delay justice.[7]

10. If the Answer to the Complaint is not in compliance with the rules and/or laws governing said matters, the applicable Motion to Strike the Answer will be filed and request for proper relief (i.e. sanctions against you and or attorney [if applicable]) will be sought.

You are NOTIFIED that unless you serve and file a written responsive pleading within the specified time, the Plaintiff will take judgment against you by default for the relief demanded in the Complaint.

FEDERAL CIVIL PROCEDURE

NOTE: Most federal courts allow only an attorney admitted in that federal jurisdiction to file and appear. The general rule is that to be admitted to a district, the attorney must be a member of the bar of that state. Be sure to check Local Rules, e.g., Rule 2.2.1 of Central District of California.

7.530 Signing of Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers

Effective August 1, 1983, Rule 11 was amended. It now governs the signing of all pleadings, motions and other papers and states that the signing of such documents by an attorney constitutes a certificate of the following:

(1) That the attorney (or party) has conducted a reasonable inquiry;
(2) That he or she is satisfied that the paper is well grounded in fact;
(3) That the pleading has a basis in existing law or that the attorney (or party) has a good faith argument to amend or reverse existing law;
(4) That the pleading is not interposed for any improper purpose, such as harassment, delay or needless increase of his opponent's costs of litigation.

Non-signing of the pleadings and other papers, may result in the document being stricken. If the pleading or other paper is signed in violation of this Rule, appropriate sanctions shall be imposed by the court on motion or on its own initiative. Sanctions may include an order to pay the other party the amount of reasonable expenses caused by the violation, including reasonable attorney's fees.

7.540 Verification

Some states allow verification of all pleadings whether required or not. Where a pleading is verified, the response must likewise be verified, e.g., California Code of Civil Procedure § 446. Rule 11 provides that except where specifically required by statute or rule, pleadings need not be verified. Under Hanna v. Plumer, supra, the rule or statute referred to is federal not state. Some of the Federal Rules which require verification are Rules 23.1, 27(a), 65(b), and 66. For a listing of statutes requiring verification, see 5 Wright & Miller § 1335.

NOTE: The rules applicable to captions, signing and other matters of form of pleadings apply to all motions and other papers provided for in the Federal Rules. (See, Rule 7(b)(2)).

NILES

FEDERAL CIVIL PROCEDURE

Exhibit C

formulate the issues to be tried. Thus, only ultimate facts are allowed while conclusions of law and evidentiary statements are not. Black v. First Nat'l Bank, 255 F2d 373 (5th Cir. 1958).

7.100 PLEADINGS ALLOWED

Rule 7(a) sets out those pleadings which are allowed in the district courts:

(1) Complaint;
(2) Answer;
(3) Reply to a counterclaim denoted as such;
(4) Answer to a cross-claim if the answer contains a cross-claim;
(5) Third party complaint if a party who was not an original party is summoned under Rule 14;
(6) Third party answer if a third party complaint is served.

No other pleadings are allowed unless the court orders a reply to an answer or third party answer.

Note that a reply is mandatory only where the answer contains a counterclaim designated as such (See, Counterclaims § 9.200 et. seq.).

Rule 7(c) specifically abolishes "demurrers, pleas and exception to sufficiency of a pleading . . .". Although the demurrer is abolished, a motion to strike an insufficient answer under Rule 12(f) and a motion to dismiss the complaint for failure to state a claim under Rule 12(b)(6) perform functions similar to a demurrer (See, Motion Practice § 11.450 and 11.575).

7.200 GENERAL RULES OF PLEADING

The general rules of pleading in the district courts are provided by Rule 8. Briefly summarized they provide the following:

(1) That all claims and defenses are to be stated in short and plain terms (See, Rule 8(a) & (b)). Averments are to be simple, concise and direct and no technical forms of pleadings or motions are required (See, Rule 8(e)(1)). Accordingly, the degree of particularity will depend on the complexity of the matter. However, except for Rule 9 which requires pleading of special matter, such averments can be made in general terms.
(2) Under Rule 8(e)(2), pleadings can be alleged in the alternative or hypothetical and do not have to be consistent subject to the obligations of Rule 11 (See, Signing § 7.500).

(3) A general denial to the entire pleading is allowed provided Rule 11 is not violated (See, Rule 8(b)).

(4) The pleader is not bound by any theory of pleading and there is no longer any distinction between law and equity insofar as pleadings are concerned (See, Rule 8(e)(2)).

(5) Pleadings are to be construed to do substantial justice (See, Rule 8(f)).

NOTE: The FRCP govern the details of pleading in the district courts, Hanna v. Plumer, 380 US 460, 85 S Ct 1136 (1965). In addition, they control the allocation of the burden of pleading and signing of pleadings.

Under Rule 8(a), any pleading which sets forth a claim for relief whether an original claim, counterclaim, cross-claim or third party claim must contain the following:

(1) A short and plain statement of the ground upon which the court's jurisdiction depends unless the court already has jurisdiction;

(2) A short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief;

(3) A demand for judgment for the relief to which the pleader deems himself entitled;

(4) Relief in the alternative, or of several different types, may be demanded.

7.210 Pleading Jurisdictional Grounds

Because federal courts are of limited jurisdiction, it is mandatory that the complaint aver the subject matter jurisdiction of the court. Rotolo v. Burough of Chareroi, 532 F2d 920 (3rd Cir. 1976) (See, Subject Matter Jurisdiction § 2.200 et. seq.).

7.211 Federal Question

If jurisdiction is based on a general federal question under 28 USC § 1331, then jurisdiction should be pleaded as follows:

> The action arises under (the Constitution of the United States Article . . . section . . .); (the . . . Amendment to the Constitution, section . . .); (The Act of . . . , . . . Stat . . . : USC, Title . . . , § . . .); (the Treaty of the United States with (here describe treaty),[1] as hereinafter more fully appears.[2]

1. "Use the appropriate phrase or phrases. The general allegation of the existence of a Federal question is ineffective unless the matters constituting the claim for relief as set forth in the complaint raise a Federal question."
2. As of December 1980, it is no longer necessary to allege a minimal jurisdictional amount. The Form and note 1 are taken from Official Form 2(b) (See, § 7.1103). The Official Forms found at the end of the FRCP will be referred to from time to time including their examples of acceptable pleading in the district courts.

NOTE: Rule 84 makes the Official Forms "sufficient under the rules."

7.212 Special Federal Question

If a specific federal statute is the basis of subject matter jurisdiction, then the following adopted from Form 2(c) should be used:

> The action arises under the Act of . . . , . . . Stat . . . ; USC, Title . . . § . . . as hereinafter more fully appears.

7.213 Diversity and Alienage Cases

The party invoking diversity jurisdiction must plead the existence of diversity. Christy v. Atlantic Int'l Oil Corp., 59 FRD 651 (SD Ohio 1972). Official Form 2(a) sets out such an averment:

> Plaintiff is a (citizen of the State of Connecticut) (corporation incorporated under the laws of the State of Connecticut having its principal place of business in the State of Connecticut) and defendant is a corporation incorporated under the laws of the State of New York having its principal place of business in a state other than the State of Connecticut. The matter in controversy exceeds, exclusive of interest and costs, the sum of ten thousand dollars.

(a) Form for Natural Person

Since residency is not the same as citizenship, an averment that a party is a resident of a certain state or foreign country is not sufficient. DeVries v. Starr, 393 F2d 9 (10th Cir. 1968). Nor is an averment that a natural person is a citizen of the United States without alleging that he is a citizen of a certain state. Clapp v. Stearns Co., 229 F Supp 305 (SD NY 1964). Rather the averment should be that a natural person is a citizen of a specific state as shown in the Form above, or in the case of an alien, that the alien is a subject of or citizen of a foreign country.

Since corporations may have dual citizenship for purposes of diversity, i.e., a citizen of the state of its incorporation, as well as a citizen of the place where its principal place of business is, both must be pleaded to show diversity exists. Moore v. Sylvania Elec. Prods. Inc., 454 F2d 81 (3rd Cir. 1972) (See, Diversity § 2.230 et. seq.).

(b) Allegation of Jurisdictional Amount

In diversity cases the jurisdictional amount in controversy must be alleged (See, 28 USC § 1332). The last sentence of Form 2(a) above meets this requirement. Although general federal questions no longer require that there be an amount in controversy, certain federal statutes may require the pleading of same. For example, statutory interpleader has a requirement that the amount in controversy exceed $500 (See, 28 USC § 1335).

The failure to allege jurisdictional grounds will result in the dismissal of the action unless the defect can be cured by amendment. Lack of jurisdiction can be raised at any time, even on appeal. Ramsey v. Mellon Nat'l Bank & Trust, 350 F2d 874 (3rd Cir. 1965). If defendent attacks the jurisdictional grounds, then the burden is on the plaintiff to show its existence. Krasnov v. Dinan, 465 F2d 1298 (3rd Cir. 1972).

7.220 Statement of Claim

Under Rule 8(a)(2), the complaint need only consist of a short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief. Unlike code pleading, all the pleader is required to do is to give the opposing party fair notice of the claim and an indication of the type of litigation involved. Banco Continental v. Curtiss Nat'l Bank, 406 F2d 510 (5th Cir. 1969). A complaint is sufficient if plaintiff would be entitled to relief under any state of facts that could be proven in support of the claim alleged. Arthur Richland Co. v. Harper, 302 F2d 324 (5th Cir. 1962). A complaint is sufficient so long as some legal theory is presented even though it was not the one in the mind of the pleader. A complaint should not be dismissed for failure to state a claim unless it appears beyond doubt that the plaintiff can prove no set of facts in support of his claim which would entitle him to relief. Conley v. Gibson, 355 US 41, 78 S Ct 90 (1957).

NOTE: While the FRCP are less stringent than those for code pleading, there is no excuse for sloppy pleading. In simple cases the Official Forms may suffice. For specific matters see 5 Wright & Miller §§ 1222–1254.

7.230 Demand

Rule 8(a)(3) provides that there must be a demand for judgment of the relief which the pleader believes that he is entitled to contained in his claim. Only one demand is required regardless of the number of claims asserted. Liberty Mutual Ins. Co. v. Wetzel, 424 US 737, 96 S Ct 1202 (1976). However, the demand for judgment is not considered a part of the claim for purposes of testing the sufficiency of the claim. Schoonover v. Schoonover, 172 F2d 526 (10th Cir. 1949).

Even if an improper remedy is selected in the demand, so long as the claim indicates entitlement to some type of relief, the pleadings are not defective. Kansas City, St. L. & C. R. Co. v. Alton R. Co., 124 F2d 780 (7th Cir. 1941). For examples of alleging demands see Official Forms 3, 9 and 13 (See, §§ 7.1104, 7.1110, 7.1113).

NOTE: Default judgments are limited to the demand prayed for (See, Default Judgments § 15.900 et. seq.).

7.240 Alternative, Hypothetical, and Inconsistent Pleadings

Under Rule 8(e)(2) a party may plead a claim or defense in the alternative or hypothetically, either in one count or defense or in separate counts or defenses. It further provides that separate claims or defenses may be inconsistent. This Rule is supplemented by Rule 8(a)(3) which states that relief in the alternative may be demanded and by Rule 18(a) which permits joinder of claims as independent or alternative claims (See, Joinder of Claims § 9.120).

Alternative and hypothetical pleadings are, by their nature, inconsistent. However, such pleading is allowed. The only restriction on inconsistent pleadings is that it meet the good faith and honesty requirements of Rule 11 (Rule 8(e)(2)) (See, Signing of Pleadings § 7.500 et. seq.).

7.250 Standards of Pleading

Rule 8(e)(1) states that averments must be simple, concise and direct. This Rule supplements Rules 8(a), (b) and (c) which deal more with the substantive content of pleadings. What is "simple and concise" depends on the nature of the litigation. The more complex the action the more details will be required to be pleaded, particularly in fraud actions, as a result of Rule 9(b). This Rule applies to all pleadings.

7.260 Denials

Under Rule 8(b), "[a] party shall state in short and plain terms his defenses to each claim asserted and shall admit and deny the averments upon which the adverse party relies. . . ." Rule 8(b) applies to any pleading where a defense or denial can be set out. Thus, in addition to an answer to a complaint, it applies to answers to cross-claims or an answer to a third party claim as well as a reply to a claim. Under Rule 8(d), failure to deny an averment in a pleading, except as to the amount of damages, is an admission (But see, Rule 12(h) for defenses which are reserved). However, where no responsive pleadings are required, then the averments in the pleadings are deemed denied or avoided.

Under Rule 8(e)(2), the answer may contain as many defenses which the party can raise which may be pleaded alternatively, hypothetically, or inconsistently. An example of how to plead an answer, including affirmative defenses, is found in Official Form 20 (See, § 7.1119).

A party who is without information or belief sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of an averment is allowed to so plead under Rule 8(b). Such a pleading has the effect of a denial. The third defense of Official Form 20, infra, is an example of such a pleading.

Although not provided for in Rule 8, a party may deny on information and belief. However, if the information is within the personal knowledge of the pleader or within the general knowledge of the community or is a matter of public record, then this type of denial cannot be used. Oregon Mesabi Corp. v. C. D. Johnson Lumber Co., 166 F2d 997 (9th Cir. 1947), cert. den. 334 US 837 (1948). A form of denial on information and belief is as follows:

> Defendant is informed and believes that the allegations of paragraph _____ of the complaint are untrue and basing his denial on that ground denies each and every allegation contained in such paragraph _____.

Under Rule 9(a) and (c), there are two situations where specific pleading of denials are required:

(1) in order to put into issue the capacity of a party and
(2) the responding party must make a specific denial to an averment of performance or occurance of conditions precedent.

Pleading affirmative defenses under Rule 8(c) is discussed at § 7.270.

7.261 Types of Denials

A defendant can make a general denial to the entire complaint subject to Rule 11 (Rule 8(b)). (See, Signing of Pleadings § 7.500 et. seq.). An example of such a denial is, "Defendant denies each and every allegation in the complaint."

(a) Specific and Qualified Denials

If a party in good faith cannot deny each and every averment of the complaint, then that party may make ". . . specific denials of designated averments or paragraphs . . ." under Rule 8(b). See the Third Defense of Official Form 20 (See, § 7.1119) for such a denial.

If the defendant wants to controvert almost all of the averments except such designated averments or paragraphs which he expressly admits, such a pleading would be, "Defendant denies each and every paragraph contained in the complaint except that Defendant admits paragraph. . . ."

(b) Negative Pregnants and Argumentative Denials

Under Code Pleading, if plaintiff pleads that defendant is indebted to him in the sum of $15,000 and defendant generally denies such an allegation, then technically defendent has admitted that he is indebted to plaintiff in a sum greater or lesser than $15,000. This is called a negative pregnant. In Code pleading states, to avoid a negative pregnant, defendant's denial would be, "Defendant is not indebted to plaintiff in the sum of $15,000 or any other sum."

An argumentive denial is not a denial but an affirmative statement of facts inconsistent with the truth of the averment sought to be controverted.

Under the FRCP, the failure to avoid a negative pregnant or pleading an argumentive denial should not be fatal to the pleading since under Rule 8(f) pleadings are to be construed to do substantial justice. However, it is recommended that code pleading practice may avoid any potential problems.

7.262 Effect of Failure to Deny

Under Rule 8(d), when a responsive pleading is required, the failure of a responding party to deny an averment is deemed an admission of such averment except as to the amount of damages. Of course, where no responsive pleading is required, the averments are deemed denied.

WAIVER OF SERVICE OF SUMMONS

that I waive service of summons in the action of Newsome v. Crews, et al.,
(CAPTION OF ACTION)

which is case number 3:07-cv-00099-TSL-JCS in the United States District Court (DOCKET NUMBER)

for the Southern District of Mississippi (Jackson Division).

I have also received a copy of the complaint in the action, two copies of this instrument, and a means by which I can return the signed waiver to you without cost to me.

I agree to save the cost of service of a summons and an additional copy of the complaint in this lawsuit by not requiring that I (or the entity on whose behalf I am acting) be served with judicial process in the manner provided by Rule 4.

I (or the entity on whose behalf I am acting) will retain all defenses or objections to the lawsuit or to the jurisdiction or venue of the court except for objections based on a defect in the summons or in the service of the summons.

I understand that a judgment may be entered against me (or the party on whose behalf I am acting) if an answer or motion under Rule 12 is not served upon you within 60 days after _____,

Duty to Avoid Unnecessary Costs of Service of Summons

Rule 4 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure requires certain parties to cooperate in saving unnecessary costs of service of the summons and complaint. A defendant located in the United States who, after being notified of an action and asked by a plaintiff located in the United States to waive service of summons, fails to do so will be required to bear the cost of such service unless good cause be shown for its failure to sign and return the waiver.

It is not good cause for a failure to waive service that a party believes that the complaint is unfounded, or that the action has been brought in an improper place or in a court that lacks jurisdiction over the subject matter of the action or over its person or property. A party who waives service of the summons retains all defenses and objections (except any relating to the summons or to the service of the summons), and may later object to the jurisdiction of the court or to the place where the action has been brought.

A defendant who waives service must within the time specified on the waiver form serve on the plaintiff's attorney (or unrepresented plaintiff) a response to the complaint and must also file a signed copy of the response with the court. If the answer or motion is not served within this time, a default judgment may be taken against that defendant. By waiving service, a defendant is allowed more time to answer than if the summons had been actually served when the request for waiver of service was received.

INVESTIGATIONS OF PUBLIC CORRUPTION: Rooting Crookedness Out of Government

03/15/04

OPERATION GREYLORD

Today marks an important anniversary in the annals of public corruption investigations in the U.S.

Twenty years ago today, in a federal courtroom in Chicago, a jury found Harold Conn (top center in photo) guilty on all 4 counts of accepting bribes to be passed on to Cook County judges as payment for fixing tickets. The evidence? He had been caught live on FBI tapes.

This "bagman" had been Deputy Traffic Court Clerk in the Cook County judicial system, and he was the first defendant to be found guilty in a mammoth sting investigation of crooked officials in the Cook County courts.

It was called OPERATION GREYLORD, named after the curly wigs worn by British judges. And in the end -- through undercover operations that used honest and very courageous judges and lawyers posing as crooked ones... and with the strong assistance of the Cook County court and local police -- 92 officials had been indicted, including 17 judges, 48 lawyers, 8 policemen, 10 deputy sheriffs, 8 court officials, and 1 state legislator. Nearly all were convicted, most of them pleading guilty (just a few are shown in our photo). It was an important first step to cleaning up the administration of justice in Cook County.

That's really the whole point. Abuse of the public trust cannot and must not be tolerated. Corrupt practices in government strike at the heart of social order and justice. And that's why the FBI has the ticket on investigations of public corruption as a top priority.

How'd that happen? Historically, of course, these cases were considered local matters. A county court clerk taking bribes? Let the county handle it.

But in the 1970s, state and local officials asked for help. They didn't have the resources to handle such intense cases, and they valued the authority and credibility that outside investigators brought to the table. By 1976, the Department of Justice had created a Public Integrity Section, and the FBI was tasked with the investigations, focusing on major, systemic corruption in the body politic.

Who's investigated? Public servants: members of Congress and state legislatures; members of the Administration and governors' offices; judges and court staffs; all of law enforcement; all government agencies. Plus everyone who works with government and is willing to pay for "special favors": lobbyists, contractors, consultants, lawyers, U.S. businesses in foreign countries, you name it.

What kind of crimes? Bribery, kickbacks, and fraud. Vote buying, voter intimidation, impersonation. Political coercion. Racketeering and obstruction of justice. Trafficking of illegal drugs.

How serious of a problem is it? Last year the FBI investigated 850 cases; brought in 655 indictments/informations; and got 525 who were either convicted or chose to plead.

Last words: Straight from Teddy Roosevelt: "Unless a man is honest we have no right to keep him in public life, it matters not how brilliant his capacity, it hardly matters how great his power of doing good service on certain lines may be... No man who is corrupt, no man who condones corruption in others, can possibly do his duty by the community."

COMPLAINT and REQUEST FOR INVESTIGATION TO THE UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE and FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATIONS
FILED BY VOGEL D. NEWSOME
JUNE 26, 2006

Ms. Newsome Vogel Newsome, hereby submit the following Complaint and request an investigation into this matter and that a report of your agency's findings in regards to the issues raised below:

1. On January 23, 2006, a Summons to Tenant issued by the Justice Court of Hinds County was left posted to Ms. Newsome's door. This Summons was in regards to a matter styled Spring Lake Apartments v. Vogel Newsome; Docket No. 2150, Page 539. This Summons was to be served by the Constable, Jon Lewis. A copy of the Summons left on Ms. Newsome's door is attached hereto as Exhibit "A."

2. On or about January 27, 2006, while at the Justice Court of Hinds County, Ms. Newsome requested a copy of the "Proof of Service" of the Summons to see when and how service was perfected. Ms. Newsome was advised by one of the Justice Court representatives that no "Proof of Service" had been filed and the only document they have was the Summons noting when it posted. A copy of the Summons filed with the Justice Court by Constable Jon Lewis is attached hereto as Exhibit "B."

3. Upon review of the copy of the Summons filed with the Justice Court by Constable Jon Lewis, Ms. Newsome noticed that he indicated that the Summons in the Justice Court action was posted on Ms. Newsome's door on January 21, 2006. However, such a statement and/or affirmation is false. The Summons was not posted and/or left for Ms. Newsome until January 23, 2006. Therefore, Ms. Newsome will need to know when the Summons was actually posted. There was no Proof of Service filed by Constable Jon Lewis to provide testimony as to how service of said Summons was made on Ms. Newsome. The laws of the State of Mississippi governing said matters require that a Proof of Service/Service of Process, etc. be provided by Constable Jon Lewis. Constable Jon Lewis failed to abide by the laws governing said matters. Furthermore, the laws of the State of Mississippi prohibits the posting of Summons on residents who reside in a multi-family dwelling – Ms. Newsome resided in a multi-family dwelling at the time of the unlawful and illegal violations rendered her. Also, important to note, the posting of Summons for citizens/residents who live in multi-family dwelling can only be used as a last resort after diligent efforts have been made to personally serve the person on which Summons is issued.

4. While the copy of the Summons filed by Constable Jon Lewis reflects that it was posted on January 21, 2006 (when in fact it was not); however, left/posted on January 23, 2006, Ms. Newsome will need to know what happened to the Summons in between January 21, 2006 (if posted then), and January 23, 2006. If indeed the Summons was posted on that date, then it is apparent that someone tampered with the Summons Constable Jon Lewis attested to being posted. If the Summons was not posted as Constable Jon Lewis attested to, then he falsified the information regarding when the Summons was posted. Moreover, there are concerns that Constable Jon Lewis may have conspired with employee(s) of Spring Lake Apartments to obstruct the administration of justice and to deprive Ms. Newsome equal protection and due process of laws. Said actions which are a violation of Ms. Newsome's constitutional and civil rights as well as other laws governing said matters. Therefore, Ms. Newsome, believes that action taken by Constable Jon Lewis and other(s) was deliberately done to cause her injury and harm.

5. On February 13, 2006, upon returning to her residence, Ms. Newsome had a "Warrant of Removal" left on her door. A Warrant of Removal which cannot be enforced under the laws of Mississippi in that Service of Process was not perfected on Ms. Newsome as required by the laws governing said matters, neither was Proof of Service/Service of Process, etc. to support the steps taken by Constable Jon Lewis filed with Court. Therefore, as a matter of law – in the State of Mississippi – the Justice Court/Judge William Skinner never had jurisdiction over the Ms. Newsome or the case filed by Spring Lake Apartments. Neither did Ms. Newsome, as a matter of law, ever waive service of process in this matter. Therefore, any judgment rendered by Judge Skinner/the Justice Court cannot, as a matter of law, be enforced and/or upheld.

6. On February 14, 2006, Ms. Newsome timely, properly and adequately notified Spring Lake Apartments that she would be seeking to get an Injunction and Restraining Order against it. Spring Lake Apartments was notified via facsimile. Moreover, Spring Lake Apartments was timely, properly, and adequately notified of the defects, improper and/or unlawful means used in the service of Summons upon Ms. Newsome. Spring Lake Apartments was timely, properly and adequately placed on notice that they should seek legal advice from their attorney regarding their handling the matter against Ms. Newsome. However, Spring Lake Apartments elected to evade the laws and subject Ms. Newsome to the unlawful actions initiated by them.

7. On February 14, 2006, upon returning to her residence, Ms. Newsome found Spring Lake Apartment representatives, Melody Crews and others, along with Constable Jon Lewis and his Assistant, unlawfully and illegally removing her personal possessions from her residence. Ms. Newsome requested that Spring Lake Apartments representatives and Constable Jon Lewis and others cease from their unlawful actions. Moreover, Ms. Newsome provided Constable Jon Lewis with a copy of the Injunction and Restraining Order she had filed with the Courts earlier that day. Ms. Newsome advised Constable Lewis and others that they were violating her rights. To no avail. Constable Lewis and others insisted on proceeding in subjecting Ms. Newsome to further injury and harm. As a direct and proximate result of the actions taken by Constable Jon Lewis and others, Ms. Newsome's Constitutional and Civil Rights were violated, her privacy invaded and items unlawfully and illegally seized and removed.

8. While Ms. Newsome had a right to be at her residence and it was Constable Jon Lewis and others who were in violation of the laws, Constable Jon Lewis told Ms. Newsome to wait outside. Constable Lewis doing so while conversing with someone on his cell phone. Later Constable Lewis exited the apartment and placed Ms. Newsome under arrest stating she was being arrested for disorderly conduct. He proceeded to handcuff and force her into his car where he took her to the Hinds County Detention Center in Raymond, Mississippi.

9. On several occasions Ms. Newsome advised Constable Lewis that he was violating her rights. On several occasions Constable Lewis and others had an opportunity to cease from the unlawful and illegal actions they were subjecting Ms. Newsome to; however, elected not to do so.

10. On February 14, 2006, Ms. Newsome was taken to the Hinds County Detention Center where she was booked. Bond had to be posted before she was released. While in the custody of the Hinds County Detention Center, Ms. Newsome was held against her will, never read her rights, refused a phone call, subjected to very hostile, abusive treatment, threats, shackled in chains (around wrist and ankles), etc. where she sustained further injury and/or harm. Ms. Newsome repeatedly requested to speak to Sheriff McMillan; however, such requests were scoffed, laughed at and/or mocked.

11. This is just a synopsis of some of the unlawful and illegal actions taken against Ms. Newsome. The issues addressed herein are not to be taken as all of the facts in the matter and is not to be limited to this information only. Ms. Newsome should be contacted should additional information and/or facts are needed during this investigation.

12. Ms. Newsome request the investigation into Judge William Skinner's handling of this matter. Ms. Newsome has concerns that Judge Skinner knew and/or should have known that he violated the Constitutional Rights, Civil Rights, and other laws governing said matters. Moreover, may have conspired with Constable Jon Lewis and others to subject Ms. Newsome to such unlawful and illegal actions rendered against her.

13. Ms. Newsome has serious beliefs that Judge Skinner may have also knowingly abused and violated that laws relying on his ties to the community and the fact that the "William L. Skinner Training Academy" located in Jackson, Mississippi was named after his late father. See Exhibit "C" attached hereto.

14. Ms. Newsome believes that Judge Skinner was also prejudice towards her because she is African-American and educated.

15. It is important to note that Judge Skinner may also be prejudice towards African-Americans that are educated and not lawyers – such belief has been formed based on the conduct, statements and behavior exhibited towards Ms. Newsome by Judge Skinner. Moreover, from research, it appears that Judge Skinner's father was killed during the FBI's raid on the Republic of New Africa in 1971. See Exhibit "D" attached hereto. Thus, leaving concerns that Judge Skinner, has become a Judge to seek revenge and hide his racial prejudice and animosity behind the judicial robe he wears.

16. In February 2006, Ms. Newsome filed a Complaint with the Mississippi Commission on Judicial Performance ("MCJP") regarding Judge Skinner. However, to date, the MCJP has failed to produce to Ms. Newsome the information she is requesting regarding its investigation. Ms. Newsome also believes that the MCJP may fail to perform the duties owed to Ms. Newsome because of any favors it may try to render to Judge Skinner out of their relationship and sympathy for his father. Thus, it appears to Ms. Newsome from the unlawful and illegal actions rendered her by Judge Skinner, he is indeed riding and/or playing on the sympathy and his connections to evade justice and the laws governing said matters. Moreover, Ms. Newsome has concerns as to the agency's ability to remain fair and impartial in investigating complaints filed against Judge Skinner, Judge Skinner or others, as such agencies may feel a duty to accommodate such illegal and/or unlawful practices out of guilt for the death of Judge Skinner's father and the need to render him favors to hide/mask such guilt.

17. It is such unlawful actions, such as those rendered against Ms. Newsome, that leaves a bad taste in the mouth of African-Americans that justice is also prejudice and the laws are not equally applied with it involves criminal actions taken by white citizens against African-American citizens. Moreover, white citizens are most likely to be given special treatment because of the color of their skin, economic status, etc., than that of African-Americans.

18. On May 15, 2006, Ms. Newsome was terminated from her place of employment. Her employer, Page Kruger & Holland ("PKH"), advised her that they were contacted by someone and notified of the lawsuit she filed in the County Court of Hinds County. PKH advised Ms. Newsome they verified the filing of the Complaint she filed against Spring Lake Apartments. As a direct and proximate result of Ms. Newsome's filing of the complaint in the Hinds County Court and PKH being notified of said filing, Ms. Newsome's employment with PKH was terminated.

19. It is important to note that during Ms. Newsome's employment with PKH, PKH represented and/or is counsel for Hinds County. Thus, Ms. Newsome believes her employment was terminated as a result that PKH knew that she would be filing legal actions against the Constable, Hinds County and other applicable parties. PKH was notified by Ms. Newsome several months back during a conflict check by PKH, of possible conflict. However, PKH did nothing. It was not until they were contacted and notified of the lawsuit I filed against Spring Lake Apartments that PKH terminated my employment. The action taken by PKH is in furtherance of the conspiracy to deprive Ms. Newsome of Constitutional Rights, Civil Rights and other laws governing said matters. Moreover, PKH's action was done to cause Ms. Newsome further harm and injury because she elected, as a citizen of the United States and the State of Mississippi to pursue the course of justice to correct such injustice/wrongs rendered her.

20. Ms. Newsome believes that she has been subjected to a conspiracy formed by individuals to cause her harm and injury as a direct and proximate result of her exercising her Constitutional Rights, Civil Rights and enforcement of other laws governing said matters.

THEREFORE, Ms. Newsome is requesting that the applicable department of the United States Department of Justice and the Federal Bureau of Investigations investigate the allegations raised in this Complaint and produce to her their findings.

RESPECTFULLY submitted this the 26th day of June, 2006.

Jackson officers remembered

- City pays tribute to those who died in line of duty

By Jimmie E. Gates

Vickie D. King/The Clarion-Ledger

Suzanne Walters is escorted by Lt. Steve Sansom on Wednesday to the memorial honoring Jackson's fallen police officers. There, she placed a carnation in memory of her father, Rickey Joe Simmons, who was killed on Feb. 4, 1992. Thirteen officers were memorialized at the ceremony.

Thirteen Jackson police officers, including two killed 113 years ago, were memorialized Wednesday during the annual Jackson Police Memorial Day program at the William L. Skinner Training Academy.

"They had been forgotten about," Police Chief Shirlene Anderson said of officers Walker Guice and Percy Clifton Hines. They were killed Jan. 14, 1893, while attempting to arrest two men.

Anderson said police staffers found out about Hines and Guice while doing research for this year's program.

"I thought I was the only person who knew," said Hines' great-great-niece, Linda Hines Goff of Ridgeland. "I'm truly thankful."

Everyone knew Hines as "Turk," said Goff, who attended the service and placed a flower in memory of her uncle at the base of the granite memorial bearing the name of JPD officers killed in the line of duty.

JPD is the largest Police Department in the state with 477 sworn officers.

Southern District U.S. Attorney Dunn Lampton, speaker for the program, told the families and law officers from throughout the metro area that about 200 officers statewide have been killed in the line of duty.

"It is a fitting and proper program meant to be a sterling tribute to those heroes," Lampton said of the memorial.

Thomas Catchings was the last JPD officer killed in the line of duty. Catchings died March 17, 2005, in a shootout with carjacking suspect Omar Hampton, 18, of Jackson, who also died.

Catchings' widow, Yolanda, said it meant more than life to share in the memorial for her husband and the other fallen officers.

"It's honor, respect, love, dignity and history in the making," Catchings said.

Slain officer Brian Kinsey's 10-year-old daughter, Lauryn, and his widow, Shanna Kinsey Adams, laid a flower on the memorial stone for fallen officers.

Although she has remarried, Adams said the memorial means no one has forgotten Brian Kinsey, who was killed Oct. 22, 1997.

Adams said she wants her daughter to know about her dad, who she said was a great person.

Lauryn was 22 months old when her father was killed while answering a domestic-disturbance call.

Ex-Republic of New Africa leader denounced as terrorist, praised as role model

By Jack Mazurak

Judge William Skinner today criticized Jackson Councilman Kenneth Stokes for inviting convicted felon Imari Obadele to speak at Jackson's City Hall and Jackson attorney Chokwe Lumumba for supporting the action. Obadele, the former leader of the Republic of New Africa, was convicted of conspiracy in the 1971 slaying of Skinner's father, Jackson police Lt. William Louis Skinner.

Former Republic of New Africa president Imari Obadele, who served time for conspiracy in the 1971 slaying of Jackson police Lt. William Louis Skinner, was described today as terrorist by the officer's son.

In another meeting, he was lauded as a role model by Jackson City Council member Kenneth Stokes, who is hosting Obadele tonight during a Black History Month speech at Jackson City Hall.

Obadele appeared this morning at the Jackson City Council's regular meeting, signing up to speak before the panel as regular citizens are allowed to do.

Obadele said the RNA is a peaceful group, not a terrorist organization, that wanted to establish an independent country that included Mississippi.

[redacted]' he said, referring to the August 1971 shootout between law enforcement officers and RNA members that resulted in Skinner's death.

But minutes before Obadele spoke to the council, Hinds County Justice Court Judge Bill Skinner blasted the former RNA leader and Stokes.

Obadele had as much told Lt. William Louis Skinner that he was going to kill him, Skinner's son said.

"This man is a terrorist," [redacted] "He ran a terrorist organization, and there is no difference between him and Osama bin Laden."

He chastised Jackson Mayor Harvey Johnson Jr. and the council members who did not speak out against Obadele.

[redacted] Bill Skinner said.
Only two council members, Ben Allen and Marshand Crisler, have publicly said Obadele has no place speaking in City Hall.

Allen, on his WJNT-1180 talk-radio show this morning, blasted Stokes for independently bringing Obadele to City Hall.

Obadele's speech tonight at City Hall, an opener for Black History Month, has stirred strife in city officials and community members through the last five days.

Accusations and cutting comments have only become thicker in the hours before his controversial speech.

During the council's 10 a.m. meeting, a face off between both sides roiled emotions. Obadele and local lawyers Chokwe

If so, that the proper prosecution and indictments be rendered and the applicable punish permissible and/or required by statutes/laws be had against any of the person(s)/conspirator(s) found to be guilty of said crime and/or unlawful/illegal action.

2. Newsome believes that an investigation into allegations and claims against the above referenced person(s)/conspirator(s) will support that two or more of said person(s)/conspirator(s) agreed to commit unlawful/illegal acts coupled with the intent to achieve the agreements' objectives: (a) to discriminate against Newsome in housing; (b) subject Newsome to harassment, threats, hostile treatments, intimidation, discrimination, malicious prosecution, corruption, hatred, hostility, etc.; (c) interfere with Civil Rights of Newsome through the obstruction of justice; (d) subject Newsome to unlawful entries, theft, burglary, larceny, invasion/invasion of privacy, etc.; (e) conspiracy against rights; (f) and any such unlawful/illegal acts found during the handling of this investigation.

3. The above referenced person(s)/conspirator(s) conspired for the purpose of inflicting upon Newsome intentional and deliberate injury/harm which they knew was unlawful/illegal and inflicted in a manner known to said person(s)/conspirator(s) to be unlawful/illegal and prohibited by statutes/laws. Such actions which resulted in criminal wrong doing of and against Newsome by person(s)/conspirator(s) as a direct and proximate result of the conspiracy leveled against her.

4. Each of the above referenced person(s)/conspirator(s) were responsible for a distinct act within the overall plan of the conspiracy in which they were willing participants. Said person(s)/conspirator(s) having an interest in the overall scheme and the outcome of said scheme/conspiracy and is therefore, liable for their action and/or those of other's in the carrying out of their role in the illegal/unlawful actions against Newsome in furtherance of the conspiracy alleged.

II. BURGLARY:

> Burglary - (2) The modern statutory offense of breaking and entering any building - not just a dwelling, and not only at night - with the intent to commit a felony.
>
> Burglar - One who commits burglary.
>
> Burglarized - To commit burglary.
>
> Breaking - (Criminal Law): In the law of burglary, the act of entering a building without permission.
> > "[T]o constitute a breaking at common law, there had to be the creation of a breach or opening; a mere trespass at law was insufficient. If the occupant of the dwelling had created the opening, it was felt that he had not entitled himself to the protection of the law, as he had not properly secured his dwelling . . . In the modern American criminal codes, only seldom is there a requirement of breaking. This is not to suggest, however, that elimination of this requirement has left the 'entry' element unadorned, so that any type of entry will suffice. Rather, at least some of what was encompassed within the common law 'breaking' element is reflected by other terms describing what kind of entry is necessary. The most common statutory term is 'unlawfully,' but some jurisdictions use other language, such as 'unauthorized,' by 'trespass,' 'without authority,' 'without consent,' or 'without privilege.' Wayne R. LaFave & Austin W. Scott Jr., Criminal Law ~8.13 at 793-94 (2d ed. 1986).

1. As a matter of law, certain of the person(s)/conspirator(s) (i.e. Martin, Sheriff/Deputy, Locksmith, John/Jane Does) - to be determined through the investigation of this Complaint, acted as burglars in the burglarizing of Newsome's residence located at 128 East 5th Street - Apartment 5, Covington, Kentucky 41011. Therefore, Newsome is requesting through this instant Complaint that an investigation into the claims and allegations set forth herein and that those found to have acted in such unlawful/illegal manner be prosecuted and indicted for said legal wrongs.

2. Newsome learned of the criminal actions of person(s)/conspirator(s) upon being contacted at her place of employment by Gailen Bridges, attorney for GMM parties.

3. Newsome on October 9, 2008, contacted the Covington Police Department; wherein, said department dispatched Officer Craig (sp?) - correct spelling of name to be determined through investigation. Said Officer refused to take Newsome's Criminal Complaint. Advising Newsome that the Kenton County Police Department was contacted by another individual and they were provided with information which authorized the unlawful/illegal action taken against Newsome. Newsome requested production of the documentation relied upon in that she did not have any legal document to support the actions taken by certain person(s)/conspirator(s) was legally authorized by statutes/laws. Newsome request through this instant investigation that the Kenton County Police Department be required to identify who contacted them and provided them with information which led to Officer Craig's refusal to take Newsome's Complaint. Newsome made it clear that she wanted to press charges; however, Officer Craig refused to take her Complaint. Newsome made it clear to Officer Craig that she believed him to be engaging in a conspiracy to deprive her of said rights. Newsome making it known to Officer Craig that she is college educated, work for a law firm in Cincinnati and a member of the NAACP. Even with such concerns being made to Officer Craig, said Officer refused to take Newsome's Complaint and left the scene of the crime. Officer Craig making a willful and conscious decision to deprive Newsome the right of filing criminal charges. IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE – Officer Craig advised Newsome that there was a hearing held on September 18, 2008. Newsome advise Officer Craig that she was not aware of any such hearing neither did she receive notice of such. Thus, supporting a conspiracy and meeting of the mind by certain person(s)/conspirator(s) as they laid the groundwork for the crime committed against Newsome.

4. Certain person(s)/conspirator(s) - to be determined through investigation; beginning with Gary Martin, Bridges - committed a criminal offense and/or modern statutory offense of burglary wherein they used, participated and/or unlawfully authorized excessive force and breaking force in entering Newsome's residence with deliberate, willful and malicious intent to commit a felony. Said person(s)/conspirator(s) knowingly and deliberately with malicious intent entered the residence of Newsome without her permission. Prior to such unlawful/excessive use of force by certain person(s)/conspirator(s), they were put on notice from the posting Newsome left on the doors entering her apartment that there was a Court Ordered Injunction and Restraining Order in place against the unlawful/illegal removal/eviction of Newsome from her residence. Newsome's residence was properly secured upon her leaving on October 9, 2008, to prevent the unlawful/illegal entry by GMM Parties and/or person(s)/conspirator(s) engaging in the unlawful/illegal eviction/removal. Newsome taking the necessary steps to secure her privacy, protect her property, life, liberties and pursuit of happiness. To no avail.

5. On October 9, 2008, despite Newsome's efforts to protect her residence and property/possession, she was subjected to burglary, theft, larceny, unauthorized entry, illegal/unlawful warrant of possession, unlawful/illegal seizure of her property/possession and residence; trespassing, and an unlawful/illegal Warrant of Possession executed by Judge Ruttle who lacked jurisdiction in the matter and neither had authority and/or jurisdiction to execute such action, etc. taken against Newsome - all being done without prior notice to Newsome and without Newsome's consent and without privilege afforded under the statutes/laws governing said matters.

6. Newsome through the filing of this instant Complaint seeks the prosecution and indictment of person(s)/conspirator(s) found through an investigation to be guilty of the crime of burglary, conspiracy to commit burglary, and/or their participation in such burglary set forth herein against Newsome's residence/property. Moreover, all person(s)/conspirator(s) that knew and/or had knowledge that said burglary was about to be committed and/or being committed and did nothing to prevent - having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done was about to be committed, and having the power to prevent or aid in the preventing of such criminal acts; however, neglects or refuses to do so.

III. THEFT:

> Theft - (1) The felonious taking and removing of another's personal property with the intent of depriving the true owner of it; larceny [Cases: Larceny ~1. C.J.S. Larceny ~~1(1,2), 9.] (2) Broadly, any act or instance of stealing, including larceny, burglary, embezzlement, and false pretenses.
>
> Under such a statute it is not necessary for the indictment charging theft to specify whether the offense is larceny, embezzlement or false pretenses." Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 389-90 (3d ed. 1982).
>
> Theft by Deception - The use of trickery to obtain another's property, esp. by (1) creating or reinforcing a false impression . . . (2) preventing one from obtaining information that would affect one's judgment about a transaction, or (3) failing to disclose, in a property transfer, a known lien or other legal impediment.
> Theft by Extortion - Larceny in which the perpetrator obtains property by threatening to (1) inflict bodily harm on anyone or commit any other criminal offense. . . (4) take or withhold action as an official, or cause an official to take or withhold action, (5) bring about . . .collective unofficial action, if the property is not demanded or received for the benefit of the group in whose interest the actor purports to act, (6) testify or provide information or withhold testimony or information with respect to another's legal claim or defense, or (7) inflict any other harm that would not benefit the actor.
> Theft of Services - The act of obtaining services from another by deception, threat, coercion, stealth, mechanical tampering, or using a false token or device.

1. As a matter of law, certain of the person(s)/conspirator(s) (i.e. Martin, Sheriff/Deputy, Locksmith, John/Jane Does) - to be determined through the investigation of this Complaint, acted as thieves in the theft of Newsome's property/possessions located at 128 East 5th Street - Apartment 5, Covington, Kentucky 41011. Therefore, Newsome is requesting through this instant Complaint that an investigation into the claims and allegations set forth herein and that those found to have acted in such unlawful/illegal manner be prosecuted and indicted for said legal wrongs.

2. Certain person(s)/conspirator(s) - to be determined through investigation (i.e. beginning with Martin, Bridges, etc.) - unlawfully/illegally feloniously stole Newsome's property/possessions and took her residence away from her. Upon committing such theft, dumped Newsome's property/possession on the street in efforts to rid themselves of the criminal activities committed against Newsome. Deliberate actions done to destroy and get rid of the evidence. Certain person(s)/conspirator(s) having foresight and knowledge that they were committing a crime and that theft of Newsome's property/possession was prohibited by statutes/laws. In an effort to prevent from getting caught with Newsome's property/possession, they tossed it out on the street. Certain person(s)/conspirator(s) committed such criminal acts of theft with the purpose of depriving Newsome of her property/possession and residence. Certain person(s)/conspirator(s) changing the locks of the apartment building and on Newsome's residence and then advising Newsome not to return to her residence nor to try and enter the building.

3. Newsome's residence and property/possessions were unlawfully/illegally seized through false pretenses.

4. While certain person(s)/conspirator(s) relied upon "theft by deception" to burglarize Newsome's residence and steal her residence and property/possession from her, said acts were done for purposes of (a) creating or reinforcing a false impression; (b) obstruct, prevent and/or withhold information from one that would affect one's judgment about the action and services requested - however, it is important to note that such a one may or may not have had knowledge that Newsome had an Injunction and Restraining Order against such unlawful/illegal activity, they had a duty to inquire and obtain information as to whether the action they were about to take was legal and/or in compliance with the laws; (c) failed to reveal or disclose that they were acting in violation of a Court Order entered prohibiting the removal/eviction of Newsome from her residence.

5. Certain person(s)/conspirator(s) committed "theft by extortion" by larceny to obtain Newsome's residence/property: (a) to subject her to further injury/harm, harassment, humiliation, duress, oppression, discrimination, prejudices, threats, coercion - all which were foreseeable; (b) coerced other officials/persons to engage and/or participate in the theft of Newsome's property/possessions and to help themselves to same; (c) brought about unwarranted/unauthorized action by distorting and/or ignoring the laws/statutes prohibiting such criminal actions; (d) deliberately withholding information to obtain unlawful/illegal entry of Newsome's residence and to steal and/or commit burglary and theft of her residence and property/possession.

6. Newsome through the filing of this instant Complaint seeks an investigation and the prosecution and indictment of person(s)/conspirator(s) found through said investigation to be guilty of the crime of theft, conspiracy to commit theft, and/or their participation in such theft set forth herein against Newsome's property/possessions. Moreover, all person(s)/conspirator(s) that knew and/or had knowledge that said theft was about to be committed and/or being committed and did nothing to prevent - having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done was about to be committed, and having the power to prevent or aid in the preventing of such criminal acts; however, neglected or refused to do so.

IV. LARCENY:

Larceny - The unlawful taking and carrying away of someone else's personal property with the intent to deprive the possessor of it permanently. *Common-law larceny has been broadened by some statutes to include embezzlement and false pretense, all three of which are often subsumed under the statutory crime of "theft."

> "The criminal offence of larceny or theft in the Common Law was intimately connected with the civil wrong of trespass. 'Where there has been no trespass,' said Lord Coleridge, 'there can at law be no larceny.' Larceny, in other words, is merely a particular kind of trespass to goods which, by virtue of the trespasser's intent, is converted into a crime. Trespass is a wrong, not to ownership but to possession, and theft, therefore, is not the violation of a person's right to ownership, but the infringement of his possession, accompanied with a particular criminal intent."

Aggravated Larceny - Larceny accompanied by some aggravating factor (as when the theft is from a person).

Grand Larceny - Larceny of property worth more than a statutory cutoff amount, usu. $100.

Mixed Larceny - (1) Larceny accompanied by aggravation or violence to the person. (2) Larceny involving a taking from a house.

1. As a matter of law, certain of the person(s)/conspirator(s) (i.e. Martin, Sheriff/Deputy, Locksmith, John/Jane Does) - to be determined through the investigation of this Complaint, whether said person(s)/conspirator(s) committed larceny by unlawfully/illegally carrying away Newsome's property/possessions located at 128 East 5th Street - Apartment 5, Covington, Kentucky 41011 and the taking away of her residence with full intent to deprive her permanently of said residence. Certain person(s)/conspirator(s) knew and/or should have known that they were trespassing. By committing such legal wrongs person(s)/conspirator(s) infringed upon the Constitutional and Civil Rights of Newsome. Therefore, Newsome is requesting through this instant Complaint that an investigation into the claims and allegations set forth herein and that those found to have acted in such unlawful/illegal manner be prosecuted and indicted for said legal wrongs.

2. Newsome files the instant Complaint and request investigation of and against certain person(s)/conspirator(s) for aggravated larceny. Said criminal actions being committed for purposes of (a) unlawfully/illegally depriving Newsome of her residence and property/possession; (b) for the theft and/or unlawful/illegal action to take monies to which they are not entitled to in excess of $5,000.00; (c) the value of property stolen from Newsome exceeds $100.00; (d) for the unlawful/illegal taking of Newsome's residence; (e) to commit aggravated larceny, grand larceny and/or mixed larceny against Newsome.

3. Newsome through the filing of this instant Complaint seeks an investigation and the prosecution and indictment of person(s)/conspirator(s) found through said investigation to be guilty of the crime of larceny, conspiracy to commit larceny, and/or their participation in such larceny set forth herein against Newsome. Moreover, all person(s)/conspirator(s) that knew and/or had knowledge that said larceny was about to be committed and/or being committed and did nothing to prevent - having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done was about to be committed, and having the power to prevent or aid in the preventing of such criminal acts; however, neglected or refused to do so. Certain person(s)/conspirator(s) - to be determined through investigation - allowed said crime to committed for their own personal and financial gain.

V. INVASION:

Invasion - (1) A hostile or forcible encroachment on the rights of another.

> Intentional Invasion - A hostile or forcible encroachment on another's interest in the use or enjoyment of property, esp. real property, though not necessarily inspired by malice or ill will.

Invasion of Privacy - An unjustified exploitation of one's personality or intrusion into one's personal activities, actionable under tort law and sometimes under constitutional law.

Invasion of Privacy by Intrusion - An offensive, intentional interference with a person's seclusion or private affairs.

Intrusion - (1) A person entering without permission. (2) In an action for invasion of privacy, a highly offensive invasion of another person's seclusion or private life.

Intruder - A person who enters, remains on, uses, or touches land or chattels in another's possession without the possessor's consent.

1. As a matter of law, certain of the person(s)/conspirator(s) (i.e. Martin, Sheriff/Deputy, Locksmith, John/Jane Does) - for (a) Invasion; (b) Invasion of Privacy; (c) Invasion of Privacy by Intrusion in that (i) certain person(s)/conspirator(s) acted with hostile intent as well as forcible encroachment and/or allowed others to forcibly encroach upon the protected rights of Newsome. Rights secured under the Constitution (Kentucky and United States), Civil Rights Act, Fair Housing Act and other statutes/laws governing said matters; (ii) said invasion was "intentionally" done with hostility, anger, envy, jealousy, prejudice, discrimination, ill intent, malice, corruption, etc. and/or forcible encroachment on Newsome's interest in the use of enjoyment of her property/residence; (iii) said crime was an invasion of Newsome's privacy and was an unlawful/illegal and unjustified exploitation of Newsome's life, intrusion into Newsome's personal life, liberties and pursuit of happiness, as well as other rights secured/guaranteed under the Constitution, Civil Rights Act and other statutes/laws governing said matters; (iv) said criminal acts being an invasion of privacy by intrusion which being offensive and an intentional interference with Newsome's seclusion and/or private life/affairs; (v) certain person(s)/conspirator(s) intruding and/or unlawfully taking and/or participated in the unlawful taking of Newsome's residence and property/possessions and continue to use her residence to destroy evidence, and cover up their crime.

Said invasion/intrusion took place at Newsome's residence located at 128 East 5th Street - Apartment 5, Covington, Kentucky 41011. Therefore, Newsome is requesting through this instant Complaint that an investigation into the claims and allegations set forth herein and that those found to have acted in such unlawful/illegal manner be prosecuted and indicted for said legal wrongs.

2. Newsome through the filing of this instant Complaint seeks an investigation and the prosecution and indictment of person(s)/conspirator(s) found through said investigation to be guilty of the intrusion/invasion, conspiracy to commit intrusion/invasion, and/or their participation in such acts set forth herein against Newsome. Moreover, all person(s)/conspirator(s) that knew and/or had knowledge that said invasion/intrusion was about to be committed and/or being committed and did nothing to prevent - having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done was about to be committed, and having the power to prevent or aid in the preventing of such criminal acts; however, neglected or refused to do so.

VI. UNLAWFUL ENTRY/FORCIBLE ACTIONS:

Unlawful Entry - (1) The crime of entering another's real property, by fraud or other illegal means, without the owner's consent.

Forcible - Effected by force or threat of force against opposition or resistance.

Forcible Detainer - (1) The wrongful retention of possession of property by one originally in lawful possession, often with threats or actual use of violence.

Forcible Entry and Detainer - (1) The act of violently taking and keeping possession of lands and tenements without legal authority. (2) A quick and simple legal proceeding for regaining possession of real property from someone who has wrongfully taken, or refused to surrender, possession.

Forcible Entry - (1) The act or an instance of violently and unlawfully taking possession of lands and tenements against the will of those in lawful possession. (2) The act of entering land in another's possession by the use of force against another or by breaking into the premises.

1. As a matter of law, certain of the person(s)/conspirator(s) (i.e. Martin, Sheriff/Deputy, Locksmith, John/Jane Does) - to be determined through the investigation of this Complaint, unlawfully entered Newsome's residence located at 128 East 5th Street - Apartment 5, Covington, Kentucky 41011. Therefore, Newsome is requesting through this instant Complaint that an investigation into the claims and allegations set forth herein and that those found to have acted in such unlawful/illegal manner be prosecuted and indicted for said legal wrongs.

2. Certain person(s)/conspirator(s) committed crime of entering Newsome's residence by fraud, other illegal means and without Newsome's consent. Prior to entering, certain person(s)/conspirator(s) knew and/or should have known that were committing a crime/felony; however, elected to participate in the actual crime itself and/or the allowance of the crime in which they could have prevented.

3. The taking of Newsome's residence being by force and excelled to the vandalizing of Newsome's residence to obtain access and destroy her property/possession and evidence.

4. Newsome was subjected to the violent taking and keeping of certain property/possessions without legal authority.

5. Newsome was subjected to the unlawful entry of her residence by the use of excessive force and the breaking into her residence.

6. GMM parties, their attorneys, Judges knew that such acts were criminal, nevertheless, they made a conscious, deliberate and willful decision to allow said crimes to be committed of and against Newsome.

7. Newsome through the filing of this instant Complaint seeks an investigation and the prosecution and indictment of person(s)/conspirator(s) found through said investigation to be guilty of the crime of theft, conspiracy to commit theft, and/or their participation in such theft set forth herein against Newsome's property/possessions. Moreover, all person(s)/conspirator(s) that knew and/or had knowledge that said theft was about to be committed and/or being committed and did nothing to prevent - having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done was about to be committed, and having the power to prevent or aid in the preventing of such criminal acts; however, neglected or refused to do so.

VII. OBSTRUCTION OF JUSTICE/PROCESS:

> Obstruction of Justice - Interference with the orderly administration of law and justice, as by giving false information to or withholding evidence from a police officer or prosecutor, or by harming or intimidating a witness or juror. *Obstruction of justice is a crime in most jurisdictions.
> Obstruction of Process - Interference of any kind the lawful service or execution of a writ, warrant, or other process. *Most jurisdictions make this offense a crime.

1. Newsome files this instant Complaint and request an investigation to determine whether there has been an obstruction of justice in the carrying out and/or commission of the criminal actions of person(s)/conspirator(s) of and against Newsome. Furthermore, whether person(s)/conspirator(s) interfered with the orderly administration of law and justice, as by giving false information, acting without legal authority, bribery, withholding evidence, tampering and/or obstructing service of process, withholding evidence from those they engaged to carry out criminal acts on their behalf, furthering the subjection of Newsome to harm/injury, harassment, threats, intimidation, humiliation, discrimination, prejudices, deprivation of protected rights, etc. for her election to exercise her rights under the Constitution, Civil Rights Act and other governing statutes/laws.

2. Obstruction of Process - Investigation into the handling of the Warrant of Possession and/or document certain person(s)/conspirator(s) relied upon on October 9, 2008, to commit the crimes rendered against Newsome. Moreover, to determine whether there was an obstruction of process wherein certain persons(s)/conspirator(s) interfered with service and/or obtained an unlawful/illegal Warrant of Possession and/or the document they relied upon to Newsome unlawfully/illegally removed from her residence. Furthermore, whether said handling of process was in compliance with the statutes/laws governing said matters. Whether said process was handled in a manner to deliberately, willfully and maliciously deprive Newsome equal protection of the laws and due process of laws. Whether said process was handled in a manner to infringe upon the protected rights of Newsome.

3. False Pretense - Investigation into whether a crime was committed through false pretenses - for the purpose of fraud and knowingly obtaining Newsome's residence/property by misrepresenting the facts, clearly violating statutes/laws made known to certain person(s)/conspirator(s), that give them sufficient notice that they were acting in violation of statutes/laws and that said actions were criminal in nature. Therefore, Newsome is requesting through this instant Complaint that an investigation into the claims and allegations set forth herein and that those found to have acted in such unlawful/illegal manner be prosecuted and indicted for said legal wrongs.

4. Newsome through the filing of this instant Complaint seeks an investigation and the prosecution and indictment of person(s)/conspirator(s) found through said investigation to be guilty of obstructing justice and/or their participation in such obstruction of justice set forth in this instant Complaint against Newsome. Moreover, all person(s)/conspirator(s) that knew and/or had knowledge that said justice was being obstructed through criminal acts and/or behavior and did nothing to prevent - having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done was about to be committed, and having the power to prevent or aid in the preventing of such criminal acts; however, neglected or refused to do so.

VIII. COLOR OF LAW:

> The appearance of semblance, without the substance, of a legal right.
> *The term u.s.u. implies a misuse of power made possible because the wrongdoer is clothed with the authority of the state.

1. Through this instant Complaint, Newsome request that an investigation be had to determine whether certain person(s)/conspirator(s) (i.e. Judge Bartlett, Judge Ruttle, Sheriff/Deputy, Officer Craig, etc. - to be determined through investigation) acting under color of law, misused, abused, usurped, etc. their authority/power for purposes of subjecting Newsome to criminal actions. Moreover, whether those acting under color of law knew and/or should have known they were committing criminal acts and lacked jurisdiction and/or authority to proceed in the manner in which they did. Newsome further seeks through this Complaint that an investigation be had to determine whether certain person(s)/conspirator(s)acting under color of law acted with malice, corrupt motive, ill intent, discrimination, prejudices, etc. towards Newsome for her exercising rights secured/guaranteed under the Constitution and/or statutes/laws governing the matters before them. If any such criminal violations and/or acts are found by those acting under color of law, that said person(s)/conspirator(s) be prosecuted and indicted in accordance with the statutes/laws governing such criminal wrongs and injustices.

IX. CONSPIRACY AGAINST RIGHTS:

1. Newsome requests through the filing of this instant Complaint and investigations as to whether or not there has been a conspiracy against her rights pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 241. Conspiracy Against Rights:

> If two or more persons conspire to injure, oppress, threaten, or intimidate any person in any State, Territory, Commonwealth, Possession, or District in the free exercise or enjoyment of any right or privilege secured to him by the Constitution or laws of the United States, or because of his having so exercised the same; or
> If two or more persons go in disguise on the highway, or on the premises of another, with intent to prevent or hinder his free exercise or enjoyment of any right or privilege so secured—
> They shall be fined under this title or imprisoned not more than ten years, or both; and if death results from the acts committed in violation of this section or if such acts include kidnapping or an attempt to kidnap, aggravated sexual abuse or an attempt to commit aggravated sexual abuse, or an attempt to kill, they shall be fined under this title or imprisoned for any term of years or for life, or both, or may be sentenced to death.

If so, Newsome through the filing of this instant Complaint and investigation seeks the prosecution and indictment of person(s)/conspirator(s) found through said investigation to be guilty of conspiracy against rights. Moreover, all person(s)/conspirator(s) that knew and/or had knowledge that said conspiracy was being committed and did nothing to prevent - having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done was about to be committed, and having the power to prevent or aid in the preventing of such criminal acts; however, neglected or refused to do so.

X. CONSPIRACY TO INTERFERE WITH CIVIL RIGHTS:

1. Newsome requests through the filing of this instant Complaint and investigations as to whether or not there has been a conspiracy against her rights pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1985. Conspiracy to Interfere With Civil Rights:

> (2) Obstructing justice; intimidating party, witness, or juror:
>
> If two or more persons in any State or Territory conspire to deter, by force, intimidation, or threat, any party or witness in any court of the United States from attending such court, or from testifying to any matter pending therein, freely, fully, and truthfully, or to injure such party or witness in his person or property on account of his having so attended or testified, or to influence the verdict, presentment, or indictment of any grand or petit juror in any such court, or to injure such juror in his person or property on account of any verdict, presentment, or indictment lawfully assented to by him, or of his being or having been such juror; or if two or more persons conspire for the purpose of impeding, hindering, obstructing, or defeating, in any manner, the due course of justice in any State or Territory, with intent to deny to any citizen the equal protection of the laws, or to injure him or his property for lawfully enforcing, or attempting to enforce, the right of any person, or class of persons, to the equal protection of the laws;
> (3) Depriving persons of rights or privileges:
> If two or more persons in any State or Territory conspire or go in disguise on the highway or on the premises of another, for the purpose of depriving, either directly or indirectly, any person or class of persons of the equal protection of the laws, or of equal privileges and immunities under the laws; or for the purpose of preventing or hindering the constituted authorities of any State or Territory from giving or securing to all persons within such State or Territory the equal protection of the laws; or if two or more persons conspire to prevent by force, intimidation, or threat, any citizen who is lawfully entitled to vote, from giving his support or advocacy in a legal manner, toward or in favor of the election of any lawfully qualified person as an elector for President or Vice President, or as a Member of Congress of the United States; or to injure any citizen in person or property on account of such support or advocacy; in any case of conspiracy set forth in this section, if one or more persons engaged therein do, or cause to be done, any act in furtherance of the object of such conspiracy, whereby another is injured in his person or property, or deprived of having and exercising any right or privilege of a citizen of the United States, the party so injured or > deprived may have an action for the recovery of damages occasioned by such injury or deprivation, against any one or more of the conspirators.

Moreover, whether there was a conspiracy to (1) deprive Newsome of protected rights; (2) injure, oppress, threaten, or intimidate Newsome who resided in the state of Kentucky, County of Kenton, City of Covington in the free exercise or enjoyment of protected rights or privileges secured by her under the Constitution and laws of the United States, or because of her so exercising her right to seek justice for the wrongs complained of in lawsuit and/or actions brought by her. (3) whether person(s)/conspirator(s) went into the residence of Newsome with intent to prevent or hinder her from the free exercise or enjoyment of her residence and exercise of right or privilege to live in a place of her choice. Moreover, whether GMM parties, their counsel, Judges and others engaged in criminal activities to force Newsome to abandon her residence and deprive her rights secured under the Fair Housing Act.

If so, Newsome through the filing of this instant Complaint and investigation seeks the prosecution and indictment of person(s)/conspirator(s) found through said investigation to be be guilty of conspiracy against rights. Moreover, all person(s)/conspirator(s) that knew and/or had knowledge that said conspiracy was being committed and did nothing to prevent - having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done was about to be committed, and having the power to prevent or aid in the preventing of such criminal acts; however, neglected or refused to do so..

XI. POWER/FAILURE TO PREVENT:

1. Newsome requests through the filing of this instant Complaint and investigations as to whether or not there has been negligence to prevent the crime and/or criminal actions taken against her pursuant to 42 USC § 1986:

> Every person who, having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done, and mentioned in section 1985 of this title, are about to be committed, and having power to prevent or aid in preventing the commission of the same, neglects or refuses so to do, if such wrongful act be committed, shall be liable to the party injured, or his legal representatives, for all damages caused by such wrongful act, which such person by reasonable diligence could have prevented; and such damages may be recovered in an action on the case; and any number of persons guilty of such wrongful neglect or refusal may be joined as defendants in the action; . . .

Moreover, whether person(s)/conspirator(s) had knowledge of any of the criminal actions committed and/or to be committed by each other, and having the power to prevent or aid in the prevention of the commission of such crimes, neglected or refused to do so. If so, Newsome is requesting that said person(s)/conspirator(s) be prosecuted and indicted from any and/or all criminal wrongs rendered Newsome.

XII. FACTS PERTINENT TO UNDERSTANDING CLAIMS/ALLEGATIONS:

1. On or about December 4, 2006 at approximately 3:41 p.m. (emphasis added), Denise Newsome ("Newsome")completed filing of a Civil lawsuit of and against Gary M. Martin, Bernice Martin, Dennis Donnellan and Betty Donnellan, d/b/a GMM Properties. (See Receipt attached hereto and incorporated herein by reference).

2. On or about December 4, 2006 at approximately 3:51 p.m. (emphasis added), Gary Martin, Bernice Martin, Dennis Donnellan and Betty Donnellan, d/b/a GMM Properties ("GMM Parties) filed a Forcible Detainer Complaint against Denise Newsome. (See Complaint attached hereto and incorporated by reference).

3. GMM Parties had their December 4, 2006 Forcible Detainer Complaint filed by their attorney Gailen Bridges ("Bridges"). Said filing coming AFTER Gailen was notified that Newsome was seen heading to the Courthouse. It so happened that Newsome and Gary Martin ("Martin") met at a three-way stop sign, wherein proceeded first turning down the street that Newsome was turning off - Martin turning left; while Newsome turned left from stop in the direction leading to the Courthouse. Based upon receipt of the information and the time stamped document from GMM Parties regarding their Complaint, Newsome concluded that Martin upon seeing her, immediately contacted his attorney, Bridges, and advised him that he saw Newsome heading to the Courthouse. In a mad dash to beat Newsome in filing a Complaint, Bridges rushed to the Courthouse to file the Forcible Detainer Complaint on behalf of his clients. Such actions by Bridges being done because he have knowledge that should Newsome get her Civil Complaint filed first, the Court (Kenton County Circuit Court) in which she filed would have jurisdiction. Bridges failed in his efforts and Newsome succeeded in filing her Civil Complaint in the Kenton County Circuit Court (Case No. 06-CI-03270) before the GMM Parties filing in the Kenton County District Court (Case No. 06-C-5059.

4. Kentucky laws are clear that the Court in which the party which succeeds in filing Complaint first, is the Court which obtains jurisdiction. In this instance, this would be Newsome. Therefore, the Kenton County Circuit Court obtained jurisdiction over this matter and the Kenton County District Court is without jurisdiction to proceed or to assert jurisdiction.

JURISDICTIONAL ISSUES

Exclusive Jurisdiction Vested in Another Court.

> 63C Am.Jur2d Prohibition ~43: Exclusive Jurisdiction Vested in Another Court - A court may be restrained by prohibition from interfering with the exclusive jurisdiction acquired by another court by reason of its being the first court to assume and exercise such jurisdiction in the particular case if both cases are predicated on the same cause of action, between the same parties, and brought in courts of competent jurisdiction of the same state. . . In jurisdictions in which this view prevails, the aggrieved party must raise the defense of former suit pending by an appropriate pleading in the second suit and by an appeal from the decision of the court in that suit, rather than a writ of prohibition.

KENTUCKY LAW:

Hawes v. Orr, 73 Ky. 431 (1874) - The court first acquiring jurisdiction has a right to go on until it has performed its office in reference to the subject-matter in litigation, and will not allow itself to be ousted of its jurisdiction or permit the thing in litigation to be wrested from it, so that it cannot execute its judgment.

Akers v. Stephenson, 469 S.W.2d 704 (Ky.,1970) - Where parties and subject matter are the same, once court of concurrent jurisdiction has begun exercise of jurisdiction over case, its authority to deal with action is exclusive and no other court of concurrent jurisdiction may interfere with pending proceedings.

Riddle v. Howard, 357 S.W.2d 705 (Ky.,1962) - When a court of competent jurisdiction acquires jurisdiction of subject matter of a case, its authority and control continue until final disposition, and, as a matter of principle and comity, another court of concurrent jurisdiction will recognize the prior jurisdiction and will not interfere by taking over the same case; but to apply such rule it is essential that the first action shall afford the parties in the second action an adequate and complete opportunity for the adjudication of their rights.

Delaney v. Alcorn, 193 S.W.2d 404 (Ky.,1946) - Where two actions between the same parties, on the same subject, and to test the same rights, are brought in different courts having concurrent jurisdiction, the court which first acquires jurisdiction, its power being adequate to the administration of complete justice, retains jurisdiction and may dispose of the whole controversy without interference by any court of coordinate power.

OTHER COURTS:

State ex rel. Phillips v. Polcar, 50 Ohio St.2d 279, 364 N.E.2d 33 (Ohio 1977) - (n. 3) As between courts of concurrent jurisdiction, tribunal whose power is first invoked by institution of proper proceedings acquires jurisdiction, to the exclusion of all other tribunals, to adjudicate upon whole issue and to settle rights of the parties.

Buck v. Colbath, 70 U.S. 334 (U.S.Minn.,1865) - The rule that, among courts of concurrent jurisdiction, that one which first obtains jurisdiction of a case has the exclusive right to decide every question arising in the case, is subject to some limitations, and is confined to suits between the same parties or privies seeking the same relief or remedy, and to such questions or propositions as arise ordinarily and properly in the progress of the suit first brought, and does not extend to all matters which may by possibility become involved in it.

5. GMM Parties and their counsel, Bridges, were timely, properly and adequately requested to have their Forcible Detainer Complaint withdrawn from the Kenton County District Court; however, refused to do so and to date continues to act upon such malicious filing. (See the Record of the Kenton County District Court - Newsome has a copy of document as well; however, at the time of the filing of this instant Complaint, she is homeless, due to the unlawful eviction/removal and/or warrant for possession, etc. by the GMM Parties and others). Newsome may be able to provide copy of said document from records she retains at another location. The record of the Kenton County District Court as well as the Kenton County Circuit Court will support that both Courts were aware of the actions of GMM Parties and their counsel; however, elected not to correct such unlawful/illegal actions brought to their attention by Newsome.

6. GMM Parties, their counsel and the Judges (Gregory Bartlett and Ann Ruttle) were timely, properly and adequately placed on notice through the pleadings filed by Newsome, that Judge Ruttle lacked jurisdiction over Newsome and the subject-matter in the Forcible Detainer action initiated by the GMM Parties and Bridges. Kentucky laws are clear on this issue.

7. The record evidence in the Kenton County Circuit Court action as well as the Kenton County District Court action will support that Judge Bartlett and Judge Ruttle were timely, properly and adequately placed on notice through the pleadings filed by Newsome that when a judge acts without jurisdiction, any defense of IMMUNITY is null/void and cannot and will not sustain their actions or claim of immunity. Moreover, for said Judge to act contrary to the laws upon being notified and acting without jurisdiction, affords said Judge(s) to be sued in their individual capacity and be subject to criminal and civil actions filed against them. Kentucky laws are clear on this issue:

KENTUCKY COURTS:

Lynch v. Johnson, 420 F.2d 818 (C.A.6.Ky.,1970) - Defense of judicial immunity is a very broad one but it does not afford any protection to judge acting in clear absence of jurisdiction nor does it protect him in nonjudicial activities.

Morgan v. Dudley, 57 Ky. 693 (Ky.,1858) - A judicial officer, acting within the jurisdiction conferred on him by law, is not liable for errors of judgment, unless the result of malice or corruption.

Hollon v. Lilly, 38 S.W. 878 (Ky.,1897) - A judge acting within his jurisdiction, is not liable to a suit for damages, however illegal or erroneous his acts may be, in the absence of a malicious or corrupt motive.

Pepper v. Mayes, 81 Ky. 673 (Ky.,1884) - No person is liable in a civil action for what he has done as a judge while acting within the limits of his jurisdiction.

Sparks v. Character and Fitness Committee of Kentucky, 818 F.2d 541 (C.A.6.Ky.,1987) - Except for acts in "clear absence" of jurisdiction, judicial immunity is absolute.

Reed v. Taylor, 78 S.W. 892 (Ky.,1904) - While a judicial officer will be protected against suits for damages resulting from erroneous judgment, yet where he acts maliciously, or beyond his jurisdiction, his office is no protection.

Allsup v. Knox, 508 F.Supp. 57 (E.D.Ky.,1980) - A judge will not be deprived of immunity because action he took was in error, was done maliciously, or was in excess of his authority; rather, he will be subject to liability only when he has acted in a clear absence of all jurisdiction.

Revill v. Pettit, 60 Ky. 314 (Ky.,1861) - One holding a judicial office may be prosecuted in damages for any acts done by him in excess of his proper jurisdiction.

King v. Cawood, 3 S.W.2d 616 (Ky.,1928) - Judge acting illegally and without jurisdiction becomes trespasser and is liable.

8. The record of the Kenton County Circuit Court will evidence that it was timely, properly and adequately placed on notice that Newsome had filed a Complaint with the United States Legislature/Congress requesting its intervention and investigation, etc. Judge Bartlett, GMM Parties and their counsel, James Moberly West ("West") through the pleadings filed by Newsome obtained knowledge that Bartlett lacked jurisdiction to proceed in the lawsuit filed by Newsome, in that she had elected to take the matter to the United States Legislature/Congress for Constitutional, Civil Rights and other violations under the statutes/laws. Kentucky laws as well as federal laws are clear on the issue that upon Newsome's filing of Complaint with the United States Legislature/Congress, the Kenton County Circuit Court and Judge Bartlett lacked jurisdiction to proceed any further. Nevertheless, Bartlett has elected to usurp jurisdiction and continue to enter Orders in which he knew he lacked judicial power and/or jurisdiction to do so.

Clark v. Board of Ed. of Shelbyville, Ky., 350 F.Supp. 149 (E.D.Ky.,1972) - Courts may not invade the domain of the legislature; where a plaintiff is asking for legislative relief or relief which would encroach on the legislative process the courts are without power to act.

Avey Drilling Mach. Co. v. Lukowsky, 261 S.W.2d 432 (Ky.,1953) - Court has no constitutional authority to sit in judgment on proposed legislation, when legislative body is proceeding within scope of its governmental or corporate power, as no justiciable question arises until after enactment or passage of such ordinance or resolution.

State of Ohio ex rel. Erkenbrecher v. Cox, 257 F. 334 (S.D.Ohio.W.Div.,1919) - The judicial department of the government cannot interfere with the proceedings of either the executive department or the legislative department with respect to matters committed by the Constitution to their charge.

Berry v. American Express Pub., Corp., 381 F.Supp. 2d 1118 (2005) – Where source of legal authority is statutory and not constitutional, Congress retains ability to create and direct law, so long as it is consistent with constitutional principles, and it is particularly important for court to follow that directive.

Nixon v. Administrator of General Services, 408 F.Supp. 321 (1976) – Congressional power to investigate, although limited to areas in which Congress possesses legislative authority, is both broad and integral to the legislative process.

McGrain v. Daugherty, 47 S.Ct. 319 (U.S. Ohio 1927) – Congress may inquire into private affairs and compel disclosures only in so far as to make express powers effective.

Marcello v. U.S., 196 F.2d 437 (1952) – A congressional inquiry may be as broad as the legislative purpose requires.

Taylor v. Com. Ex rel. Dummit, 202 S.W.2d 992 (Ky. 1947) – The Legislature may enact any statute it deems necessary for the public interest, unless prohibited by constitutional provisions and in exercise of that authority may frame its enactments and express its intention and purpose as it sees proper.

Manning v. Sims, 213 S.W.2d 577 (Ky.,1948) - The sharp separation of powers of government must be preserved carefully by the courts, and judicial powers must not be *permitted to encroach upon legislative powers. Const. § 27.

Sidell v. Hill, 357 S.W.2d 318 (Ky.,1962) - Judicial encroachment upon other branches of government is unconstitutional.

Sullivan v. Brawner, 36 S.W.2d 364 (Ky.,1931) - Court may not assume legislative function.

9. It is also important to note that Newsome a timely, properly and adequate Recusal pleading objecting to Judge Bartlett presiding of the lawsuit in that it was brought to her attention that Judge Bartlett and West worked at the same law firm prior to Bartlett taking the bench as Judge. Information that neither Bartlett or West made known to Newsome. Newsome having to find out such critical information through another source. Such failure by Bartlett and West was deliberate and done with malicious intent and unlawful/illegal motive.

> Dean v. Bondurant, 2005-SC-000872-D , SUPREME COURT OF KENTUCKY, 193 S.W.3d 744; 2006 Ky. LEXIS 163, June 7, 2006 - An attorney's contribution to a judge's campaign was not alone a basis for judicial recusal, but state supreme court justice recused himself; he received numerous contributions from attorneys in firm that was a party, contributions in aggregate were not minimal, and his impartiality could be reasonably questioned under Ky. Sup. Ct. R. 3.130, 4.300.

10. The record evidence in both the Kenton County Circuit Court as well as the Kenton County District Court will support that both Courts, Judge Bartlett, Judge Ruttle, GMM Parties, their attorneys as well as others were timely, properly and adequately notified through the pleadings filed by Newsome when said Courts and Judges lacked jurisdiction. Nevertheless, they made a willful, deliberate and concious decision to proceed anyhow with knowledge that they could not claim immunity for any liability that may arise from their unlawful/illegal and unethical practices. While Newsome filed the proper Writ proceedings, Courts to which said pleadings were filed elected to deprive Newsome rights guaranteed under the Constitution (Kentucky and United States), Civil Rights Act and other governing statutes/laws. Therefore, Newsome based on information provided her, proceeded to file a Complaint with the United States Legislature/Congress.

> In Hargis v. Parker, Ky., 85 S.W. 704 (1905), a case decided only fourteen years after the adoption of Section 110 of the 1891 Constitution, our predecessor court wrote:
> > If it be true that the . . . court is proceeding without jurisdiction, it is not substantial justice that it should be allowed. . . as it might do at its discretion, subject the parties to enormous expense in defending the case, even if it went no further than a trial of the question of jurisdiction, and say to them, "Your remedy is solely by appeal if you have been wronged." We think [Section 110] of the Constitution, though it be deemed only declaratory of the common law on the subject, confers the power and jurisdiction on this court to intervene by the writ of prohibition to stay the inferior courts of the state from proceeding out of their jurisdiction. It may issue whether or not there is an appeal.

11. Newsome request investigation into Judges handling of said matters to determine if they were motivated to commit such crimes, participate in such crimes and/or authorize the carrying out of such crimes against Newsome which was actuated by malice, corruption, impure motives, discrimination, prejudices, ill intent, etc. If so, Newsome seeks that said Judges be prosecuted and indicted in accordance with the statute/laws governing said matters. Neither Judge Bartlett or Judge Ruttle can assert IMMUNITY in that they were acting without jurisdiction and the evidence will support that they conspired with other person(s)/conspirator(s) to commit the criminal actions complained of herein or is to be made known through an investigation into the claims/allegations of the Complaint.

> Bryant v. Crossland, 182 Ky. 556, 1918 Ky. LEXIS 403 - HN3 - . . . This principle, however, does not extend to make a judicial officer immune from damages for illegal acts, which result in injuries to others or deprive them of their legal rights, when his acts are without the scope and limits of his jurisdiction. It follows that if his illegal acts are without the scope and limits of his jurisdiction, he is liable, if damages result to others from such acts, whether he is actuated by malice, corrupt and impure motives or not. In the last state of case, the fact that his motives are impure and bad are considered, only, as aggravating the damages. When the judge acts illegally, without the limits of his jurisdiction, he becomes a trespasser, and is liable in damages as such. Also see, Cox v. Perkins, 299 Ky. 470, 1945 Ky. LEXIS 449 at HN4; King v. Cawood, 223 Ky. 291, 1928 Ky. LEXIS 317 at HN1.

> Liability of Judges:Pepper v. Mayes,* 81 Ky. 673, 1884 Ky. LEXIS 29 – HN 2: Where a judicial officer has jurisdiction of the person and of the subject-matter he is exempt from suit by a private individuals for damages so long as he acts within his jurisdiction and in a judicial capacity. HN3 - Whenever the State of Kentucky confers judicial powers upon an individual, it confers them with full immunity from private suits. In effect, the State says to the officer that these duties are confided to his judgment; that he is to exercise his judgment fully, freely, and without favor, and he may exercise it without fear; that the duties concern individuals, but they concern more especially the welfare of the State and the peace and happiness of society; that if he shall fail in a faithful discharge of them he shall be called to account as a criminal. . . Also see McBurnie v. Sullivan, 152 Ky. 686, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 698 at HN4.

> McBurnie v. Sullivan, 152 Ky. 686, 1913 Ky. LEXIS 698 at HN5: There are two distinct classes of cases to which the principle of judicial protection does not apply: First, where a person having special or limited judicial authority does any act beyond the scope of his authority. Second, where, although acting within the limits of his jurisdiction, he is actuated by malice or corrupt motives. The rule not only applies to the highest judge in the state or nation, but it also applies to the lowest officer who sits as a court and tries petty causes, and it applies not in respect to their judgments merely, but to all processes awarded by them for carrying their judgments into effect.

Ayars v. Cox, 73 Ky. 201, 1874 Ky. LEXIS 30 -HN4 - . . .There are two distinct classes of cases to which that principle of judicial protection does not apply: first, where a person having a special or limited judicial authority does any act beyond the scope of his authority; and secondly, where, although acting within the limits of his jurisdiction, he is actuated by malicious or corrupt motives. In either case the judge or magistrate renders himself liable as a trespasser to the party injured. Also see, Revill v. Pettit, 60 Ky. 314, 1860 Ky. LEXIS 82 at HN6.

Henry v. Commonwealth, 126 Ky. 357, 1907 Ky. LEXIS 52 - HN9 - A judicial officer, from the highest to the lowest grade, . . .an officer exercising . . . power is not punishable for any honest mistake of judgment in the exercise of that power, but only for an abuse of his power in proceeding from a corrupt or other improper motive.

Stephens v. Wilson, 115 Ky. 27, 1903 Ky. LEXIS 67 - HN5 - If an officer executes a warrant of arrest, invalid on its face, he is liable in damages for false imprisonment. Where, therefore, it appears on the face of the process that the magistrate issuing it has not jurisdiction of the person of the plaintiff or the subject-matter of the suit, the officer executing it is a trespasser, and is liable in action for damage for false imprisonment. It has been said, indeed, that an officer is bound, or will be presumed, to know the jurisdiction of the court, whose officer he is, and that, if he acts in obedience to a precept which the court has no jurisdiction to issue, he will not be protected in false imprisonment. HN6 - Where an inferior court has no jurisdiction of the subject-matter, or, having it, has not jurisdiction of the person of the defendant, all its proceedings are absolutely void. Neither the members of the court nor the plaintiff (if he procured or assented to the proceedings) can derive any protection from them, when prosecuted by a party aggrieved thereby. If a mere ministerial officer executes any process, upon the face of which it appears that the court which issued it had not jurisdiction of the subject-matter, or of the person against whom it is directed, such process will afford him no protection for acts done under it.

12. On October 1, 2008, (EMPHASIS on dated of ruling) with knowledge that he lacked jurisdiction to act because Newsome had filed a Complaint with the United States Legislature/Congress, Judge Bartlett issued an Order in Newsome's civil lawsuit dismissing it. Bartlett doing so with knowledge that he lacked jurisdiction to do so in that Newsome had notified him and/or the Kenton County Circuit Court that she had filed a Complaint with the United States Legislature/Congress. Prior to the October 1, 2008 ruling by Bartlett, he was timely, properly and adequately placed on notice that he lacked jurisdiction to act and/or proceed in further in the lawsuit. In said Order, Judge Bartlett acknowledges Newsome having filed a Complaint with the United States Legislature/Congress. In fact he states, "she objected to the hearing and stated that she had filed an official complaint with the United States Congress. " Therefore, a reasonable mind may conclude that entry of said Order was done and/or actuated with malice, corrupt intent, and improper motive, etc. (See Order attached hereto and incorporated by reference).

13. On or about October 1, 2008 (EMPHASIS on date) GMM Parties had their Warrant of Possession and/or document relied upon to have Newsome unlawfully/illegally removed executed by Judge Ruttle. A reasonable mind may conclude that Judge Bartlett and Judge Ruttle conspired with GMM Parties and their attorneys (Bridges and West and/or other persons not known to Newsome) to proceed to unlawfully/illegally take her residence away from her.

14. Judge Bartlett and Judge Ruttle doing so with full knowledge and Court documents to sustain that there was a legal and binding Injunction and Restraining Order issued by the Kenton County Circuit Court in Newsome's civil lawsuit (Case No. 06-C-03270) which precluded GMM Properties and their representatives from removing and/or evicting Newsome.

15. Judge Bartlett and Judge Ruttle doing so with full knowledge and Court documents to sustain that there was a legal and binding Order issued that Newsome was to pay her rent into Escrow in which Newsome complies with each month given the difficulty the Court imposed in how payment is to be made. It is important to note that Newsome is current with said obligations ordered and that Kenton County Circuit Court and GMM Parties and their counsel was notified that payment was made. (See October 6, 2008 Correspondence to the Court as well as Receipt(s) obtained for payment attached hereto and incorporated by reference).

16. Newsome believes an investigation will yield that Judge Bartlett and Judge Ruttle, with knowledge that they lacked jurisdiction to act and/or execute any Orders and/or Warrants conspired with GMM Parties, their counsel and others to unlawfully/illegal obtain Newsome's residence and/or property.

17. On October 9, 2008, Newsome was contacted at her place of employment by GMM Parties' attorney, Gailen Bridges, and advised that her property had been set out on the street and that if she wanted it, she needed to come and retrieve it. Bridges doing so with knowledge that Newsome was not timely, adequately or properly notice of the unlawful/illegal actions he, GMM Parties, Judges and others were going to take against her.

18. The actions GMM Parties, their counsel, Judge Bartlett, Judge Ruttle and others was willful, malicious and wanton and done with the purposes of causing Newsome injury/harm.

19. Prior to the unlawful/illegal actions of GMM Parties, their counsel and Judges (Bartlett and Ruttle), GMM Parties stalked the premises and inquired of other tenant(s) whether they have seen Newsome. Newsome was advised on October 9, 2008, that Martin specifically inquired a few times as to whether she has been seen. Doing so as they conspired to unlawfully/illegally seize her property/residence and wanting to be certain she was not around. (EMPHASIS added). Goes to mindset of GMM Parties, their counsel and others participating in conspiracy; moreover, deliberate, willful and malicious acts to cause Newsome harm/injury.

20. Newsome inquired of Bridges why she was not notified prior to the unlawful/illegal taking of her residence/property. Bridges advised her that the only notice given was the one prior to taking her residence/property. That he was acting upon a document executed by Judge Ruttle. He doing so with knowledge that Ruttle had no jurisdiction to act and/or execute any warrant of and against Newsome.

21. IT IS IMPORTANT TO NOTE: That the Warrant of Possession (document relied upon by the Kenton County Sheriff's Department) on the backside has written notation that prior to unlawfully/illegally breaking into and burglarizing Newsome's residence, that it acknowledged the POSTING Newsome had posted on her door advising that there is an Injunction and Restraining Order in place which prohibits the removal or eviction of Newsome from her residence. (Newsome is willing to provide a copy of document she obtained from the Kenton County Sheriff's Department). Thus, pertinent in that it goes to support and prove willful, malicious and wanton acts of the Kenton County Sheriff's Department, GMM Parties, their counsel, Judge Bartlett and Judge Ruttle and/or certain person(s)/conspirator(s). Moreover, Newsome hopes that an investigation will determine whether upon reading and noting that there is an Injunction and Restraining Order, whether authorization to proceed was obtained by Judge Bartlett, Judge Ruttle and/or any other Judge advising that it was okay to proceeding in the unlawful entry, burglary, theft, unlawful entry of Newsome's residence.

22. Newsome files this instant Complaint and Request for Investigation in good faith in that she seeks vindication and justice for the criminal and civil wrongs rendered her.

23. Newsome reserves the right to reserve this instant Complaint in that it has been prepared under duress and for purposes of expedition to see that the proper government authority has been timely, properly and adequately notified of the criminal activities of person(s)/conspirator(s).

24. In July 2008, Newsome filed an Official Complaint with the United States Legislature/Congress. This is presently pending before for said government body.

RELIEF SOUGHT

Newsome prays for the following relief:

A. Immediate return of the residence at 128 East 5th Street – Apartment 5, Covington, Kentucky 41011 be returned to Denise Newsome;

B. Immediate issuance of Injunction, Restraining and Protective Order of and against Person(s)/ Conspirator(s) and their legal representatives and/or representative from subjecting Newsome to any further criminal and civil wrongs;

C. Immediate payment of $3,500.00 to compensate Newsome for the replacement of stolen and damaged property/possession. Any such property Newsome was able to salvage has been stored away as evidence and in preparation of criminal actions being brought. Moreover, Newsome has suffered irreparable injury/harm and such criminal actions have had a mental, physical and emotional impact on her life and she should not be required to have to endure any more humiliation, frustration, exertion, etc. to try and determine where items are.

D. Criminal prosecution of Person(s)/Conspirators and the proper indictment rendered for those who may be found guilty;

E. Any and all other relief allowed under the statutes/laws governing said matters.

Respectfully submitted this 13th day of October, 2008.

RE: REQUEST FOR CONFERENCE WITH YOU

Dear Governor Beshear:

As you know a HISTORICAL milestone was reached on November 4, 2008, in the election of the United States first African-American President, Barack Obama. I am contacting you in hopes that under your administration as the Governor of the State of Kentucky you will join in the requests of the President-Elect, Senator John McCain and many others to work with the incoming President and his Administration to bring about the CHANGE and UNITY the President-Elect and this nation is seeking.

Therefore, based upon such requests, I am contacting you to see whether you will have time to meet with me in that I, as a citizen of Kentucky, have some concerns in which I would like to address in assisting in bringing about the CHANGE and UNITY amongst other things that the majority of the citizens of the United States voiced on Tuesday, November 4, 2008. To assist you in understanding the issues I would like to address with you and work towards these goals, I present to you the following information:

1. That in the October 8, 2007 Release from the Corporate Crime Reporter, Kentucky ranked as No. 3 for Most Corrupt State. A copy of this document is attached for your review at EXHIBIT "1." According to this article, "The Justice Department is reporting only public corruption convictions that result from a federal prosecution" (see pg. 2). This article going on to mention, "Mokhiber said that in the most corrupt states, corruption is undermining public trust in politicians and government" (see pg. 2).

2. In that I have only been a resident of Kentucky for approximately two (2) years, I was not aware of the State's reputation regarding the Ku Klux Klan ("KKK") which I find disappointing; nevertheless they are subject to the laws/statutes of this Country. Neither do I allow such groups scare or intimidate me. Finding such literature regarding their activities and seeing how they still are hiding behind the hoods, yet wanting to be known for their activities in Kentucky, are actions I believe are outdated and a group "out-of-touch" with life and the CHANGE the majority on November 4, 2008 voted for. EXHIBIT 47

See document attached at EXHIBIT "2."

3. It appears from the onset of my moving to Kentucky – City of Covington, Kentucky – there were certain whites that were determined on engaging in corrupt and criminal wrongs against me. Such actions going as far to include public officials that are supposed to be upholding the laws/statutes of Kentucky as well as the United States; however, have repeatedly engaged in corrupt and unlawful/illegal practices for the purposes of destroying my life and depriving me rights secured under the Constitution (Kentucky and United States), Civil Rights Act, Housing laws, Landlord and Tenant laws and many other statutes/laws.

4. On October 9, 2008, I was subjected to horrendous acts carried out by public officials (Judge(s), Sheriff/Deputy(s)), by attorney(s); Landlords and their cohorts and willing participants to the criminal and civil wrongs executed against me on said date. I have filed Criminal Charges against parties for such actions with the Federal Bureau of Investigations ("FBI") on or about October 13, 2008. A copy of the FBI Complaint is attached hereto as EXHIBIT "3" to assist you with an understanding as to what is taking place under your administration and perhaps assist you in seeing why Kentucky has been named No. 3 on the Most Corrupt State listing. I am hoping under your administration that you address such issues and work to see that such public corruption, criminal and civil wrongs are dealt with and not swept under the rug. At the time of the October 9, 2008 actions, there was an Injunction and Restraining Order in place prohibiting the legal wrongs taken against me. See EXHIBIT "4" attached hereto. Also the Court had received the October Rent payment into Escrow. See EXHIBIT "5" attached hereto. Therefore, there were no legal grounds and/or justification for the criminal actions taken against me. I believe such wrongs were also racially motivated. While the liability for such criminal and civil wrongs rendered against me are inevitable, I do not believe it should interfere with working towards the CHANGE and UNITY the President-Elect and many others share. Moreover, will show the good faith approach by the State of Kentucky's leader eliminate such practices/injustices.

5. I have put certain persons in the United States Senate/House of Representatives on notice of the criminal actions of October 9, 2008. I am also looking to go to Washington D.C. once those elected to their seats have had an opportunity to settle in. I filed a Complaint with the United States Legislature/Congress in July 2008, at which time I provided my concerns of the corrupt, criminal and illegal/unlawful practices going on. This will be the purpose for the trip to look into the status of the Complaint and I hope to speak to certain Officials of the Senate/House to see where they are also at on working with the President-Elect since it is a known fact that he has a passion for "Civil Rights." I believe as a matter of laws/statutes the Court(s) actions are automatically stayed in the legal actions pending in the Kenton County Courts.

I have already begun speaking out against such wrongs and have also contacted various sources and people to provide them with information. I am moving forward to let churches and communities know of this matter in that I am approached constantly by people of diverse backgrounds that share their stories of the injustices they have suffered and see the despair in their eyes from becoming victims of the public corruption and/or injustices rendered them. Considering some of the information taken from your website which states:

> The Dawson Springs native grew up one of five children. Within the Beshear home one always found a powerful sense of values, faith in God and a steadfast work ethic. The Governor's father, Russell, a funeral director, also was a Baptist minister, just like his father. His mother, Mary Elizabeth, dedicated herself to numerous community endeavors – making life better for others.

it appears you were raised with a great set of values and your parents shared those of my parents (in which my father is also a minister) and our President-Elect and many others. I am a graduate of Florida A&M University (Tallahassee, Florida). I am hoping together and with others that we can begin the healing process in the communities of Kentucky where so many citizens of this State feel battered, beaten, mistreated, unjustly treated, shattered, broken, hopeless, etc. and that nobody cares. As televised, the November 4, 2008 historical election of the first African-American had a clear showing of the diversity (races) of supporters and voters that waited for hours along with foreign countries for the returns to come in as well as to hear President-Elect, Barack Obama's, Acceptance Speech.

Governor Beshear please let me know whether you have time to meet with me to discuss the concerns I have and the need to begin the process of HEALING, UNITY, CHANGE. . . I look forward to meeting you.

Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me at (513) 680-2922. I am currently employed at a law firm in downtown Cincinnati and my direct dial is (513) 852-6053 and direct fax is (513) 419-6453.

With warmest regards,

Denise Newsome

COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY
CIRCUIT COURT OF KENTON COUNTY, KENTUCKY

DENISE NEWSOME — PLAINTIFF

vs. — CIVIL ACTION NO. 06-CI-03270

GARY M. MARTIN, BERNICE MARTIN, DENNIS DONNELLAN, and BETTY DONNELLAN, d/b/a GMM PROPERTIES — DEFENDANTS

ORDER

The emergency motion of Plaintiff for injunction and restraining order against Defendants and their representatives was filed in this action on December 19, 2007, having come on for emergency hearing before the Honorable Gregory Bartlett, Circuit Court of Kenton County on January 5, 2007, with Denise Newsome appearing pro se and Gailen Bridges and James West appearing as attorneys for Defendant.

Now the Court being notified that a "LAST NOTICE" was rendered on the Plaintiff as a result of an eviction action brought by Defendants in their matter before the Kenton County District Court, having heard the circumstances surrounding such action and duly considered the same together with relevant pleadings, concerns of incomplete District Court file, notification of post judgment pleading being submitted by Plaintiff to vacate the Judgment in the District Court action, finds that this emergency hearing was necessary and/or essential to protect the interest of all parties involved and to prevent irreparable harm to the Plaintiff, within meaning of Rule 65 of the Kentucky Rules of Civil Procedure and other applicable laws governing said matters, and that the same temporary injunction and restraining order shall be granted.

IT IS ORDERED that:

1. Defendants their attorneys and other representatives are hereby temporarily enjoined and restrained from taking any eviction actions against the Plaintiff.

2. Temporary injunction and restraining order against Defendants, their attorneys and representatives is hereby order.

3. Plaintiff is ordered to post bond in the amount of Two Hundred Fifty Dollars ($250.00).

4. Plaintiff is instructed to make inquiry to the Kenton County District Court as to condition of its file and the reasons why pleadings and/or documents submitted by her have not been filed and are not contained in the Court file in that action.

5. This Court will hold a hearing on Plaintiff's Emergency Motion for an Injunction and Restraining Order Against Defendants and Their Representatives on Tuesday, January 16, 2007, at 9:30 a.m. before the Honorable Gregory Bartlett.

Date this 11th day of January, 2007.

LARRY LYONS, et al., Plaintiff-Appellee -vs- WAYNE LINK, Defendant-Appellant

Case No. 05 CA 23

COURT OF APPEALS OF OHIO, FIFTH APPELLATE DISTRICT, KNOX COUNTY

2005 Ohio 7039; 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 6339

December 30, 2005, Date of Judgment Entry

PRIOR HISTORY: [1] CHARACTER OF PROCEEDING: Civil Appeal from the Court of Common Pleas, Case No. 03 OT 090327.
Lyons v. Link, 2004 Ohio 5524, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 5030 (Ohio Ct. App., Knox County, Oct. 15, 2004).

DISPOSITION: Affirmed.

CASE SUMMARY:

PROCEDURAL POSTURE: Appellant tenant sought review of a decision from the Knox County Court of Common Pleas (Ohio), which denied his request for a protective order (PO) against appellee landlord. The common pleas court also dismissed the tenant's counterclaim in the parties' protracted dispute.

OVERVIEW: The landlord filed a forcible entry and detainer action against the tenant in a municipal court. The tenant counterclaimed, alleging fraud and abuse of process, and seeking damages in excess of the municipal court's monetary jurisdiction limit. The counterclaim was bifurcated and transferred to the common pleas court. The municipal court found in favor of the landlord and the tenant vacated the premises. Thereafter, the common pleas court dismissed the tenant's action for failure to state a claim, but that order was reversed on appeal. On remand, the common pleas court denied the tenant's motion for a PO against the landlord's notice to take deposition. The tenant eventually appeared for the deposition, but left after only 15 minutes. The common pleas court granted the landlord's motion to dismiss as a sanction under Ohio R. Civ. P. 37(B)(2). On appeal, the court found that as the tenant did not request findings of fact and conclusions of law with respect to the denial of the PO, pursuant to Ohio R. Civ. P. 52, such error was waived on appeal. The common pleas court did not abuse its discretion in declining to issue the PO, as it was relevant to the proceedings.

OUTCOME: The court affirmed the decision of the common pleas court.

CORE TERMS: deposition, counterclaim, protective order, common pleas, discovery, conclusions of law, abuse of discretion, municipal, forcible entry and detainer, requesting, bifurcated, scheduled, eviction, opposing, notice, thereupon, abused [HN1] An appellate court reviews a trial court's disposition of discovery matters under an abuse of discretion standard. In order to find an abuse of discretion, the appellate court must determine that the trial court's decision was unreasonable, arbitrary or unconscionable and not merely an error of law or judgment.

[*P1] Appellant Wayne Link appeals the decision of the Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, which denied his request for a protective order and subsequently dismissed his counterclaim in a protracted dispute with his former landlord, Appellee Larry Lyons. The relevant facts leading to his appeal are as follows.

[*P2] In May 2000, appellant entered into a month-to-month oral lease to rent one-half of a duplex from Appellee Larry Lyons. On December 17, 2002, Appellee Larry Lyons filed a forcible entry and detainer action against appellant. Larry's wife, Appellee Sharon Lyons, was subsequently joined as a real party in interest. On January 6, 2003, appellant filed an answer and counterclaim alleging fraud and abuse of process and requesting damages of $ 70,000. Because [2] the counterclaim exceeded the municipal court's monetary jurisdiction, that court bifurcated the complaint from the counterclaim and transferred the counterclaim to the court of common pleas.

[*P3] By judgment entry filed on January 13, 2003, the municipal court found in favor of appellees in their forcible entry and detainer action and ordered appellant to vacate the premises by January 21, 2003. Appellant complied with the order, but filed a notice of appeal. We affirmed the eviction order, holding that the bifurcation of the claims and counterclaim was proper. See Lyons v. Link, Knox App.No. 03CA000006, 2003 Ohio 2706.

[*P4] After appellant's counterclaims were accepted in the Knox County Court of Common Pleas, appellees filed a motion to dismiss pursuant to Civ.R. 12(B)(6). On February 2, 2004, the trial court issued a judgment entry finding appellant's counterclaim failed to state a claim upon which relief could be granted. We reversed the decision of the trial court on October 15, 2004, finding the court's reliance on Civ.R. 12(B)(6) as grounds for dismissal to be erroneous under the circumstances of the [3] case. See Lyons v. Link, Knox App.No. 04CA4, 2004 Ohio 5524.

[*P5] After the case was thus remanded to the common pleas court, appellees, on January 13, 2005, filed a notice to take deposition of appellant at appellees' attorney's law offices. Appellant thereupon filed a motion for a protective order, opposing the taking of the deposition. The trial court denied said motion on February 18, 2005.

[*P6] Appellees then notified appellant of the deposition, set for March 11, 2005 at 10 AM. Appellant failed to appear at that time. Appellees thereupon filed a motion to compel appellant to appear for deposition. The trial court conducted a hearing on the motion on April 22, 2005, following which the court ordered that appellant appear for the purpose of taking his deposition.

[*P7] The deposition was scheduled for April 25, 2005, at the Knox County Courthouse. The deposition commenced on that date at 1:30 PM. However, at 1:45 PM, before appellees' counsel had asked all of his questions, appellant stated: "That's it. That is my testimony. You file whatever you have to." Deposition Tr. at 19. He then left the room, and the deposition was adjourned. Id.

[*P8] [4] On May 12, 2005, appellees filed a motion for sanctions, requesting that appellant's counterclaim be dismissed pursuant to Civ.R. 37(B)(2). On June 8, 2005, the trial court issued a judgment entry finding the motion for sanctions to be well-taken and dismissing appellant's counterclaim.

[*P9] Appellant timely appealed, and herein raises the following two Assignments of Error:

[*P10] "I. THE TRIAL COURT DID NOT ISSUE FINDINGS OF FACT AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW IN ITS PROTECTIVE ORDER.

[*P11] "II. BY ALLOWING THE PLAINTIFFS-APPELLEES MORE THAN ONE OPPORTUNITY TO DEPOSE THE DEFENDANT-APPELLANT CONCERNING THE SAME CIRCUMSTANCES SURROUNDING THIS CASE, THE TRIAL COURT IS PERMITTING OPPOSING COUNSEL TO ABUSE, OPPRESS AND ANNOY THE DEFENDANT-APPELLANT IN VIOLATION OF OHIO CIVIL RULE 26(C).

I.

[*P12] In his First Assignment of Error, appellant contends the trial court abused its discretion by failing to issue findings of fact and conclusions of law regarding its denial of the protective order.

[*P13] We note appellant failed to file a request for findings of fact and conclusions of law with the trial court pursuant to [5] Civ.R. 52. Accordingly, we hold appellant has waived any error in this regard. See, e.g., Kager v. Kager (May 22, 2000), Stark App.No. 1999CA00252, 2000 Ohio App. LEXIS 2175.

[*P14] Appellant's First Assignment of Error is overruled.

II.

[*P15] In his Second Assignment of Error, appellant argues the trial court abused its discretion by declining to block, via a protective order, the deposition of appellant. We disagree.

[*P16] [HN1] We review a trial court's disposition of discovery matters under an abuse of discretion standard. State ex rel. The V. Cos. v. Marshall (1998), 81 Ohio St.3d 467, 469, 1998 Ohio 329, 692 N.E.2d 198. In order to find an abuse of discretion, we must determine that the trial court's decision was unreasonable, arbitrary or unconscionable and not merely an error of law or judgment. Blakemore v. Blakemore (1983), 5 Ohio St.3d 217, 219, 5 Ohio B. 481, 450 N.E.2d 1140.

[*P17] Civ.R. 26(B)(1) states: [HN2] "Unless otherwise ordered by the court in accordance with these rules,  parties may obtain discovery regarding any matter, not privileged, which is relevant to the subject matter involved in the pending action, whether it relates to the claim or defense [6] of the party seeking discovery or to the claim or defense of any other party, including the existence, description, nature, custody, condition and location of any books, documents, or other tangible things and the identity and location of persons having knowledge of any discoverable matter. It is not ground for objection that the information sought will be inadmissible at the trial if the information sought appears reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence."

[*P18] The gist of appellant's argument is that a protective order was warranted because appellees' counsel supposedly could have deposed him in 2003 when appellant himself took the deposition of Appellee Larry Lyons, and because appellant was subject to cross-examination during the eviction portion of this bifurcated case. We find no merit in appellant's theory. We further find appellant's reliance on Fireman's Fund American Insurance Co. v. Giglio (Nov. 1, 1979), Cuyahoga App. No. 39082, 1979 Ohio App. LEXIS 10547, unpersuasive and procedurally inapposite. In that case, the deponent was actually an employee of the appellee insurance company, which had successfully obtained a protective order from the municipal court [7] after counsel for the appellant, Giglio dba Broadway Motors, who had scheduled the deposition, failed to go forward with it. Giglio then appealed the trial court's issuance of the protective order, which was ultimately affirmed by the Eighth District Court. Id.

[*P19] In the case sub judice, we find no abuse of discretion in the trial court's denial of appellant's requested protective order. Appellant's Second Assignment of Error is therefore overruled.

[*P20] For the foregoing reasons, the judgment of the Court of Common Pleas, Knox County, Ohio, is hereby affirmed.

By: Wise, J.

Gwin, P. J., and Farmer, J., concur.

JUDGMENT ENTRY

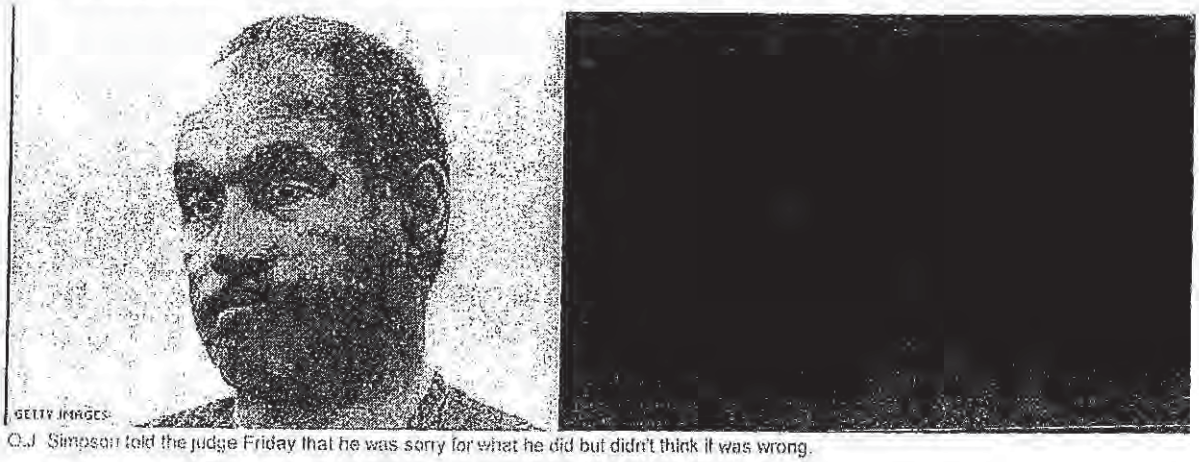
O.J. Simpson to serve at least nine years in prison

LAS VEGAS, Nevada (CNN) -- Former gridiron great O.J. Simpson will serve at least nine years in prison for his role in an armed confrontation with sports memorabilia dealers in a Las Vegas hotel in 2007.



O.J. Simpson told the judge Friday that he was sorry for what he did but didn't think it was wrong.

Simpson was sentenced to a maximum of 33 years with the possibility of parole after nine. Before the sentence, he offered a rambling, emotional apology in which he told District Judge Jackie Glass, his voice shaking, that he was sorry for his actions but believed he did nothing wrong. Glass, however, brushed his apology aside, saying his actions amounted to "much more than stupidity," and calling him both arrogant and ignorant.

"Earlier in this case, at a bail hearing, I said to Mr. Simpson, I didn't know if he was arrogant, ignorant or both," Glass said. "During the trial and through this proceeding, I got the answer, and it was both."

She stressed that the sentence was not "payback for anything else," apparently referring to Simpson's acquittal 13 years ago in the slayings of his former wife, Nicole Brown Simpson, and her friend Ron Goldman. Watch the judge say the sentence isn't about the past »

Grimacing, Simpson was escorted from the courtroom in shackles.

Defense attorneys said Glass' sentence was appropriate.

Don't Miss

Possible sentences: 6 years, 18 years, life
Jury: O.J.'s guilty
FindLaw: Read the complaint (pdf)

"It could have been a lot worse," Yale Galanter said, noting that Simpson and co-defendant Clarence "C.J." Stewart both could have been sentenced to life in prison.

A jury convicted Simpson, 61, and Stewart, 54, on 12 charges including conspiracy to commit a crime, robbery, assault and kidnapping with a deadly weapon stemming from a September 13, 2007, incident at Las Vegas' Palace Station hotel and casino.

Prosecutors alleged that Simpson led a group of men who used threats, guns and force to take sports memorabilia from dealers Bruce Fromong and Al Beardsley. Simpson claimed that he was attempting to recover items that belonged to him. All the men except Stewart made deals with prosecutors in exchange for their testimony.

"We're happy that this case is coming to an end," Clark County district attorney David Roger said. "We're satisfied that we presented a good case to a jury, that the jury listened to all the evidence, particularly the audiotapes, and came to the resolution that we asked them to come to." He said he thought the sentence was fair.

Simpson's conviction came October 3, the 13th anniversary of his controversial acquittal in the killings of Nicole Brown Simpson and Goldman. Follow a timeline of Simpson's legal woes »

Glass said, "I'm not here to sentence Mr. Simpson for what's happened in his life previously in the criminal justice system. ... The jury decided. There are many people who disagree with that verdict, but that doesn't matter to me."

Goldman's father and sister were in the courtroom for Friday's sentencing.

"The back of his head looks the same as it did every day that we watched him in the criminal case, and we feel very proud of our efforts," Kim Goldman said. "We feel very strongly that because of our pursuit of him for all these years, that it did drive him to the brink of this."

Although Simpson was acquitted in the deaths, a civil jury later found him liable, slapping him with a $33 million judgment. Attorneys for the Goldman family have doggedly pursued Simpson's financial assets to pay the judgment.

In sentencing Simpson on Friday, Glass noted that he can be heard on tapes of the incident referring to the Goldmans as "gold-diggers" and saying he doesn't want them to get his property. See how his sentence breaks down »

"If that pushed him over the edge, great," Fred Goldman said afterward. "Put him where he belongs." Watch Fred and Kim Goldman react »

Galanter said he thought the Goldmans' presence was "inappropriate."

"I don't think they should have been here," he said. "It reminded us all how the criminal justice system can run afoul, because the only thing Simpson should have been judged on is what happened here in Nevada."

Denise Brown, the sister of Nicole Brown Simpson, issued a statement on the sentence saying, "It is very sad to think that an individual who had it all, an amazing career, beautiful wife and two precious children, has ended up like this.

"Allowing wealth, power and control to consume himself, he made a horrific choice on June 12, 1994, which has spiraled into where he is today."

Brown said she was saddened that the couple's two children "once again face the tragedy of yet another parent absent in their lives." In the statement, she asks for prayers for the children, Sydney and Justin, and the Brown family.

Before being sentenced, Simpson told Glass he was "sorry, somewhat confused, apologetic." He said the items he was trying to recover were his late ex-wife's wedding ring for his daughter and family photos for his son. Watch Simpson's apology »

"I just wanted my personal things. I was stupid. I'm sorry," Simpson said. "I didn't know I was doing anything illegal. I thought I was confronting friends. I thought I was retrieving my things. I didn't mean to hurt anybody, and I didn't mean to steal anything."

But Glass rejected those statements in imposing the sentence.

"When you take a gun with you and you take men with you ... in a show of force, that's not just a 'Hey, give me my stuff back,' " Glass said. "That's something else. And that's what went on here, and that's why we're all here.

"I have to tell you, it was much more than stupidity. ... You went to the room, you took guns -- meaning you and the group -- you used force, you took property, whether it was yours or somebody else's, and in this state, that amounts to robbery with the use of a deadly weapon."

The judge said Simpson's contrite words in court were not as powerful as his angry words, as caught on tape, during the confrontation.

"Everything in this case was on tape," Glass said. "The evidence in this case was overwhelming."

Simpson's attorneys asked that he be sentenced to no more than six years. A presentencing report recommended an 18-year term.

Stewart received a sentence similar to Simpson's but will be eligible for parole in 7½ years.

"I am as happy as someone could be when they know their client is going to reside for at least seven years in a cage," said Stewart's attorney, Brent Bryson.

Defense attorneys for both Simpson and Stewart have said they will appeal. On Friday, Glass denied motions asking that both defendants be allowed out on bail while the appeal is pending.

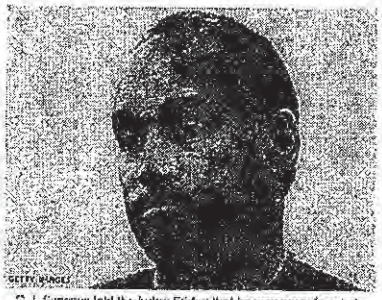
LAS VEGAS, Nevada (CNN) -- Former gridiron great O.J. Simpson will serve at least nine years in prison for his role in an armed confrontation with sports memorabilia dealers in a Las Vegas hotel in 2007.



O.J. Simpson told the judge Friday that he was sorry for what he did but didn't think it was wrong.

Simpson was sentenced to a maximum of 33 years with the possibility of parole after nine. Before the sentence, he offered a rambling, emotional apology in which he told District Judge Jackie Glass, his voice shaking, that he was sorry for his actions but believed he did nothing wrong. Glass, however, brushed his apology aside, saying his actions amounted to "much more than stupidity," and calling him both arrogant and ignorant.

"Earlier in this case, at a bail hearing, I said to Mr. Simpson, I didn't know if he was arrogant, ignorant or both," Glass said. "During the trial and through this proceeding, I got the answer, and it was both."

She stressed that the sentence was not "payback for anything else," apparently referring to Simpson's acquittal 13 years ago in the slayings of his former wife, Nicole Brown Simpson, and her friend Ron Goldman. Watch the judge say the sentence isn't about the past »

Grimacing, Simpson was escorted from the courtroom in shackles.

Defense attorneys said Glass' sentence was appropriate.

"It could have been a lot worse," Yale Galanter said, noting that Simpson and co-defendant Clarence "C.J." Stewart both could have been sentenced to life in prison.

A jury convicted Simpson, 61, and Stewart, 54, on 12 charges including conspiracy to commit a crime, robbery, assault and kidnapping with a deadly weapon stemming from a September 13, 2007, incident at Las Vegas' Palace Station hotel and casino.

Prosecutors alleged that Simpson led a group of men who used threats, guns and force to take sports memorabilia from dealers Bruce Fromong and Al Beardsley. Simpson claimed that he was attempting to recover items that belonged to him. All the men except Stewart made deals with prosecutors in exchange for their testimony.

"We're happy that this case is coming to an end," Clark County district attorney David Roger said. "We're satisfied that we presented a good case to a jury, that the jury listened to all the evidence, particularly the audiotapes, and came to the resolution that we asked them to come to." He said he thought the sentence was fair.

Simpson's conviction came October 3, the 13th anniversary of his controversial acquittal in the killings of Nicole Brown Simpson and Goldman. Follow a timeline of Simpson's legal woes »

Glass said, "I'm not here to sentence Mr. Simpson for what's happened in his life previously in the criminal justice system. ... The jury decided. There are many people who disagree with that verdict, but that doesn't matter to me."

Goldman's father and sister were in the courtroom for Friday's sentencing.

"The back of his head looks the same as it did every day that we watched him in the criminal case, and we feel very proud of our efforts," Kim Goldman said. "We feel very strongly that because of our pursuit of him for all these years, that it did drive him to the brink of this."

Although Simpson was acquitted in the deaths, a civil jury later found him liable, slapping him with a $33 million judgment. Attorneys for the Goldman family have doggedly pursued Simpson's financial assets to pay the judgment.

In sentencing Simpson on Friday, Glass noted that he can be heard on tapes of the incident referring to the Goldmans as "gold-diggers" and saying he doesn't want them to get his property.

"If that pushed him over the edge, great," Fred Goldman said afterward. "Put him where he belongs."

Galanter said he thought the Goldmans' presence was "inappropriate."

"I don't think they should have been here," he said. "It reminded us all how the criminal justice system can run afoul, because the only thing Simpson should have been judged on is what happened here in Nevada."

Denise Brown, the sister of Nicole Brown Simpson, issued a statement on the sentence saying, "It is very sad to think that an individual who had it all, an amazing career, beautiful wife and two precious children, has ended up like this.

"Allowing wealth, power and control to consume himself, he made a horrific choice on June 12, 1994, which has spiraled into where he is today."

Brown said she was saddened that the couple's two children "once again face the tragedy of yet another parent absent in their lives." In the statement, she asks for prayers for the children, Sydney and Justin, and the Brown family.

Before being sentenced, Simpson told Glass he was "sorry, somewhat confused, apologetic." He said the items he was trying to recover were his late ex-wife's wedding ring for his daughter and family photos for his son. -- Watch Simpson's apology »

Ohio Citizen Action today released overviews of campaign contributions to members of the Ohio Supreme Court during the last four election cycles (2000-2006). Chief Justice Thomas J. Moyer received $1.5 million (Election 2000), Justice Robert Cupp nearly $1 million (Election 2006), Judith Lanzinger $1.6 million, Maureen O'Connor $1.7 million (Election 2002), Paul E. Pfeifer nearly $80,000 (Election 2004), and Evelyn Lundberg Stratton $1.9 million (Election 2002). In this same time period, Justice Terrence O'Donnell ran for the Supreme Court three times. In 2000, he raised nearly $1 million in an unsuccessful attempt to defeat Alice Robie Resnick. O'Donnell was appointed by Governor Bob Taft to fill Deborah Cook's seat in 2003, when she left the Ohio Supreme Court for the federal bench. He raised $1.6 million to retain this seat in Election 2004. O'Donnell's seat was up for election again in 2006 and he raised an additional $1 million. In these three elections, O'Donnell raised a combined total of $3,620,782. These campaign finance profiles include an overview of types of donors, large contributors, and money from the political parties. The insurance industry played a prominent role in Supreme Court elections, contributing a total of $1,781,568 to six of the seven Justices. Insurance company Cincinnati Financial Corporation ($312,723) was the top donor to six members of the Ohio Supreme Court: Cupp, Lanzinger, Moyer, O'Connor, O'Donnell, and Stratton. In sharp contrast, Pfeifer did not receive any contributions from the insurance industry.

Methodology

The Money in Politics Project of the Ohio Citizen Action Education Fund analyzed contributions to the Chief Justice and the Justices of the Ohio Supreme Court from Elections 2000, 2002, 2004, and 2006. Totals include contributions from political action committees (PACs), labor unions, and individuals.

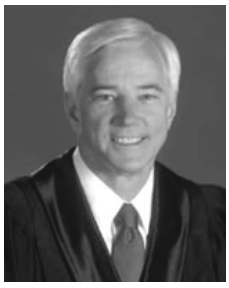
The database is based on the filings of candidates for the Ohio Supreme Court, available in computerized form from the Ohio Secretary of State. These filings were submitted electronically by the candidate committees to the Secretary of State and are available on-line at www.sos.state.oh.us. Candidates for the Ohio Supreme Court are permitted to raise money only during the time period that they are on the ballot. The Justices were given an opportunity to review their campaign finance profiles.

To identify the employers of contributors, the Ohio Citizen Action Education Fund used the following:

1. Databases of architects, doctors, dentists, funeral directors, and certified public accountants registered to do business in Ohio from the Ohio Division of Administrative Services,
2. A database from the Ohio Supreme Court of attorneys in Ohio
3. A list of lobbyists in Ohio from the Joint Legislative Ethics Committee,
4. A list of contributors to political action committees in Ohio,
5. Database of physicians provided by the American Medical Association,
6. Database of attorneys provided by Martindale-Hubble.
7. Search engines like Google.

For each candidate the total amount in this campaign finance database includes the following:

- Contributions received



Terrence O'Donnell

Paul Pfeifer

Evelyn Stratton

Overviews:

- Attorney donors
- Insurance donors
- Manufacturing donors
- Union donors

- Contributions received at a social or fundraising event
- In-kind contributions received
- Contributions the candidate gave to his own campaign

The campaign finance profiles do not include Statement of Other Income, which includes interest, refunds, returns, and other non-contribution income.

SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES

489 U.S. 180; 109 S. Ct. 993; 103 L. Ed. 2d 158; 1989 U.S. LEXIS 597; 57 U.S.L.W. 3545

February 21, 1989, Decided

PRIOR HISTORY: ON MOTION FOR LEAVE TO PROCEED IN FORMA PAUPERIS.

DISPOSITION: Motion denied.

CASE SUMMARY:

PROCEDURAL POSTURE: Petitioner, a former convict, sought leave to proceed in forma pauperis under Sup. Ct. R. 26 and sought a writ of habeas corpus pursuant to 28 U.S.C.S. § 2241(a).

OVERVIEW: Over the 13-year period since his conviction, petitioner had filed four appeals, 33 petitions for certiorari, 19 petitions for extraordinary writs, seven applications for stays and other injunctive relief, and 10 petitions for rehearing. The Court had denied all of his appeals and the various petitions and motions. The Court, however, had never previously denied petitioner leave to proceed in forma pauperis. In the instant matter, the Court determined that petitioner had abused the privilege of seeking extraordinary writs and was unfairly expending the Court's limited resources. He had repeatedly ignored the letter and spirit of Sup. Ct. R. 26, which required a showing that the writ requested would be in aid of the Court's appellate jurisdiction, that there were present exceptional circumstances warranting the exercise of the Court's discretionary powers, and that adequate relief could not be had in any other form or from any other court. The Court held that petitioner remained free under the order to file in forma pauperis requests for relief other than an extraordinary writ, if he qualified to do so under Sup. Ct. R. 46 and did not similarly abuse that privilege.

OUTCOME: The Court denied petitioner's motion. The Court further ordered the Clerk not to accept any further petitions from petitioner for extraordinary writs unless petitioner paid the docketing fee and submitted his petition in compliance with U.S. Supreme Court rules.

[HN3] Paupers filing pro se petitions are not subject to the financial considerations -- filing fees and attorney's fees -- that deter other litigants from filing frivolous petitions. Every paper filed with the Clerk of this Court, no matter how repetitious or frivolous, requires some portion of the institution's limited resources. A part of the Court's responsibility is to see that these resources are allocated in a way that promotes the interests of justice. The continual processing of frivolous requests for extraordinary writs does not promote that end.

DECISION: Convict whose numerous appeals, petitions, and motions had been unanimously rejected by Supreme Court, denied leave to proceed in forma pauperis on new petition or on any further petitions for extraordinary writs.

SUMMARY: A person who had been convicted and sentenced to imprisonment in Tennessee for obtaining title to an automobile under false pretenses, and who was no longer incarcerated, petitioned the United States Supreme Court pro se for a writ of habeas corpus and requested leave to proceed in forma pauperis. During the 13 years since his conviction became final, all of his requests for relief from the conviction were rejected by the Supreme Court and by the Tennessee courts. In connection with the conviction and other matters, he made 73 separate filings with the Supreme Court, including eight during the present term, and all were denied without recorded dissent; these filings included four appeals, 32 petitions for certiorari, 22 petitions for extraordinary writs, five applications for stays and other injunctive relief, and 10 petitions for rehearing. In the present petition for habeas corpus, he raised the same argument that had been raised unsuccessfully in at least four prior filings with the Supreme Court. Although having denied all of his appeals, petitions, and motions, the Supreme Court had never denied him leave to proceed in forma pauperis.

In a per curiam opinion expressing the view of Rehnquist, Ch. J., and White, O'Connor, Scalia, and Kennedy, JJ., the court denied the petitioner leave to proceed in forma pauperis and directed the Clerk of the Supreme Court not to accept any further petitions in forma pauperis from the petitioner for extraordinary writs, because (1) paupers filing pro se petitions are not subject to the costs, such as filing fees and attorneys' fees, that deter other litigants from filing frivolous petitions, (2) the continual processing of the petitioner's frivolous requests for extraordinary writs did not promote the just allocation of the Supreme Court's limited resources, and (3) the petitioner had repeatedly ignored the letter and spirit of Rule 26 of the Supreme Court Rules, which specifies prerequisites to the granting of an extraordinary writ.

Brennan, J., joined by Marshall, Blackmun, and Stevens, JJ., dissented, expressing the view that (1) the habeas corpus petition should have been denied without reaching the merits of the motion to proceed in forma pauperis, and (2) because the Supreme Court lacked authority to disqualify a litigant from future in forma pauperis filings, the Clerk of the Supreme Court should not have been directed not to accept future petitions in forma pauperis from the petitioner for extraordinary writs.

SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES §71

leave to proceed in forma pauperis -- extraordinary writs --

Headnote:[1A][1B][1C]

A person who is no longer incarcerated following his conviction and prison sentence for the commission of a state crime will be denied leave to proceed in forma pauperis with his pro se petition to the United States Supreme Court for a writ of habeas corpus concerning that crime, and the Clerk of the Supreme Court will be directed not to accept any further petitions in forma pauperis from the petitioner for extraordinary writs, where (1) during the 13 years since his conviction became final, all of the petitioner's requests for relief from the conviction have been rejected by the Supreme Court and by the state courts, (2) in connection with the conviction and other matters, he has made 73 separate filings with the Supreme Court, including four appeals, 32 petitions for certiorari, 22 petitions for extraordinary writs, five applications for stays and other injunctive relief, and 10 petitions for rehearing, (3) although the Supreme Court has never denied the petitioner leave to proceed in forma pauperis, all of these appeals, petitions, and applications, including the eight filed during the present term, have been denied without recorded dissent, and (4) the present habeas corpus petition raises the same argument raised unsuccessfully by the petitioner in at least four prior filings with the Supreme Court; the Supreme Court will adopt this approach because (1) paupers filing pro se petitions are not subject to the costs, such as filing fees and attorneys' fees, that deter other litigants from filing frivolous petitions, (2) the continual processing of the petitioner's frivolous requests for extraordinary writs does not promote the just allocation of the Supreme Court's limited resources, and (3) the petitioner has repeatedly ignored the letter and spirit of Rule 26 of the Supreme Court Rules, which provides that to justify the granting of an extraordinary writ, it must be shown that there are present exceptional circumstances warranting the exercise of the Supreme Court's discretionary powers, and that adequate relief cannot be had in any other form or from any other court. (Brennan, Marshall, Blackmun, and Stevens, JJ., dissented from this holding.)

Headnote:[2]

A person from whom the Clerk of the United States Supreme Court has been directed by the Supreme Court not to accept any further petitions in forma pauperis for extraordinary writs, where the person has made repetitious and frivolous filings, in abuse of the privilege of filing extraordinary writs in forma pauperis, remains free to file in forma pauperis requests for relief other than extraordinary relief, so long as he does not similarly abuse that privilege.

SYLLABUS

Pro se petitioner filed a motion for leave to proceed in forma pauperis on his petition before this Court for a writ of habeas corpus. Since 1971, he has made 73 other filings with this Court -- including 19 for extraordinary relief -- all of which have been denied without recorded dissent.

Held: Petitioner's motion for leave to proceed in forma pauperis is denied, and the Clerk is directed not to accept any further petitions from him for extraordinary writs unless he pays the docketing fee required by this Court's Rule 45(a) and submits his petition in compliance with Rule 33. The continual processing of his frivolous requests for extraordinary writs does not permit the Court to allocate its limited resources in a way that promotes the interests of justice. Paupers filing pro se petitions are not subject to the financial considerations that deter other litigants from filing frivolous petitions, and lower courts have issued orders intended to curb serious abuses by persons proceeding in forma pauperis. Petitioner remains free to file in forma pauperis requests for other relief, if he qualifies and does not similarly abuse that privilege.

OPINION BY: PER CURIAM

OPINION

[*180] [*162] [993] [LEdHR1A] [1A]Pro se petitioner Jessie McDonald requests that this Court issue a writ of habeas corpus pursuant to 28 U. S. C. § 2241(a). He also requests that he be permitted to proceed in forma pauperis under this Court's Rule 46. We deny petitioner leave [994] to proceed in forma pauperis. He is allowed until March 14, 1989, within which to pay the docketing fee required by Rule 45(a) and to submit a petition in compliance with this Court's Rule 33. We also direct the Clerk not to accept any further petitions from petitioner for extraordinary writs pursuant to 28 U. S. C. §§ 1651(a), 2241, and 2254(a), unless he pays the docketing fee required by Rule 45(a) and submits his petition in compliance with Rule 33. We explain below our reasons for taking this step.

Petitioner is no stranger to us. Since 1971, he has made 73 separate filings with the Court, not including this petition, [*181] which is his eighth so far this Term. These include 4 appeals, [1] 33 petitions for certiorari, [2] 19 petitions for extraordinary writs, [3] [163] 7 applications for stays and other [995] injunctive relief, [4] [*182] and 10 petitions for rehearing. [5] Without recorded dissent, the Court has denied all of his appeals and denied all of his various petitions and motions. We have never previously denied him leave to proceed in forma pauperis. 6 In the affidavit in support of his present motion to proceed in forma pauperis, petitioner states that he earns approximately $ 300 per month, is self-employed, and has less than $ 25 in his checking or savings account. He states that he has no dependents.

The instant petition for a writ of habeas corpus arises from petitioner's 1974 state conviction for obtaining title to a 1972 Ford LTD automobile under false pretenses, for which he was sentenced to three years' imprisonment. Petitioner appealed to the Tennessee Court of Criminal Appeals, which reversed his conviction on the ground that there was no evidence [*183] that the alleged victim relied on petitioner's false statements. In January 1976, the Supreme Court of Tennessee reinstated his conviction. State v. McDonald, 534 S. W. 2d 650. We denied certiorari, 425 U.S. 955, [164] and rehearing, 425 U.S. 1000 (1976).

In the 13 years since his conviction became final, petitioner has filed numerous petitions and motions for relief in this Court and in the Tennessee courts, all of which have been rejected. In the instant petition, for example, he requests that the Court "set aside" his conviction and direct the State to "expunge" the conviction "from all public records." He is not presently incarcerated. He contends that his constitutional rights were violated by the State's failure to prove that the property to which he obtained title under false pretenses was valued at over $ 100, as required by the statute under which he was convicted. Petitioner has put forward this same argument -- unsuccessfully -- in at least four prior filings with the Court, including a petition for mandamus, which was filed 13 days before the instant petition and was not disposed of by the Court until more than a month after this petition was filed. [7]

7 See In re McDonald, 488 U.S. 940 (1988) (petition for mandamus and/or prohibition); In re McDonald, 484 U.S. 812 (1987) (petition for common law certiorari or habeas corpus); McDonald v. Tennessee, 475 U.S. 1088, rehearing denied, 475 U.S. 1151 (1986) (petition for certiorari); In re McDonald, 479 U.S. 809 (1986) (petition for habeas corpus).

[996] Title 28 U. S. C. § 1915 provides that [HN1] "[a]ny court of the United States may authorize the commencement, prosecution or defense of any suit, action or proceeding, civil or criminal, or appeal therein, without prepayment of fees and costs or security therefor." (Emphasis added.) As permitted under this statute, we have adopted Rule 46.1, which provides that [HN2] "[a] party desiring to proceed in this Court in forma pauperis shall file a motion for leave to so proceed, together with his affidavit in the form prescribed in Fed. Rules App. Proc., Form 4 . . . setting forth with particularity facts [*184] showing that he comes within the statutory requirements." Each year, we permit the vast majority of persons who wish to proceed in forma pauperis to do so; last Term, we afforded the privilege of proceeding in forma pauperis to about 2,300 persons. Paupers have been an important -- and valued -- part of the Court's docket, see, e. g., Gideon v. Wainwright, 372 U.S. 335 (1963), and remain so.

[*LEdHR1B] [1B]But [HN3] paupers filing pro se petitions are not subject to the financial considerations -- filing fees and attorney's fees -- that deter other litigants from filing frivolous petitions. Every paper filed with the Clerk of this Court, no matter how repetitious or frivolous, requires some portion of the institution's limited resources. A part of the Court's responsibility is to see that these resources are allocated in a way that promotes the interests of justice. The continual processing of petitioner's frivolous requests for extraordinary writs does not promote that end. Although we have not done so previously, lower courts have issued orders intended to curb serious abuses by persons [165] proceeding in forma pauperis. [8] Our order here prevents petitioner from proceeding in forma pauperis when seeking extraordinary writs from the Court. [9] It is perhaps worth noting that we have not granted the sort of extraordinary writ relentlessly sought by petitioner to any litigant -- paid or in forma pauperis -- for at least a decade. [*185] We have emphasized that [HN4] extraordinary writs are, not surprisingly, "drastic and extraordinary remedies," to be "reserved for really extraordinary causes," in which "appeal is clearly an inadequate remedy." Ex parte Fahey, 332 U.S. 258, 259, 260 (1947).

8 See, e. g., Procup v. Strickland, 792 F. 2d 1069 (CA11 1986); Peck v. Hoff, 660 F. 2d 371 (CA8 1981); Green v. Carlson, 649 F. 2d 285 (CA5 1981); cf. In re Martin-Trigona, 737 F. 2d 1254, 1261 (CA2 1984) ("Federal courts have both the inherent power and constitutional obligation to protect their jurisdiction from conduct which impairs their ability to carry out Article III functions").

9 Petitioner has repeatedly ignored the letter and spirit of this Court's Rule 26, which provides in part that, [HN5] "[t]o justify the granting of [an extraordinary writ], it must be shown that the writ will be in aid of the Court's appellate jurisdiction, that there are present exceptional circumstances warranting the exercise of the Court's discretionary powers, and that adequate relief cannot be had in any other form or from any other court."

[*LEdHR2] [2]Petitioner remains free under the present order to file in forma pauperis requests for relief other than an extraordinary writ, if he qualifies under this Court's Rule 46 and does not similarly abuse that privilege.

It is so ordered.

DISSENT BY: BRENNAN

DISSENT

JUSTICE BRENNAN, with whom JUSTICE MARSHALL, JUSTICE BLACKMUN, and JUSTICE STEVENS join, dissenting.

In the first such act in its almost 200-year history, the Court today bars its door to a litigant prospectively. Jessie McDonald may well have abused his right to file petitions in this Court without payment of the docketing fee; the Court's order documents that fact. I do not agree, however, that he poses such a threat to the orderly administration of justice that we should embark on the unprecedented and dangerous course the Court charts today.

The Court's denial not just of McDonald's present petition but also of his right to file for extraordinary writs in forma [997] pauperis in the future is, first of all, of questionable legality. The federal courts are authorized by 28 U. S. C. § 1915 to permit filings in forma pauperis. The statute is written permissively, but it establishes a comprehensive scheme for the administration of in forma pauperis filings. Nothing in it suggests we have any authority to accept in forma pauperis pleadings from some litigants but not from others on the basis of how many times they have previously sought our review. Indeed, if anything, the statutory language forecloses the action the Court takes today. Section 1915(d) explains the circumstances in which an in forma pauperis pleading may be dismissed as follows: a court "may dismiss the case if [*186] the allegation of poverty is untrue, or if satisfied that the action is frivolous or malicious." (Emphasis added.) This language suggests an individualized assessment of frivolousness [166] or maliciousness that the Court's prospective order precludes. As one lower court has put it, a court's discretion to dismiss in forma pauperis cases summarily "is limited . . . in every case by the language of the statute itself which restricts its application to complaints found to be frivolous or malicious." Sills v. Bureau of Prisons, 245 U. S. App. D. C. 389, 391, 761 F. 2d 792, 794 (1985) (emphasis added). Needless to say, the future petitions McDonald is barred from filing have not been "found to be" frivolous. Even a very strong and well-founded belief that McDonald's future filings will be frivolous cannot render a before-the-fact disposition compatible with the individualized determination § 1915 contemplates.

This Court's Rule 46 governs our practice in cases filed in forma pauperis. No more than § 1915 does it grant us authority to disqualify a litigant from future use of in forma pauperis status. Indeed, Rule 46.4 would seem to forbid such a practice, for it specifies that when the filing requirements described by Rule 46 are complied with, the Clerk "will file" the litigant's papers "and place the case on the docket." Today we order the Clerk to refuse to do just that. Of course we are free to amend our own rules should we see the need to do so, but until we do we are bound by them.

Even if the legality of our action in ordering the Clerk to refuse future petitions for extraordinary writs in forma pauperis from this litigant were beyond doubt, I would still oppose it as unwise, potentially dangerous, and a departure from the traditional principle that the door to this courthouse is open to all.

The Court's order purports to be motivated by this litigant's disproportionate consumption of the Court's time and resources. Yet if his filings are truly as repetitious as it appears, it hardly takes much time to identify them as such. [*187] I find it difficult to see how the amount of time and resources required to deal properly with McDonald's petitions could be so great as to justify the step we now take. Indeed, the time that has been consumed in the preparation of the present order barring the door to Mr. McDonald far exceeds that which would have been necessary to process his petitions for the next several years at least. I continue to find puzzling the Court's fervor in ensuring that rights granted to the poor are not abused, even when so doing actually increases the drain on our limited resources. Cf. Brown v. Herald Co., 464 U.S. 928 (1983) (Brennan, J., dissenting). Today's order makes sense as an efficiency measure only if it is merely the prelude to similar orders in regard to other litigants, or perhaps to a generalized rule limiting the number of petitions in forma pauperis an individual may file. Therein lies its danger.

The Court's order itself seems to indicate that further measures, at least in regard to this litigant, may be forthcoming. It notes that McDonald remains free to file in forma pauperis for relief other than extraordinary writs, if he "does not similarly abuse that privilege." Ante, at 185. But if we have found his 19 petitions for extraordinary [998] writs abusive, how long will it be until we conclude that his 33 petitions for certiorari are similarly abusive and bar that door [167] to him as well? I am at a loss to say why, logically, the Court's order is limited to extraordinary writs, and I can only conclude that this order will serve as precedent for similar actions in the future, both as to this litigant and to others.

I doubt -- although I am not certain -- that any of the petitions Jessie McDonald is now prevented from filing would ultimately have been found meritorious. I am most concerned, however, that if, as I fear, we continue on the course we chart today, we will end by closing our doors to a litigant with a meritorious claim. It is rare, but it does happen on occasion that we grant review and even decide in favor of a litigant who previously had presented multiple unsuccessful [*188] petitions on the same issue. See, e. g., Chessman v. Teets, 354 U.S. 156 (1957); see id., at 173-177 (Douglas, J., dissenting).

This Court annually receives hundreds of petitions, most but not all of them filed in forma pauperis, which raise no colorable legal claim whatever, much less a question worthy of the Court's review. Many come from individuals whose mental or emotional stability appears questionable. It does not take us long to identify these petitions as frivolous and to reject them. A certain expenditure of resources is required, but it is not great in relation to our work as a whole. To rid itself of a small portion of this annoyance, the Court now needlessly departs from its generous tradition and improvidently sets sail on a journey whose landing point is uncertain. We have long boasted that our door is open to all. We can no longer.

For the reasons stated in Brown v. Herald Co., supra, I would deny the petition for a writ of habeas corpus without reaching the merits of the motion to proceed in forma pauperis. For the reasons stated above, I dissent from the Court's order directing the Clerk not to accept future petitions in forma pauperis for extraordinary writs from this petitioner.

SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES

354 U.S. 156; 77 S. Ct. 1127; 1 L. Ed. 2d 1253; 1957 U.S. LEXIS 732

May 13, 1957, Argued
June 10, 1957, Decided

PRIOR HISTORY: CERTIORARI TO THE UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE NINTH CIRCUIT.

DISPOSITION: 239 F.2d 205, judgment vacated and cause remanded.

CASE SUMMARY:

PROCEDURAL POSTURE: Petitioner sought review of a judgment of the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, which affirmed the district court's denial of petitioner's application for a writ of habeas corpus.

OVERVIEW: Petitioner was convicted in state court of a series of felonies and sentenced to death. After the trial was concluded, the official court reporter suddenly died, having completed the dictation of what later turned out to be 646 out of 1,810 pages of the trial transcript. A substitute reporter was employed to finish the transcription, and the state trial court settled the record through proceedings at which petitioner was not represented in person or by counsel. The state supreme court affirmed the conviction upon the disputed record. In the habeas corpus proceeding before the district court, it was revealed that the substitute reporter worked in close collaboration with the prosecutor, went over his transcription with police officers who testified for the State, and destroyed a rough draft that petitioner had sought to obtain. On review, the Court held that the ex parte settlement of the trial record violated petitioner's Fourteenth Amendment right to procedural due process. Because the state courts had denied petitioner's request to appear at the settlement proceedings in propria persona, it became incumbent on the state courts to appoint counsel for petitioner.

OUTCOME: The Court vacated the judgments of the lower federal courts and remanded the case to the district court with instructions to allow the State a reasonable time within which to take further proceedings not inconsistent with the Court's opinion, failing which petitioner was to be discharged.

CORE TERMS: settlement, reporter, reconstructed, writ of habeas corpus, inaccuracy, accuracy, confession, transcription, prosecutor, habeas corpus, certificate of probable cause, transcribed, preparation, omission, process of law, trial transcript, automatic appeal, new trial, prejudicial, corrections, discharged, convicted, distorted, adequacy, deputy, parte, state law, petitioner's conviction, capital cases, trial proceedings accordance with the procedure demanded by the Constitution. The overriding responsibility of the Supreme Court of the United States is to the Constitution of the United States, no matter how late it may be that a violation of the Constitution is found to exist. The Court may not disregard the Constitution because an appeal has been made on the eve of execution. The Court must be deaf to all suggestions that a valid appeal to the Constitution, even by a guilty man, comes too late, because courts, including the Supreme Court, were not earlier able to enforce what the Constitution demands.

SUMMARY: Petitioner was convicted in a state court of several offenses, including capital offenses. Shortly after the conclusion of the trial, the court reporter died without having completed transcription of a substantial part of his shorthand notes. A substitute reporter, a relative by marriage of the prosecutor, completed the transcription in collaboration with the prosecutor and police officers who had been witnesses at the trial. The record was settled in proceedings in which the petitioner was not represented either in person or by counsel. Upon this record the Supreme Court of California affirmed the conviction. Petitioner's previous repeated efforts to have the affirmance of his conviction invalidated remained unsuccessful.

The present proceeding was commenced by an application for habeas corpus filed by petitioner in the United States District Court for the Northern District of California. The District Court dismissed the application without a hearing (128 F Supp 600) and the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit affirmed (221 F2d 276). The Supreme Court of the United States reversed and remanded the case to the District Court for a hearing (350 US 3, 100 L ed 4, 76 S Ct 34). The District Court, after a hearing, again denied the application (138 F Supp 761), and the Court of Appeals again affirmed, one of the judges dissenting (239 F2d 205).

On certiorari, the Supreme Court vacated the judgments below. In an opinion by Harlan, J., expressing the views of five members of the Court, it was held that under the circumstances described above the ex parte settlement of the record violated petitioner's constitutional rights to procedural due process.

Douglas, J., with the concurrence of Clark, J., while agreeing with the general principle announced by the Court, dissented on the ground that it was misapplied in the present case, the petitioner having played an active role in the process of the settlement of the record.

Burton, J., dissented on the ground that, upon consideration of all the circumstances, the petitioner had been accorded due process.

Warren, Ch. J., did not participate.

Although at a state trial for a capital offense the defendant insisted upon defending himself and repeatedly refused the trial court's offer of counsel, his constitutional right to procedural due process is violated where the death of the court reporter, shortly after conclusion of the trial court, made it necessary to have the greater part of his shorthand notes transcribed by a substitute reporter; the substitute reporter, an uncle by marriage of the prosecutor, worked in close collaboration with the prosecutor and police officers who were witnesses at the trial and destroyed the rough draft of his transcription which defendant sought to obtain during the proceedings for the settlement of the record, and this record, the basis of defendant's automatic appeal to the highest state court, was settled in proceedings in which the defendant was not represented in person or by counsel, it being immaterial that the record as settled was not shown to be tainted with fraud; if the state chooses to deny defendant's request to appear personally in these proceedings, it becomes incumbent on the state to appoint counsel for him.

SYLLABUS

In a State Court, petitioner was convicted of a capital offense. The official court reporter of the trial proceedings died before his notes were transcribed, and they were transcribed by a substitute reporter, who worked in close collaboration with the prosecutor. Though a copy of the transcript was furnished to petitioner and many, but not all, corrections which he requested were made, he was not represented in person or by counsel when the trial record was settled, and it was used over his objection on his appeal, at which his conviction was affirmed. In a habeas corpus proceeding, a Federal District Court found that there was no fraud in the preparation of the record, and it dismissed the writ. Held: In the circumstances of this case, the ex parte settlement of the record violated petitioner's right to procedural due process under the Fourteenth Amendment. OPINION BY: HARLAN

OPINION

[*157] [*1256] [1128] MR. JUSTICE HARLAN delivered the opinion of the Court.

Our writ of certiorari in this case was limited to the following question:

"whether, in the circumstances of this case, the state court proceedings to settle the trial transcript, upon which petitioner's automatic appeal from his conviction was necessarily heard by the Supreme Court of the State of California, in which trial court proceedings petitioner allegedly was not represented in person or by counsel designated by the state court in his behalf, resulted in denying petitioner due process of law, within the meaning of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States." 353 U.S. 928.

We believe that a mere statement of the facts in this long-drawn-out criminal litigation, material to the issue now before us, will suffice to show why we have reached the conclusion that the judgment of the Court of Appeals, affirming by a divided court [1] discharge of the writ of [*158] habeas corpus herein, must be vacated, and the case remanded for further proceedings.

1 239 F.2d 205. Chief Judge Denman dissented.

In May 1948, petitioner, following a trial by jury in the Superior Court of Los Angeles County, was convicted of a series of felonies under a multi-count indictment, and was sentenced to death upon two counts charging him with kidnaping for the purpose of robbery, with infliction of bodily harm, in violation of § 209 of the California Penal Code. In capital cases California provides that "an appeal is automatically taken by the defendant without any action by him or his counsel," [2] and that in such cases "the entire record of the action shall be [1129] prepared." [3] The Supreme Court of the State of California affirmed petitioner's conviction by a divided court. 38 Cal. 2d 166, 238 P. 2d 1001.

2 West's Ann. Cal. Codes, Penal Code, § 1239 (b).

3 California Rules on Appeal, Rule 33 (c), 36 Cal. 2d 28.

At the trial petitioner insisted upon defending himself, and repeatedly refused the trial court's offer of counsel, although he did have at his disposal the services of a deputy public defender, who acted as his "legal adviser" and was present at the counsel table throughout the trial. About a month after the conclusion of the trial, the official court reporter of the trial proceedings suddenly died, having at that time completed the dictation into a recording machine of what later turned out to be 646 out of 1,810 pages of the trial transcript. Following the denial of petitioner's motion in the Superior Court for a new trial, [4] there ensued the preparation and settlement of the trial transcript constituting the appellate record upon [*159] which the California Supreme Court subsequently heard petitioner's appeal. It is the circumstances under which this transcript was prepared and settled that give [1257] rise to the issue now confronting us.

4 Where the making of a transcript of a civil trial becomes impossible by reason of the death or disability of the court reporter, the California statutes empower the trial judge to set aside the judgment and order a new trial. West's Ann. Cal. Codes, Code Civ. Proc., § 953e. The California Penal Code, however, contains no comparable provision.

At the instance of the deputy district attorney in charge of the case, and with the approval of the trial judge, one Stanley Fraser, a court reporter and former colleague of the deceased reporter, Perry, was employed in September 1948 to transcribe the uncompleted portion of Perry's shorthand notes, amounting to 1,164 pages as finally transcribed. In November 1948 petitioner unsuccessfully sought to have the California Supreme Court halt the preparation of the transcript on the ground that Perry's notes could not be transcribed with reasonable accuracy. [5] Fraser accordingly went forward with the work, and was occupied with it over the next several months. A "rough" draft of the transcript was submitted to the trial judge in February 1949, but was not made available to petitioner, although he had requested that it be furnished him. After this draft had been gone over by the deputy district attorney, it was filed with the judge in final form on April 11, 1949, and a copy was then sent to the petitioner at San Quentin [*160] Prison. Thereafter petitioner sent to the trial judge a list of some 200 corrections to the transcript, and at the same time moved that "a hearing be ordered . . . to enable [petitioner] to determine actually the ability of Mr. Fraser to read Mr. Perry's notes, and to enable the [petitioner] to offer a showing this is not, and challenge it as, a usable transcript, and to enable [petitioner] to point out to the court the many inaccuracies and omissions in this transcript, to prove these inaccuracies and omissions, and for the court to determine these matters . . . ."

In these papers petitioner further stated that he had "not yet had the opportunity [1130] to confer with his legal advisor during the trial and consequently has been hesitant to offer error in certain instances until he has verified this error with his legal advisor."

5 On September 16, 1948, when the appointment of the substitute stenographer was under consideration, the Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Los Angeles Superior Court Reporters' Association wrote the Board of Supervisors respecting the matter, as follows: "We believe the purported charge against the county is not only an exorbitant one per se, but will reflect further adverse publicity upon our group because we have serious doubts that any reporter will be able to furnish a usable transcript of said shorthand notes. Other reporters of our number have examined and studied Mr. Perry's notes and have reached the conclusion that many portions of the same will be found completely indecipherable because, toward the latter part of each court session, Mr. Perry's notes show his illness. We feel that this should be brought to your attention."

Petitioner's motion was denied and the matter continued to proceed on an ex parte basis to final conclusion. At hearings held on June 1, 2, and 3, 1949, in which petitioner was not represented in person or by an attorney, the trial judge, after hearing Fraser's testimony as to the accuracy of his transcription and allowing some 80 of the corrections listed by petitioner, settled the record upon which petitioner's automatic appeal was to be heard. Thereafter petitioner made a motion in the California Supreme Court attacking the adequacy of these settlement proceedings, complaining, among other things, that he had not been permitted to appear at such proceedings. While that motion was pending, on August 18, 1949, a further hearing was held before the trial judge with reference to the settlement of the record, at which two witnesses were [1258] examined. Again, petitioner was not represented at this hearing either in person or by counsel. The [*161] sufficiency of the record, as thus settled, was upheld by the California Supreme Court, first upon the motion just mentioned, 35 Cal. 2d 455, 218 P. 2d 769, and subsequently upon petitioner's appeal from his conviction, 38 Cal. 2d 166, 238 P. 2d 1001.

On October 17, 1955, this Court, reversing the Court of Appeals, remanded to the District Court for a hearing petitioner's application for a writ of habeas corpus, charging fraud in the preparation of the state court record, which had been summarily dismissed by the District Court. 350 U.S. 3. [6] This resulted in the judgment which is now before us. The District Court held that no fraud had been shown. The record of proceedings held before District Judge Goodman reveals the following additional facts as to the preparation of the state court record, none of which appear to be disputed by the State, which has been ably and conscientiously represented here: Fraser, the substitute reporter, was an uncle by marriage of the deputy district attorney in charge of this case, a fact of which neither the state trial court nor the appellate court was aware when it approved the transcript. In preparing the transcript, Fraser worked in close collaboration with the prosecutor, and also went over with two police officers, who testified for the State at the trial, his transcription of their testimony. The latter episodes were likewise unknown to the state courts when they approved the transcript. The testimony of one of these officers concerned petitioner's alleged confession, a subject of dispute at the trial, and petitioner's list of alleged inaccuracies, already mentioned, related to some of that testimony. It also appeared at this hearing that Fraser had destroyed the "rough" draft of his transcription [*162] which petitioner had sought to obtain during the settlement proceedings. [7]

6 On five previous occasions, this Court had denied petitions for certiorari filed by this petitioner. See note 13, infra.

7 Petitioner alleges that there were other relevant circumstances that should have been explored in the state settlement proceedings, but could not, he asserts, be proved in the hearings before Judge Goodman because of inability to secure records and the attendance of witnesses from outside the Northern District of California.

[*LEdHR1] [1] [LEdHR2] [2]Under the circumstances which have been summarized, we must hold that the ex parte settlement of this state court record violated petitioner's constitutional right to procedural due process. We think the petitioner was entitled to be represented throughout those proceedings either in person or by counsel. See Powell v. Alabama, 287 U.S. 45, 68; [1131] Snyder v. Massachusetts, 291 U.S. 97, 105; compare Dowdell v. United States, 221 U.S. 325, 331; Schwab v. Berggren, 143 U.S. 442, 449; see also Cole v. Arkansas, 333 U.S. 196, 201. If California chose to deny petitioner's request to appear in those proceedings in propria persona, it then became incumbent on the State to appoint counsel for him. Cf. Powell v. Alabama, supra. We cannot agree that petitioner's refusal to be represented by counsel at the trial constituted a waiver of his right to counsel at the settlement proceedings. [8] [1259] Moreover, it is at least doubtful whether, as a matter of due process, any such waiver would be effective to relieve the trial judge of a duty to appoint counsel for petitioner in connection with the settlement of this record, which was a necessary [9] and integral part [*163] of the compulsory appeal provided by California in capital cases. [10] We need not decide that question, however, for the record fails to show that petitioner ever waived his right to counsel in connection with the settlement of the appellate record.

8 The following statement of the petitioner at the trial, quoted in the State's present brief, hardly supports the claim of such a continuing waiver: "I wish to point out that it is my intention . . . at this time [to represent myself] and to continue to do so until such time as it is legally established that I am not qualified to do so, and that I will not accept a court-appointed attorney." See Johnson v. Zerbst, 304 U.S. 458, 464.

9 See note 3, supra. In granting a certificate of probable cause for appeal to the Court of Appeals in the present proceeding, Chief Judge Denman noted: "How important the California law regards this transcription [of the trial proceedings] and certification [as to its correctness] by the reporter is apparent from the fact that in civil cases the death of the reporter before his transcription and certification, gives the trial court the discretionary power to set aside the judgment and order a new trial. California Code of Civil Procedure, § 953e. By some quirk in California legislation this does not apply to criminal cases. However, it is obvious that if the reporter's transcript is so important as to give the court such power in a civil case, a fortiori it must have such importance in a criminal case in which, on the evidence to be transcribed, the accused is sentenced to death. Likewise its importance is emphasized by the California law making the appeal automatic from death sentences. California Penal Code, § 1239 (b)." In re Chessman, 219 F.2d 162, 164.

10 See note 2, supra. Counsel for the petitioner, whose representations in this regard were not challenged by the State, informed us on the oral argument that the California Supreme Court customarily appoints counsel for the defendant when he is not otherwise represented by counsel on an automatic appeal.

[*LEdHR3] [3] [LEdHR4] [4]Nor can we regard the hearings before Judge Goodman, at which petitioner was both represented by counsel and personally present, as curing the lack of procedural due process in the state proceedings. Judge Goodman considered that our order of October 17, 1955, restricted the inquiry before him to the issue of whether the settlement of the state court record had been tainted by fraud, and that the accuracy of the record, as such, was not an issue in this proceeding. [11] We accept fully Judge Goodman's [*164] finding that there was no fraud. Even so, the fact remains that the petitioner has never had his day in court upon the controversial issues of fact and law involved in the settlement of the record upon which his conviction was affirmed.

11 Judge Goodman did state, however, that he found petitioner's claims with respect to certain alleged prejudicial comments by the trial judge and the prosecutor to be without foundation. In the context of the limited issue with which the judge was here concerned, we should be slow to regard these "findings" as possessing the same conclusiveness as if they had been made in a proceeding where the accuracy of the record, as such, was in issue.

[1132] [LEdHR5] [5] [LEdHR7] [7] [LEdHR8] [8]By no means are we to be understood as saying that the state record has been shown to be inaccurate or incomplete. All we hold is that, [HN1] consistently with procedural due process, California's affirmance of petitioner's conviction upon a seriously disputed record, whose accuracy petitioner has had no voice in determining, cannot be allowed to stand. [12] Without [1260] blinking the fact that the history of this case presents a sorry chapter in the annals of delays in the administration of criminal justice, [13] we cannot allow that circumstance to deter us from withholding [*165] relief so clearly called for. [14] On many occasions this Court has found it necessary to say that [HN2] the requirements of the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment must be respected, no matter how heinous the crime in question and no matter how guilty an accused may ultimately be found to be after guilt has been established in accordance with the procedure demanded by the Constitution. Evidently it also needs to be repeated that the overriding responsibility of this Court is to the Constitution of the United States, no matter how late it may be that a violation of the Constitution is found to exist. This Court may not disregard the Constitution because an appeal in this case, as in others, has been made on the eve of execution. We must be deaf to all suggestions that a valid appeal to the Constitution, even by a guilty man, comes too late, because courts, including this Court, were not earlier able to enforce what the Constitution demands. The proponent before the Court is not the petitioner but the Constitution of the United States.

12 In view of our holding we cannot regard ourselves as concluded by the California Supreme Court's holdings that the record on which it acted was adequate as a matter of state law, and that, in any event, the inaccuracies then claimed by the petitioner would not have changed the result of his appeal. Petitioner is entitled to have his conviction reviewed upon a record which has been settled in accordance with procedural due process. Moreover, in holding as it did the state court was not aware of the facts later developed in hearings before Judge Goodman, see p. 161, supra, and we cannot know that those facts, and others that might be disclosed upon an adversary hearing focused squarely on the adequacy of the transcript, would not lead it to a different conclusion.

13 Certainly this Court's previous denials of certiorari, 340 U.S. 840; 341 U.S. 929; 343 U.S. 915; 346 U.S. 916; 348 U.S. 864, do not foreclose us from now granting appropriate relief. Brown v. Allen, 344 U.S. 443. And it may be noted that it was not until the present proceedings in the District Court that the facts surrounding the settlement of the state court record were fully developed.

14 In Mooney v. Holohan, 294 U.S. 103, this Court did not hesitate to deal with a claimed denial of constitutional rights some 18 years after the petitioner had been convicted in a state court. See also Price v. Johnston, 334 U.S. 266, 291.

[*LEdHR9] [9] [LEdHR10] [10] [LEdHR11] [11]We have given careful consideration to the nature of the relief to be granted. Petitioner's discharge is not to be ordered without affording California an opportunity to review his conviction upon a record the sufficiency of which has been litigated in proceedings satisfying the requirements of procedural due process. Nor do we think it will do simply to remand the case to the District Court for an inquiry into the accuracy of the record upon which the California Supreme Court has already acted. The task of affording petitioner a further review of his conviction upon a properly settled record is necessarily one for the state courts. A federal court [*166] is in no such position as the state courts are to determine what inaccuracies or other facts might be decisive under state law, particularly in view of the unusual character of the issues here involved. We conclude, therefore, that [1133] our proper course is to vacate the judgments of the Court of Appeals and the District Court and to remand the case to the District Court, with instructions to enter [1261] such orders as may be appropriate to allow California a reasonable time within which to take further proceedings not inconsistent with this opinion, failing which the petitioner shall be discharged. Cf. Dowe v. United States, 340 U.S. 206, 209-210.

It is so ordered.

MR. JUSTICE BURTON dissents because he believes that, upon consideration of all the circumstances of this case, the State of California has accorded to this petitioner due process of law within the meaning of the Constitution of the United States.

THE CHIEF JUSTICE took no part in the consideration or decision of this case.

DISSENT BY: DOUGLAS

DISSENT

MR. JUSTICE DOUGLAS, with whom MR. JUSTICE CLARK concurs, dissenting.

I agree with the general principle announced by the Court. But I think it is misapplied here. Its application to the facts results, I fear, in a needless detour in a case already long-drawn-out by many appeals. [1]

1 See the Appendix to this opinion, post, p. 173.

I agree that in a case like this it matters not whether the petitioner is guilty or innocent, whether his complaint is timely or tardy. We should respect a man's constitutional right whenever or however it is presented to us. My difficulty here is not with any principle the Court [*167] announces. My dissent is based on the conviction that, in substance, the requirements of due process have been fully satisfied, that to require more is to exalt a technicality.

To say that the settlement in this case was ex parte is to be technically accurate. But it is not to state the whole story. Chessman was not present in court when the record was settled. Nor was he represented there by a lawyer, for he had over and again refused to allow a state-appointed lawyer to represent him. Chessman, however, played an active role in the process of the settlement of the record. The early draft prepared by Fraser, the new reporter, was sent to him for his suggestions. That Chessman went over this draft with a fine-tooth comb is evident from a reading of 200-odd corrections which he prepared. Of these proposals, about 80 were adopted and the rest refused. [2] Some of these proposals were specific, calling the court's attention to the use of a wrong word or phrase. Many were not specific. Some merely said that the reported version of certain testimony was garbled or incomplete or inaccurate. These generalized criticisms were never made specific. When Chessman made a generalized criticism, not once did he indicate such and such a fact had been omitted and prejudice shown, how an episode had been distorted and prejudice shown, where a date or name had been confused and prejudice shown, in what material respect an account was garbled and prejudice shown. Errors might have been made that were minor and inconsequential or major and fatal. From all that Chessman said to the California courts and from all he now says to this Court, it is impossible to conclude that there is any important, significant prejudicial error in the record on which the appeal in this case was taken. [*168] Certainly we are pointed to none. Only [1262] vague assertions are made. Not once is a finger placed on a crucial issue of the case and a showing made or attempted that on that issue the facts were distorted to Chessman's prejudice. The conclusion is irresistible that Chessman is playing a game with the courts, stalling for time while the facts of the case grow cold.

2 These include many that relate to the crime of burglary, of which he was acquitted.

[1134] Much time is given to the fact that Fraser, the substitute reporter, was related to the prosecutor and to the fact that Fraser, in reconstructing the record, talked with several witnesses for the State. Those circumstances conceivably could give rise to prejudice. Yet not once does Chessman say in what way the words of a witness on a critical issue are distorted so as to cause prejudice to Chessman's appeal. We know that there was no connivance between the prosecutor and the substitute reporter, for such was the finding of the District Court. Chessman v. Teets, 138 F.Supp. 761. And those findings are not subject to challenge, as we limited our grant of certiorari. What we are told -- and all that we are told -- is that Chessman should have been present in person or by an attorney at the hearing where the record was settled. Error is presumed because he was not present nor represented. But we should presume just the contrary, since Chessman had the opportunity to submit his version and indicate any errors in the reconstructed record and yet came up with no single omission, distortion, falsification, mistake, or error that could reasonably be said to be prejudicial.

A good illustration concerns the main issue on the appeal -- the so-called confession obtained from Chessman. The confession was held admissible by the Supreme Court of California. People v. Chessman, 38 Cal. 2d 166, 178-182, 238 P. 2d 1001, 1008-1011. That was the main point in the petition for certiorari brought here [*169] in the 1951 Term. It presented the problem of the effect of prolonged detention by the police on the voluntary character of the confession, the type of problem presented in Haley v. Ohio, 332 U.S. 596; Watts v. Indiana, 338 U.S. 49; Turner v. Pennsylvania, 338 U.S. 62; and Harris v. South Carolina, 338 U.S. 68. The Court denied certiorari. Chessman v. California, 343 U.S. 915.

In that petition Chessman claimed what he claims now -- that he should have had a hearing on the settlement of the record. And he asserted that, if the transcript had been wholly accurate, it would be obvious that the confession was involuntary, while on the reconstructed record the question was more debatable.

The reconstructed record shows that Chessman was held incommunicado about 72 hours by the police before arraignment. During this time he was beaten to some extent. During this time he was interrogated off and on by the police. Only when he had made an oral confession was he arraigned. Not once in the earlier petition or in the present one or in any other motion paper did Chessman rebut the accuracy of the facts stated in the reconstructed record. He did not, for example, allege he was held longer than 72 hours. He did not say he was beaten more often or more severely than the reconstructed record shows. He did not assert that he was interrogated for longer periods or subjected to a greater ordeal than the reconstructed record states. Yet certainly he knows whether he was or whether he was not.

[*1263] He advances no fact, no assertion, no evidence to show that on this critical issue in the case -- and in my mind the most important one -- the reconstructed record is distorted. I would presume accuracy, not error, in any record from any court. I would insist that this defendant make some showing of inaccuracy in a material way before I would send this record back for further reconstruction.

[*170] Only once during the long history of this case has Chessman pointed specifically to material inaccuracy or omission in the transcript. His charge of fraud, now set to rest by the findings of the District Court, was predicated upon a conspiracy to have expunged from the record certain specific remarks and instructions of the trial court. These omissions had not been mentioned in the long list [1135] of inaccuracies which Chessman submitted to the California courts. And, on these contentions, Chessman has now been given a hearing by the District Court, which found:

"8. The instructions given by the trial judge to the jury on May 21, 1948 were correctly and accurately reported in the transcript as prepared by Fraser. The trial judge did not instruct the jury at that time as alleged and testified to by petitioner. Petitioner's statements in this regard are false and perjurious.

"9. The allegation in the petition that the trial judge stated to the jury on May 21, when instructing them, that 'this defendant is one of the worse [sic] criminals I have had in my court' is false and perjurious. The trial judge made no such statement. Hence the transcript was correct in not including such statement." 138 F.Supp., at 765-766.

To repeat, this is not a case of a helpless man who was given no opportunity to participate in the settlement of the record. He did participate in a real, vivid sense of the term. A lawyer who entered the case by appointment at this late stage would be utterly helpless, for he would have no idea what went on at the trial. When it came to the settlement of the record, California did all that reasonably could be required by sending the reconstructed record to Chessman for criticism. His [*171] specific criticisms were often accepted. [3] His general criticisms were not. [4] Since it was in his power to make the general criticisms specific, he was given that opportunity which due process of law requires. Yet he declined over and again to make the general criticisms specific, asking only that he be present at the hearing.

3 The trial judge resolved doubts in favor of the defendant. Thus he ruled "The amendment . . . is ordered as suggested by the appellant, not because the Court has any recollection of that but to give the appellant the benefit of the doubt in the matter."

4 A typical ruling by the trial court on a general objection is as follows:

"Going over then to Page 1048, Lines 4 to 10, defendant makes no suggestion as to what ought to go in there. A check with the shorthand notes indicates that the transcription is correct. The objection is overruled."

Occasionally the trial judge ruled as follows on an objection that was cast in general terms:

"Page 866, nothing being pointed out which would be any assistance to the Court in amending the transcript, the amendment is disallowed. However, this again happens to be one of those instances in which the testimony and the manner in which it was given impressed themselves strongly on my mind, and I am quite satisfied that that is a verbatim transcription of that portion of the testimony and is not inaccurate as asserted."

The [1264] habeas corpus jurisdiction of the federal courts has been greatly under fire in recent years. I for one would hate to see it abolished or greatly curtailed by Congress. It has done high service in the administration of justice. Not uncommonly a case that is here on certiorari from a state court presents only darkly or obliquely an important constitutional issue. Perhaps, as in Massey v. Moore, 348 U.S. 105, the issue could not be raised at the trial. Perhaps the trial lawyer failed to present it clearly. Perhaps only after the trial were the full facts known. Perhaps the issue was poorly focused in the trial court's charge. On habeas corpus the facts can be fully [*172] developed; and perhaps only then can the basic constitutional defect be laid bare. Such, for example, was the situation in Moore v. Dempsey, 261 U.S. 86; Wade v. Mayo, 334 U.S. 672; and Leyra v. Denno, 347 U.S. 556, where miscarriages of justice were prevented only through the writ of habeas corpus. And see Pollak, Proposals to Curtail Federal Habeas Corpus [1136] for State Prisoners: Collateral Attack on the Great Writ, 66 Yale L. J. 50.

But the fragile grounds upon which the present decision rests jeopardize the ancient writ for use by federal courts in state prosecutions. The present decision states in theory the ideal of due process. But the facts of this case cry out against its application here. Chessman has received due process over and again. He has had repeated reviews of every point in his case. The question of the adequacy of the reconstructed record has been here seven times. The question of Chessman's right to participate in the settlement proceedings has been here at least four times. [5] Not once before now did a single Justice vote to grant certiorari on that issue. If the failure to let Chessman, or a lawyer acting for him, participate in the hearing on the settlement of the record went to jurisdiction [6] (as it must for habeas corpus to issue), then we should have granted certiorari when the Supreme Court of California first held in People v. Chessman, 35 Cal. 2d 455, 218 P. 2d 769, that the reconstructed record was a proper record for appeal. That decision of the California Supreme Court was announced May 19, 1950. We denied certiorari on October 9, 1950. Chessman v. California, 340 U.S. 840. Nearly seven years later we return to precisely the same issue and not only grant certiorari but order relief by way of habeas corpus.

5 See the Appendix to this opinion, post, p. 173.

6 See Johnson v. Zerbst, 304 U.S. 458.

[*173] On Chessman's first appeal, Justice Carter and Justice Edmonds dissented from the decision of the California Supreme Court, stating that in their view the necessity to use a reconstructed record in a capital case required a new trial. 35 Cal. 2d 455, 468-473, 218 P. 2d 769, 776-780. That view to me makes sense as a matter of state law. But the Court today makes no such ruling. To order, after this long delay, a new record seems to me a futility. It must be remembered that Chessman was convicted on May 21, 1948 -- over nine years ago. It is difficult to see how, after that long lapse of time, the memory of any participant (if he is still alive) would be sharp enough to make any hearing meaningful. We meddle mischievously with the law when we issue the writ today. We do not act to remedy any injustice that has been demonstrated. [1265] When the whole history of the case is considered, we seize upon a technicality to undo what has been repeatedly sustained both by the California Supreme Court and by this Court. I would guard the ancient writ jealously, using it only to prevent a gross miscarriage of justice.

APPENDIX TO OPINION OF MR. JUSTICE DOUGLAS.

Before his appeal was heard by the California Supreme Court, Chessman moved in that court for orders augmenting and correcting the record, and for a dismissal of his automatic appeal. On May 19, 1950, the California Supreme Court granted the motion for augmentation of the record, insofar as it sought to have added to the transcript the voir dire examination of jurors and the prosecutor's opening statement. Further relief was denied. People v. Chessman, 35 Cal. 2d 455, 218 P. 2d 769. On June 12, 1950, that court denied a petition for a writ of habeas corpus without hearing or opinion. Chessman's [*174] petition for a writ of certiorari to review that decision was filed in this Court on July 31, 1950. No. 98, Misc., 1950 Term. In the petition, Chessman urged that he had been denied due process because he was not present at the hearing in which the trial judge considered objections to the transcript. Certiorari was denied on October 9, 1950. Chessman v. California, 340 U.S. 840.

[1137] Chessman then petitioned the United States District Court for the Northern District of California for a writ of habeas corpus and equitable relief. On December 4, 1950, the District Court discharged its order to show cause and dismissed the petition. On December 27, 1950, the District Court denied Chessman leave to appeal in forma pauperis, and, on January 9, 1951, denied a certificate of probable cause. On February 27, 1951, the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit denied a petition for a certificate of probable cause and for leave to appeal in forma pauperis. On April 2, 1951, Chessman petitioned for a writ of certiorari to review that decision of the Court of Appeals, and for leave to file a petition for habeas corpus. No. 442, Misc., 1950 Term. In this Court, Chessman contended that the state court should be enjoined from deciding his pending appeal until it granted him a full hearing on the question of the adequacy of the record. Certiorari and the motion for leave to file petition for writ of habeas corpus were denied on May 14, 1951. Chessman v. California, 341 U.S. 929.

The California Supreme Court affirmed Chessman's conviction on December 18, 1951. People v. Chessman, 38 Cal. 2d 166, 238 P. 2d 1001. Chessman filed a petition for a writ of certiorari on February 20, 1952. No. 371, Misc., 1951 Term. In this Court, he claimed that he had been denied due process because of the manner in which the record was prepared and particularly because he had been denied an opportunity to prove his factual contentions as to the inaccuracy of the transcript. It was also [*175] contended that he had been denied the opportunity to prepare for trial, that the confession introduced against him was coerced, that the prosecution had unfairly presented its case, that his defense had been unreasonably hampered at the trial, and that the statute under which he was sentenced to death was unconstitutional. Certiorari was denied on March 31, 1952. Chessman v. California, [1266] 343 U.S. 915. Rehearing was denied on April 28, 1952. 343 U.S. 937.

On May 19, 1952, Chessman filed a petition for writ of habeas corpus in the United States District Court for the Northern District of California. The District Court denied the petition without hearing on June 9, 1952. The United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit affirmed that decision on May 28, 1953. Chessman v. People, 205 F.2d 128. Petition for a writ of certiorari was filed November 9, 1953. No. 239, Misc., 1953 Term. Here, Chessman contended that he was entitled to a hearing on his contentions in the courts below that he was forced to go to trial unprepared, that coerced confessions had been introduced into evidence against him, that the prosecution and judge were guilty of misconduct. It was alleged that some of these matters could not have been properly determined by the California Supreme Court because of inadequacies in the record, which, it was alleged, had been fraudulently prepared without giving him the opportunity to prove the inaccuracy or fraud. Certiorari was denied on December 14, 1953. Chessman v. California, 346 U.S. 916. Rehearing was denied on February 1, 1954. 347 U.S. 908.

On July 16, 1954, Chessman filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in the Supreme Court of California. That petition was denied July 21, 1954, without written opinion. (Collateral proceedings are: In re Chessman, 43 Cal. 2d 296, 273 P. 2d 263; In re Chessman, 43 Cal. 2d 391, 274 P. 2d 645; In re Chessman, 43 Cal. 2d 408, [*176] 274 P. 2d 645, 655.) Chessman's petition for a writ of certiorari was filed August 14, 1954. No. 285, 1954 Term. He contended that the trial transcript had been fraudulently prepared by the prosecutor, reporter and trial judge. On October [1138] 25, 1954, certiorari was denied "without prejudice to an application for a writ of habeas corpus in an appropriate United States District Court." Chessman v. California, 348 U.S. 864.

Chessman applied to the United States District Court for the Northern Division of California for a writ of habeas corpus on December 30, 1954. The District Court dismissed the petition without a hearing on January 4, 1955. In re Chessman, 128 F.Supp. 600. On January 11, 1955, Chief Judge Denman of the Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit granted a certificate of probable cause for appeal. Application of Chessman, 219 F.2d 162. The Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit granted a certificate of probable cause for appeal. Application of Chessman, 219 F.2d 162. The Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, sitting en banc, on April 7, 1955, affirmed the District Court decision. Chessman v. Teets, 221 F.2d 276. Petition for a writ of certiorari was filed June 30, 1955. No. 196, 1955 Term. It was alleged that prejudicial statements of the trial judge at the trial had been deleted from the transcript as a result of a fraudulent conspiracy between the prosecuting attorney and the court reporter. It was also alleged that Chessman's right to be present at the "vital stage of the proceedings" to settle the record had been "summarily ignored." On October 17, 1955, certiorari was granted, the judgment of the Court of Appeals was reversed, and the case remanded to the District Court for a hearing on Chessman's allegations of fraud. Chessman v. Teets, 350 U.S. 3.

[*1267] Hearings were ordered in the District Court, commencing January 9, 1956. Hearings were commenced on January 16, after Chessman was granted two continuances. The hearing lasted 7 days. Finding that there had been no fraud, and that the trial judge's statements [*177] and instructions to the jury had been accurately reported, the District Court discharged the writ on January 31, 1956. Chessman v. Teets, 138 F.Supp. 761. The Court of Appeals affirmed on October 18, 1956. Chessman v. Teets, 239 F.2d 205. Rehearing was denied on November 20, 1956. Chessman's seventh petition for a writ of certiorari was filed on February 1, 1957. No. 566, Misc., 1956 Term. * We granted certiorari, limiting it to the question whether Chessman's failure to be represented in person or by counsel at the settlement proceedings deprived him of due process of law, thus excluding review on the issue of fraud. See 353 U.S. 928.

Ct. of App. 1954); In re Chessman and People v. Superior Court, 44 Cal. 2d 1, 279 P. 2d 24 (1955). And see the opinion of Judge Hamley, below. 239 F.2d 209-210, n. 2.

Vogel Denise NEWSOME
v.
ENTERGY NEW ORLEANS, INC.
No. Civ.A.99-3109.

June 11, 2002.

PORTEOUS, J.

*1 Before the Court is a Motion for Reconsideration filed on behalf of the plaintiff, Vogel Denise Newsome (Document No. 98). The matter was taken under submission on June 6, 2002. The Court, having considered the arguments of the parties, the Court record, the law and applicable jurisprudence, is fully advised in the premises and ready to rule.

ORDER AND REASONS

I. BACKGROUND:

The facts of this matter have been thoroughly described in numerous earlier pleadings. Briefly, Ms. Newsome, an African American female, was an employee of Amicus Staffing, a temporary agency. During the week ending August 16, 1998, Ms. Newsome was assigned to Entergy to fill a temporary position that included clerical duties. On November 4, 1998, Ms. Newsome was terminated. Ms. Newsome alleges that she was terminated on account of her race and gender and in retaliation for her complaints of harassment. Entergy contends that Ms. Newsome was terminated because she spent an excessive amount of time conducting personal business on the telephone and internet and because she refused to perform work assignments.

On March 18, 2002, this Court granted Entergy's Motion for Summary Judgment and dismissed the plaintiff's claims with prejudice. On April 1, 2002, the plaintiff filed a Motion to Stay Proceedings to Enforce a Judgment, Motion to Amend Judgment, and Motion to Set Aside Judgment. The Court denied that Motion on May 6, 2002. On May 13, 2002, Newsome filed the instant Motion for Reconsideration of Denial of her previous Motion filed on April 1, 2002.

II. LEGAL ANALYSIS:

A. Law on FRCP 59(a).

A Court may grant a motion to alter or amend a judgment if the movant presents newly discovered evidence that was not available at the time of trial or if the movant points to evidence in the record that clearly establishes a manifest error of law or fact. Matter of Prince, 85 F.3d 314, (7th Cir1996); cert denied 113 S.Ct. 608, 519 U.S. 1040, 136 L.Ed.2d 534.

In the instant motion, the plaintiff has not presented any new evidence, nor has she shown any evidence that establishes a manifest error of law or fact. Therefore, the Motion to Amend pursuant to FRCP 59(a) is denied.

Accordingly,

IT IS ORDERED that the Motion for Reconsideration filed on behalf of the plaintiff, Vogel Denise Newsome (Document No. 98) be, and the same is hereby DENIED.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the plaintiff, Vogel Denise Newsome, is to file no further pleadings on these issues in this Court, including motions to reconsider or the like, unless justified by a compelling showing of new evidence not available at the time of the instant submissions. Instead, plaintiff is instructed to seek any further relief to which she feels entitled in the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, as may be appropriate in due course.

Newsome v. E.E.O.C.
C.A.5 (La.),2002.

United States Court of Appeals,Fifth Circuit.
Vogel Denise NEWSOME, Plaintiff-Appellant,
v.
EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY COMMISSION; Patricia T. Bivins; Marvin L. Hicks; Sharon C. Williams, Defendants-Appellees.
No. 01-30817
Summary Calendar.

April 22, 2002.

Employee appealed from a decision of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Louisiana, A.J. McNamara, Chief Judge, which dismissed her complaint against the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) and three of its employees for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted and for frivolity. The Court of Appeals held that: (1) employee did not have a " clear right" to a writ of mandamus to compel EEOC to further investigate her charge; (2) in forma pauperis complaint lacked an arguable basis in law, and was thus subject to dismissal as frivolous; (3) appeal from dismissal of certain claims, which were virtually identical to those rejected in plaintiff's prior lawsuit, was frivolous.

Dismissed.

Vogel Denise Newsome, Jackson, MS, pro se.
Susan Lisabeth Starr, E.E.O.C., Washington, DC, for Defendants-Appellees.

Appeal from the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Louisiana.

Before JOLLY, DeMOSS and STEWART, Circuit Judges.
PER CURIAM:
Vogel Denise Newsome (" Newsome") appeals the district court's dismissal of her complaint against the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and three of its employees (collectively, " EEOC"), for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted and for frivolity. Finding that this appeal is frivolous, we DISMISS the appeal and place Newsome on NOTICE that future frivolous appeals may subject her to sanctions.

I

Newsome was an employee of Christian Health Ministries (" CHM") for approximately one month. CHM fired her, and she filed a charge of discrimination with the EEOC, alleging that she had been discriminated against based on her religion and retaliated against in violation of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. The EEOC sent a letter to CHM asking them to respond to the charge. CHM responded to the request by providing documentation that it is a religious organization that is exempt from the religious discrimination provisions of Title VII, pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 2000e-1(a).[FN1] In a " Dismissal and Notice of Rights" sent to Newsome, the EEOC checked a box indicating that it was dismissing Newsome's charge because " [t]he Respondent [CHM] employs less *230 than the required number of employees or is not otherwise covered by the statutes." In the Dismissal, the EEOC also notified Newsome that she had a right to bring suit in state or federal court against CHM within ninety days of her receipt of the notice.

> FN1. The statute provides:
> This subchapter shall not apply to ... a religious corporation, association, educational institution, or society with respect to the employment of individuals of a particular religion to perform work connected with the carrying on by such corporation, association, educational institution, or society of its activities.
> 42 U.S.C. § 2000e-1(a).

Newsome filed a pro se " Writ of Mandamus," which we treat as a petition, in federal district court against the EEOC and three of its employees. She sought to compel them to further investigate her charge, and to enjoin them " from interfering and depriving her of rights under Title VII ... and ... the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution." She alleged that the officials had failed to perform their duties to her and sought review of their actions under the Administrative Procedures Act, 5 U.S.C. § 702. She also alleged that the EEOC and CHM were engaged in a conspiracy to violate her civil rights under 42 U.S.C. § 1985.

The district court granted Newsome's motion to proceed in forma pauperis, and referred the case to a magistrate to handle all pre-trial matters " upon consent of the parties" under 28 U.S.C. § 636(c). The EEOC filed a motion to dismiss the complaint for lack of subject matter jurisdiction and for failure to state a claim. The district court referred this motion to the magistrate under 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(B). The magistrate judge recommended that Newsome's claims be dismissed under 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B)(i) and (ii) (" § 1915") for frivolity and for failure to state a claim upon which relief could be granted. The district court, " after considering the complaint, the record, the applicable law, the Report and Recommendation of the United States Magistrate Judge, and the objections to the Magistrate Judge's Report and Recommendation filed by the plaintiff," adopted the magistrate judge's report and recommendation. Newsome then filed a " Motion to Stay Proceedings to Enforce a Judgment; Motion to Amend Judgment; and Motion to Set Aside Judgment," which the district court denied. Newsome timely appealed.

II

In her pro se brief, Newsome argues that this matter was improperly referred to a magistrate judge without her consent. The first order of reference was to a magistrate judge to " handle all pre-trial matters, including trial and pre-trial proceedings upon consent of the parties pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(c)." Neither party objected at the time, though it appears that neither party specifically consented, either. The only action taken under this order of reference was the issuance of a summons to the defendant. After the defendants moved to dismiss for failure to state a claim, the district court referred this motion to a magistrate judge under § 636(b)(1)(B). After the magistrate judge issued her report and recommendations, in Newsome's objections to the magistrate's report and recommendations, Newsome argued that the reference to the magistrate was improperly made without the parties' consent, as required by § 636(c), and raises this argument again on appeal.

[1] The reference to the magistrate of the defendants' motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim was made under § 636(b)(1)(B). The consent of the parties is not required under this section. This reference was not improper. The prior reference under § 636(c) did require the consent of the parties. To the extent that Newsome did not consent to this reference, any error that resulted was harmless. The only action taken under this reference was the issuance of a summons to the defendants, which did not prejudice Newsome in any way.

Newsome also sought a writ of mandamus under 28 U.S.C. § 1361 to compel the EEOC to reopen her case, investigate her charge further and ask particular questions. The district court denied this writ, and dismissed the complaint.

[2] Mandamus is awarded only " in the exercise of a sound judicial discretion." Duncan Townsite Co. v. Lane, 245 U.S. 308, 311, 38 S.Ct. 99, 62 L.Ed. 309 (1917). " A district court's decision not to exercise jurisdiction under the mandamus statute for federal officers, 28 U.S.C. § 1361, is a discretionary one," which is reviewed for abuse of discretion. Franchi v. Manbeck, 972 F.2d 1283, 1289 (Fed.Cir.1992).

[3][4] A writ of mandamus is an " extraordinary remedy." Adams v. Georgia Gulf Corp., 237 F.3d 538, 542 (5th Cir.2001). " Mandamus is not available to review discretionary acts of agency officials." Green v. Heckler, 742 F.2d 237, 241 (5th Cir.1984). Further, in order to be granted a writ of mandamus, " [a] plaintiff must show a clear right to the relief sought, a clear duty by the defendant to do the particular act, and that no other adequate remedy is available." U.S. v. O'Neil, 767 F.2d 1111, 1112 (5th Cir.1985) (quoting Green, 742 F.2d at 241).

[5] Here, although Title VII provides that the EEOC " shall make an investigation" of a charge filed, see 42 U.S.C. § 2000e-5(b), it does not prescribe the manner for doing so. The EEOC did investigate Newsome's charge, though not to her satisfaction. However, " the nature and extent of an EEOC investigation into a discrimination claim is a matter within the discretion of that agency." E.E.O.C. v. Keco Industries, Inc., 748 F.2d 1097, 1100 (6th Cir.1984) (citing E.E.O.C. v. St. Anne's Hospital, 664 F.2d 128 (7th Cir.1981); E.E.O.C. v. General Electric Co., 532 F.2d 359 (4th Cir.1976); E.E.O.C. v. Chicago Miniature Lamp Works, 526 F.Supp. 974 (N.D.Ill.1981)). Because the nature and extent of the investigation are discretionary, Newsome does not have a " clear right" to a writ of mandamus.

Newsome also is not entitled to the writ because she has another adequate remedy available, i.e. she could file suit in court against her employer. For these reasons, the district court did not abuse its discretion in denying the writ.

IV

[6][7] The district court also dismissed Newsome's claims under Title VII, the APA, § 1985, and the Fourteenth Amendment. The court dismissed these claims under § 1915(e)(2)(B)(i) and (ii) for frivolity and failure to state a claim, respectively. We review a determination that a case is frivolous under § 1915(e)(2)(B)(i) for abuse of discretion. Siglar v. Hightower, 112 F.3d 191, 193 (5th Cir.1997). Newsome's in forma pauperis complaint " may be dismissed as frivolous if it lacks an arguable basis in law or fact. A complaint lacks an arguable basis in law if it is based on an indisputably meritless legal theory, such as if the complaint alleges the violation of a legal interest which clearly does not exist." Id. (citations omitted). We review a dismissal for failure to state a claim under § 1915(e)(B)(ii) de novo, applying the same standard used to review a dismissal pursuant to Fed.R.Civ.P. 12(b)(6). Moore v. Carwell, 168 F.3d 234, 236 (5th Cir.1999) (citation omitted). We must assume that the plaintiff's factual allegations are true, and may uphold the dismissal of Newsome's claims only if it appears that no relief could be granted under any set of facts that could be proven consistent with the allegations. Id. (citations omitted).

*232 [8] First we address Newsome's Title VII claims. Newsome alleges that the EEOC deprived her of her rights under Title VII. To the extent that Newsome is attempting to invoke Title VII as a jurisdictional basis for suing the EEOC, she cannot do so. We have held that Title VII does not confer on a charging party a right of action against the EEOC. See Gibson v. Missouri Pac. R.R., 579 F.2d 890, 891 (5th Cir.1978) (" Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, 42 U.S.C.A. § 2000e-5 et seq., confers no right of action against the enforcement agency. Nothing done or omitted by EEOC affected [plaintiff's] rights. Their adverse determination could not have precluded, and in fact did not preclude, the present suit by [plaintiff]. The relief sought of further investigation or action by the agency would be meaningless.") Therefore it was proper for the district court to dismiss Newsome's Title VII claims.

[9] Newsome also sought relief under the APA. The APA allows for judicial review of " [a]gency action made reviewable by statute and final agency action for which there is no other adequate remedy in a court...." 5 U.S.C. § 704. The APA defines " agency action" to include " the whole or a part of an agency rule, order, license, sanction, relief, or the equivalent or denial thereof, or failure to act." 5 U.S.C. § 551(13). The Supreme Court has addressed the meaning of " final agency action" :
As a general matter, two conditions must be satisfied for agency action to be " final" : First, the action must mark the " consummation" of the agency's decisionmaking process-it must not be of a merely tentative or interlocutory nature. And second, the action must be one by which " rights or obligations have been determined," or from which " legal consequences will flow."

Bennett v. Spear, 520 U.S. 154, 177, 117 S.Ct. 1154, 137 L.Ed.2d 281 (1997) (citations omitted). The EEOC's dismissal of Newsome's complaint did not determine her rights or have legal consequences. It simply ended the agency's investigation of her charge, and notified Newsome of her right to pursue her claim in court. Any final determination would occur in court. Therefore, there is no final agency action here, and no review available under the APA.

[10] Newsome also alleged that the EEOC and CHM engaged in a conspiracy to deprive her of her civil rights, in violation of 42 U.S.C. § 1985(3). " To state a claim under § 1985(3), Appellant must allege that two or more persons conspired to directly, or indirectly, deprive him of the equal protection of the laws or equal privileges and immunities under the laws." Green v. State Bar of Texas, 27 F.3d 1083, 1089 (5th Cir.1994). Further, to state a § 1985(3) claim, Newsome must allege that the conspirators were motivated by her race. See Slavin v. Curry, 574 F.2d 1256, 1262 (5th Cir.1978), modified on other grounds, 583 F.2d 779 (5th Cir.1978), overruled on other grounds, Sparks v. Duval County Ranch Co., 604 F.2d 976 (5th Cir.1979) (en banc), aff'd 449 U.S. 24, 101 S.Ct. 183, 66 L.Ed.2d 185 (1980). Newsome has not done so. She seems to complain because the EEOC did not find in her favor on her charge, and she makes extremely vague allegations of a " personal business relationship" between CHM and the EEOC. This simply is not enough to allege a conspiracy.

[11][12] Finally, Newsome alleges that the EEOC deprived her of her Fourteenth Amendment rights. However, the Fourteenth Amendment applies only to state actors, not federal actors. See Bolling v. Sharpe, 347 U.S. 497, 499, 74 S.Ct. 693, 98 L.Ed. 884 (1954). Newsome therefore *233 cannot bring a Fourteenth Amendment claim against the EEOC or EEOC officials. Further, the United States and its officials are entitled to sovereign immunity for the civil rights claims brought by Newsome, " because the United States has not consented to suit under the civil rights statutes." Unimex, Inc. v. U.S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development, 594 F.2d 1060, 1061 (5th Cir.1979).

In sum, Newsome's complaint has no arguable basis in fact or law, and no relief could be granted to her under any set of facts consistent with her allegations. The complaint is frivolous, fails to state a claim, and was properly dismissed. Newsome's claims are completely without merit, and this appeal is frivolous.

[13] Normally, we recognize that a pro se plaintiff does not have the same training as an attorney, and accord a pro se plaintiff some measure of latitude in her complaint and in the errors she might make. However, Newsome previously has brought an almost identical complaint against the EEOC, which was dismissed in part for failure to state a claim. In Newsome v. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, 1998 WL 792502 (N.D.Tex.) (" Newsome I"), Newsome had filed a charge of race discrimination under Title VII with the EEOC against a former employer, Floyd West & Company (" FWC"). The EEOC investigated the charge, found there to be no violation of Title VII, and issued Newsome a right to sue letter. Id. at *1. Newsome sued FWC, and a take nothing judgment was rendered against her. Five years later, Newsome brought a pro se lawsuit against the EEOC, FWC, and Talegen Holdings, Inc. (" Talegen," an affiliate of FWC), alleging that the EEOC failed to investigate the merits of her discrimination charge, and " conspired with FWC and Talegen to deprive her of her civil rights in violation of Title VII, the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution ... and 42 U.S.C. §§ 1983 and 1985." Id. at *1. The court found that Title VII did not confer jurisdiction over cases brought by an individual against the EEOC as an enforcement agency, and that Title VII does not confer a right of action against the EEOC as an enforcement agency. The court further found that there is no cause of action against federal agencies or officials under the Fourteenth Amendment, and that Newsome had no § 1983 claim because the EEOC officials were not acting under the color of state law, as required for a § 1983 claim. The court also found the EEOC to be entitled to sovereign immunity. The court did not reach the merits of the § 1985 claim, because it was barred by the statute of limitations. The court dismissed Newsome's complaint for lack of subject matter jurisdiction, failure to state a claim and on sovereign immunity grounds. Id. at *5. We affirmed, for the reasons stated in the district court's opinion. See Newsome v. E.E.O.C., No. 98-11381, 1999 WL 423085 (5th Cir. June 3, 1999); 182 F.3d 915. The United States Supreme Court denied certiorari. See Newsome v. E.E.O.C., 528 U.S. 917, 120 S.Ct. 273, 145 L.Ed.2d 229 (1999).

The merits of Newsome's Title VII and Fourteenth Amendment claims were addressed in her prior lawsuit, and are virtually identical to the claims before us. Newsome therefore was on notice that these claims fail to state a claim upon which relief could be granted. Newsome now is on notice that her APA and § 1985 claims also fail to state a claim, and that all her claims are frivolous. This appeal is frivolous as well. We therefore are putting Newsome on NOTICE that if she continues to bring such frivolous appeals in *234 the future, this court will consider sanctioning her pursuant to our inherent sanction powers and our powers to sanction frivolous appeals. See F.R.A.P. 38.

VI

For the foregoing reasons, this frivolous appeal is

DISMISSED.

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
SOUTHERN DISTRICT – JACKSON DIVISION

VOGEL NEWSOME — PLAINTIFF

V. — CIVIL ACTION NO. 3:07-cv-00099 TSL LRA

MELODY CREWS, ET AL. — DEFENDANTS

PLAINTIFF'S OBJECTION TO AND MOTION TO STRIKE STATEMENTS AND MATERIALS OF DEFENDANT MELODY CREWS' MOTION FOR SHOW CAUSE HEARING AND FOR GENERAL RELIEF AND REQUESTS FOR RULE 11 SANCTIONS OF AND AGAINST DEFENDANT CREWS AND HER COUNSEL CLARK MONROE[1] and JURY TRIAL DEMANDED ON TRIABLE ISSUE(S)

COMES NOW Plaintiff, Vogel Newsome ("Plaintiff" and/or "Newsome"), as *a party to this instant action, upon being advised that her attorney, Wanda Abioto ("Abioto"), is ill (health issues) and recently being confronted with possible withdrawal issues by said attorney and files this her Objection To and Motion to Strike Statements and Materials of Defendant Crews' Motion for Show Cause Hearing and for General Relief and Requests for Rule 11 Sanctions of and Against Defendant Crews and Her Counsel Clark Monroe and Jury Trial Demanded on Triable Issue(s) (hereinafter known as "MTSMFSC") pursuant to Rule 12(f) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure ("FRCP") and any and all governing statutes/laws relating to said matters. Plaintiff through this instant pleading, request this Court exercise its own discretion and issue the applicable sanctions (if permissible – via "snapshot rule" and "inherent power") by laws/statutes of and against this Defendant Melody Crews ("Defendant Crews" and/or "Crews") and/or her counsel, Clark Monroe ("Monroe") – (collectively referred to as "Defendant Crews/Monroe" and/or "Crews/Monroe"), pursuant to Rule 11 of the FRCP and/or statutes/laws governing said matters.

> Conduct Measured at Time of Presentation: Skidmore Energy, Inc. v. KPMG, 455 F.3d 564, 569-570 (5th Cir. 2006) – Under the "snapshot" rule, sanctions based on a frivolous pleading were > proper because the lack of legal and evidentiary support for the pleading existed at the time it was filed. The district court found that the claims lacked both legal and factual support and imposed more than $500,000 in sanctions against plaintiffs and their counsel, based on the defendants' reasonable expenses incurred in litigating against the claims. . . .This test focuses on the instant when the signature is placed on the document, and the state of mind of the signer at that time. The test ensures that Rule 11 liability is assessed only for a violation existing at the moment of filing. The district court had clearly concluded that the pleadings were frivolous when filed. The fact that they continued to lack evidentiary support throughout the proceedings only underscored the violation.

> Inherent Power of Court to Impose Sanctions – Bad Faith Required: Amlong & Amlong, P.A. v. Denny's, Inc., 457 F.3d 1180, 1202-1203 (2006) – Sanctions could not be imposed under the court's inherent powers without an explicit finding of bad faith. . . . In particular, before a court may impose sanctions on an attorney under its inherent powers, the court must make a finding of bad faith.

Plaintiff further OBJECTS to Defendant Crews' premature "CONSOLIDATION" of Civil Actions 3:07-cv-00099 and 3:07-cv-000560, AS EVIDENCED IN THIS CASE IN THE STLEY filed in this Court in her Motion For Show Cause Hearing and for General Relief ("MFSCH"). These are two separate and distinct civil lawsuits filed in this Court arising out of separate and direct OVERT independent actions. These two matters have not been consolidated and separate pleadings should have been individually filed in each lawsuit rather than combined and/or consolidated as Crews has done here. Keeping in mind that separate filings in good faith would have been required if Crews truly believed she was entitled to the relief sought through MFSCH. Therefore, WITHOUT WAIVING SAID OBJECTION, Plaintive moves this Court to pursuant Rule 12(f) of the FRCP to:

> Strike the statements and materials in Defendant Melody Crews' Motion for Show Cause Hearing and for General Relief, including: Opening Paragraph; Paragraphs numbered 1., 2., 3., 4., 5. and supporting material provided at/in Exhibit A, 6., 7., 8., 9., 10., 11., 12 – and supporting materials provided at/in Exhibit A., 13 – and supporting materials provided in Exhibit B, 14., 15. and its subparagraphs lettered a., b., c., d., e., and e. (sic); and closing paragraph beginning,, "WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED, Melody Crews" and the relief sought in said closing paragraph. Furthermore, Defendant Crews' MFSCH was provided in bad faith for purposes of sham/frivolousness, harassment, delay, hindering proceedings, malicious intent, obstructing the administration of justice to prejudice this Court against her, increasing the costs of litigation, to deprive Plaintiff equal protection of the laws and due process of laws, and does not present any facts, evidence or legal conclusion(s) to sustain the arguments made and the relief sought through her pleading.

Plaintiff further states the following in support of this instant MTSMFSC and the relief sought herein:

1. Plaintiff is a party to this action and thereby authorized by statutes/laws to file said pleading and sign in that she is a party in this action, has personal knowledge as to the claims and evidence presented in this instant pleading, the Complaint filed in this instant lawsuit, her subsequent pleadings and is subject to the provisions of Rule 11 of the FRCP.

Plaintiff is aware that Defendant Crews' counsel most recent attacks on her and her counsel and how such unlawful/unethical practices before this Court is now being masked through this Defendant's MFSCH he has filed on her behalf in this lawsuit. Defendant Crews/Monroe knew and/or should have known that Plaintiff is entitled to sign and file pleadings in this action, in that she/he clearly appears to have knowledge of the United States Supreme Court's decision in Business Guides, Inc. v. Chromatic Communications Enterprises, Inc., 498 U.S. 533, 111 S.Ct. 922 (1991) and perhaps other legal conclusions to support said knowledge. (EMPHASIS ADDED). (See Doc. 34 at ¶11); however, willfully and deliberately withheld such knowledge obtained from this Court as she/he relied upon "selective" inclusions in the use of this citation. See EXHIBIT "1" – Business Guide, attached hereto and incorporated by reference

2. This instant MTSMFSC is submitted in good faith and is not provided for purposes of delay, hindering proceedings, obstructing the administration of justice, or needlessly increasing the costs of litigation, etc.. Moreover, said pleading is supported by the investigation/research and the facts, evidence and/or legal conclusions presented herein.

3. This instant pleading is being filed to preserve the rights of the Plaintiff secured to her under the United States Constitution, Civil Rights Act and other laws governing said matters to assure she receives equal protection of the laws and due process of laws. Plaintiff has had to file this pleading in that valid and legal concerns regarding her attorney's handling of matter warrant's the necessity of said filing to preserve the rights of Plaintiff and to protect her from any possible injury/harm which may have resulted as a direct and proximate result of Abioto's failure to comply with the laws in the representation of Plaintiff.

Plaintiff believes a reasonable mind may conclude that Congress and/or the lawmakers did not intend for clients to put the entire life of their complaints/claims in the hands of their attorney without any participation and/or interaction from them. Plaintiff has NEVER required nor requested that her attorney violate the laws/statutes in representing her and clearly is offended by the accusations leveled by Defendant Crews/Monroe through her MFSCH.

4. Plaintiff believes that the Fifth Circuit Court of appeals would find the actions of Defendant Crews/Monroe and other Defendants and Defendants' counsel in this action reprehensible and disturbing.

5. It is important to note that MFSCH was only filed on behalf of Defendant Crews while Monroe also represents Dial Equities, Inc. ("Dial Equities") in this lawsuit. Dial Equities would be wise to distance itself from him, in that he is a walking liability to those who he comes into contact with and solicit their business to allow them to represent them against actions brought by the Plaintiff. What is certain, Monroe has clearly taken Defendant Crews' position as a party tot his action to shielded his unlawful/illegal and unethical practices through his representation of her.

6. The opening paragraph of Crews' MFSCH is to be stricken. Plaintiff request this Court exercise its inherent power and discretion and have Defendant Crews' statement(s) and/or material(s) indicated here as well as above stricken and/or statements within Defendant Crews' MFSCH stricken, in that it is irrelevant, impertinent and immaterial to this instant lawsuit, was provided in bad faith*, is* legally and evidentiary insufficient (this Court applying the "snapshot" rule and "inherent powers"), is sham/frivolous and provided for unlawful and unethical purposes, and does not present any facts, evidence or legal conclusion(s) to support defenses asserted. The information in MFSCH was provided for frivolous filings and misuse of the judicial process and is neither certified as required under Rule 11. Defendant Crews/Monroe failed to make reasonable inquiry into to the laws and facts underlying the MFSCH filed. Thus, moving this Court to issue the applicable sanctions pursuant to Rule 11 of the FRCP and/or governing laws of and against Defendant Crews and her counsel, Clark Monroe. (hereinafter contents referenced as "Plaintiff request this Court exercise its inherent power and discretion and have Defendant Crews' statement(s) and/or material(s) indicated here as well as above stricken and/or statements within Defendant Crews' MFSCH stricken, in that it is irrelevant, impertinent and immaterial to this instant lawsuit, was provided in bad faith*, is* legally and evidentiary insufficient (this Court applying the "snapshot" rule and "inherent powers"). . . .")

7. ¶ 1. in its entirety of Crews' MFSCH is to be stricken. Said paragraph was merely provided for name calling and unlawful/illegal and unethical purposes. While Crews/Monroe have for instance used such labeling of the Plaintiff as a "serial litigator," they have produced nothing to substantiate such assertion. Plaintiff believes that a reasonable mind as well as the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals will find that such labeling of the Plaintiff is uncalled for. Moreover, that there is sufficient evidence in the record of this Court provided through this instant lawsuit to support that Crews'/Monroe's knowledge of past litigation by the Plaintiff was used to commit "civil" and "criminal" wrongs against her. Moreover, that the Fifth Circuit would be APPALLED/DISTURBED/DISAPPOINTED, etc. to know that Defendant Crews/ Monroe used decisions by its Court to pad their "civil" and "criminal" wrongs rendered the Plaintiff. While Defendant Crews/Monroe have labeled the Plaintiff a "serial litigator," Plaintiff believes a reasonable mind as well as the Fifth Circuit will find that over the past 20 years, the filing of approximately four (4) lawsuits by the Plaintiff (and now the two lawsuits filed in this Court as it relates to Civil Actions 3:07-cv-00099 and 3:07-cv-00560) is sufficient to label her a "serial litigator." Moreover, that the two (2) lawsuits filed in this Court are warranted. Furthermore, Plaintiff believes that the Fifth Circuit would find that she has been successful in obtaining "evidence" which is difficult to come by to support her claims/counts and the relief sought through her Complaint and her subsequent pleadings filed in this instant lawsuit. Such labeling of Plaintiff is addressed further down in this instant pleading. A reasonable mind may conclude, with such labeling, Crews/Monroe knew that Plaintiff would research and/or investigate such defenses and provide rebuttal (if necessary) to such.

No, it is Defendant Crews' counsel (Monroe) who is serial stalker/predator – following Plaintiff from job-to-job, attorney-to-attorney - harasser, abuser of the judicial system/process, etc. (as the list can go on and on) who uses his clients (such as Defendant Crews and Dial Equities, Inc. – with their permission) to hood his fetishes.

Monroe, who clearly should have his picture  posted on the appropriate offenders website for such abuses, unlawful/illegal and unethical fetishes. No while hooded at night, once the hood is removed during the day, it is easily noticeable from his countenance/face, what is really in him and what he is really about. While he appears to be well-groomed, intelligent, smug, etc., BE WARNED, he is far from that and is a walking liability to whomever comes into contact with him in defending claims brought by the Plaintiff. So beware – conspirators, co-conspirators, clients, employers, law firms, citizens of this great country, etc. – engaging in any unlawful/illegal and unethical practices with this abuser and stalker/predator, may very well set you up to share in the liability Monroe attracts in his pursuits against the Plaintiff.

While Defendant Crews' counsel has labeled the Plaintiff as a "serial litigator" there is nothing in the record to support his opening slander and false misrepresentation of the Plaintiff. While he attempts to mislead this Court and distort and/or fabricate information on the Plaintiff, it is clear to the Plaintiff he has deliberately failed to mention claims brought against other/certain Defendants to this action, for instance, that Defendant Hinds County, Mississippi is not a new party or defendant to the Mississippi federal courts. For example, this Court can find a least 71 cases where this party is a defendant before the federal courts in Mississippi. See EXHIBIT "2" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein. That Defendant Malcolm McMillin is not a new party or defendant to the Mississippi federal courts. For example, this Court will find a least 105 cases where this party is a defendant before the federal courts in Mississippi. See EXHIBIT "3" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein. Neither is Defendant Dial Equities, Inc. new as party to the federal courts. See EXHIBIT "4" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein. Plaintiff believes that an investigation into these civil actions brought against these Defendants may reveal that court(s) did not allow such abuses (as that in which this Plaintiff is subjected to in this instant lawsuit) by these Defendants to occur and/or go unaddressed. Especially, in cases where Defendants and Plaintiffs in those actions are represented by attorney – No, the personal bias and prejudice towards this Plaintiff is so apparent.

Plaintiff request this Court exercise its inherent power and discretion and have Defendant Crews' statement(s) and/or material(s) indicated here as well as above stricken and/or statements within Defendant Crews' MFSCH stricken, in that it is irrelevant, impertinent and immaterial to this instant lawsuit, was provided in bad faith, is legally and evidentiary insufficient (this Court applying the "snapshot" rule and "inherent powers").. . .

8. ¶ 2. in its entirety of Crews' MFSCH is to be stricken. The relief sought through said paragraph is legally insufficient, seeks this Court's participation in the infringement of rights secured to the Plaintiff under the United States Constitution and other laws governing the protection of her rights. Moreover, Crews'/Monroe's relief sought under this paragraph are efforts by them to unlawfully/illegally and unethically attempt to present a roadblock to prevent the Plaintiff from filing future lawsuits against them which they are aware of are clearly inevitable. Such relief by Crews/Monroe cannot be contributed to foresight because the Plaintiff has already warned them that future legal actions in their willful, deliberate, malicious participation in the conspiracy to have her terminated from her employment with Page Kruger & Holland. Such conspiracy and wrong which is mentioned further down in this instant pleading.

Plaintiff request this Court exercise its inherent power and discretion and have Defendant Crews' statement(s) and/or material(s) indicated here as well as above stricken and/or statements within Defendant Crews' MFSCH stricken, in that it is irrelevant, impertinent and immaterial to this instant lawsuit, was provided in bad faith, is legally and evidentiary insufficient (this Court applying the "snapshot" rule and "inherent powers").. . .

9. ¶ 3. in its entirety of Crews' MFSCH is to be stricken. Crews/Monroe is careful to be sure to label the Plaintiff as pro se. Not in forma pauper ("IFP") litigant in this instant lawsuit. (EMPHASIS ADDED). Because they know that the relief they have repeatedly sought, are defenses against those who file action(s) an in forma pauperis status. The Plaintiff is a paying litigant and has paid the required fee to bring this instant lawsuit. Therefore, she is not subject to the provisions and/or similar statutes/laws governing IFP litigants.

Plaintiff request this Court exercise its inherent power and discretion and have Defendant Crews' statement(s) and/or material(s) indicated here as well as above stricken and/or statements within Defendant Crews' MFSCH stricken, in that it is irrelevant, impertinent and immaterial to this instant lawsuit, was provided in bad faith, is legally and evidentiary insufficient (this Court applying the "snapshot" rule and "inherent powers").. . .

10. ¶ 4. in its entirety of Crews' MFSCH is to be stricken. Defendant Crews/Monroe have produced no evidence where an Order/Judgment pursuant to Rule 54(b) of the MRCP was entered before Plaintiff's counsel, Abioto, in the Hinds County Court (Jackson, Mississippi – Civil Action No. 251-06-905) filed a Rule 41 "Voluntary" Dismissal action pursuant to Mississippi Rules of Civil Procedure ("MRCP") in the interest of Newsome in that state court action. A voluntary dismissal action which Defendant Crews failed to contest. It is important to note that there was a hearing in the Hinds County Court action on August 31, 2006. Following that hearing, both the Newsome and her attorney filed separate post-hearing pleadings to preserve the rights of Plaintiff. None of the post-hearing pleadings filed by either Newsome or Abioto were contested by the defendants in that lawsuit. Then on or about September 15, 2006, Abioto filed the following pleadings: (a) Notice of First Amended Complaint; (b) First Amended Complaint Jury Trial Demanded; and (c) Notice of Dismissal Without Prejudice.

Defendants Hinds County and Malcolm McMillin provided a copy of an Order from the Hinds County Court action executed on September 27, 2006, through their Motion for Security Costs filed in this instant lawsuit. A pleading which the Plaintiff has filed a timely rebuttal to and a matter still pending before this Court – as it appears, she may have to take this (illegal bond setting) matter to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals – who has in the past granted the Plaintiff remand. It is IMPORTANT TO NOTE: Said Order was executed by Barnett of the Hinds County Court action well AFTER – approximately 12 days later - the Rule 41 "Voluntary" Dismissal filed by Abioto on behalf of her client. One guess, as to who instigated the execution of the Hinds County Court Order – just one guess. Correct. It was Defendant Crews' counsel, Clark Monroe who instigated the signing of the delinquent September 27, 2006 Order by Judge Barnett. An Order not legally or lawfully binding in that the action had been dismissed at the time of execution. Who knows what means of coercion - threats, unlawful/illegal and unethical acts – Monroe committed to get Judge Barnett to execute the Order. What is clear, Judge Barnett was sure not to backdate the entry of said Order. So there is an execution of an Order in the Hinds County Court action on September 27, 2006, ordering acts to be completed "within fifteen (15) days of the hearing on August 31, 2006 (on or before September 15, 2006) this matter is and shall be finally dismissed." See EXHIBIT "5" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. Clearly, it does not make sense to order the carrying out of actions on dates that have expired. But again, that is Monroe at work again, harassing, insisting, forcing and demanding requests down the throat of the Court, as that displayed in his letter of February 25, 2008 to this Court. See EXHIBIT "6" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein. Further supporting to what lengths Monroe would go to get what he wanted. However, to his disappointment, Barnett would not backdate execution of the Order. With such knowledge, Defendant Crews/Monroe and other Defendants continue to attempt to assert res judicata on ruling from the state court(s) that were not final judgments upon which they can base such a defense. They tried such a frivolous defense in the Hinds County Court action, alleging res judicata. The Justice Court which is not a court of record, nor one of competent jurisdiction and clearly lacking jurisdiction over the Plaintiff (who was defendant in that action).

While Defendant Crews/Monroe attempt to underhandedly "insult" Plaintiff's counsel's legal experience and knowledge of the laws by stating, "has continued to feed Newsome's belief she has a claim. . .," Abioto has well of 20 years of legal experience. Such a statement is obvious of Monroe's efforts implying that Abioto, while an attorney, does not understand and neither can interpret and/or comprehend what the laws/statutes mean. That he and other Defendants counsel in this lawsuit are the only ones who has such knowledge and understanding.

Plaintiff request this Court exercise its inherent power and discretion and have Defendant Crews' statement(s) and/or material(s) indicated here as well as above stricken and/or statements within Defendant Crews' MFSCH stricken, in that it is irrelevant, impertinent and immaterial to this instant lawsuit, was provided in bad faith, is legally and evidentiary insufficient (this Court applying the "snapshot" rule and "inherent powers"). . .

11. ¶ 5. and its supporting "Exhibit A" in its entirety of Crews' MFSCH is to be stricken. "Outrage." Monroe stating his mental feelings and state of mind/mind set (EMPHASIS ADDED). Why? Because he found out that Plaintiff had filed pleadings in which she has a right to file in preserving her rights in this lawsuit.

It is obvious that Monroe is obsessed with the Plaintiff. He stalks her from job-to-job, from attorney-to-attorney at no ends. Informing Plaintiff's employer(s) of lawsuits filed by the Plaintiff and hoping that with such knowledge that employer(s) terminate the Plaintiff, as well, as informing Plaintiff's attorney(s) of legal actions brought by her and to and paint pictures of Plaintiff as being a "serial litigator." Monroe resorting to harassment, threats of disbarment – reporting Abioto to the Mississippi Bar. When will it stop? How long is this Court going to allow Monroe to run amuck before it and clearly proceed in a manner clearly in violation of the Code of Professional Conduct and/or other governing laws/statutes, officer of the Court and a member of the Mississippi Bar? How long? It appears the defense strategies in the harassing of Plaintiff's counsel, contacting Plaintiff's employer have run their course and lost steam. No, Monroe has preyed on the weak, vulnerable and timid, etc. victims that he has so viciously devoured in his quest to destroy the life of the Plaintiff. In his recruitment for conspirators and/or co-conspirators, he simply requires they have a deep-rooted hatred, jealousy, envy, prejudice, etc. towards the Plaintiff. His outrage, merely is due to the fact that he failed in his efforts and at every corner he turns in the litigation brought by the Plaintiff he sees he is a big FAILURE. He also is aware that Plaintiff will not allow him to harass, threaten or intimidate her. That being the "litigious" person he claims she is, rather than take matters into her own hands, she simply files the applicable lawsuits against the perpetrators that she believes caused her legal injury/harm.

The Plaintiff has a right to file and defend the lawsuits in which she has filed or have been filed on her behalf. Moreover, to see that she is well represented and her voice heard. Her recent February 11, 2008 filings are pleadings allowed under the laws governing the claims she assert; and, those in which she in good faith believe were necessary to file in the preservation of her rights secured/guaranteed under the United States Constitution and/or other governing laws to support the claims and relief sought.

Plaintiff request this Court exercise its inherent power and discretion and have Defendant Crews' statement(s) and/or material(s) indicated here as well as above stricken and/or statements within Defendant Crews' MFSCH stricken, in that it is irrelevant, impertinent and immaterial to this instant lawsuit, was provided in bad faith*, is* legally and evidentiary insufficient (this Court applying the "snapshot" rule and "inherent powers"). . .

12. ¶ 6. in its entirety of Crews' MFSCH is to be stricken. Plaintiff's signature occurs on the line below her name "Vogel Newsome, Plaintiff" because she is a party in this lawsuit. If signing on the line below her name as Plaintiff to the action is wrong or insufficient, Plaintiff is not aware of this Court notifying of any such error in this instant lawsuit or in Civil Action No. 3:07-cv-00560 filed in this Court. Abioto has not advised the Plaintiff that such a correction is warranted as to the signing of the pleading or that Plaintiff needs to resubmit the signature page with information below the line to be information requiring Plaintiff.

Plaintiff's believes her pleading(s) meets the "certification" requirements and provide information regarding investigation into the issues and research materials used in preparation thereof. Moreover, Plaintiff has tried to include such information in the first footnote (or shortly thereafter) in the pleadings that she files. Even if not provided, the Plaintiff takes the time to make said certifications in the pleadings being filed. As in this instant action, the vast legal conclusions, exhibits and facts set forth, are sufficient to state her claims and belief that the pleading(s) has been submitted in good faith.

Plaintiff request this Court exercise its inherent power and discretion and have Defendant Crews' statement(s) and/or material(s) indicated here as well as above stricken and/or statements within Defendant Crews' MFSCH stricken, in that it is irrelevant, impertinent and immaterial to this instant lawsuit, was provided in bad faith*, is* legally and evidentiary insufficient (this Court applying the "snapshot" rule and "inherent powers"). . .

13. ¶ 7. in its entirety of Crews' MFSCH is to be stricken. This instant action was submitted on behalf of Newsome on or about September 15, 2007. Therefore, it is not clear what pleading this Defendant Crews/Monroe is asserting was filed in this action/lawsuit on August 13, 2007, because this date precedes the filing of the 00560 lawsuit. While Abioto is counsel of record in this lawsuit, as a matter of law, she is not the only one authorized to draft, sign and file pleadings in that action. Plaintiff, as a party to this action, is authorized to do so as well although she is represented and is subject to the provisions of Rule 11 of the FRCP. See EXHIBIT "7" – excerpt 28 USCA Rule 11 of the FRCP attached hereto and incorporated by reference. Neither is the Plaintiff aware that she or her attorney in this action violated any statutes/laws when Abioto authorized the Plaintiff to sign the Complaint and to get it filed in a timely manner. Plaintiff and her attorney (Abioto) in this action live in different states. It is important to note that the "ACKNOWLEDGMENT" provided in the Complaint filed in this lawsuit, was executed by the Plaintiff, certifying her review of the Complaint. The use of Defendant Crews and MFSCH filed on her behalf, is merely a dilatory defense/tactic used by Monroe to threaten the Plaintiff's attorney as evidenced in his correspondence of February 19, 2008 and February 21, 2008. Who knows how many more of these belligerent letters Abioto has received from Monroe or other opposing counsel in the lawsuits file by the Plaintiff.

Plaintiff request this Court exercise its inherent power and discretion and have Defendant Crews' statement(s) and/or material(s) indicated here as well as above stricken and/or statements within Defendant Crews' MFSCH stricken, in that it is irrelevant, impertinent and immaterial to this instant lawsuit, was provided in bad faith, is legally and evidentiary insufficient (this Court applying the "snapshot" rule and "inherent powers"). . .

14. ¶ 8. in its entirety of Crews' MFSCH is to be stricken. On or about August 13, 2007, Magistrate Sumner entered an Order (Doc. No. 41 of Civil Action 3:07-cv-00099 ["0099"]) denying Plaintiff's Motion to Strike (Doc. No. 28); granting Second Defendants Crews and Dial Equities, Inc.s' Motion for Extension of Time to Answer (Doc. No. 40); granting Defendants Hinds County and Malcolm McMillan's Motion for Bond (Doc. No. 9); granting Defendants Hinds County and Malcolm McMillan's Motion to Stay (Doc. No. 10); granting Defendants Melody Crews and Dial Equities Joinder to Motion to Stay Proceedings filed by Defendant Hinds County and Malcolm McMillan; granting Motion for Joinder in Motion for Security of Costs and denying Motion for Security of Attorney Fees by Defendant Crews and Dial Equities; and denying Plaintiff's Motion to Strike Motion to Stay of Defendants Hinds County and Malcolm McMillan; and staying proceedings until Plaintiff posted bond.

On or about August 22, 2007, this Court filed Plaintiff's Notice of Objection to Magistrate Sumner's August 13, 2007 Order (Doc. No. 44), and a responsive "OBJECTION" pleading (Doc. No. 46) to Magistrate Sumner's August 13, 2007 Order (Doc. No. 41) along with her opposition pleading to the Second Extension of Time granted Defendants Crews and Dial Equities, Inc. (Doc. 45). Plaintiff's pleadings were timely fled.

On or about September 5, 2007, without notice or providing reasons for grounds of recusal, Magistrate Judge Sumner filed "Order of Recusal" (Doc. No. 54). Magistrate Sumner doing so without notifying the Plaintiff that he had done so. Plaintiff had to find out through other source(s). Said recusal coming well after he had committed acts he knew he was not authorized to perform due to lack of jurisdiction as well as for the reasons underlying his recusal. Nevertheless, rather than recuse himself upon learning who the parties and their attorney(s) were, he knowingly and deliberately entered rulings clearly contrary to laws, clearly erroneous, etc. and neither he nor this Court has corrected such errors. Moreover, the laws are clear that with said recusal the Order entered by Magistrate Judge Sumner is null/void. As a direct and proximate result of such abuse and unethical practices the Plaintiff has been prejudiced.

On or about September 28, 2007, Judge Lee entered Order of Reference regarding certain motions and/or pleadings filed by the parties in the action to Magistrate Judge (Doc. No. 67).

On or about October 10, 2007, this Court filed Plaintiff's Response to Judge Lee's September 28, 2007 Order. Said responsive pleading was timely submitted.

On September 29, 2007, this Court filed Text Only Order setting hearing before Magistrate Judge for November 13, 2007 (Dated Doc. of 10/29/2007).

On November 5, 2007, Plaintiff filed timely responsive/objection pleading to Text Only Order of September 29, 2007 (Doc. No. 87) notifying the Court that she would not be participating in the November 13, 2007 hearing notifying that she would not be waiving her rights.

On or about November 13, 2007, this Court proceeded with hearing before Magistrate Judge Anderson over the Plaintiff's objections (Dated Doc. Of 11/13/2007)

On or about November 13, 2007 (approximately three months later), Judge Lee entered Order denying Plaintiff's Objections to the Magistrate Sumner's August 13, 2007 Order and Affirming (EMPHASIS ADDED) null/void August 13, 2007 Order of Magistrate Judge Sumner (Doc. No. 90). (Fed. Proc. L.Ed. §20.44: Effect of Disqualification – When a judge perceives grounds for his own recusal, he should recuse himself immediately and not wait for a subsequent stage of the litigation to enter further orders or findings in the case other than housekeeping orders, such as an order assigning the case to another judge. If orders of findings other than housekeeping orders are made, they may be vacated, and a party may seek and obtain a writ of mandamus for this purpose- Moody v. Simmons, 858 F.2d 137 (1988) and Mims v. Shapp, 541 F.2d 415 (1976)) It is also important to note that when, "the reporting judge is disqualified, his findings are of no effect, and the trial judge must review the record de novo and enter findings without relying on those made by the disqualified judge." Id. (citing Government of Virgin Island v. Gereau, 502 F.2d 914 (1974). As a direct and proximate result of such error, the Plaintiff has been prejudiced and has had to incur additional time, costs and expenses in the filing of additional pleadings to defend against such issues in preparation for Fifth Circuit review.

On or about November 14, 2007, this Court filed Plaintiff's Pleading Notifying said Court that she would not be participating in the November 13, 2007 hearing. Judge and Magistrate were notified via electronic correspondence as well.

On or about November 19, 2007, Plaintiff filed Notice of Motion to Stay and Motion to Stay along with supporting Memorandum Brief in this instant lawsuit. (See Doc. Ns. 94, 95 and 96).

On December 18, 2007, Plaintiff filed Notice of Request for Certification. (Doc. No. 106). Filing being necessary to prepare the record for appeal to the Fifth Circuit.

On or about February 4, 2008, Magistrate Judge Anderson entered Orders (Doc.

Nos. 108 and 109) denying Plaintiff's Motion to Stay (Doc. No. 95) and Plaintiff's Motion to Strike (Doc. No. 104). In which Plaintiff filed timely objections to said Orders and this Court filed on February 20, 2007 (Doc. No. 112).

Therefore, resulting in Plaintiff' filing of notice of disqualification/recusal action. Plaintiff in good faith believes she has filed the required pleadings to preserve the issues raised therein and preserve her rights to assure that she is afforded equal protection of the laws and due process of laws. Moreover, that the decisions of this Court are not "tainted" by personal bias and prejudices through such labeling as "serial" litigator. It is important to note that Plaintiff believes that all pleadings filed in this action by her and/or on her behalf were all filed in good faith and certified in accordance with Rule 11 of the FRCP – unlike Defendant Crews'/Monroe's or other Defendants pleading submitted in this lawsuit, such personal bias and prejudice that is apparent. Defendants in this action repeatedly being allowed to file pleadings in this Court without certification and/or in compliance with Rule 11 of the FRCP.

Plaintiff request this Court exercise its inherent power and discretion and have Defendant Crews' statement(s) and/or material(s) indicated here as well as above stricken and/or statements within Defendant Crews' MFSCH stricken, in that it is irrelevant, impertinent and immaterial to this instant lawsuit, was provided in bad faith, is legally and evidentiary insufficient (this Court applying the "snapshot" rule and "inherent powers"). . . .

15. ¶ 9. in its entirety of Crews' MFSCH is to be stricken. Sumner's Order has no being on this instant lawsuit. It was an order entered in 0099. The laws are clear that Magistrate Sumner's null/void Order and, therefore, this Court's upholding of such Order could prevent her or her attorney from filing the 00560 lawsuit in this Court. Neither did Defendant Crews/Monroe provide any facts, evidence or legal conclusion to support such assertion. The record in this Court is clear that the two separate lawsuits (00099 and 00560) are independent and distinct actions. The filing of this instant lawsuit was not a total disregard to any Order entered by Sumner in this instant lawsuit, because any such Order relied upon by Defendant Crews/Monroe is null/void due to Sumner's recusal and would have no bearing on this lawsuit. Plaintiff would find it hard to believe that based upon her reputation, anyway, that this Court did not examine the claims of this instant lawsuit prior to filing and determine that it had no bearing on the 0099 matter.

The burden of proof that 00099 and 00560 have many of the same claims is on the Defendant Crews. Plaintiff has filed the required pleadings contesting the consolidation of these two cases and set forth the facts, evidence and legal conclusions to support her defense. She has failed to meet this burden. Defendant Crews merely making such "verbal" assertions is legally insufficient and lacks any evidence to sustain it. Moreover, this Court cannot rely upon said assertions.

Abioto was not required to check the docket of the 00099 lawsuit. She is not counsel of record for Newsome in that lawsuit. She is only counsel for Newsome in this lawsuit filed in this Court. Neither has Plaintiff authorized her to represent her in the 00099 lawsuit. Plaintiff has invested the time, conducted the research, drafting and submittal of the pleadings in this instant lawsuit.

Plaintiff request this Court exercise its inherent power and discretion and have Defendant Crews' statement(s) and/or material(s) indicated here as well as above stricken and/or statements within Defendant Crews' MFSCH stricken, in that it is irrelevant, impertinent and immaterial to this instant lawsuit, was provided in bad faith, is legally and evidentiary insufficient (this Court applying the "snapshot" rule and "inherent powers"). . . .

16. ¶ 10. in its entirety of Crews' MFSCH is to be stricken. It is not clear what Defendant Crews' defense under Rule 11 of the FRCP is. Rule 11 authorizes Newsome as a "party," to prepare, sign and file pleadings with this Court. See EXHIBIT "7" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein. Plaintiff is not aware of any unsigned pleadings submitted by her or on her behalf and is neither aware of any such rule/statute/law to support she was not authorized to draft and sign the pleadings filed in this instant lawsuit. Newsome being the one to investigate and conduct research on the matters/issue and having knowledge of the facts, evidence and legal conclusions submitted in this lawsuit by her.

Plaintiff request this Court exercise its inherent power and discretion and have Defendant Crews' statement(s) and/or material(s) indicated here as well as above stricken and/or statements within Defendant Crews' MFSCH stricken, in that it is irrelevant, impertinent and immaterial to this instant lawsuit, was provided in bad faith, is legally and evidentiary insufficient (this Court applying the "snapshot" rule and "inherent powers"). . . .

17. ¶ 11. in its entirety of Crews' MFSCH is to be stricken. Now for the GUSTO. Monroe acknowledge, "The purpose of Rule 11 is to fix responsibility for those matters that are subject to the certificate." Going on to state, "The intent of the attorney's signature is to create an affirmative duty of investigation and deter frivolous actions and meritless maneuvers," citing Business Guides, Inc. v. Chromatic Communications Enterprises, Inc., 498 U.S. 533, 550 (1991) (See ¶ 11 of MFSCH).

Given such information, the question goes to the fact that Defendant Crews/Monroe acknowledge the duty to investigate matter. However, Defendant/Crews knowingly, deliberately and willingly provided this Defendants' MFSCH in bad faith and for purposes of sham/frivolousness, harassment, delay/hindering of proceedings, obstructing the administration of justice, to increase the costs of litigation, etc.

A reasonable mind given the facts and evidence presented herein, may conclude that the verbal ramblings by Crews/Monroe rather than providing of the citation for Business Guides, was done with bad faith intent because Defendant Crews/Monroe was aware that the United States Supreme Court in this case, addressed the fact that "a party" – whether represented by counsel or unrepresented by counsel – could file pleadings in a lawsuit if they are party to the action. The United States Supreme Court making the following findings in Business Guides:

> (n. 2) Rule 11 sanctions can be imposed against any attorney or party signing document whether or not signatures on documents are required; certification requirement mandates that all signers consider behavior in terms of duty owed to court system. (n. 3) Fact that, under Rule 11, party represented by counsel is not required to sign most papers or pleadings does not relieve party who signs document from conducting inquiry into facts and law in order to be satisfied that document is well grounded; represented parties are not free to sign frivolous or vexatious document with impunity. (n. 4) Represented > party who signs his or her name to documents filed in court bears personal, nondelegable responsibility to certify truth and reasonableness of document and failure to meet that duty may subject signer to Rule 11 sanctions. (n. 5) Use of word "party" in Rule 11 refers to any signer of document, whether represented or unrepresented or required or not required to sign documents. (n. 6) Certification standard for party for purposes of determining whether party is subject to Rule 11 sanctions is one of reasonableness under the circumstances, just as for attorneys; rule states unambiguously that any signer which does not conduct reasonable inquiry will face sanctions. (n. 7) Public policy did not require that parties not be held to reasonable inquiry standard for purposes of assessing Rule 11 sanctions; client is often in better position than attorney to investigate facts supporting paper or pleading.[2]

A case in which Defendant Crews/Monroe were familiar with and/or should have known provided legal basis to support that Plaintiff may submit pleadings in this lawsuit – in that they cited Business Guides in MFSCH. This is a civil rights action.

*Plaintiff request this Court exercise its inherent power and discretion and have Defendant Crews' statement(s) and/or material(s) indicated here as well as above stricken and/or statements within Defendant Crews' MFSCH stricken, in that it is irrelevant, impertinent and immaterial to this instant lawsuit, was provided in bad

[2] Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 11 provides, in relevant part, that "[t]he signature of an attorney or party constitutes a certificate by the signer that the signer has read the pleading, motion, or other paper" and "to the best of the signer's knowledge, information, and belief formed after reasonable inquiry it is well grounded in fact," and that a court shall impose an appropriate sanction " upon the person who signed " a pleading, motion, or other paper in violation of the Rule. (Emphasis added.) Id. p. 3.

A represented party's signature would fall outside the Rule's scope only if the phrase "attorney or party" were given the unnatural reading "attorney or unrepresented party." Had the Advisory Committee responsible for the Rule *intended to limit the certification requirement's application to pro se parties, it would have expressly distinguished between represented and unrepresented parties, which it did elsewhere in the Rule, rather than lumping *534 the two types together. Including all parties is also an eminently sensible reading of the Rule, since the Rule's essence is that signing denotes merit. Pavelic & LeFlore v. Marvel Entertainment Group, 493 U.S. 120, 110 S.Ct. 456, 107 L.Ed.2d 438, which held that the Rule contemplates sanctions against an attorney signer rather than the law firm of which he or she is a member, is entirely consistent with the result here that a represented party who signs his or her name bears a personal, nondelegable responsibility to certify the document's truth and reasonableness. Id. p. 4.

The only way that Business Guides can avoid having to satisfy the certification standard is if we read "attorney or party" as used in sentence [5] to mean "attorney or unrepresented party." Only then would the signature of a represented party fall outside the scope of the Rule. We decline to adopt this unnatural reading, as there is no indication that this is what the Advisory Committee930 intended. Just the opposite is true. Prior to its amendment in 1983, sentence [5] referred solely to "[t]he signature of an attorney" on a "pleading." The 1983 amendments deliberately expanded the coverage of the Rule. Wright & Miller § 1331, at 21. Sentence [5] was amended to refer broadly to "[t]he signature of an attorney or party" on a "pleading, motion, or other paper" (emphasis added). Represented parties, despite having counsel, *545 routinely sign certain papers-declarations, affidavits, and the like-during the course of litigation. Business Guides, for example, submitted to the District Court no fewer than five signed papers in support of its TRO application. The amended language of sentence [5] leaves little room for doubt that the signatures of the "party" on these "other papers" must satisfy the certification requirement. Id. p. 9.

Had the Advisory Committee intended to *limit the application of the certification standard to parties proceeding pro se, it would surely have said so. . . .Sentence [1] refers to specifically a "a party represented by an attorney," while sentence [2] applies to "[a] party who is not represented by an attorney" (emphasis added0. Sentence [5], however, draws no such distinction; it lumps together the two types of parties. By using the more expansive term "party", the Committee *called for more expansive coverage. The natural reading of this language is that any party who signs a document, whether or not the party was required to do so, is subject to the certification standard of Rule 11. Id. p. 10.

faith, is legally and evidentiary insufficient (this Court applying the "snapshot" rule and "inherent powers")....

18. ¶ 12. and Exhibit A in its entirety of Crews' MFSCH is to be stricken. Defendant Crews/Monroe digging and digging a deeper grave for themselves, in which the Plaintiff is more than happy to top with dirt. Stating, "As Vogel Newsome has signed these pleadings she is now fully responsible for their content as well as Abioto absent some action by Ms. Abioto. Id. at 551." (WOW!!! At this point and with such a statement, Plaintiff gathers she is supposed to shaking in her boots). Again Defendant Crews/Monroe being certain to make only "verbal" assertion because of knowledge such argument is sham/frivolous and has no bearing nor support any Rule 11 defenses asserted against the Plaintiff or Abioto.

Monroe digging even a deeper grave when acknowledging, that "By letter of February 19, 2008, counsel for Crews demanded that Ms. Abioto explain the filings and take some action to distance herself." See EXHIBIT "8" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein. Monroe's obsession with the Plaintiff need for power and efforts to destroy her life by following her from job-to-job, attorney-to-attorney, etc. is clearly unlawful/illegal and unethical. It is obvious that Monroe does not contact the Plaintiff and subject her to such unlawful/illegal attacks as he has done with Plaintiff's counsel in this action, because he knows that Plaintiff will not tolerate such foolishness and will not give into such threats or intimidation. Neither would she allow such unethical practices to go unaddressed. Monroe is merely a "toothless lion, a lot of roaring, but no bite." Plaintiff will neither feed into his insecurities to his masculinities that he mask through his legal profession. Acts in which he does not care who he takes as hostage to further and/or fuel his obsession with the Plaintiff.

Yes, he is outraged because being the Big FAILURE he is, he has repeatedly failed in his recent attacks on the Plaintiff regarding employment, attorney, etc. He clearly is one that does not accept defeat well. Especially from one such as Plaintiff Newsome who has been labeled a "serial litigator," is pro se, non-lawyer and an African-American. How dare she, who do she think she is, are probably questions he poses to himself. Yes, it is obvious that his obsession is racially motivated as well.

While Defendant Crews' counsel (Monroe) asserts that Abioto, "did not approve of the filings," Plaintiff was not aware of this and simply was determined to see that her rights were protected. Given the fact that Plaintiff's attorney advised her client of being ill and unreturned messages, Plaintiff knew that she would have to file pleadings to preserve her right. Given the information that is surfacing from the willful donations of Monroe, Plaintiff believes a reasonable mind may conclude that there has been a great deal of corresponding between Monroe and other Defendants' counsel in this lawsuit and 00099 with Abioto, although Abioto does not represent Newsome in 00099. Monroe going on to state, "so far, she has not done nothing" (referring to Abioto). No while they were skinning and grinning like wide-eyed Cheshire cats with each other behind the scenes, Plaintiff was tugging away staying abreast of the deadlines and filing the applicable pleadings to protect her rights. They knew that Plaintiff would not go for such foolishness and could see beyond and through their hoods. Outrage, yes. Monroe being so because perhaps of such fallen/collapsed plans and "alleged" agreements he thought he had reached and had succeeded in achieving through such "alleged" agreement with Abioto. Outrage, yes. Because Monroe has not obtained the withdrawal and the dismissal of this lawsuit in regards to such "alleged" agreement (of withdrawal) between Plaintiff's counsel and him in which the Plaintiff was not aware that he and her counsel were working on behind her back. It is a good thing that Plaintiff remained focused and continued to tug away and file the applicable pleadings in this instant lawsuit. So if Crews/Monroe or others were relying upon such "alleged" agreement with Abioto – touché. Abioto was hired and retained by Plaintiff. Her duty and interests are to be that of her client in this instant lawsuit. Moreover, if they are aware of any such "alleged" agreement, they should present any such evidence to this Court.

Plaintiff request this Court exercise its inherent power and discretion and have Defendant Crews' statement(s) and/or material(s) indicated here as well as above stricken and/or statements within Defendant Crews' MFSCH stricken, in that it is irrelevant, impertinent and immaterial to this instant lawsuit, was provided in bad faith, is legally and evidentiary insufficient (this Court applying the "snapshot" rule and "inherent powers"). . .e.

19. ¶ 13. and its supporting "Exhibit "B" in its entirety of Crews' MFSCH is to be stricken. Monroe admits again, two days later (on February 21, 2008), contacting Plaintiff's counsel "concerning her proposed intent to withdraw and made clear he would not agree to a voluntary withdrawal by her as counsel for Ms. Newsome because she knew when she undertook the representation Ms. Newsome's nature and the likely course she would take in the litigation." From the Plaintiff's understanding, it was Monroe who communicated that he wanted a dismissal this action; however, before agreeing to any such withdrawal, he demanded that Abioto dismiss this action. See EXHIBIT "9" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein. The question here then would be, if they believed they had a strong defense of res judicata, and that Plaintiff's Rule 41 "Voluntary" Dismissal in the Hinds County Court action was not a good defense move to protect her interest, then why would he be requesting that Abioto agree to dismiss this action. Moreover, the badgering, harassment, etc. of Plaintiff's attorney is clearly unethical and in violation of the Code governing attorney conduct.

20. ¶ 14. in its entirety of Crews' MFSCH is to be stricken. Defendant Crews/Monroe makes a bad faith and sham/frivolous demand that they know is not required under 28 USCA Rule 11 of the FRCP and request, "Ms. Abioto should either place her signature on these pleadings and take responsibility for the scandalous accusations and reckless assertions made against U.S. Magistrate Judge Anderson, U.S. District Judge Lee, the judicial process generally and the parties and counsel or she should cause them to be retracted without further delay." 28 U.S.C. § 455 actions were enacted for a reason. The lawmakers knew what they were doing. So any such theatrics performed by Monroe should be saved for the circus, where he can perform with other clowns, because the Plaintiff is not amused nor entertained by such scandalous and frivolous accusations leveled against her.

Plaintiff is the one that filed the pleadings at question in both this instant lawsuit and that and 00099 and is responsible for their contents. Contents provided in good faith based upon investigation, research, etc. to the pleadings she has filed and/or intend to file as NOTICED. Neither will the Plaintiff be deterred from filing the Disqualification/Recusal pleadings simply because of Defendant Crews' MFSCH pleading. Crews' pleading is legally insufficient, provides no facts or evidence to sustain it or to rebut that presented by the Plaintiff. Plaintiff believes that the pleadings she filed in this instant lawsuit were all submitted in good faith, they were certified in accordance with Rule 11 – unlike Defendant Crews and other Defendants pleadings in this lawsuit. Something is definitely wrong with the picture.

Plaintiff request this Court exercise its inherent power and discretion and have Defendant Crews' statement(s) and/or material(s) indicated here as well as above stricken and/or statements within Defendant Crews' MFSCH stricken, in that it is irrelevant, impertinent and immaterial to this instant lawsuit, was provided in bad faith*, is* legally and evidentiary insufficient (this Court applying the "snapshot" rule and "inherent powers"). . . .

21. ¶ 15. in its entirety of Crews' MFSCH is to be stricken. Plaintiff does not believe a hearing is necessary on Defendant Crews' MFSCH. Said Defendant's MFSCH has been provided in bad faith, with sham/frivolous intent. In regards to subparagraph(s): "a)" – Abioto is not required, as a matter of law to certify to this Court that she has read and approved the pleadings filed by Plaintiff Newsome. Nor is Abioto, in that Plaintiff is "a party" to the action and pursuant to 28 USCA Rule 11 of the FRCP, and, therefore, authorized under said Rule to draft, sign and file pleadings in said action. There is no valid and/or binding order in this Court that precluded the Plaintiff from filing the Complaint in this lawsuit. "b)" – Plaintiff is not required to appear and provide any clear evidence to this Court at the request and whelm of Defendant Crews' counsel's (Monroe's) request – to satisfy his fetish and need to see and/or look upon the Plaintiff. Such fetish/obsession which is unhealthy, illegal and unlawful. Monroe is merely a predator who thrives on stalking the Plaintiff from job-to-job and attorney-to-attorney and is now underhandedly attempting to mask such obsessions with the Plaintiff by requesting "unnecessary and unwarranted hearings before this Court." For this Court to feed into Monroe's obsessions and hold a hearing on pleading he filed on behalf of Defendant Crews is absurd and would be a great injustice to both the Plaintiff and Abioto in that it would require them to have to incur additional and needless expenses already exhausted to defend against the defenses he uses to mask and/or fuel his obsession with the Plaintiff. No, if required, as NOTICED, Plaintiff will move forward within the time provided and file the required Disqualification/Recusal pleadings "c)" – Plaintiff is not required to waive her objections to have matter tried before Magistrate Judge. Said objections raised by the Plaintiff is permissible as a matter of law/statute and can substantiate the Plaintiff's defense. Congress and/or the lawmakers knew what they were when they enacted the Magistrate Act. Magistrate Judge Anderson is not an "Article III" Judge and there is no waiver filed in this Court by the Plaintiff agreeing to proceedings before her or any other Magistrate Judge. The screening Defendant Crews/Monroe is required is clearly unwarranted and there is no evidence or legal basis upon which such demands can rest. If they do not have good sense or judgment to look both ways before stepping out, then they are going to be slammed with pleadings and sanctions. Moreover, the required lawsuit for their illegal wrongdoings. Monroe is one supposedly schooled in the laws. He stepped out in filing the MFSCH pleading and therefore, subjected he and his clients to sanctions in this action. Any disqualification/recusal action the Plaintiff intends to file will be provided through the appropriate judicial process and such coercion by Defendant Crews/Monroe is not to be entertained. They can review any such pleadings, evidence and legal conclusions presented should such action be necessary. "d)" - It is important to note that citation provided by Defendant Crews/Monroe in Spears v. McCotter, 766 F.2d 179 (5th Cir. 1985) has no bearing on this instant lawsuit or the claims Plaintiff has filed. Moreover, is an action that addresses in forma pauperis matters. Plaintiff is not proceeding in this instant lawsuit IFP and is represented by counsel. Clearly showing such bad faith and sham/frivolous efforts by Defendant Crews/Monroe to get this Court to error and/or violate the laws. Plaintiff is a paying litigant. Plaintiff has demanded a JURY TRIAL in both actions and therefore, this Court cannot deprive her of this Constitutional guarantee. Neither will Plaintiff waive any such prohibited rights to a JURY TRIAL and have her issue(s) tried before this Court. Plaintiff believes and the evidence and legal conclusions provided in this instant lawsuit, supports that there is an appearance of personal bias and prejudice towards; moreover, appearance of impropriety. "e)" – It is not clear to the Plaintiff why such statement and/or assertion is made by Defendant Crews regarding the formatting of the Plaintiff's pleadings. Plaintiff's paragraphs meet the pleading requirements and any subparagraphs (itemizing/listing – being numbered/ lettered) are indented and singled space – this being Plaintiff's preference and one used many times and not objected by the courts. Remember Defendant Crews/Monroe have labeled Plaintiff a "serial litigator" one would think that she is submitting her pleadings in compliance with the laws. Moreover, the Local Rules of this Court allows pleadings to be 35-pages. See EXHBIT "16" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

> (E) Length of Memoranda. Movant's original and rebuttal memoranda together shall not exceed a total of thirty-five pages, and respondent's memorandum shall not exceed thirty-five pages.

Surely, Defendant Crews/Monroe was aware of this. If Defendant Crews/Monroe are aware of any such violations, then such should be made known. However, simply attacking format of Plaintiff's pleadings is clear evidence of bad faith, pettiness, sham and frivolous. Second "e)" (sic) – Defendant Crews/Monroe have both failed to provide facts, evidence or legal conclusion to support why Plaintiff in this instant lawsuit would have to appear before this Court. This Defendant and her counsel have failed to present any Rule 11 violations or that any of the pleadings filed by the Plaintiff violated any statutes/laws and/or were prohibited from being filed. Therefore, any facts, evidence or legal conclusions to sanction Plaintiff or Abioto is lacking to sustain Defendant Crews' MFSCH. Neither does this Court at the whelm of Defendant Crews/ Monroe need to sanction and/or consider whether "Ms. Abioto's conduct (or lack of action to correct her client's conduct) to date warrants referral to the Mississippi Bar for further investigation." However, the facts, evidence and legal conclusions provide in this instant pleading and Plaintiff's previous pleadings as it relates to the filings by Defendant Crews (such as her MFSCH) and Monroe's submitting such on her behalf, clearly warrants that it is their acts, behavior and unethical practices that clearly warrants sanctions and he referred to the Mississippi Bar. Moreover, suspension and/or disbarment from the legal provision to protect other citizens from such judicial abuses by him – (i.e. such acts as following citizens from job-to-job, attorney-to-attorney, etc. and committing civil and criminal wrongs through said actions. Acts which are willful, malicious and wanton).

Plaintiff request this Court exercise its inherent power and discretion and have Defendant Crews' statement(s) and/or material(s) indicated here as well as above stricken and/or statements within Defendant Crews' MFSCH stricken, in that it is irrelevant, impertinent and immaterial to this instant lawsuit, was provided in bad faith, is legally and evidentiary insufficient (this Court applying the "snapshot" rule and "inherent powers"). . ..

22. Closing Paragraph, and the relief sought therein, in its entirety of Crews'

MFSCH is to be stricken. Said relief is not permissible. Neither has Defendant Crews/Monroe provided any facts, evidence to legal conclusions to support such.

Plaintiff request this Court exercise its inherent power and discretion and have Defendant Crews' statement(s) and/or material(s) indicated here as well as above stricken and/or statements within Defendant Crews' MFSCH stricken, in that it is irrelevant, impertinent and immaterial to this instant lawsuit, was provided in bad faith, is legally and evidentiary insufficient (this Court applying the "snapshot" rule and "inherent powers"). . .

I. "SERIAL LITIGATOR" ISSUE/ASSERTION BY DEFENDANT CREWS:

Defendant Crews in the very first paragraph begins "Vogel Newsome is a serial litigator." Using the snapshot rule, this Court will find that such scandalous and frivolous labeling of the Plaintiff cannot be sustained. Moreover, Plaintiff believes a reasonable mind may conclude that said labeling of the Plaintiff has been made in bad faith in efforts of distorting the facts of this lawsuit. It was presented with scandalous intent for purposes of prejudicing this Court against the Plaintiff. One may conclude from such a statement that Plaintiff makes a living and/or spends 99% and/or a great deal of her time on a day-to-day basis filing separate lawsuits because she has nothing better to do. Furthermore, Plaintiff's claims of Defendant Crews' counsel's abuse on the Court and harassment of the Judges is evidenced in his letter dated February 25, 2008, which states:

> "My clients must have relief as these cases are entirely out of control. . . . While I normally would not bring a motion directly to the Court's attention, in this case I believe it is necessary as I wanted to request that the Court look into these matters, order an in person hearing and assist in getting these two cases that are costing my client thousands of dollars under control. While I respectfully acknowledge the Court's docket is likely burdensome it is equally burdensome to my client to continue this tit-for-tat that this serial litigator is requiring by her voluminous filings in a frivolous law suit.
> More disturbing is the innuendo and outright accusations by Ms. Newsome in both cases that each of you have committed all sorts of malfeasance in this matter. My client is now forced to deal with a pro se litigant in 3:07-cv-00099 while the same "pro se" party is represented by an attorney in 3:07-cv-00560 so that she is getting the "best of both worlds." . . . Ms. Newsome is sufficiently versed in the court system that she must be held accountable and can not be allowed to continue unchecked while she inflicts her brand of retribution for a matter that began with a leaky roof.
>
> Please review the attached and we would request a hearing as soon as reasonably possible with all counsel and Ms. Newsome personally present to answer to this court. . . "

See EXHIBIT "6" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

Plaintiff is indeed truly grateful, because with time, Clark Monroe continues to provide her with the evidence necessary to support the lawsuit she will be filing against him as one of the Defendants in a future lawsuit – legal action. As he has done here, Monroe has taken it upon himself to follow the Plaintiff from job-to-job, attorney-to-attorney, etc. notifying them of past lawsuits she has filed. While the Plaintiff has in good faith attempted to move on with her life, you of course have the Monroe's who insist on destroying it. Monroe using the same tactics used on Carl Brandon (regarding the Port Gibson, Mississippi shootings); wherein, it was said that Mr. Brandon was being harassed, being followed from job-to-job, etc. Finally, he could not take it anymore, and, as a direct and proximate result a needless and senseless tragedy occurred.

Monroe in requesting an in person hearing is merely attempting to get this Court to aid him with his fetish/obsession with the Plaintiff. He is disappointed because the Plaintiff has moved away. While a reasonable mind may conclude he has not tried to contact her employer, the thing is, her new employer makes it clearly known in their employment policies, that they will not "discriminate" because a person has filed lawsuits, engaged and/or participated. It is the law. Nevertheless, Monroe has taken it upon himself with the support of others to follow the Plaintiff from job-to-job and attorney-to-attorney, etc. and advising them of the past lawsuits filed by the Plaintiff. Such acts which are clearly in violation of the laws and in violation of the Code of Professional Conduct and/or governing Codes for attorney conduct/practices. Plaintiff believes that there is sufficient evidence and/or an investigation into the civil and criminal wrongs of Clark Monroe would warrant sanctions of "suspension," "disbarment," "contempt," etc. Whichever sanction(s) are appropriate to correct the wrongs and injustices he has knowingly, willingly, deliberately and maliciously committed through his legal profession against Plaintiff Newsome. In further support of her defense to Defendant Crews' attorney, Clark Monroe's, letter to this Court and the MFSCH filed in this action, the Plaitniff further states:

> The fling of charges is protected even if the charge contains collateral statements which are false and apparently malicious, and this includes charges filed against a previous employer.

> Fn 11 - EEOC Decision No. 71-460, 1973 EEOC Decisions ¶ 6175 (employer violated § 2000e-(3)(a) by discharging an employee after learning he had filed charges of discrimination against a former employer). . . .Barela v. United Nuclear Corp. (DC NM) 317 F.Supp 1217, affd (CA 10 NM) 462 F.2d 149 (injunctive relief granted against prospective employer's refusal to further process plaintiff's job application after learning that plaintiff had filed complaint against a former employer).

> EEOC Decision No. 71-460, 1973 EEOC Decisions ¶ 6175. . . Respondent's officials who participated in the decision to discharge Charging Party stated in an affidavit that he had contacted an employer against whom Charging Party had made a previous Commission Charge. He states that the employer recommended that "we take action now for our own protection." . . . .The file reflected he had filed a Civil Rights charge with EEOC. . . .There is no evidence in the record indicating that Respondent would have discharged Charging Party had it not been aware of Charging Party's earlier charge. Such an action > based, at least in part, upon Charging Party's participation in Commission proceedings violates Section 704(a) of Title VII. Id. p. 4297.

See EXHIBIT "11" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein.

23. As expressed above, Plaintiff Newsome believes that the Fifth Circuit Court of appeals would be highly displeased and/or disappointed to know that Defendant Crews her counsel (Monroe) other Defendants and their counsel and this instant lawsuit have taken its decisions to knowingly, deliberately, willfully and maliciously carry out "civil" and "criminal" wrongs against Plaintiff because they have found out about the four (4) lawsuits she has filed and/or participated in over the past 20 years. In fact, it is the Fifth Circuit who has advised the Plaintiff that she has other remedies available to her – for instance, stating, ". . . plaintiff is instructed to seek any further relief to which she feels entitled in the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, as may be appropriate in due course" (2002 WL 1303123), and "Newsome also is not entitled to the writ because she has another adequate remedy available, i.e. she could file suit in court against her employer. . ." (37 Fed.Appx. 87). Furthermore, Plaintiff believes from the evidence in the record of this Court, that not only the Fifth Circuit, but a reasonable mind may conclude that such action as Defendant Crews' MFSCH are desperate to get this Court to unlawfully and unconstitutionally prevent Plaintiff from bringing lawsuits because they are aware that based on the facts, evidence and legal conclusions they played a major part in the getting the Plaintiff terminated from her employment with Page Kruger & Holland. Page Kroger & Holland who attorney(s) are representing: (a) Hinds County, Mississippi; (b) Malcolm McMillan; (c) Jon Lewis; and (d) William Skinner.

While one knows that the evidence Plaintiff has acquired to support her unlawful/illegal and unethical practices of Defendant Crews her counsel and other Defendants and their counsel is hard to come by, she has benefited from same to not only support the pending lawsuits filed in this Court, but those in which she will be filing against her former employer(s) – being given authorization by the Fifth Circuit to do so. Defendant Crews and her counsel as well as other Defendants now with the aid to Plaintiff's former employer (Page Kruger & Holland) have taken it upon themselves to contact employer(s) of Plaintiff to notify them of lawsuits filed by her. In fact, in defendants' counsel in Hinds County Court action took it upon themselves to contact Plaintiff's employer (Page Kruger & Holland) to notify of the lawsuit she had filed in the Hinds County Court. As a direct and proximate result of such notification and acts, the Plaintiff's employment with Page Kruger & Holland was terminated. It is important to note that Plaintiff's termination may have also been contributed to the fact that Page Kruger & Holland knew that based upon the facts evidence presented in this instant lawsuit, that it was inevitable that Plaintiff would be suing Hinds County, Malcolm McMillin, William Skinner, Jon Lewis and others based upon the civil and criminal wrongs rendered her. The laws are clear that such violations are prohibited by law. Just as these Defendants in this lawsuit have made their knowledge known to this Court of past lawsuits filed by the Plaintiff, they have done so with her employer(s). The laws are clear on such matter that such acts are clearly prohibited by law:

> Employer violated ~2000e-3(a) by discharging an employee after learning he had filed charges of discrimination against former employer. EEOC Decision No. 71-460, 1973, EEOC Decisions ¶ 6715.

Nevertheless, on about May 15, 2006, Plaintiff was terminated from her place of employment with Page Kruger & Holland as a direct and proximate result of being notified of the lawsuit she had filed in the Hinds County Court as well as its knowledge of lawsuits filed against former employers. See EXHIBIT "12" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein. A nexus and/or causal link can be established between Plaintiff's participation in the protected activity and her termination. Plaintiff was terminated on about May 15, 2006 and the hearing on was set in the Hinds County Court on May 18, 2006. See EXHIBIT "13" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein. Acts were willful, malicious and wanton and deliberately done to cause the Plaintiff injury/harm. Moreover, in an effort to add salt to the unlawful/illegal acts of the Plaintiff, defendants' counsel in the Hinds County Court action badgered, pressed, harassed, etc. Plaintiff's first attorney in that action into withdrawal – providing him with information regarding past lawsuits filed by her. Using the same tactics that are trying to use Plaintiff counsel in Civil Action No. 3:07-cv-00560 filed in this Court.

24. In fact, the United States Supreme Court provides an example of a pro se in forma pauperis litigant who filed numerous complaints; however, said Court did not close the door to his filing in the future:

> In re McDonald, 489 U.S. 180, 109 S.Ct. 993 (1989)[3] - Jessie McDonald may well have abused his right to file petitions in this Court without payment of the docketing fee; the Court's order documents that fact. I do not agree, however, that he poses such a threat to the orderly administration of justice that we should embark on the unprecedented and dangerous course the Court charts today. . . . I am most concerned, however, that if, as I fear, we continue on the course we chart today, we will end by closing our doors to a litigant with a meritorious claim. It is rare, but it does happen on occasion that we grant review and even decide in favor of a litigant who previously had presented *multiple unsuccessful *188 petitions on the same issue. See, e.g., Chessman v. Teets, 354 U.S. 156, 77 S.Ct. 1127, 1 L.Ed.2d 1253 (1957); see id., at 173-177, 77 S.Ct. at 1136-1138 (Douglas, J., dissenting).[4]
>
> "Petitioner is no stranger to us. Since 1971, he has made 73 separate filings with the Court, not including this petition, which is his eighth so far this Term. These include 4 appeals, 33 petitions for certiorari, 99 petitions for extraordinary writs, 7 applications for stay and other injunctive relief, and 10 petitions for rehearing." Id. pp. 994-995.
>
> "But paupers filing pro se petitions are not subject to the financial considerations - filing fees and attorney's fees - that deter other litigants from filing frivolous petitions." Id. p. 996.

The Supreme Court (even after all of McDonald's) did not close the door to McDonald. A litigant who is identified as filing 73 separate filings in a one-year period; however, ruled, "Petitioner remains free under the present order to file in forma pauperis requests for relief other than an extraordinary writ, if he qualifies under the Court's Rule 46 and does not similarly abuse that privilege." Id. p. 996.

In this instant lawsuit Plaintiff is labeled a "serial litigator" for filing approximately four (4) lawsuits over an approximate 20-year period and now she is now in litigation with the two lawsuits before this Court.

25. The Supreme Court finding in, Lakes v. State, 333 S.C. 382, 510 S.E.2d 228 (1998) that:

According to the State, Lakes has submitted one direct appeal, three PCR applications, two petitions for writ of certiorari, a federal petition for writ of habeas corpus, petitions for writs of mandamus, attorney grievances, and proposed orders for release. Although Lakes's requests for relief are numerous, the trial judge failed to make factual findings to show the requests rise to the level of repetitive and abusive filings as in Maxton or those cases cited in Maxton. [FN2] Therefore, 231 we reverse the order of the trial judge and remand the case for further proceedings consistent with this opinion. In so doing, we make no comment as to the merit of Lakes's claims. Lakes still bears the burden of proving why his application should not be dismissed as successive pursuant to *387 S.C.Code Ann. § 17-27-90 (1976). See Foxworth v. State, 275 S.C. 615, 274 S.E.2d 415 (1981).

FN2. The United States Supreme Court denies litigants who have repeatedly filed frivolous petitions the right to proceed in forma pauperis. However, the Court has done so pursuant to its Rule 39.8. See, e.g., In re Whitaker, 513 U.S. 1, 115 S.Ct. 2, 130 L.Ed.2d 1 (1994) (petitioner filed 23 claims for relief that had all been denied without dissent); In re Anderson, 511 U.S. 364, 114 S.Ct. 1606, 128 L.Ed.2d 332 (1994) (petitioner submitted 22 separate petitions and motions in a three year time span); In re Demos, 500 U.S. 16, 111 S.Ct. 1569, 114 L.Ed.2d 20 (1991) (petitioner made 32 in forma pauperis filings with the Supreme Court, most of which challenged sanctions imposed by the lower court); In re Sindram, 498 U.S. 177, 111 S.Ct. 596, 112 L.Ed.2d 599 (1991) (petitioner filed 42 separate petitions and motions in three year time span, all of which were denied without dissent); In re McDonald, 489 U.S. 180, 109 S.Ct. 993, 103 L.Ed.2d 158 (1989) (petitioner made 71 separate filings, all of which were denied without dissent). Rule 39.8 states:

> If satisfied that a petition for writ of certiorari, jurisdictional statement, or petition for an extraordinary writ, as the case may be, is frivolous or malicious, the Court may deny a motion for leave to proceed in forma pauperis.

(Information cut & pasted from WesLaw search)

26. The Supreme Court finding in In re Maxton, 325 S.C. 3, 478 S.E.2d 679 (S.C.,1996) that:

> Petitioner, an inmate, has submitted sixty-four pro se petitions over the past three years, including forty-six so far this year, asking this Court to hear matters in its original jurisdiction or issue various extraordinary writs. Each petition submitted by petitioner has been frivolous and dismissed pursuant to Key v. Currie, 305 S.C. 115, 406 S.E.2d 356 (1991), because no extraordinary reason existed to entertain the matter in the original jurisdiction of this Court.
> . . . The courts in other jurisdictions have responded in a variety of ways to abusive filings such as those by petitioner. The United States Supreme Court has denied litigants who have filed repetitive, frivolous petitions the right to proceed in forma pauperis, resulting in the litigants having to pay the required filing fee with that Court. In re Whitaker, 513 U.S. 1, 115 S.Ct. 2, 130 L.Ed.2d 1 (1994); In re Anderson, 511 U.S. 364, 114 S.Ct. 1606, 128 L.Ed.2d 332 (1994); In re Demos, 500 U.S. 16, 111 S.Ct. 1569, 114 L.Ed.2d 20 (1991); In re Sindram, 498 U.S. 177, 111 S.Ct. 596, 112 L.Ed.2d 599 (1991); In re McDonald, 489 U.S. 180, 109 S.Ct. 993, 103 L.Ed.2d 158 (1989). Other courts have required that the abusive litigant file an affidavit certifying that he believes the petition raises an original claim or is nonfrivolous before accepting filings from the litigant. In the Matter of Verdone, 73 F.3d 669 (7th Cir.1995); Abdul-Akbar v. Watson, 901 F.2d 329 (3d Cir.1990); Green v. Warden, 699 F.2d 364 (7th Cir.), cert. denied, 461 U.S. 960, 103 S.Ct. 2436, 77 L.Ed.2d 1321 (1983).

(Information cut & pasted from WesLaw search) Clearly supporting that the "serial litigator" labeling of the Plaintiff has run its course and can be put to rest.

Plaintiff request this Court exercise its inherent power and discretion and have Defendant Crews' statement(s) and/or material(s) indicated here as well as above stricken and/or statements within Defendant Crews' MFSCH stricken, in that it is irrelevant, impertinent and immaterial to this instant lawsuit, was provided in bad faith, is legally and evidentiary insufficient (this Court applying the "snapshot" rule and "inherent powers").. . .

II. DISQUALIFICATION/RECUSAL ISSUE:

The Plaintiff believes that the notices filed in this Court in Civil Action Nos. 3:07-cv-00099 and 3:07-cv-00560 requesting Disqualification/Recusal were submitted in good faith, for the preservation of issue(s) and in the interest of justice. Congress and/or the lawmakers made provisions for bringing such actions. In further support the Plaintiff states:

27. Plaintiff believes there is sufficient facts, evidence and legal conclusions (past decisions of this Court and other courts) provided the lawsuits filed (3:07-cv-00099) and this instant action to support this Court discriminative application of the laws when dealing with the cases filed by her – said ruling clearly contrary and/or going against past decisions of this Court or other courts on the same issue(s). Moreover, that personal bias and prejudice towards the Plaintiff is obvious and the appearance of impropriety blatant.

Phillips v. Joint Legislative Committee on Performance and Expenditure Review of State of Miss., 637 F.2d 1014 (5th Cir. Miss. 1981) - (n. 4) The alleged bias of a judge must be personal as distinguished from judicial in nature in order to require recusal. 28 U.S.C.A. §§ 144, 455. (n. 2) - Affidavit of recusal is legally sufficient if the facts are material and stated with particularity, the facts are such that they would convince a reasonable person that bias exists if they are true, and the facts show that the bias is personal as opposed to judicial in nature. 28 U.S.C.A. §§ 144, 455. (n. 3) Under statute requiring a judge to disqualify himself in any proceeding in which his impartiality might be reasonably questioned, judge need not accept all the allegations by moving party as true and, in fact, no motion at all is required; the judge must disqualify himself if the facts cast doubt on his impartiality regardless of how or by whom they are drawn to his attention. 28 U.S.C.A. § 455.

Laxalt v. McClatchy, 602 F.Supp. 214 (1985) - (n. 1) Appearance of partiality is sufficient to require disqualification of magistrate. (n. 2) Ruling by magistrate on nondispositive pretrial matter should be set aside by district court on review only if found to be clearly erroneous in fact or contrary to law. 28 U.S.C.A. § 636(b)(1)(A); (n. 3) On motion to disqualify magistrate, standard is whether reasonable person with knowledge of all facts would conclude that magistrate's impartiality might reasonably be questioned. (n. 6) Reviewing court will find abuse of discretion only when there is definite and firm conviction that court below committed clear error of judgment in conclusion it reached upon weighing of relevant factors. (n. 7) Appearance of impartiality is material issue on motion for disqualification of magistrate, not ability to prove or disprove absence of actual prejudice; test is objective and inquires whether reasonable person with knowledge of all facts would conclude that judge's impartiality might reasonably be questioned. (n. 8) Disqualification of magistrate must rest upon factual basis; subjective belief of moving litigants is not determinative. (n. 12) Judge should resolve any close issue in favor of disqualification if reasonable person might question his impartiality.

28. Just as Magistrate Sumner knew that there was a conflict, he deliberately failed to recuse himself. He compromised the integrity of this Court and rather than uphold the laws, he elected to take a far departure and enter ruling(s) as special favor to the Defendants in Civil Action No. 3:07-cv-00099. Then without notice, he simply recused himself without stating the reasons for said recusal for the record. Moreover, Judge Lee affirmed Sumner's Order in said action, which he clearly knew and/or should have known was clearly in violation of Plaintiff's Constitutional rights and/or the statutes/laws governing recusals. Plaintiff believes the integrity of this Court has been heavily breached and has, therefore, noticed the filing of the applicable pleadings in an effort to obtain justice and to clean up the docket in this action by getting rid of the clutter the Defendants bring through their bad faith and/or sham/frivolous pleadings. Hall v. Small Business Admin., 695 F.2d 175 (C.A.5.Miss.,1983) - Every justice, judge and magistrate is required to disqualify himself in any proceeding in which his impartiality might reasonably be questioned.

29. Plaintiff believes that the rulings submitted so far in this lawsuit by Magistrate Anderson will support that she clearly violated the laws/statutes governing said matters and that her acts were deliberately done to deprive the Plaintiff equal protection of the laws and due process of laws. Acts upon which a reasonable mind may conclude her rulings will be influenced by deep-seated favoritism or antagonism based on the unlawful/illegal and unethical practices Defendant Crews and her counsel have been allowed render under her watch. Liteky v. U.S., 114 S.Ct. 1147 (1994) - Opinions formed by judge on basis of facts introduced or events occurring in course of current proceeding, or prior proceedings, do not constitute basis for bias or partiality disqualification motion unless they display deep-seated favoritism or antagonism that would make fair judgment impossible. 28 U.S.C.A. § 455(a).

30. Plaintiff is simply requesting that the Judge Lee and Magistrate examine the record and their actions, based on the record, and recuse/disqualify themselves if warranted without the Plaintiff having to incur additional costs and expenses and file the required Disqualification/Recusal pleading. Plaintiff has a right to have a Judge preside over this instant lawsuit that can be impartial, fair and just. Keeping the blindfold in place and deciding the claims and issues raised based on the laws, and not a Judge influenced by special friendships and the need to render special favors to the Defendants and their counsel because of relationship(s) established. Rutland v. Pridgen, 493 So.2d 952 (Miss.,1986) - Judge is required to disqualify himself if reasonable person, knowing all the circumstances, would harbor doubts about his impartiality. Jones v. State, 841 So.2d 115 (Miss.,2003) - A judge is required to disqualify himself if a reasonable person, knowing all the circumstances, would harbor doubts about his impartiality.

31. Plaintiff believes that the record evidence in this action will support that she in good faith has been patient, enduring and in no way has disrespected this Court. However, she will not allow Defendant Crews' counsel to come before this Court and continue to slander and scandalize her name and reputation without rebuttal. Such practices by Clark Monroe are clearly unlawful/illegal and unethical. The question being raised, is why does it appear that he felt so comfortable in bringing his bogus/scandalous/ slanderous, etc. letter of February 25, 2008 before this Court. As Plaintiff could see right through him and the shallow and frivolous pleadings, it is not clear why this Court has repeatedly allowed this counsel and other Defendants and their counsel to practice before this Court in such a manner. It is obvious they have been allowed to proceed because of the mentioning of previous lawsuits filed by the Plaintiff in clearly unrelated matters having no bearing on the lawsuits filed in this Court. Moreover, have used such knowledge of past lawsuits to commit civil and criminal wrongs against the Plaintiff. Travelers Ins. Co. v. Liljeberg Enterprises, Inc., 38 F.3d 1404 (5th Cir. 1994) - One seeking disqualification must do so at the earliest moment after knowledge of the facts demonstrating the basis for disqualification. 28 U.S.C.A. § 455(a).

32. Plaintiff believes her timely filing notifying of her intent to bring Disqualification/Recusal action is sufficient. Moreover, warranted to present this issue for appeal purposes. Hollywood Fantasy Corporation v. Gabor, 151 F.3d 203 (5th Cir. 1998) - Although a disqualification challenge raised for the first time on appeal is not per se untimely, the timeliness requirement of recusal statute obligates a party to raise disqualification issue at a reasonable time in the litigation. 28 U.S.C.A. § 455.

Plaintiff request this Court exercise its inherent power and discretion and have Defendant Crews' statement(s) and/or material(s) indicated here as well as above stricken and/or statements within Defendant Crews' MFSCH stricken, in that it is irrelevant, impertinent and immaterial to this instant lawsuit, was provided in bad faith, is legally and evidentiary insufficient (this Court applying the "snapshot" rule and "inherent powers"). . .

II. CONSPIRACY ISSUE:

The record evidence, facts and legal conclusions on this issue speaks for itself. Moreover the most recent and damaging information willfully surrendered by Defendant's counsel, Clark Monroe, in an effort of inducing this Court to engage in said conspiracy. In support thereof, the Plaintiff states:

33. Plaintiff believes that a reasonable mind may conclude that the Complaint filed in this lawsuit, her subsequent pleadings as well as Defendant Crews' counsel's, Monroe, recent correspondence will sustain that she has met the prima facie prerequisites to sustain her conspiracy allegation raised in this instant lawsuit as well as when she file the applicable actions of and against this Defendant her counsel, his law firm and other conspirators/co-conspirators who played an active role in the conspiracy resulting in her termination of employment with Page Kruger & Holland – Page Kruger & Holland to be a Defendant in that lawsuit as well. Plaintiff is very thankful through this lawsuit and Civil Action No. 3:07-cv-00099, Defendants provided her with additional information and evidence to support the lawsuit to be filed against them at a later date. Wells v. Shelter General Ins. Co., 217 F.Supp.2d 744 (S.D.Miss.Jackson.Div.,2002) (BARBOUR) - Under Mississippi law, in order to succeed on a claim of civil conspiracy, a plaintiff must show (1) the existence of a conspiracy, (2) an overt act in furtherance of that conspiracy, and (3) damages arising therefrom.

34. Plaintiff believes not only the evidence presented in this instant lawsuit supports and/or sustain the conspiracy launched against the Plaintiff, but Monroe will take it as far as trying to get this Court to engage in same. See his letter of February 25, 2008 to the Judges/Magistrate. Now that the Plaintiff has brought this instant lawsuit, he is attempting to get it dismissed. Such a dismissal which, as a matter of law, is not warranted. Cooper Tire & Rubber Co. v. Farese, 423 F.3d 446 (5th Cir. Miss. 2005) - Under Mississippi law, "civil conspiracy" requires showing: (1) two or more persons or corporations; ?(2) an object to be accomplished; ?(3) a meeting of the minds on the object or course of action; ?(4) one or more unlawful overt acts; ?and (5) damages as the proximate result.

35. As with the letter Defendant Crews presented to this Court on her and/or his clients' behalf, a reasonable mind may conclude that he is now attempting to engage this Court to aid him in furtherance of said conspiracy that has been hatched against the Plaintiff. The record evidence in this lawsuit clearly supports (as his February 25, 2008 letter to this Court) that he has followed the Plaintiff from job-to-job, attorney-to-attorney, etc. notifying them of lawsuits in the past for purposes of causing her further injury/harm. Now he is before this Court committing the same civil and criminal wrongs he is fully aware of is prohibited by laws/statutes – the U.S. CONSTITUTION. Defendant Crews/Monroe were hoping to push the Plaintiff to the same point as Carl Brandon (Port Gibson, Mississippi shooting – wherein some alleged Brandon was being harassed in the same manner as Monroe and his clients are doing the Plaintiff; following her from job-to-job, attorney-to-attorney, etc. for purposes of getting her fired/terminated and going to great extremes to destroy her life). Smith v. St. Regis Corp., 850 F.Supp. 1296 (S.D.Miss.Jackson.Div.,1994) (WINGATE) - A "conspiracy" is combination of persons for purpose of accomplishing unlawful purpose or lawful purpose unlawfully. Frye v. American General Finance, Inc., 307 F.Supp.2d 836 (S.D.Miss.W.Div.,2004) (BRAMLETTE) - In Mississippi, a conspiracy is a combination of persons for the purpose of accomplishing an unlawful purpose or a lawful purpose unlawfully.

36. This Court has defined, in past decisions, what constitutes a conspiracy. Based upon the facts, evidence and legal conclusions presented in the Complaint filed in this instant lawsuit and Plaintiff's subsequent pleadings, a reasonable mind may conclude that Defendant Crews and her counsel engaged in acts which constitute a conspiracy. Moreover, their willful, deliberate and malicious act and/or role played in the termination of Plaintiff's employment with Page Kruger & Holland. Norris v. Krystaltech Intern, Inc., 133 F.Supp.2d 465 (S.D.Miss.Jackson.Div.,2000) (LEE) - Mississippi recognizes a cause of action for conspiracy, described as combination of persons for purpose of accomplishing an unlawful purpose or a lawful purpose unlawfully.

37. Plaintiff believes, as a matter of law, that a conspiracy existed, and under said belief filed a lawsuit in this Court addressing conspiracy (See Civil Action No. 3:07-cv-00099. Dale v. Ala Acquisitions, Inc., 203 F.Supp.2d 694 (S.D.Miss.Jackson.Div.,2002) (LEE) - Under Mississippi law, right of action exists for civil conspiracy.

Plaintiff request this Court exercise its inherent power and discretion and have Defendant Crews' statement(s) and/or material(s) indicated here as well as above stricken and/or statements within Defendant Crews' MFSCH stricken, in that it is irrelevant, impertinent and immaterial to this instant lawsuit, was provided in bad faith, is legally and evidentiary insufficient (this Court applying the "snapshot" rule and "inherent powers"). . . .

III: FEDERAL RULE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE – RULE 11 SANCTIONS:

In applying the "snapshot" rule the MFSCH was submitted in bad faith, is frivolous and provided merely for purposes of harassment, abusive attacks on the Plaintiff and her counsel, abuse of the judicial process and this Court's electronic filing system, delay and hindering of proceedings, needlessly increasing the cost of litigation, to obstruct the administration of justice, deprive the Plaintiff equal protection of the laws and due process of laws. Prior to filing the MFSCH, Defendant Crews/Monroe knew and/or should have known that it was factually and legally insufficient. Said acts which also warrants this Court's issuing sanctions of and against Defendant Crews/Monroe through its inherent and discretionary powers. In support thereof Plaintiff states:

38. Defendant Crews allowed and/or authorized Monroe to file the MFSCH on her behalf which is clearly unsupported and is cluttered with sweeping accusations for purposes of attacking the Plaintiff; as well as Plaintiff's attorney. Monroe knowingly, deliberately and with malicious intent chose to impugn the professional integrity of Plaintiff's counsel, Abioto, on basis of unverified, unsubstantiated, and inherently unreliable information. If this Defendant and her counsel had any such information to support their abusive and hostile attacks on the Plaintiff and her counsel,Abioto, they should have produced such evidence. Clearly his OUTRAGE as he stated is evidenced in said pleading due to his failure to obtain a dismissal of this lawsuit and his inability to control the Plaintiff. Through said MFSCH, it appears that this Defendant and her counsel want this Court to believe that the Plaintiff has no role or input in the way this case is to proceed and/or right to aid in the representation of this lawsuit. Moreover, finding out, that it is Abioto who works for the Plaintiff and is required to represent Plaintiff and the Plaintiff's interest in this action. The MFSCH is neither certified in accordance with Rule 11 of the FRCP. The statutes/laws are clear that sanctions are warranted of and against Monroe as well as his client, Defendant Crews. Bockman v. Lucky Stores, Inc., 108 F.R.D. 296 (1985) - Defendants' counsel would be required to pay, pursuant to Federal Civil Rule 11 governing signing of pleadings, reasonable costs and attorney fees incurred by plaintiffs in defending a motion to decertify the plaintiffs' class or disqualify class counsel because of counsel's alleged ethical violations; before filing a motion filled with such sweeping accusations, defense counsel should have, at a minimum, first filed a request for an extension of the deadline based on newly discovered evidence rather than choosing to impugn the professional integrity of plaintiffs' counsel on basis of unverified, unsubstantiated, and inherently unreliable information. Fed.Rules Civ.Proc.Rule 11, 28 U.S.C.A.

39. A reasonable mind may conclude that Defendant Crews has authorized and approved the methods, acts and course taken by Monroe in his representation of her. Therefore, supporting and condoning the filing of the MFSCH. A pleading clearly support the abusive attacks on the Plaintiff and her counsel, Monroe's abuse of the judicial process and this Court's electronic filing system to carry out such unlawful/illegal and unethical attacks on the Plaintiff and her counsel. All with the approval of Defendant Crews. Defendant Crews being entitled to review the MFSCH prior to its filing by Monroe. Said filing which was submitted in bad faith for abusive purposes and means and to needlessly increase the cost of litigation. Monroe acknowledges his client's paying for such conduct in his letter to this Court, the McQueen Contracting, Inc. v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 863 F.2d 1216 (5th Miss. 1989) -Court of Appeals would not address argument not considered by district court based on defendant's failure to raise it prior to motion for reconsideration of district court's summary judgment ruling.

Marohnic v. Walker, 800 F.2d 613 (1986) - Plaintiff adequately preserved claim based on First Amendment by pleading the First Amendment in his complaint and interposing his claim in response to motion to dismiss even though his response to motion for summary judgment did not explicitly refer to that claim.

Therefore, Plaintiff request this Court exercise its inherent power and discretion and have Defendant Crews' statement(s) and/or material(s) as indicated above and/or statements within Defendant Crews' MFSCH stricken, in that they are irrelevant, impertinent and immaterial to this instant lawsuit, was provided in bad faith*, is* legally and evidentiary insufficient (this Court applying the "snapshot" rule and "inherent powers"), is sham/frivolous and provided for unlawful and unethical purposes, and does not present any facts, evidence or legal conclusion(s) to support defenses asserted. The information in MFSCH was provided for frivolous filings and misuse of the judicial process and is neither certified as required under Rule 11. Defendant Crews/Monroe failed to make reasonable inquiry into to the laws and facts underlying the MFSCH filed. Thus, moving this Court to issue the applicable sanctions pursuant to Rule 11 of the FRCP and/or governing laws of and against Defendant Crews and her counsel, Clark Monroe.

WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED, for the above and foregoing reasons, Plaintiff moves this Court for the following relief:

a. Strike the statements and materials in Defendant Melody Crews' Motion for Show Cause Hearing and for General Relief, including: Opening Paragraph; Paragraphs numbered 1., 2., 3., 4., 5. and supporting material provided at/in Exhibit A, 6., 7., 8., 9., 10., 11., 12 – and supporting materials provided at/in Exhibit A., 13 – and supporting materials provided in Exhibit B, 14., 15. and its subparagraphs lettered a., b., c., d., e., and e. (sic); and closing paragraph beginning,, "WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED, Melody Crews" and the relief sought in said closing paragraph. Furthermore, Defendant Crews' MFSCH was provided in bad faith for purposes of sham/frivolousness, harassment, delay, hindering proceedings, malicious intent, obstructing the administration of justice to prejudice this Court against her, increasing the costs of litigation, to deprive Plaintiff equal protection of the laws and due process of laws, and does not present any facts, evidence or legal conclusion(s) to sustain the arguments made and the relief sought through her pleading.

b. Plaintiff moves this Court to apply the "snapshot rule," its inherent powers and other power granted it under the statutes/laws governing said matters and issue the appropriate Rule 11 sanctions of and against Defendant Crews and her attorney, Clark Monroe. If permissible, Plaintiff moves this Court to sanction each of these Defendants in the amount of $150,000.00 or an amount in which this Court deems just, proper and fair considering the violations complained of herein. Said sanctions applicable given the facts, evidence and legal conclusions to support their outrageous conduct and conspiracy they have continued to carry out.

c. Plaintiff moves this Court to issue the applicable sanctions of and against Clark Monroe, up to including reporting him to the Mississippi Bar and recommending sanctions to include, "disbarment," "suspension," "contempt," and/or the maximum punishment allowed to deter such blatant judicial abuses and violation of the Code and/or laws governing attorney conduct.

d. If permissible, Plaintiff moves this Court for attorney for attorney fees for the cost, expense incurred in having to defend against Motion to Strike.

e. Any and all other relief permissible under the laws to deter the wrongs complained of herein.

f. Jury Trial Demanded on all Triable Issues.

Respectfully submitted this 6th day of March, 2008.

Commission on Civil Rights Appointment

Bradley S. Clanton

May 10, 2007

(Jackson, MS/May 10, 2007) Bradley S. Clanton, of the law firm of Baker, Donelson, Bearman, Caldwell & Berkowitz, PC, has been appointed by the United States Commission on Civil Rights (USCCR) to serve as Chairman of its Mississippi Advisory Committee.

The Committee assists the USCCR with its fact-finding, investigative and information dissemination activities. The functions of the USCCR include investigating complaints alleging that citizens are being deprived of their right to vote by reason of their race, color, religion, sex, age, disability or national origin, or by reason of fraudulent practices; studying and collecting information relating to discrimination or a denial of equal protection of the laws under the Constitution; appraising federal laws and policies with respect to discrimination or denial of equal protection of the laws because of race, color, religion, sex, age, disability or national origin, or in the administration of justice; serving as a national clearinghouse for information in respect to discrimination or denial of equal protection of the laws; submitting reports, findings and recommendations to the President and Congress; and issuing public service announcements to discourage discrimination or denial of equal protection of the laws.

Mr. Clanton, a shareholder in Baker Donelson's Jackson and Washington, D.C. offices, concentrates his practice in government litigation, securities and other fraud investigations, and litigation, election law and appeals. His appellate practice has included matters before the U.S. Supreme Court, U.S. Courts of Appeals, the Mississippi Supreme Court and Court of Appeals, and various other state appellate courts. His internal investigations and government litigation practice has included matters related to Securities and Exchange Commission investigations, health care fraud investigations, federal campaign finance investigations, and state and federal securities fraud class action litigation and arbitration proceedings. Previously, Mr. Clanton served as Chief Counsel to the U.S. House Judiciary Committee's Subcommittee on the Constitution, where his responsibilities included advising the Chairman and Republican Members of the Judiciary Committee on legislation and Congressional oversight implicating civil and constitutional rights, Congressional authority, separation of powers, proposed constitutional amendments and oversight of the Civil Rights Division of the Department of Justice and the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights.

VS. — CIVIL ACTION NO.: 3:07-cv-00099LS

MELODY CREWS, SPRING LAKE APARTMENTS, LLC, DIAL EQUITIES, INC., JON C. LEWIS, individually and in his capacity as Constable of Hinds County, WILLIAM L. SKINNER II, individually and in his capacity as Justice Court Judge, MALCOM McMILLAN, individually and in his capacity as Sheriff of Hinds County, JOHN DOES 1-26, individually and in their official capacities, JANE DOES 1-26, individually and in their Official capacity, COUNTY OF HINDS, MISSISSIPPI — DEFENDANTS

MELODY CREWS AND DIAL EQUITIES, INC.'S JOINDER IN MOTION FOR SECURITY OF COSTS AND SEPARATE MOTION FOR SECURITY OF ATTORNEY FEES

Dial Equities, Inc. and Melody Crews (collectively the "Dial Defendants") by and through counsel, join in the Motion for Security of Costs filed herein by Defendants Hinds County, Mississippi, and Malcolm McMillan (collectively "Hinds County"), and separately move this honorable Court for security of attorney fees herein. In support of said joinder and separate motion, the Dial Defendants would show unto the Court as follows:

1. Hinds County filed its Motion for Security of Costs herein on or about July 13, 2007. [Docket # 9]. In its motion, Hinds County points out that the claims asserted in the instant action have already been litigated twice by the Dial and Spring Lake Defendants prior to Plaintiff's filing of this action. See exhibits to Hinds County's Motion for Security of

Costs.

2. Plaintiff's claims herein against the Dial Defendants are identical to those raised against the Dial Defendants in the justice and county court actions. Id. Inasmuch as the Justice Court action was finally adjudicated and not properly appealed, and the County Court action was dismissed with prejudice, all claims raised herein against the Dial Defendants are now barred by res judicata. There is no question that the claims herein will ultimately be resolved in favor of the defendants. The security requested first by Hinds County, and now by the Dial Defendants, is necessary to protect the interests of all defendants herein.

3. In addition to the security for costs requested by Hinds County and the Dial Defendants, it is also requested that Plaintiff be required to provide security for the attorney fees that the Dial Defendants are likely to expend in defending against the same frivolous claims raised by Plaintiff for this third time.

4. Plaintiff's abuse of the judicial system is not limited to the circumstances giving rise to this litigation. Rather, Plaintiff is a "serial litigator," having shown a propensity for filing repeated, frivolous, harassing lawsuits and appeals in the past, and having been previously sanctioned by the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit. Vogel Newsome v. EEOC, 2002 WL 31845750 (5th Circuit 2002) (The Clerk of Court for the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit ordered to return unfiled any submission by Ms. Newsome until such sums for sanction paid). In the Fifth Circuit matter, the Court referenced a preceding appeal in which it had warned Ms. Newsome about frivolous filings and so it sanctioned her in the second matter before it. The Fifth Circuit's decision is appended hereto as Exhibit A. See also Exhibit B, Westlaw results for a query on the term "Vogel Newsome". Counsel has reviewed each of the twenty-two "hits" on Westlaw and written the outcome of each in the margin. Twenty-one involved Ms. Newsome and she went 0-21 overall with several specific findings that her complaints were frivolous, one in which she was ordered to file nothing further and of course the sanctions from the Fifth Circuit.[1]

5. The Dial Defendants expended $10,036.40 in defending Plaintiff's improper "appeal" to the County Court of the initial ruling by the Justice Court. Exhibit C. This was largely due to Plaintiff's repeated abuses of the judicial process in the course of that action, repeated frivolous motions, re-scheduling of hearings, withdrawal of her attorney to whose advice she refused to listen, pro se filing of pleadings even when represented and submission of lengthy tedious papers, much like the Complaint filed herein, that each take hours to review. Plaintiff repeatedly made improper filings in violation of Miss. R. Civ. P. 11, lodging a barrage of allegations and insults against the Dial Defendants and their counsel, many of which were defamatory. The Dial Defendants request that this Court take action to stop the Plaintiff's relentless judicial assaults against them. Further, if ever there was a case

[1]Of course, these twenty-one matters only include federal filings. State filings are not as easily located but this matter involved at least one in the County Court of Hinds County. Also of note, counsel has been practicing a number of years and has yet to have the occasion to seek certiorari to the United States Supreme Court, yet Ms. Newsome did so twice within a two year period.

to which the Mississippi Litigation Accountability Act will apply, it will be this one.

6. The relief requested is well within the power of the Court. Ajuluchuku v. Southern New England School of Law, 2006 WL 2661232, *7 (N.D. Ga. 2006). While the so-called "American Rule" generally prohibits fee shifting in most cases, there are circumstances in which federal courts have inherent power to assess fees. Pedraza v. United Guar. Corp., 313 F.3d 1323, 1335 (11th Cir. 2002). One such circumstance occurs "when a party has acted in bad faith, vexatiously, wantonly, or for oppressive reasons." Id.

7. Plaintiff's repeated attempts to extort money from the Dial Defendants through oppressive litigation can only be described as stalking by litigation. Indeed, if ever there were a situation where the "bad faith" exception to the "American Rule" should be applied, it is the instant matter. While much leeway is usually afforded a pro se litigant by the Courts, Ms. Newsome, a current or former paralegal, no longer fits that profile nor should she be afforded the usual courtesy provided to pro se litigants. Ms. Newsome knows the rules, she "games" the system, she ignores court directives and she maliciously causes significant financial harm to her litigation victims.

8. Ms. Newsome appears to be the proverbial "turnip" from which no funds will be recoverable if the Court later awards a judgment for attorney fees against her. Therefore, she has nothing to lose by filing this harassing litigation which means she is not deterred from proceeding full steam ahead. In this case we ask the Court to provide relief "up front" and require her to put her own assets at risk if she intends to proceed and to do so in the form of the bond requested. Defendants believe this to be both fair and reasonable under the circumstances in this case and her past litigation history both in this matter and others.

9. Due to the self-explanatory nature of this motion, the Dial Defendants request that this honorable Court excuse them from the necessity of submitting a memorandum in support of this motion as relevant authority is cited herein.

WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED, the Dial Defendants request that this honorable Court:

a. require that Plaintiff Vogel Newsome give security of all costs in the amount of $5,000.00 bond that can reasonably be expected to accrue in this action based upon Plaintiff's previous litigation conduct;

b. or, in the alternative, require that Plaintiff Vogel Newsome post a bond in the amount of $759.00, double the award rendered against her by the Hinds County Justice Court, ensuring the payment of court costs should she lose on the merits of this case; and

c. require that Plaintiff Vogel Newsome give security of all attorney fees in the amount of $25,000.00 bond that can reasonably be expected to accrue to the Dial Defendants in this action based upon Plaintiff's previous litigation conduct. If she wishes to move forward in this matter, Defendants should have some recourse against her for their damages at the end of the day.

And if the Dial Defendants have requested wrong or insufficient relief, then they hereby request any and all relief to which they may be entitled in the premises.

This the 1st day of August, 2007.

Respectfully submitted,

Subject: VOGEL NEWSOME: PKH's Termination of Employment

To: lbaine3@pkh.net, tpage@pkh.net, lthomas@pkh.net

To Louis/Tommy/Linda:

This email correspondence is being submitted to confirm that as of Monday, May 15, 2006, my employment with Page, Kruger & Holland, P.A. ("PKH") has been terminated – as Mr. Baine put it "effective immediately." This termination has been approved by the shareholders of PKH. Those present at the Termination Meeting were as follows:

Louis J. Baine, III (shareholder)
Thomas Y. Page, Jr. (shareholder)
Linda Thomas (Office Administrator); and Myself/Vogel Newsome (Employee being terminated)

I requested that PKH provide me with written documentation as to the reasons for my termination and/or documentation acknowledging termination; however PKH declined to do so and advised they would not provide any written documentation.

My understanding as to the reasons for my termination is as follows:

1. PKH was advised of a lawsuit I filed in the Hinds County Court.
   When I requested who informed PKH of this information, PKH declined to provide me with this information
   PKH acknowledged that it checked into whether a lawsuit was filed and confirmed going to the courthouse to review the file and obtaining documents.
   When I requested information regarding how long PKH was aware of the matter I am involved in, PKH advised they have known for quite some time. When requesting specific time frame, PKH declined to give me an exact amount of time they have known about it.

2. PKH acknowledged they had conducted an investigation and it revealed:
   That I had used PKH equipment to conduct personal business
   Faxes sent revealed the PKH name across the top
   Faxes sent wound up in the court file and they did not want their name associated with the lawsuit
   Personal documents were saved on PKH equipment and they have reviewed documents and emails on my computer
   Great deal of time was used to conduct personal business; however, PKH failed to produce how much time was used for personal business.

   (a) While I acknowledged I used PKH equipment for personal business, I shared others in the firm did as well and PKH did not and does not deny that other employees use PKH equipment for personal business.

   (b) I acknowledged that I used PKH fax machine for personal business as did other employees at PKH who used it for personal business – PKH did not and does not deny that other employees use their fax machine to send personal faxes.

   (c) According to PKH the name appear at the top of all faxes that are transmitted from their machines.

   (d) I acknowledged that I saved personal documents to the computer as did other employees of PKH – PKH did not and does not deny that other employees save personal documents to their computer

EXHIBIT 61

(e) PKH acknowledge that it was me that they have been observing and me that they investigated while it having knowledge that other employees engaged in the same practices as I.

(f) While PKH stated that a great deal of my time was used to conduct personal business – which was denied by me, it failed to explain how it affected my work performance.

(g) PKH acknowledged that no personal documentation by me was ever placed on PKH letterhead.

3. PKH acknowledged they conduct conflict checks; however, did not make it clear as to what that had to do with my termination. While PKH having knowledge that if I believed there was a conflict regarding me, they were notified of concerns by me; however, elected not to respond.

4. PKH was made aware of my concerns that the action they have taken against me is prejudicial; however, PKH denied such.

5. PKH acknowledged that they were aware of my personal activities for quite some time; however, elected not to address them or to notify me of any wrongs (if wrong at all) that I may have been committing. Concerns of said failure by PKH was made known to them.

6. PKH was made aware of my displacement situation – information PKH had prior to the meeting (can be based on their long time monitoring and investigation and being notified of my lawsuit, etc.)

7. PKH was made aware of my concerns of my inability of being able to obtain employment elsewhere in that it is apparent (them being notified of lawsuit) that efforts will be taken to prevent me from obtaining gainful employment elsewhere; however, PKH denied they would do anything like that and would handle the matter as they have with others when employment is verified.

8. While PKH acknowledged that I may bring lawsuits and it is of no business to them, the action taken on May 15, 2006, to terminate my employment was to the contrary and PKH acknowledge termination was a result of the lawsuit I filed in the Hinds County Courthouse that was brought to their attention.

9. While PKH acknowledge an investigation was conducted on me and I requested that PKH provide me with written documentation for their termination, PKH declined to provide me with documentation.

10. My concerns as to being singled out when others at PKH did the same things were made known to PKH; however, PKH had already made up their mind that they were terminating my employment.

11. PKH acknowledged that the shareholders were in consensus/agreement with terminating my employment.

In that I believe that I have been unlawfully terminated, I am requesting that PKH preserve my employment records, any other documents, audio, etc. regarding my employment and reasons for termination.

In that PKH was given an opportunity to provide me with written documentation as to their reasons for my termination, I will only conclude that any other reasons which may be offered AFTER the fact/termination will be pretext in nature – provided in an effort to cover-up/shield PKH's unlawful employment action taken against me.

Sincerely,

Vogel Newsome

VS. CIVIL ACTION NO. 3:07cv00099TSL-JCS

MELODY CREWS, SPRING LAKE APARTMENTS, LLC, DIAL EQUITIES, INC., JON C. LEWIS, individually and in his capacity As Constable of Hinds County, WILLIAM L. SKINNER, II, individually and in his capacity As Justice Court Judge, MALCOM McMILLAN, Individually and in his capacity as Sheriff of Hinds County, JOHN DOES 1-26, individually and in their official capacities, JANE DOES 1-26, individually and in their Official capacity, COUNTY OF HINDS, MISSISSIPPI DEFENDANTS

MOTION FOR SECURITY OF COSTS

COME NOW Defendants, Hinds County, Mississippi and Malcolm McMillan, by and through counsel and specifically asserting all defenses under Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 12(b)(1)-(7), and file this their Motion for Security of Costs and in support thereof would show the following, to-wit:

1. Plaintiff, Vogel Newsome, filed the subject Complaint on February 14, 2007 in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Mississippi. Specifically listed were Defendants Melody Crews; Spring Lake Apartments, LLC; Dial Equities, Inc.; Jon C. Lewis, Individually and In His Official Capacity as Constable of Hinds County; William L. Skinner, II, Individually, and In His Capacity as Justice Court Judge; Malcolm McMillan, Individually, and In His Official Capacity as Sheriff of Hinds County; Hinds County, Mississippi; John Does 1 – 26; and Jane Does 1 – 26, Individually and in their Official Capacities. (See Federal Court Complaint).

EXHIBIT 62

2. Plaintiff claims that she bases her Complaint on actions commencing from mid-August 2005 referencing application for admission into an apartment complex known as Spring Lake Apartments. Plaintiff complains of ongoing discriminatory practices by Spring Lake Apartments, LLC, Dial Equities, Inc., and Melody Crews. The facts upon which Plaintiff bases her theories of recovery are related solely to her lease of, occupancy of and eviction from an apartment managed by Defendant Dial Equities and situated at 1434 Hawthorn Cove, Jackson, Mississippi.

3. Plaintiff admits in Paragraphs 62-71 of her Complaint that these facts have already been presented to and decided by the Hinds County Justice Court.

4. Plaintiff then admits in Paragraph 82 of her Complaint that she failed to file an appeal of the Hinds County Justice Court decision to the County Court of Hinds County as required by Mississippi Code Annotated § 11-51-85. Additionally, pursuant to Mississippi Uniform Circuit and County Court Rule 5.04, Plaintiff was also required to file her notice "with the Circuit Court Clerk." However, Plaintiff admits in Paragraph 82 of her Complaint that she failed to do this.

5. Instead, on March 15, 2006, Plaintiff filed suit in the County Court of Hinds County, Mississippi against Spring Lake Apartments, LLC; Dial Equities, Inc.; and Melody Crews. (See County Court Complaint attached hereto as Exhibit "A"). In the County Court Complaint Plaintiff bases her theories of recovery on the same lease of, occupancy of and eviction from the same apartment situated at 1434 Hawthorn Cove, Jackson, Mississippi 39272. (Exh. A, Para. 4).

6. Plaintiff admits in her County Court Complaint that the matters complained of had already been presented to the Hinds County Justice Court. (Exh. A, Para. 36-57). Plaintiff also admits in the County Court Complaint that she filed her Notice of Appeal with Hinds County Justice Court Clerk on February 5, 2006 and it was the Justice Court's responsibility to forward her Notice of Appeal to the proper court. (Exh. A, Para. 65). Pursuant to Mississippi Code Annotated § 11-51-85, Plaintiff was also required to post a bond of double the amount of judgment against her, together with all costs accrued and likely to accrue in the case. However, Plaintiff did not do this and specifically stated that she was not going to post a bond and was not required to post an appeal bond to secure the notice of appeal filed despite offering no legal precedent to support her position. (Exh. A, Para. 67).

7. Defendant Spring Lake Apartments, LLC was dismissed with prejudice from the County Court Complaint when the court found that, based on the assertions of Plaintiff in the County Court Complaint, Spring Lake Apartments, LLC was not the owner of the premises, did not lease the apartment of the Plaintiff and did not participate in the removal of the Plaintiff from the apartment. The Final Judgment of Dismissal regarding Spring Lake Apartments, LLC was based on failure to state a cause of action upon which relief may be granted and was entered on September 5, 2006. (See Motion to Dismiss attached hereto as Exhibit "B" and Judgment of Dismissal attached hereto as Exhibit "C").

8. Judge William Barnett then ordered, on September 27, 2006, that eviction proceedings were brought against Plaintiff by Spring Lake Apartment a/k/a Dial Equities, Inc. by Melody Crews, Manager for breach of lease agreement on or about January 20, 2006, in the Hinds County Justice Court relating to her lease, occupancy and eviction from an apartment situated at 1435 (sic) Hawthorn Cove, Jackson, Mississippi 39272. Judge Barnett found that a Final Judgment adverse to the Plaintiff was entered on or about January 27, 2006 by the Justice Court after a hearing before the Honorable William Skinner.

9. Further, Judge Barnett found that any and all causes of action or defenses Plaintiff may have had that were litigated in Justice Court arising out of the lease, occupancy or eviction from the premises owned by Dial Equities during the proceedings held thereon were barred under the doctrine of res judicata and/or collateral estoppel as the result of the Plaintiff's failure to file a timely and proper appeal from the Final Judgment entered in the Justice Court proceedings. Additionally, he found specifically that issue of service of process and sufficiency of process of the Justice Court proceedings were decided adverse to Plaintiff in the Justice Court matter and could not be re-litigated. (See Order attached hereto as Exhibit "D").

10. In her County Court Complaint, paragraphs 77-82, Plaintiff specifically references Judge Skinner's unlawful Justice Court proceedings (Exh. A, Para. 40-58, 65-70, 124-125, 134-135, 139-140, 145-146, 148-152, 171-173); an alleged conspiracy involving Spring Lake Apartments, Dial Equities, Melody Crews, Jon Lewis and Hinds County to unlawfully remove Plaintiff (Exh. A, Para. 76-78, 87, 129, 138); discriminatory housing practices (Exh. A, Para. 83-86); an alleged conspiracy involving Spring Lake Apartments, Dial Equities, Melody Crews and Judge William Skinner (Exh. A, Para. 93-95, 164); and her arrest for her admitted refusal to leave her residence during an eviction found to be lawful. (Exh. A, Para. 79-82, 157-159). These are the same facts that she now asserts verbatim in the present Complaint.

11. Plaintiff therefore files the subject claim against Defendants Spring Lake Apartments, Dial Equities, Melody Crews, Jon C. Lewis, William L. Skinner, II, Malcolm McMillan, and Hinds County, Mississippi for her lawful eviction and her arrest for her failure to abide by a lawful eviction.

12. Rule 54 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure specifically allows costs be awarded to the prevailing party in an action. Rule 54 also allows claims for attorney's fees and related nontaxable expenses. Further, a district court has an inherent power to require security of costs when warranted by the circumstances of the case prior to the disposition of the merits of a claim. EHM v. Amtrack Board of Directors, 780 F. 2d, 516, 517 (C.A. 5th 1986). The factors specifically addressed are the probability of Plaintiff's success on the merits, the background and purpose of the suit, and the reasonableness of the amount of the posted security viewed from the perspective of both Plaintiff and Defendant. Id.

13. The merits of Plaintiff's Complaint have already been addressed in Hinds County Justice Court and Hinds County Court. The eviction proceedings were found to be lawful and Plaintiff admits that she was arrested after she was lawfully advised to leave the premises and refused. (Federal Complaint, Para. 94).

14. Further, Plaintiff's records show that she is a veteran pro se litigator who has filed numerous frivolous lawsuits, and has been sanctioned by the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit in Vogel Newsome v. EEOC, 2002 WL 31845750 (C.A. 5th, 2002). (See case attached hereto as Exhibit "E").

15. Additionally, Plaintiff has an extensive record of filing numerous excessive and unfounded lawsuits, several of which were not only ruled against Plaintiff, but also deemed frivolous or without any merit. (See cases attached hereto as Exhibit "F").

16. In light of Plaintiff's admitted refusal to pay mandatory costs and past judgments against her, Plaintiff's history of disregard for the Rules of Court, the excessively frivolous and harassing nature of Plaintiff's Complaint, and the meritorious defense available to all Defendants, Defendants respectfully request the District Court, through its inherent power to require security of costs as warranted by the extenuating circumstances of the case, order

Plaintiff to post a security cost bond and requests a stay of all proceedings until such time this matter can be decided.

17. Further, said relief is not made for delay but to void unnecessary fees and expenses that would be incurred from litigating an unsupported and frivolous claim by this Plaintiff.

18. Plaintiff is also put on notice that Defendants, if forced to defend this matter, will seek full redress available under Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 11 and seek all fees and expenses incurred.

19. Defendants pray they be relieved of the obligation to provide a memorandum in support of this motion because the motion is self-explanatory.

WHEREFORE, PREMSIES CONSIDERED, Defendants respectfully request this honorable court:

a. require Plaintiff Vogel D. Newsome give security of all costs in the amount of a $5,000.00 bond that can reasonably be expected to accrue in this action based on Plaintiff's previous conduct;

b. or, in the alternative, require Plaintiff Vogel D. Newsome post a bond in the amount of $759.00, double the award against her in Justice Court, ensuring the payment of court costs should she lose on the merits of this case; and

c. order a stay of any and all proceedings in the above styled and numbered civil action for all defendants; and any and all other and additional general relief for which Defendants did not specifically pray for that the court deems appropriate.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED, this the 13th day of July, 2007.

MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT

This counsel was recently retained to take over defense of Defendant's counterclaim and to substitute for Molly Vance. As indicated in her various Motions and briefs filed in this matter, and as confirmed by other counsel involved in the case, Defendant has made it her practice to hand deliver pleadings, motions and other documents personally to the offices of other counsel.

This counsel has reviewed, and wishes to bring to the Court's attention, "Defendant's Motions to Strike Plaintiff's Motion for Leave to File Memorandum in Opposition to Motion for Rule 11 Sanctions" entered February 25, 2009. Throughout her brief, Defendant consistently lumped Plaintiff, its counsel and insurance carrier together in an alleged multi-state conspiracy against her. Within said Motion, Defendant made reference to unrelated news stories, including that of Carl Brandon in Mississippi (see Defendant's Motion p. 19) and even went so far as to attach an article to the Motion explaining how Mr. Brandon went on a shooting spree targeting county employees and legal counsel involved in his case. In paragraph 47 on pages 21 and 22 of her brief, Defendant stated, "Stor-All and its representatives have stooped to criminal acts as a direct intent to cause the Defendant harm/injury. Moreover, efforts taken by Stor All, its counsel, its insurance provider (Liberty Mutual) being done in hopes of driving the Defendant to the point they did Carl Brandon, Jena 6 victims, and who knows who else." (Emphasis added).

These statements can be reasonably construed as a physical threat to Plaintiff, its representatives, its legal counsel and perhaps even the Court itself.

Given the above, the undersigned respectfully requests that the Court issue an order as requested or as otherwise deemed appropriate in the Court's discretion. A proposed Order is submitted contemporaneously with this Motion for the Court's consideration.

Comes now Plaintiff, by and though counsel, and offers the following Memorandum in Opposition to Defendant's Motion to Strike Plaintiff's Motion for Protective/Restraining Order captioned above. Further, Defendant's Motion is without any good faith grounds for support and devoid of any legal merit or justification and contains voluminous materials at best wholly irrelevant and at worst, scandalous. Accordingly, Plaintiff moves for Rule 11 Sanctions against Defendant, including but not limited to costs, attorney fees, dismissal or other appropriate sanctions as the Court sees fit. Plaintiff respectfully requests a decision in its favor.

MEMORANDUM IN OPPOSITION

Rather than file a Memorandum in Opposition to Plaintiff's Motion for Protective/Restraining Order, Defendant has again couched her response in the form of a Motion to Strike and Rule 11 Sanctions, thus necessitating another brief from Plaintiff in Opposition and more waste of the Clerk and Court's resources and space.

Defendant accuses Plaintiff and this counsel specifically in her above captioned motion of making scandalous, slanderous, defamatory, insulting, offensive and derogatory statements within Plaintiff's Motion for Protective/Restraining Order. As the Court can plainly see, all of our references in the subject motion were to the pleadings and motions and they speak for themselves. It is undisputed by Defendant that she has made personal appearances at other attorneys' offices. Given her bold comparison of her case to that of Carl Brandon in her previous motion coupled with this counsel's obligation to preserve the safety of others in his office, this counsel in good faith believed that such a Motion was at least prudent. Given Defendant's 40 page response plus attachments, that now includes asserted parallels between her case and that of O.J. Simpson, this counsel's concerns giving rise to the subject motion would appear to in fact be buttressed (pp. 30-32 + attached article).

Of course, this counsel takes some personal offense at being lumped into Defendant's category of "certain whites" that have and apparently still commit legal violations against and otherwise conspire to deprive Defendant of her civil rights in multiple states (p. 3, paragraph 4; pp. 23-27) including burglary, robbery, assault and kidnapping. For the record and clarity, the undersigned strongly denies any such activity on his part and that of his client.

While interesting for political dialogue, Defendant's discussion of the overarching meaning of President Obama's election and the 2008 Presidential campaign are wholly irrelevant to the case. No one should make light of Scripture and the teachings of the Apostles Paul and Peter and David's Psalms, but their placement by Defendant into the argument is improper for purposes of this motion and the Court in general. (pp. 6, 7)

Additionally, this counsel did not personally attend the March 10, hearing due to a simple scheduling conflict, nothing more. The undersigned was out of town taking depositions on another unrelated case. As for the April 29, report date, this counsel currently has another previously scheduled mediation that afternoon in Butler County, but Mr. Healy will attend if the conflict does not resolve itself before then.

Perhaps most troubling and pertinent to the actual case before the Court, however, is Defendant's statement on Page 31, Paragraph h) of her brief where she states, "Newsome believes that the record evidence will support that Stor-All, their counsel/representatives, and others are relying upon their wealth, social status, powers and controls, relationship to judges, etc. to get them verdict (sic) and decisions they know are contrary to statutes/laws." Defendant seems to make a veiled accusation of improper collusion between legal counsel in the case and the Court, perhaps in reference to other procedural motions and orders.

Defendant's assertion that Rule 11 sanctions are called for against this counsel and his client are completely unfounded. On the other hand, the bulk of Defendant's instant Motion probably falls within the Rule's parameters. Defendant's brief is full of unsubstantiated and baseless personal accusations against Plaintiff, its representatives and legal counsel, wholly improper for the purposes of this proceeding. Accordingly, Plaintiff requests appropriate sanctions against Defendant, including but not limited to costs, attorney fees, dismissal of the counterclaim and any other appropriate relief.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS
HAMILTON COUNTY, OHIO

STOR-ALL ALFRED, LLC 1109 Alfred Street Cincinnati, Ohio Plaintiff	:	CASE NO.: A0901302 JUDGE: JOHN ANDREW WEST
vs.	:	DEFENDANT'S MOTION FOR DEFAULT JUDGMENT OF AND AGAINST PLAINTIFF STOR-ALL ALFRED, LLC FOR FAILURE TO ANSWER OR OTHERWISE PLEAD; AND MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT[1]
Denise V. Newsome Post Office Box 14731 Cincinnati, Ohio 45250 Defendant	:	(JURY TRIAL DEMANDED IN THIS ACTION)

COMES NOW Defendant, Denise V. Newsome – a/k/a Denise Newsome ("Defendant" and/or "Newsome") and files this, her Motion for Default Judgment of and Against Stor-All Alfred, LLC for Failure to Answer or Otherwise Plead; and Memorandum in Support (Jury Trial Demanded in this Action) ("MFDJ") pursuant to Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure ("ORCP") Rule 55 governing matters regarding judgment for default and/or the precivil rule(s) governing said matters. Through this instant motion Newsome moves for entry and judgment for DEFAULT JUDGMENT of and against Plaintiff, Stor-All Alfred, LLC ("Stor-All" and/or "Plaintiff") for its failure to Answer or otherwise plead and/or file a responsive pleading/motion governed by the Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure ("ORCP") within the time required. In further support Newsome states:

MOTION FOR DEFAULT JUDGMENT OF AND AGAINST PLAINTIFF

Pursuant to Rule 55 of the Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure, Newsome through this instant motion is entitled and therefore moves this Court to enter a DEFAULT JUDGMENT of and against Stor-All Alfred, LLC. Under said Rule it states in part:

[1] Boldface, italics, underline, etc. added for emphasis. Defendant relied upon legal resources such as WestLaw, Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure, etc. to aid in preparation of this document.

ORCP RULE 55. Default

(A) Entry of judgment. When a party against whom a judgment for affirmative relief is sought has failed to plead or otherwise defend as provided by these rules, the party entitled to a judgment by default shall apply in writing or orally to the court therefor; . . . If the party against whom judgment by default is sought has appeared in the action, he (or, if appearing by representative, his representative) shall be served with written notice of the application for judgment at least seven days prior to the hearing on such application. . . .

(C) Plaintiffs, counterclaimants, cross-claimants. The provisions of this rule apply whether the party entitled to the judgment by default is a plaintiff, a third-party plaintiff or a party who has pleaded a cross-claim or counterclaim. In all cases a judgment by default is subject to the limitations of Rule 54(C).[2]

"Default judgment" is judgment entered against a party who has failed to timely plead in response to affirmative pleading. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 55(A) – Ohio Valley Radiology Associates, Inc. v. Ohio Valley Hosp. Ass'n, 502 NE2d 599, 28 Ohio St.3d 118. Stor-All has failed to timely plead in response to Newsome's Answer to Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer; Notification Accompanying Counter-Claim; Counter-Claim; and Demand for Jury Trial. Therefore, in an effort to provide specificity Newsome moves this Court through this instant MFDJ to grant her the relief sought herein. In support thereof and without waiving the relief sought Newsome further states:

1. This instant MFDJ is submitted in good faith and is not submitted for purposes of delay, harassment, hindering proceedings, embarrassment, obstructing the administration of justice, vexatious litigation, increasing the cost of litigation, etc. and is filed to protect the rights of Newsome. See Defendant's/Newsome's Affidavit attached hereto and incorporated by reference at EXHIBIT "1."

2. The record evidence will support that Newsome timely, properly and adequately placed Stor-All on notice that said relief for default judgment would be sought if an Answer and/or responsive pleading/motion to her Counter-Claim was not filed within the time allowed.

3. This motion is made on the records, papers, and pleadings filed in this instant lawsuit. Entry of default is sought of and against Stor-All for failing to answer or otherwise plead in this action to Newsome's Counter-Claim within the time allowed under the statutes laws governing said matters. No such EXCUSABLE NEGLECT on Stor-All's behalf can be shown for its negligence/delay. While Newsome is now in receipt of a filing by Stor-All mailed on March 18, 2009 (date of filing of this instant motion being March 19, 2009), containing its Answer, said filing is untimely and the record does not support a timely motion for enlargement of time for filing its Answer out of time – Stor-All was timely, properly and adequately placed on notice that its enlargement of time submitted for filing by an attorney (Molly G. Vance) not making an appearance in this action is null and void. Stor-All although timely notified, failed to correct any such errors and mistakes timely brought to its attention. THEREFORE, AS A MATTER OF LAW, Newsome will be filing the applicable motion to have Stor-All's pleading containing its Answer STRICKEN from the record as untimely in that it clearly is prejudicial to Newsome and violates rights secured to her under the Constitution (Ohio and United States) and other statutes/laws governing said matters.

[2] ORCP RULE 54. Judgments; Costs

(C) Demand for judgment. A judgment by default shall not be different in kind from or exceed in amount that prayed for in the demand for judgment. Except as to a party against whom a judgment is entered by default, every final judgment shall grant the relief to which the party in whose favor it is rendered is entitled, even if the party has not demanded the relief in the pleadings.

4. The final judgment by default requested is for the relief sought in Newsome's Answer to Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer; Notification Accompanying Counter-Claim; Counter-Claim; and Demand for Jury Trial filed in this instant lawsuit. No such EXCUSABLE NEGLECT on Stor-All's behalf can be shown for its negligence/delay in filing pleading containing its untimely Answer.

5. In the interest of justice and in compliance with the rules/procedures governing said matters, as with Newsome's Answer to Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer; Notification Accompanying Counter-Claim; Counter-Claim; and Demand for Jury Trial, this instant MFDJ has been constructed and is submitted in good faith to eliminate further and/or needless delay, unnecessary expense, and all other impediments to the expeditious administration of justice pursuant to Rule 1 of the ORCP which states in part:

> ORCP RULE 1. Scope of Rules: Applicability; Construction; Exceptions
> (A) Applicability. These rules prescribe the procedure to be followed in all courts of this state in the exercise of civil jurisdiction at law or in equity, . . .
> (B) Construction. These rules shall be construed and applied to effect just results by eliminating delay, unnecessary expense and all other impediments to the expeditious administration of justice.

6. In support of this instant MFDJ, Defendant presents the following PRIMA FACIE CASE: (a) Newsome would be prejudiced by this Court's denial of her Motion for Default Judgment. Newsome is proceeding in this instant lawsuit pro se and is governed by the rules and procedures of this Court and/or statutes/laws applicable to this action. Newsome has already lost her job as a direct and proximate result of acts taken against her by Plaintiff/Stor-All and its counsel/representatives. Said actions taken by Stor-All and its counsel/representatives against Newsome were to obtain an undue advantage over her in this instant lawsuit and for means of financial devastation to prevent her from successfully litigating this action. Newsome would be further prejudiced by denial of the relief sought in that she has already suffered irreparable injury/harm as a direct and proximate result of Stor-All's culpable acts. Furthermore, should this Court deny Newsome's Motion for Default Judgment, it would deprive her equal protection of the laws, due process of laws, etc. Rights secured/guaranteed under the Constitution (Ohio and United States), Civil Rights Act as well as other governing statutes/laws in such matters. (b) Stor-All has no meritorious defense. It has brought a forcible entry and detainer action against Newsome with knowledge that it is already in possession of the storage unit and property at issue here. Said possession of Newsome's storage unit and property was obtained through unlawful/illegal means and without legal authority and/or court order. Therefore, Stor-All's forcible entry and detainer action is moot. (c) Not only did Stor-All's culpable conduct* lead to its default, said conduct led to Newsome being terminated from her place of employment – wherein Stor-All and/or its representatives took it upon themselves to contact Newsome's employer as well as rely on its knowledge that Newsome assisted an attorney that was formerly employed with Stor-All's counsel's law firm (Schwartz Manes & Ruby) prior to obtaining employment at the firm Newsome was recently employed – culpable acts done with intent to obtain an undue advantage in the bringing of this lawsuit against her. Furthermore the record evidence and that presented in this instant motion will support Stor-All's culpable acts led to its default – a default which is as a direct and proximate result of Stor-All's defiance and reckless disregard of the rules and procedures governing said matters. The record evidence supports that Newsome timely, properly and adequately notified Stor-All of the consequences of failing to file a timely Answer and/or file a responsive pleading/motion. To no avail. Stor-All ignored said notifications provided it through Newsome's pleadings/motions filed in this lawsuit. (See ¶ 7 of this instant motion below, as well as Newsome's Answer and Counter-Claim filed in this instant lawsuit as well as her subsequent pleadings/motions filed). To add insult to injury, Stor-All's counsel (Lively) then files with this Court Stor-All's Motion for Protective/Restraining Order Against Defendant Denise V. Newsome which contained scandalous, slanderous, defamatory, offensive, etc. assertions against the Defendant alleging she is capable of committing such a hideous crime as murder – i.e going on a shooting spree. Thus, further supporting how Stor-All and its representatives has repeatedly abused its time.

> Jackson v. Hamilton County Community Mental Health Bd.,174 FRD 394 (1997) In determining whether . . . to grant default judgment, court must balance the following factors: (1) whether plaintiff will be prejudiced; (2) whether defendant has meritorious defense; and (3) whether culpable conduct of defendant led to the default.
> In order to find defendant's conduct culpable, for purpose of determining whether . . . to grant default judgment, conduct must display either intent to thwart judicial proceedings or reckless disregard for effect of its conduct on those proceedings. (Id.)

7. Default judgment of and against Stor-All is required as a matter of law. This Court will not be abusing its discretion in granting Newsome the relief sought in this instant motion in that Stor-All cannot show EXCUSABLE NEGLECT for its failure to file a timely Answer and/or response pleading/motion to Newsome's Counter-Claim filed in this instant lawsuit. The following information is pertinent to decide Stor-All's inability to show excusable neglect for its failure to file a timely Answer and/or responsive pleading/motion to Newsome's Counter-Claim:

(a) On January 29, 2009, Stor-All was served with Defendant's Answer to Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer; Notification Accompanying Counter-Claim; Counter-Claim; and Demand for Jury Trial – therefore, giving Stor-All until approximately February 26, 2009 to file an Answer and/or responsive pleading/motion. Stor-All waived said right.

(b) On February 6, 2009, the Hamilton County Municipal Court (in Case No. 09CV01690) granted Defendant's Motion to Transfer this matter to the Hamilton County Court of Common Pleas – See EXHIBIT "2" Magistrate's Decision attached hereto and incorporated by reference. Stor-All's counsel and Defendant signed Magistrate's Decision. If Stor-All did not agree with the Magistrate's Decision, it could have appealed*; however, elected not to do so*. Therefore, waiving any said right to appeal this matter – thus, failing to stop the clock to allow any such appeal if it desired to do so.

(c) On or about February 9, 2009, the Hamilton County Court of Common Pleas notified Stor-All of "Notice of Transfer" that the matter from the Municipal Court had been transferred and that Stor-All had "28 DAYS FROM THE RECEIPT OF THIS NOTICE TO ANSWER IN THIS TRANSFERRED ACTION." See EXHIBIT "3" – Notice of Transfer attached hereto and incorporated herein as if set forth in full. Therefore, giving Stor-All until approximately March 9, 2009, to file an Answer or otherwise plead and/or file a responsive pleading/motion to Newsome's Counter-Claim.

(d) On or about February 13, 2009, Stor-All filed its Motion to Bifurcate Claim and Remand to Municipal Court ("Bifurcation Motion"). As a matter of law, Stor-All's Bifurcation Motion is not a pleading/motion subject to the rules and procedures governing Answer and/or responsive pleadings/motions pursuant to Rules 8 or 12 of the Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure. Stor-All submitting Bifurcation Motion AFTER it had executed the Magistrate's Decision in the Municipal Court matter. Through said Bifurcation motion, Stor-All's counsel, David Meranus ("Meranus") advised of his abandonment of Stor-All as to Newsome's Counter-Claim. Moreover, filing said Bifurcation Motion rather than appealing Magistrate's decision if it disagreed with the decision. Instead of appealing the decision, Stor-All made a willful decision to file a Bifurcation Motion which is not a pleading and/or motion governed as an acceptable Answer and/or responsive pleading/motion under Rules 8 and/or 12 of the ORCP. On or about February 17, 2009, Stor-All was served with Defendant's Motion to Strike Pleading (Statements and Supporting Documents) of Plaintiff's Motion to Bifurcate Claim and Remand to Municipal Court; and Motion for Rule 11 Sanctions. Through Defendant's Motion to Strike Stor-All's Bifurcation Motion, it was timely, properly and adequately placed on notice that its Bifurcation Motion was not a pleading permissible and was filed prematurely – prior to Answer and/or responsive pleading/motion required under the rules or procedures being filed. Although Stor-All was timely notified that its Bifurcation Motion was not permissible as a matter of law, it failed to file a timely Answer and/or responsive pleading/motion to Defendant's Counter-Claim.

(e) On February 17, 2009, Stor-All filed its Motion for Enlargement of Time to Answer or Otherwise Plead; and Respond to Discovery. Said Motion for Enlargement was filed by an attorney, Molly G. Vance ("Vance"), who had not entered an appearance in this action. Therefore, Stor-All's Motion for Enlargement of Time is not permissible and any ruling granting the relief therein is null/void. (See FIA Card Services, N.A. v. Salmon, --- N.E.2d ----, 2009 WL 57592 (Ohio App. 3 Dist.,2009) attached hereto at EXHIBIT "4" and incorporated herein by references – EMPHASIS ADDED). A reasonable mind may conclude that Vance's failure to enter an appearance was a direct and proximate result of her knowledge that any said entry may present a CONFLICT OF INTEREST in that she appears to be counsel for Stor-All's insurance carrier, Liberty Mutual. Liberty Mutual, which recently settled a claim with Newsome regarding one of its other insured – See EXHIBIT "5" attached hereto. Liberty Mutual which may have an interest in other matters relating to Newsome which is outside this lawsuit and may therefore, present a conflict of interest. Thus, most likely the insurance carrier Stor-All's counsel (David Meranus) on February 6, 2009, advised Newsome would be the one that would be making payment for any damages/injury she has sustained in this instant lawsuit – See EXHIBIT "6" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein. Thus, a reasonable mind may conclude that Vance's actions in this matter was simply to make Newsome aware of who the insurance carrier was because of Liberty Mutual's recent settlement in another matter involving an insured of its and, therefore, may have hoped that such knowledge and that provided by Meranus of her engagement in protected activities in matters outside this litigation known would cause Newsome to abandon her Counter-Claim (in which it did not).

> Collins v. Collins, 844 N.E.2d 910 (Ohio.App.1.Dist.Hamilton. Co.,2006) - For a court to acquire personal jurisdiction, there must be . . . an entry of appearance, and a judgment entered without . . . an entry of appearance is null and void.
> Miami Exporting Co. v. Brown, 6 Ohio 535 (Ohio,1834) - A judgment without notice, and without the appearance of the party against whom it was rendered, is a nullity.
> State ex rel. Estate of Miles v. Village of Piketon, 2009 -Ohio- 786 (Ohio,2009) - For a court to acquire jurisdiction there must be. . . an entry of appearance, and a judgment rendered without proper . . . entry of appearance is a nullity and void.

(f) On February 25, 2009, Defendant filed Objection to Plaintiff's Motion for Enlargement of Time. Through said Objection, Stor-All was timely, properly and adequately placed on notice that Vance had not entered an appearance in this instant lawsuit. Stor-All being notified with approximately 12 days left (March 9, 2009 being its deadline) to file their Answer or otherwise plead and/or responsive pleading/motion to Newsome's Counter-Claim or a motion for enlargement of time by counsel who had made an appearance in this lawsuit. Even with said notification, Stor-All failed to file the applicable Notification Form and/or Appearance document for Vance. Therefore, warranting pleadings/motions submitted by her inadmissible and are required to be stricken from the record – as Newsome has requested through the required pleadings/motions. If said assertion is correct, there remains no lawful and/or binding ruling by this Court to allow Stor-All to enter a pleading containing its Answer when said time has lapsed.

> Internatl. Lottery, Inc. v. Kerouac, 657 N.E.2d 820 (Ohio.App.1.Dist. Hamilton.Co.,1995) -Trial court, in overruling motion for relief from default judgment, did not abuse its discretion in rejecting defendant's claim of excusable neglect due to his reliance on counsel; . . .

> counsel signed petition for removal to . . .court, notice of date for trial or default was sent to counsel, clerk mailed notice of judgment against defendant to counsel, and defendant did not appeal judgment entered against him.

8. The record evidence will support that Stor-all seriously transgressed and flagrantly disregarded the rules and procedures governing said matters. Moreover, Stor-All is represented by counsel (several attorneys) who are familiar with the rules and procedures of this Court and/or laws of the State of Ohio; however, has made a willful, conscious and deliberate choice not to file an Answer and/or responsive pleading to Defendant's Counter-Claim in this instant lawsuit within the time required although they were timely, properly and adequately placed on notice of the consequences of said failure to file an Answer and/or responsive pleading/motion.

> Gibbons v. Price, 514 N.E.2d 127 (Ohio.App.8.Dist.Cuyahoga. Co.,1986) - Absent a serious transgression or flagrant disregard of procedural rules, defendant should be allowed to fully defend at trial any allegations raised by plaintiff.

9. The record evidence will support that Stor-All was timely, properly and adequately placed on notice of the consequences of its failure to file a timely Answer to Newsome's Counterclaim – i.e. See Defendant's Answer to Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer; Notification Accompanying Counter-Claim*; Counter-Claim; and Demand for Jury Trial* at page 6[3] filed in this instant lawsuit as well as Defendant's Motion to Strike Pleading (Statements and Supporting Documents) of Plaintiff's Motion to Bifurcate Claim and Remand to Municipal Court; and Motion for Rule 11 Sanctions at ¶4.[4]

Stor-All was timely, properly and adequately placed on notice of the consequences of not Answering Defendant's Counter-Claim in compliance with the statute/laws governing said matters. Moreover, the consequences if answers are not answered in accordance with the statutes/laws governing said matters would be deemed an admission

[3] Stor-All is also NOTIFIED that unless it serves and file a written response to the Counter-Claim within the specified time allowed, the Defendant will seek judgment of and against it by default for the relief demanded in the Counter-Claim.

[4] Stor-All's MTBC&RTMC does not alter the time in which its Answer to the Counter-Claim is due, in that said motion is not one governed by Rule 12 of the ORCP – ". . .The service of a motion permitted under this rule alters these periods of time. . ." (Rule 12(A)(2)). Moreover, "Every defense, in law or fact, to a claim for relief in any pleading, whether a claim, counterclaim, cross-claim, or third-party claim, shall be asserted in the responsive pleading thereto if one is required, except that the following defenses may be at the option of the pleader made by motion: (1) lack of jurisdiction over the subject matter, (2) lack of jurisdiction over the person; (3) improper venue; (4) insufficiency of process; (5) insufficiency of service of process, (6) failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted; (7) failure to join a party under Rule 19 or Rule 19.1. A motion making any of these defenses shall be made before pleading if a further pleading is permitted. . ." ORCP Rule 12(B). Therefore, before Stor-All filed its MTBC&RTMC, as a matter of law, a motion under the guise of Rule 12 would first be required before the filing of the motion it has brought. Therefore, this Court is not to entertain Stor-All's MTBC&RTMC before its filing of an Answer and/or responsive pleading to Defendant's Answer and Counter-Claim.

Stor-All being timely, properly and adequately placed on notice that any such motions under Rule 12 would be met with a Motion to Strike (i.e. See Notification Accompanying Counter-Claim); therefore, with knowledge that it could not make any such defenses under Rule 12, Stor-All has provided its sham/frivolous MTBC&RTMC in an attempt to evade a motion to strike by the Defendant. Stor-All's MTBC&RTMC has been filed in bad faith for purposes of delay, hindering proceedings, harassment, embarrassment, intimidation, obstructing the administration of justice, vexatious litigation, increasing the cost of litigation, deprivation of rights, deprivation of equal protection of the laws, deprivation of due process of laws, etc.

to the averments made in Newsome's Counter-Claim.[5] Therefore, Stor-All's failure to file an Answer or otherwise plead and/or responsive pleading/motion to Newsome's Counter-Claim within the time allowed by law, is to be taken as an admission of the well-plead facts, evidence and legal conclusions in the Counter-Claim which consisted of the following Counts and Paragraphs 1 through 228:

Count One – Abuse of Process
Count Two – Wrongful Eviction
Count Three – Loss of Enjoyment/Disturbance
Count Four – Extortion
Count Five – Retaliation
Count Six – Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress
Count Seven – Action for Neglect to Prevent Count Eight – Negligence
Count Nine – Negligent Infliction of Emotional Distress

and Newsome's entitlement to relief sought through her Prayer for Relief set forth in Paragraphs 229 through 237 of the Counter-Claim.

> Zaperach v. Beaver, 451 N.E.2d 1249 (Ohio.App.10.Dist.Franklin. Co.,1982) - Failure to answer constitutes an "admission" of well-pleaded facts in the complaint in that case; however, such admission cannot be utilized in other cases unless there has been an express adjudication of the issue by court in the first action.

10. It appears that Stor-All's counsel, Michael E. Lively ("Lively"), is still attempting to have this Court recognize and accept the appearance of Molly G. Vance in this instant lawsuit, for to do so would allow Stor-All to enter him as a "substitution" for Vance – efforts of masking/shielding clear and knowing errors and mistake of Vance's and/or Meranus' failure to enter Notification Form and/or Entry of Appearance in this instant lawsuit prior to lapse in time to file an Answer and/or responsive pleading/motion to Newsome's Counter-Claim; when Stor-All cannot do this as a matter of law. Newsome filing the applicable document "Notification of Clarification" clearly sustaining her argument that Vance had not entered an appearance in this action. Therefore, Stor-All's pleading containing its Answer filed by Lively is considered untimely and should the laws and justice prevail, will sustain that there is no ruling by this Court that can be upheld to sustain the granting of Stor-All's enlargement of time filed by Vance and objected/opposed by Newsome – with request to have Stor-All's motion for enlargement of time stricken from the record. The statutes/laws governing said matters support such striking and, therefore, said striking is to be had.

[5] If Stor-All's answer is not sufficiently definite in nature to give reasonable notice of the allegations in the Counter-Claim sought to be placed in issue, the Defendant's, Denise Newsome's ("Defendant"), averments may be treated as admitted (i.e. a corporate defendant's denial of "each and every allegation" did not give "plain notice."). – Defendant's Answer to Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer; Notification Accompanying Counter-Claim; Counter-Claim; and Demand for Jury Trial at ¶6

Normally, Stor-All may not assert lack of knowledge or information if the necessary facts or data involved are within Stor-All's knowledge or easily brought within its knowledge – (i.e. An answer denying information as to the truth or falsity of a matter necessarily within the knowledge of the party's managing officers is a sham, and will be treated as an admission of allegation of the Counter-Claim.) - Defendant's Answer to Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer; Notification Accompanying Counter-Claim; Counter-Claim; and Demand for Jury Trial at ¶8

It is UNDISPUED that the Stor-All's Complaint was submitted for filing by its counsel, Meranus. Therefore, it was Meranus who may be the one allowed to enter filings in this lawsuit; however, Vance took it upon herself to file pleadings/motions on February 17, 2009 entitled, "Motion for Enlargement of Time;" on February 18, 1009 entitled, "Motion of Stor-All, LLC for Leave to File Memorandum in Opposition to Motion for Rule 11 Sanctions;" and on February 18, 2009 entitled, "Stor-All, LLC's Memorandum in Opposition to Defendant's Motion for Rule 11 Sanctions," which are not permissible and Newsome has filed the required Motion to Strike and/or Objection/Opposition responsive pleading (requesting court to exercise its discretion and strike). Meranus, who had filed this lawsuit on behalf of Stor-All, is with the law firm of Schwartz Manes Ruby & Slovin, LPA("Schwartz Manes"). Vance is notnull/void. Moreover, any said entry/ruling granting relief therein is null/void. While Stor-All was made aware of said error (if such, in that said acts by Stor-All may have been a dilatory and strategic move which backfired in that it did not think Newsome – trying to take an advantage of her because she is pro se – would know that such tactics were impermissible) through documents filed by Newsome, as well as notation on Certificate of Service in pleadings/motions filed by her which stated, "Without waiving objections to this attorney's pleading and participation in this lawsuit for failure to file applicable pleading/document for appearance in this action," it did nothing to correct any such error. If the acts of Stor-All's counsel was a good-faith error, said error should have been corrected immediately; however, Stor-All elected not to do so; therefore any enlargement of time to file an Answer, respond to discovery, should have been filed by Meranus (if from filing Complaint, he is considered counsel of record – this Court's Notice of Transfer advising "YOU SHALL HAVE 28 DAYS FROM THE RECEIPT OF THIS NOTICE TO ANSWER IN THIS TRANSFERRED ACTION," was submitted to Meranus on or about February 9, 2009, as attorney of record – See EXHIBIT "3" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein) or Vance should have filed the proper document entering her as counsel in this action for Stor-All. Instead, both Meranus and Vance made a conscious, willful, deliberate and knowing decision not to enter an appearance for Vance on Stor-All's behalf – said failure which appears to be a mistake and error to Newsome's benefit and great joy.

> FIA Card Services, N.A. v. Salmon, --- N.E.2d ----, 2009 WL 57592 (Ohio App. 3 Dist.,2009) - [n. 4] An "abuse of discretion" constitutes more than an error of law or judgment and implies that the trial court acted unreasonably, arbitrarily, or unconscionably.
> Mr. Warner: Well, your Honor, for the record I would like to at least argue our motion.
>
> The Court: Well, no. I'm not going to let you argue your motion. You haven't entered an appearance. I'm not going to let you do that. That's not right.
>
> Mr. Warner: Your Honor, I could-

The Court: Mr. McCann is the one who should be here. Either that or has to be some sort of a substitution or some sort of an entry of appearance.

Mr. Warner: Well, I am from the same law firm as him, your Honor.

The Court: I don't know that. Don't see it on the record. Not here.

Mr. Warner: I can give you one of my business cards.

The Court: I don't want your business card. So we're done, aren't we?

Mr. Warner: Well, your Honor, I'd ask for a reasonable continuance then of the matter.

The Court: Well, you haven't even entered an appearance. How can you ask for a continuance?

{¶ 14} Our review of the record reveals that at the hearing on May 22, 2008, attorney Warner advised the trial court that he was admitted to the Ohio bar and licensed to practice before the courts in the state of Ohio. Additionally, attorney Warner is employed by Javitch, Block & Rathbone, L.L.P., which is the same firm that employs attorney McCann, whose name appears on the pleadings in this case on behalf of FIA. Furthermore, we note that the appearance of attorney Warner as substitute counsel for attorney McCann was in no way prejudicial to the appellee in this case.

{¶ 15} Based on the foregoing, as the appearance of attorney Warner as substitute counsel was in no way prejudicial to the appellee, we find that the trial court abused its discretion by dismissing FIA's case for failure to prosecute pursuant to Civ.R. 41(B)(1). Accordingly, FIA's sole assignment of error is sustained.

See EXHIBIT "4" - FIA Card Services, N.A. v. Salmon, attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein. (EMPHASIS ADDED)

11. Failure of Stor-All's attorneys to file timely documents with this Court, file an appearance in this instant lawsuit or keep its client abreast of the progress of its case is not EXCUSABLE NEGLECT – nor a defense that can be asserted by Stor-All. Moreover, said failure did not derive from extraordinary circumstances, and therefore, Stor-All cannot escape liability in this instant lawsuit and is subject to a default judgment of and against it in this action.

Connors v. Cook, 2004 -Ohio- 589 (Ohio.App.10.Dist.Franklin. Co.,2004) - Failure of defendant's attorney to timely file documents with the trial court, make an appearance at scheduled hearings, or keep defendant informed of the progress of her case, was not excusable neglect and did not derive from extraordinary circumstances, and thus defendant was not entitled to relief from default judgment entered against her.

12. As a matter of law, Newsome is entitled to default judgment in this action for the relief sought through her Counter-Claim filed in this instant lawsuit.

> New v. All Transp. Solution, Inc., 2008 -Ohio- 3949 (Ohio.App.10. Dist.Franklin.Co.,2008) - "Default judgment" is judgment entered against a defendant who has failed to respond to an affirmative pleading.

13. To deny Newsome the relief she seeks through this instant Motion for Default Judgment would be prejudicial; moreover, would deprive her equal protection of the laws, due process of laws, etc. Rights secured under the Constitution (Ohio and United States), Civil Rights Act and other statutes/laws governing said matters. While Newsome is proceeding in this instant lawsuit pro se, she is held accountable for any errors and/or mistakes made as those who are represented by counsel (as Stor-All) and/or counsel who are representing party(s) in a lawsuit would for the errors and mistakes of its counsel.

> Burnett v. Motorists Mut. Ins. Co., 2008 -Ohio- 2751 (Ohio,2008) - The Equal Protection Clauses of the Federal and State Constitutions require that individuals be treated in a manner similar to others in like circumstances. Const.Amend. 14; Const. Art. 1, § 2.
> E. Liverpool Edn. Assn. v. E. Liverpool City School Dist. Bd. of Edn., 2008 -Ohio- 3327 (Ohio.App.7.Dist.Columbiana.Co.,2008) - Equal Protection Clause does not prevent all classification; it simply forbids laws that treat persons differently when they are otherwise alike in all relevant respects. Const.Amend. 14; Const. Art. 1, § 2.
>
> Columbia Gas Transm. Corp. v. Levin, 882 N.E.2d 400 (Ohio,2008) - Equal Protection Clauses of state and federal constitutions require that all similarly situated individuals be treated in a similar manner. Const.Amend. 14; Const. Art. 1, § 2.
>
> Discount Cellular, Inc. v. Pub. Util. Comm., 859 N.E.2d 957 (Ohio,2007) - State and federal equal protection clauses require that all similarly situated individuals be treated in a similar manner. Const.Amend. 14; Const. Art. 1, § 2.

14. Newsome is presently proceeding in this instant lawsuit pro se and therefore, governed by the rules and procedures of this Court;

> Pro se civil litigants are bound by the same rules and procedures as those litigants who retain counsel. They are not accorded greater rights and must accept the results of their own mistakes and errors. Meyers v. First Nat. Bank, 3 Ohio App 3d 209, 44 NE2d 412 (1981) - OJP&R §10:11 at Fn.22.

therefore, a reasonable mind may conclude that Stor-All (who is represented by counsel) in this instant lawsuit is bound by its attorneys acts and their negligence in the handling of this matter – especially when EXCUSABLE NEGLECT is absent.

> Vantage Homes, Inc. v. Dailey, 2002 -Ohio- 1818 (Ohio.App.2.Dist. Miami.Co.,2002) - The neglect of a party's attorney will be imputed to the party, for purposes of relief from judgment based on excusable neglect.

15. This instant precivil MFDJ is filed in good faith and is authorized as a matter of statute/law in that Stor-All has failed to timely plead in response to Newsome's Counter-Claim; moreover it has failed to timely contest the allegations raised in the Counter-Claim and it is, therefore, proper for this Court to render default judgment of and against Stor-All Alfred, LLC for the relief sought. Ohio statutes/laws are clear that Stor-All's failure to deny the averments of Newsome's Counter-Claim within the time allowed is to be deemed an admission to said claims.

> Precivil rule decisions developed the concept of the default judgment as a judgment entered against a defendant who has failed to timely plead in response to a plaintiff's complaint. (Reese v. Proppe, 3 Ohio App 3d 103, 443 NE2d 992 (1981)). A default by a defendant consequently arises only when the defendant has failed to contest the allegations raised in the complaint and it is thus proper to render a default judgment against the defendant as liability has been admitted or "confessed" by the omission of statements refuting the plaintiff's claims (Ohio Valley Radiology v. Ohio Valley Hospital, 28 Ohio St 3d 118, 502 NE2d 599 (1986); Reese v. Proppe, 3 Ohio App 3d 103, 443 NE2d 992 (1981). See Civ R 8(D) which provides: "Averments in a pleading to which a responsive pleading is required . . . are admitted when not denied in the responsive. . .") - OJP&R[6] §68:1

16. It is a long-standing concept that Newsome is entitled to default judgment of and against Stor-All only with Stor-all has not contested the allegations by pleading or "otherwise defending" that no issues remain in this matter. Newsome's Counter-Claim provides adequate facts, evidence and legal conclusions to sustain it. Stor-All was notified through this Court's Notice of Transfer as well as Newsome's Counter-Claim that an Answer and/or responsive pleading was governed by statutory limitations wherein it is to respond.

> It is a long-standing concept that a default judgment is proper when, and only when, a defendant has not contested the plaintiff's allegations by pleading or "otherwise defend[ing]" such that no issues are present in the case. (Civ. R 55(A); Reese v. Proppe, 3 Ohio App 3d 103, 443 NE2d 992. See also Ohio Valley Radiology v. Ohio Valley Hospital, 28 Ohio St 3d 118, 502 NE2d 599 (1986); Gibbons v. Price, 33 Ohio App 3d 4, 514 NE2d 127 (1986)). Civil Rule 55(A) provides that a default judgment may be rendered when a party against whom a judgment for affirmative relief is sought has failed to contest the opposing party's allegations by either pleading or otherwise defending as provided by the Civil Rules. (See Reese; Ohio Valley; Gibbons; and Westmoreland v. Valley Homes Mut. Housing Corp., 42 Ohio St 2d 291, 328 NE2d 406 (1975)). This rule applies to original claims as well as to counterclaims (See Civ R 55(C)), and is logically consistent with the general rule of pleading contained in Ohio Civil Rule 8(D), which reads in part that "[a]verments in a pleading to which a responsive pleading is required . . . are admitted when not denied in the responsive pleading." - OJP&R §68:1.

ORCP RULE 8. General Rules of Pleading

(A) Claims for relief. A pleading that sets forth a claim for relief, whether an original claim, counterclaim, cross-claim, or third-party claim, shall contain (1) a short and plain statement of the claim showing that the party is entitled to relief, and (2) a demand for judgment for the relief to which the party claims to be entitled. . . .

(B) Defenses; Form of denials. A party shall state in short and plain terms the party's defenses to each claim asserted and shall admit or deny the averments upon which the adverse party relies. If the party is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of an averment, the party shall so state and this has the effect of a denial. Denials shall fairly meet the substance of the averments denied. When a pleader intends in good faith to deny only a part or a qualification of an averment, the pleader shall specify so much of it as is true and material and shall deny the remainder. Unless the pleader intends in good faith to controvert all the averments of the preceding pleading, the pleader may make the denials as specific denials or designated averments or paragraphs, or the pleader may generally deny all the averments except the designated averments or paragraphs as the pleader expressly admits; but, when the pleader does intend to controvert all its averments, including averments of the grounds upon which the court's jurisdiction depends, the pleader may do so by general denial subject to the obligations set forth in Civ. R. 11.

(C) Affirmative defenses. In pleading to a preceding pleading, a party shall set forth affirmatively accord and satisfaction, . . .and any other matter constituting an avoidance or affirmative defense. When a party has mistakenly designated a defense as a counterclaim or a counterclaim as a defense, the court, if justice so requires, shall treat the pleading as if there had been a proper designation.

(D) Effect of failure to deny. Averments in a pleading to which a responsive pleading is required, other than those as to the amount of damage, are admitted when not denied in the responsive pleading. . . .

17. The record evidence will support that this instant MFDJ is permissible under the statutes/laws governing Rule 55 actions and provides for a single-step default procedure when Stor-All has failed to timely plead or otherwise defend against Newsome's Counter-Claim, then Newsome after time for Stor-All to Answer and/or otherwise plead has lapsed, may apply to this Court for default judgment. Through this instant MFDJ Newsome hereby applies for default judgment. This instant MFDJ is timely filed.

> Unlike its federal counterpart, Ohio Civil Rule 55 provides for a single step default procedure.[7] If the defendant fails to plead or otherwise defend, the plaintiff after answer time expires, applies to the court for a default judgment. A hearing time is set. After hearing, the court grants a default judgment for a liquidated or an unliquidated sum. OJP&R §68:2.

18. Pursuant to Rule 7(B) of the ORCP the record evidence will support that this instant MFDJ meets the pleading requirements for the relief sought herein and contain the grounds to sustain the relief sought.

> Ohio Civil Rule 7(B) provides that the motion should contain the grounds on which the motion is based and the relief sought by the motion. Additionally, the motion or application should contain the pertinent facts, including the fact that the defendant was properly served, that the defendant had failed to answer or otherwise defend, and that the plaintiff is entitled to the default judgment in the amount demanded in the complaint. - OJP&R §68:3.

19. Upon review of the Docket in this action, prior to the lapse in time for filing an Answer and or responsive pleading/motion to Newsome's Counter-Claim, Stor-All had only filed ONE Notification of Appearance and Substitution by its counsel, Michael E. Lively. While Stor-All's counsel, David Meranus – counsel filing the Complaint in this instant lawsuit – he may not have filed a Notification Form and/or Entry of Appearance. Newsome is not clear on status of his appearance in this matter based on such facts. However, is thinking that because he filed the Complaint in this action and Notice of Transfer was served on him by this Court and his name appears on the Complaint filed in this lawsuit, neither Lively nor Meranus filed and Answer and/or responsive pleading/motion prior to the lapse in time for filing of March 9, 2009, on behalf of Stor-All. Therefore, as a matter of law, Newsome is providing Stor-All's counsel of record with Notice of her MFDJ as well as said MFDJ. Under the statutes/laws governing said matters, through this instant MFDJ Stor-All has been timely placed on notice of the default judgment being sought against in this instant lawsuit. Stor-All need not attempt to try and unlawfully/illegal submit an out-of-time Answer and/or responsive pleading/motion to Newsome's Counter-Claim (in which it apprears it is attempting to do) in that any such hearing on the issues raised herein will be on the merits of the default judgment itself and nothing else. Defendant will move within the time allowed to have Stor-All's recent out-of-time filing of its pleading containing its Answer stricken from the record.

> If the defending party has appeared in the action, the trial court must, by virtue of Civil Rule 55(A), afford that party seven days' notice of the hearing on the motion for default judgment before entering > judgment. (Ohio Valley). Where the party against whom judgment by default is sought has appeared in the action, he or she (or his or her representative) must be served with written notice of the application for judgment at least seven days prior to the hearing on such application.

[7] Staff Notes, Civ R 55(A). The default procedure under Fed R Civ P 55 is a two-step procedure. If a defendant fails to plead or otherwise defend, the plaintiff, after answer time expires, applies to the clerk for a default entry. If the plaintiff's action involves a sum certain, the clerk may enter the default judgment for the sum certain. If, however, the action involves an unliquidated sum, the clerk may make default entry on the plaintiff's application, but the court after hearing grants the default judgment for a particular unliquidated sum. See Staff Notes, Civ R 55(A); Fed R Civ P 55 (a)(b).

> The clear purpose of the seven-day notice provision of Civil Rule 55(A) is to afford notice to the party who has entered an appearance in the case and against whom a default judgment is sought (Dissent in Ries Flooring Co., Inc. v. Dileno Const. Co., 53 Ohio App 2d 255, 373 NE2d 1266 (1977)). The rule was not intended to prevent the trial court from proceeding to enter a judgment in a case that is at issue and is set for trial after notice is given and a party absents himself or herself from the trial. (Disssent; see also Ohio Valley). Furthermore, due process requires that a defendant who has "appeared" in an action be served with written notice of the application for default judgment seven days prior to the hearing on the application; i.e., on the merits of the default judgment ITSELF. (Amiri v. Thropp, 80 Ohio App 3d 44, 608 NE2d 824 (1992)). - OJP&R §68:4.

20. Newsome's Counter-Claim provides the required burden of proof and establishes a prima facie case which went uncontested by Stor-All. For example, see Defendant's Answer to Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer; Notification Accompanying Counter-Claim*; Counter-Claim; and Demand for Jury Trial* at ¶¶70, 71, 109, 111 and 112. Therefore, warranting this Court's rendering a default judgment of and against Stor-All for the relief Newsome seeks in her Counter-Claim.

> If the plaintiff maintains his or her burden of proof and establishes a prima facie case, the court may render the appropriate judgment. (Garrison Carpet Mills v. Lenest, Inc., 65 Ohio App 2d 251, 417 NE2d 1277 (1979)).

21. While a default judgment ruling may seem to be a harsh remedy, the facts, evidence and legal conclusions in this instant lawsuit supports that Newsome is entitled to default judgment in that Stor-All willingly and knowingly waived any rights it may assert in to file an affirmative defense and/or responsive pleading/motion to Defendant's Answer and Counter-Claim filed in this instant lawsuit. Moreover, the record evidence will support that any such failure by Stor-All to file an Answer and/or responsive pleading/motion to the Counter-Claim in this instant lawsuit is a direct and proximate result of its own bad-faith and culpable acts.

> Haddad v. English, 763 N.E.2d 1199 (Ohio.App.9.Dist.Lorain. Co.,2001) - The granting of a default judgment, analogous to the granting of a dismissal, is a harsh remedy that should be imposed only when the actions of the faulting party create a presumption of willfulness or bad faith.

22. Stor-All can present no EXCUSABLE NEGLECT for its failure to file a timely Answer and/or responsive pleading/motion to Defendant's Counter-Claim filed in this instant lawsuit. Stor-All is represented by counsel in this lawsuit; therefore, there is no excuse for its failure to file a timely Answer and/or responsive pleading/motion to Defendant's Counter-Claim filed in this lawsuit.

> Columbus Show Case Co. v. CEE Contracting, Inc., 599 N.E.2d 881 (Ohio.App.10.Dist.Franklin.Co.,1992) - Although defendant's president's letter in response to complaint did not constitute a pleading, trial court properly overruled plaintiff's motion for default judgment, where president was unaware that he could not represent "his" corporation, but upon learning the problem obtained counsel who promptly opposed the motion.

23. No Answer and/or responsive pleading/motion to Newsome's Counter-Claim have been timely filed by Stor-All in this instant lawsuit. Therefore, Newsome is entitled to a default judgment in this instant lawsuit.

> Dupal v. Daedlow, 572 N.E.2d 147 (Ohio.App.8.Dist.Cuyahoga. Co.,1989) - Once party has answered, default judgment cannot be rendered.

24. If Stor-All is disappointed with its attorneys' handling of this matter, its remedy is against its counsel rather than a motion to obtain relief from judgment on grounds of excusable neglect (which in this instant lawsuit is clearly lacking). The record evidence clearly supports Stor-All was timely, properly and adequately placed on notice of it errors through Newsome's filing in this instant lawsuit; however, made a conscious and willful decision not to correct any said errors and/or mistakes (if that – in that Stor-All's acts may have been strategic/defense tactics which backfired to its demise and Newsome's advantage). Thus, further supporting Stor-All's bad faith and culpable acts led to its default.

> Moore v. Emmanuel Family Training Center, Inc., 479 N.E.2d 879 (Ohio,1985) - If an attorney's conduct falls substantially below what is reasonable under the circumstances, client's remedy is against attorney rather than motion to obtain relief from judgment on grounds of excusable neglect; "excusable neglect" is not conduct evidencing a complete disregard for the judicial system. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 60(B)(1).
> Midwest Sportservice, Inc. v. Andreoli, 444 N.E.2d 1050 (Ohio.App.1.Dist.Hamilton.Co.,1981) - Neglect of a party's attorney will be imputed to the party for purposes of determining merits of claim to set aside default judgment on the basis of excusable neglect. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 60(B)(1).
> Lazarus v. Cleveland Household Supply Co., 154 N.E. 343 (Ohio.App.8.Dist.Cuyahoga.Co.,1926) - Inattention to professional duty on part of attorney with reference to pending litigation, whereby default judgment is entered, will not be excused because party himself is negligent.

Williams v. Heisley, 1 Cleve. Law Rep. 196 (Ohio.Com.Pl.,1878) - The negligence of a party's attorney in not attending to the case is not ground to vacate the judgment for casualty or misfortune.

25. This Court will not be abusing its discretion in granting Newsome's MFDJ in that the record evidence clearly supports timely notifications to Stor-All of the consequences of not filing an Answer and/or responsive pleading/motion to the Counter-Claim filed in this instant lawsuit.

New v. All Transp. Solution, Inc., 2008 -Ohio- 3949 (Ohio.App.10. Dist.Franklin.Co.,2008) - Proper standard of review of decisions denying relief from default judgment is abuse of discretion.

Guardian Alarm Co. v. Mahmoud, 849 N.E.2d 58 (Ohio.App.6.Dist. Lucas.Co.,2006) - In appeal involving denial of motion for relief from default judgment in breach-of-contract action concerning alleged failure to pay for security services, Court of Appeals could not reverse trial judge's decision unless trial judge's attitude in reaching that decision was arbitrary, unreasonable, or unconscionable. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 60(B).

Terwoord v. Harrison, 226 N.E.2d 111 (Ohio,1967) - Court of Appeals, in ruling on propriety or impropriety of order of trial court overruling motion to vacate default judgment, had only to rule upon limited question of whether or not trial judge abused his discretion in refusing to vacate order.

26. Stor-All's failure to answer Newsome's Counter-Claim and/or otherwise plead and/or file a responsive pleading/motion to Counter-Claim, as a matter of law, is deemed an admission of the averments and/or claims asserted. Due to Stor-All's failure to timely answer Newsome's Counter-Claim, allegations in said Counter-Claim must be taken as true. Moreover, Stor-All's failure to answer Newsome's Counter-Claim is a waiver or abandonment of ALL defenses it may want to assert. Any such delayed and untimely pleading containing Stor-All's Answer, will be met with a motion to strike – Stor-All prior to filing any such pleading had been duly notified.

Carter Wood Specialty Co. v. Drug & Store Fixture, 50 N.E.2d 188 (Ohio.App.8.Dist.Cuyahoga.Co.,1942) - Allegations in petition must be taken as true as against a defendant in default of answer.

Detamore v. Snavely's Adm'r, Dayton 101(Ohio.Super,1872) - A failure to answer is a waiver or abandonment of ALL defenses.

27. Because Stor-All has failed to file Answer Newsome's Counter-Claim, Ohio law provides that she is entitled to default judgment and is not required to provide any further proof of the elements of her claims alleged. Newsome's Counter-Claim was supported by facts, evidence and legal conclusion and indeed required a responsive pleading, wherein Stor-All has waived or abandoned in its failure to file an Answer or otherwise plead and/or responsive pleading/motion to Newsome's Counter-Claim.

> In re Rebarchek, 293 B.R. 400 (Bankr.N.D.Ohio.,2002) - Ohio law provides that a default judgment obviates a plaintiff's burden to prove the elements of the claim alleged.
> Bingham v. Slabach, 2008 -Ohio- 5555 (Ohio.App.5.Dist.Stark. Co.,2008) -Passenger . . .was entitled to damages for future pain and suffering, though she did not present any medical testimony regarding her injuries or prognosis, in action brought by car's owner and passenger against tortfeasor to recover damages arising from accident, as tortfeasor failed to file an answer to complaint, default judgment was entered against tortfeasor as to liability, and, thus, tortfeasor was deemed to have admitted all allegations in complaint, such that only remaining issue was amount of damages.
> City of Girard v. Leatherworks Partnership, 2005 -Ohio- 4779 (Ohio.App.11.Dist.Trumbull.Co.,2005) - Record title holders of building that was destroyed in a fire were precluded from arguing that their alleged full payment of contractor in charge of the demolition of the building prevented subcontractor that provided asbestos abatement services from bringing unjust enrichment action; title holders failed to answer subcontractor's complaint and had default judgment entered against them, and only issue remaining for trial was damages. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 55(A).

28. At the March 10, 2009, hearing on Stor-All's Bifurcation motion, counsel (Meranus) advised the Court of Stor-All's intent to drag this matter out – i.e. a reasonable mind may conclude from statement by him that he does not know how long this lawsuit may last. Well now he knows through Newsome's instant MFDJ, should justice prevail, not long at all in that she is entitled to the relief she seeks as a direct and proximate result of Stor-All's failure to Answer and/or otherwise plead in the time allowed under the statutes/laws governing said matters.

29. The record evidence supports that Stor-All's and representative's prying into affairs of Newsome – being a busybody in her matters – has cost it immensely. Oh never mind, according to Meranus in his conversation with Newsome on February 6, 2009, the insurance company (gather that is Liberty Mutual) will pay. Stor-All and its representatives have gone to great lengths to see that Newsome was terminated from her employment[8] – in furtherance of criminal acts it having knowledge of and efforts of interfering with Newsome's engagement in protected activity. Again, such acts which has cost it immensely and to Newsome's advantage. Hey if Newsome is not wanted in such places of employment then Stor-All should be held accountable for its culpable *acts and punished for its crimes and civil wrongs leveled against Newsome.

[8] . . . Plaintiff experienced substantial difficulty finding subsequent employment, and she ultimately had to leave the state. . . . An award of punitive damages. . . An award of exemplary damages against the plaintiff's former employer was affirmed on appeal . . . [FN 89] Flanigan v. Prudential Federal Sav. & Loan Asso. (1986), 720 P2d 257. . . 105 CCH LC ¶ 55614 (verdict for $95,000 economic damages, $100,000 compensatory damages for mental distress, and $1,300,000 punitive damages). WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED Defendant in keeping with Rules 1(B) and 55 of the Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure, moves this Court for an entry and judgment granting default judgment of and against Plaintiff, Stor-All Alfred, LLC in the amount set forth in Defendant's Answer to Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer; Notification Accompanying Counter-Claim; Counter-Claim; and Demand for Jury Trial's PRAY FOR RELIEF for the following:

HAMILTON COUNTY, OHIO

STOR-ALL ALFRED, LLC 1109 Alfred Street Cincinnati, Ohio Plaintiff	:	CASE NO.: A0901302 JUDGE: JOHN ANDREW WEST
vs.	:	DEFENDANT'S MOTION TO STRIKE PLAINTIFF'S MOTION FOR PROTECTIVE/RESTRAINING ORDER AGAINST DEFENDANT DENISE V. NEWSOME; REQUESTS FOR RULE 11 SANCTIONS; AND MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT
Denise V. Newsome Post Office Box 14731 Cincinnati, Ohio 45250 Defendant	:	(JURY TRIAL DEMANDED IN THIS ACTION)

COMES NOW Defendant, Denise V. Newsome – a/k/a Denise Newsome ("Defendant" and/or "Newsome") and files this, her Motion to Strike Plaintiff's Motion for Protective/Restraining Order Against Defendant Denise V. Newsome; Request for Rule 11 Sanctions; and Memorandum in Support (Jury Trial Demanded in this Action) ("MTSPMFPRO") pursuant to Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure ("ORCP") Rule 12(F) governing matters regarding motion to strike; ORCP Rule 12(G) governing matters regarding consolidation of defenses and objections; and ORCP Rule 11 and Ohio Revised Code ("RC") §2323.51 governing sanctions and/or signing of pleadings, motions, and other documents. Through this instant pleading Newsome moves to strike and opposes/objects to Plaintiff's, Stor-All Alfred, LLC's ("Stor-All" and/or "Plaintiff") Motion for Protective/Restraining Order Against Defendant Denise V. Newsome ("MFPRO") – submitted by its attorney, Michael E. Lively, (hereinafter "Lively"). In support thereof Newsome states and provides testimony herein:

EXHIBIT 67

MOTION TO STRIKE/CONSOLIDATION OF DEFENSES

Pursuant to Rule 12 (F) of the Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure, Newsom e through this instant pleading moves this Court to strike the statements of Stor-All's MFPRO. Under said Rule it states:

> Rule 12(F) Motion to strike. Upon motion made by a party before responding to a pleading or, if no responsive pleading is perm itted by these rules, . . . the court may order stricken from any pleading any insufficient claim or defense or any redundant, immaterial, impertinent, or scandalous matter.

Therefore, in an effort to provide specificity Newsome moves for the striking of Stor-All's MFPRO statements which include as follows in: (1) MFPRO: (a) Paragraph beginning, "Com es now Plaintiff, Stor-All Alfred, LLC, ("Plaintiff") by and through undersigned counsel," and the remaining contents of MFPRO; and (2) Stor-All 's Memorandum in Support of MFPRO (a) on Page 3, paragraph beginning, "T his counsel was recentl y retained to take over defense;" (b) paragraph beginning, "This counsel has reviewe d, and wishe s to bring to the Court 's attention;" (c) paragraph beginning, "These statem ents can b e reasonabl y construed a s a phy sical threat of Plaintiff;" (d) paragraph beginning, "Given the above, the undersigned respect fully requests that the Court issue an order as requested;" and the remaining contents of Stor-All's Memorandum in Support; (3) the entire Affidavit of Attor ney Michael E. Lively including paragra ph beginning, "I Micha el E. Lively , being duly sworn;" Para graphs num bered 1., 2. and 3; along with the rem aining contents of said Affidavit; and (4) proposed "Order Granting Plaintiff" s Motion for Protective/Restraining Order" (hereinafter, inclusively known as "STRICKEN STATEMENT(S)/DOCUMENT(S)"). Said request is being m ade pursuant to ORCP Rule 12(F) and t he applicable statutes/laws governing said m atters in that Stor-All 's statements and docum ents provided in its MFPRO are insufficient, imm aterial, irrelevant, scandalous, frivolous, vexatious, and/or sham, etc.

Furthermore, for purpose s of expedition, saving of tim e and minimize costs associated with litigation, Newsome consolidates her m otions/pleadings herein pursuant to ORCP Rule 12(G) which states:

> Rule 12(G) Consolidation of defenses and objections. A party who makes a motion under this rule must join with it the other motions herein provided for and then available to him. If a party makes a motion under this rule and does not include therein all defenses and objections then available to him which this rule permits to be raised by motion, he shall not thereafter assert by motion or responsive pleading, any of the defenses or objections so omitted. . .

Newsome moves this Court through this instant MT SPMFPRO to strike Stor-All's MFPRO and/or the STRICKEN STATEMENT(S)/DOCUMENT(S) therein.

In support thereof and without waiving the relief sought Newsome further states and shares her testimony:

Cliché: "Oh what a tiny web weave when we practice to deceive!"

1. This instant MTSPMFPRO is submitted in good faith and is not submitted for purposes of delay, harassment, hindering proceedings, embarrassment, obstructing the administration of justice, vexatious litigation, increasing the cost of litigation, etc. and is filed to protect the rights of Newsome.

2. For this Court to grant Stor-All's MFPRO would be prejudicial to Newsome, abuse of discretion, and clearly erroneous, etc.

3. Newsome as a Christian and finds the assertions made in Stor-All's MFPRO to be scandalous, slanderous, defamatory, insulting, offensive, derogatory, assignation of her character/reputation, etc.

4. Newsome believes the record evidence will support that Stor-All's MFPRO is a common practice used by certain whites and confirms beliefs shared by Newsome and members of her class that certain whites commit criminal/civil violations and when citizens (such as Newsome) comes forth to expose legal wrongs, certain whites are careful not to leave smoking guns which would expose such criminal/civil wrongs, and proceed to attempt (at times are successful) to paint such victims (especially African-Americans) as being hostile, violent, full of anger, terrorist, revengeful, etc. Moreover, certain whites using their masked terminology (multi-conspiracy) to project their victims as paranoid, delusional, serial litigators, the boy who cried wolf, potential murders, etc. as evidenced in Stor-All's MFPRO. Thus, using their power, positions relations, etc. to destroy innocent lives African-Americans that object to certain whites' criminal/civil wrongs against them.

5. Newsome is a strong and educated African-American. An African-American who for years certain whites have gone to great lengths to destroy her life; however, have been unsuccessful. The record evidence clearly supports that Newsome does not result to such criminal acts as that committed by Carl Brandon to which Stor-All and its representatives were attempting to drive her to; however, believes in taking Stor-All and those who commit such criminal/civil wrongs against her to court. Thus, clearly supporting that Stor-All's MFRPO to be scandalous, slanderous, defamatory, insulting, offensive, derogatory, assignation of her character/reputation, etc.

6. A good example of this was clearly evidenced during the 2008 United States Presidential Campaign where there was an African-American candidate (Barack Obama) and a white candidate (John McCain). You had certain white campaign strategist relying on the ignorance and fears of certain whites who would bite at such tactics and paint Barack Obama as a terrorist, hostile, angry, etc. person. Instead, it was the white candidate (John McCain) who proved to be short tempered, easily irritable, angry, hostile, etc. Moreover, during one debate disrespectful and would not look at the African American in that he may have felt Obama should not have been on the same platform as he. McCain's strategist preying on the ignorance and fears of certain whites that would feed into such racial prejudices and stereotyping as they were portraying of Obama.

A. STOR-ALL'S ASSERTIONS IN MFPRO CLEARLY GOES AGAINST DEFENDANT'S CHRISTIAN BELIEFS:

7. Newsome can only speak for herself, and that any such assertion addressed by Stor-All and its counsel, Lively, regarding her statement stating, "Stor-All and its representatives have stooped to criminal acts as a direct intent to cause Newsome harm/injury. Moreover, efforts taken by Stor All, its counsel, its insurance provider (Liberty Mutual) being done in hopes of driving Newsome to the point they did Carl Brandon, Jena 6 victims, and who knows who else" is true and the record evidence in this instant law suit supports same; and Stor-All and its counsel has presented no evidence to rebut that presented by Newsome to support said statement. Therefore, a reasonable mind may conclude that Stor-All's assertion stating, "These statements can be reasonably construed as a physical threat to Plaintiff, its representatives, its legal counsel and perhaps even the Court itself" is scandalous, slanderous, farce, sham, false and misleading and merely efforts to insult this Court's and the Newsome's intelligence. It was a good thing this Court in its March 10, 2009, hearing in this matter had an opportunity to meet Newsome and observe her demeanor and respect to this Court and opposing counsel. Of course Lively conveniently did not make an appearance at March 10, 2009 hearing held in this matter; however, used his time to remain behind for purposes of drafting and filing such scandalous and frivolous, etc. document as Stor-All's MFPRO. Further supporting evidence that no such scandalous assertions as that presented by Stor-All and its counsel can be sustained and neither does it support the relief it seeks in its MFPRO.

8. Stor-All's counsel, Lively, has failed to produce any evidence as to where Newsome has shown up at his office. Stor-All's counsel, Meranus and Vance have offices downtown. Newsome has a duty to mitigate and/or save costs – Newsome is currently unemployed as a direct and proximate result of actions taken by Stor-All and/or its counsel/representatives – therefore, it is cheaper to submit copies via hand delivery rather than by U.S. Mail for offices which are in the downtown area. Thus, when necessary, Newsome will mail documents and/or hand deliver to opposing counsel. Furthermore, Stor-All has failed to produce any evidence to support that during any such hand deliveries of documents filed and served by Newsome, that she committed acts warranting the relief sought through Stor-All's MFPRO. Therefore, a reasonable mind may conclude, that Stor-All and its counsel is attempting to seek ways to increase the costs and/or make it difficult for Newsome to litigate this matter – thus to their disappointment, she will be moving for a default judgment to which she is entitled pursuant to the applicable statutes and laws governing said matters.

9. Stor-All and its counsel failed through their MFPRO to present any facts, evidence or legal conclusion to support its motion. All that is presented in said MFPRO are a clutter of words lacking substance. Moreover, Stor-All has failed to show that Newsome has a criminal record or has a history of committing such crimes they are asserting she is capable of committing.

10. While Stor-All and its counsel assert, "As indicated in her various Motions and briefs filed in this matter, and as confirmed by other counsel involved in this case, Defendant has made it her practice to hand deliver pleadings, motions and other documents personally to the offices of other counsel" – p. 3 of MFPRO; however, it and its counsel has failed to produce any facts or evidence to support that during any such hand delivery of pleadings by Newsome to opposing counsel, that she behaved in a threatening manner, was hostile, disrespectful, etc. Moreover, that there is any evidence of Newsome stalking and/or hanging out around their offices. Therefore, a reasonable mind may conclude that Stor-All's MFPRO is scandalous, slanderous, defamatory, insulting, offensive, derogatory, assignation of her character/reputation, etc. Moreover, Stor-All's MFPRO was provided for purposes of frivolous and ill intent – delay, hindering proceedings, harassment, embarrassment, intimidation, obstructing the administration of justice, vexatious litigation, increasing the cost of litigation, deprivation of rights, deprivation of equal protection of the laws, deprivation of due process of laws, etc.

11. No there are laws to address the work of evil and malicious acts as Stor-All and its counsel/representatives. Said laws being designed to expose and rid the world of the work of the evil and malicious discriminatory practices that Stor-All and its counsel/representatives seeks to breed through their hatred towards Newsome and members of her class.

> Neff v. Civil Air Patrol, 916 F.Supp. 710 (S.D.Ohio.E.Div., 1996) - . . . designed to rid the world of work of the evil of discrimination because of individual's race. . .

12. No offense intended; however, Stor-All's MFPRO is merely an underhanded effort to paint African-Americans as those who are hostile, full of hate, revenge, rage, etc. To the contrary. Newsome harbors no ill will and would commit no such criminal acts asserted by Stor-All and its counsel. Newsome is in a very good position in this lawsuit-in that Stor-All has waived its rights to file an Answer and/or responsive pleading or Rule 12 motion - and even if she was not, no such criminal acts asserted by Stor-All against her in its MFPRO would be committed. It is a known fact that such unlawful practices as Stor-All, its counsel, its representatives, etc. in contacting Newsome's employer to get her terminated is a common practice by certain whites to keep African-Americans oppressed. It was Stor-All who brought this instant lawsuit and, therefore, as a matter of law, Newsome was entitled to file a counterclaim. To Stor-All's disappointment and not taking the Carl Brandon route, Newsome has brought this matter to the Court to allow a jury to decide the matter. Moreover, Stor-All and its counsel/representatives are aware that rather than taking such matters into her own hand, Newsome also believes in bringing such unlawful acts of Stor-All and others to the proper agency's attention to address such criminal/civil wrongs. No, being the Christian that she is, Newsome believes in relying upon the laws to decide this matter – what would be the purpose of claiming to be a Christian and then stooping to the level in which Stor-All and its counsel/representatives were trying to take her. No when one is on the housetop he/she does not need to come down:

> I Timothy 1:
> (8) But we know that the law is good, if a man use it lawfully;
>
> (9) Knowing this, that the law is not made for a righteous man, but for the lawless and disobedient, for the ungodly and for sinners, for unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murders of mothers, for manslayers.

> I Peter 4:
> (12) Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you;
>
> (13) But rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ 's sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy.
>
> (15) But let none of you suffer as a murder, or as a thief, or as an evildoer, or as a busybody in other men's matters.
> (16) Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God on this behalf.

It is apparent the laws have been put in place for such as Stor-All, its counsel and representatives; therefore, Newsome is exercising her rights under the governing statutes/laws. It is Stor-All and its counsel/representatives who have engaged in criminal acts, stalking Newsome from job-to-job, contacting her employer to get her terminated, etc. Such evil deeds which are being rewarded with them falling into the traps they set for Newsome – in which Newsome is now allowed to recover from damages/liability. Oh what a tiny web one weaves when he/she practice to deceive.

> Psalm 141:
> (9) Keep me from the snares which they have laid for me, and the gins of the workers of iniquity.
>
> (10) Let the wicked fall into their own nets, whilst that I withal escape.

> Psalm 35:

13. No Stor-All, its counsel, insurance provider (Liberty Mutual), etc. are fully aware of how difficult it is for African-Americans to uncover such unlawful /illegal acts. Because rarely do they leave a smoking gun behind. However, in this instant matter, Stor-All's counsel on February 6, 2009, made it known of his knowledge of Newsome's engagement in protected activity (s); moreover, providing said information in efforts of furthering their crim inal acts in extorting m onies from Newsom e. Then Stor-All 's counsel (Va nce) for its insurance carrier (Liberty Mutual) thought that entering a pleadings/motions in this lawsuit revealing Stor-All 's insurance carrier' s i dentity since Newsome had recently settled another m atter with an insured of Liberty Mutual,[1] that it as the insurance com pany in this m atter would influence her decision in this m atter – it did, it confir med what Meranus stat ed on February 6, 2009, that Stor-All 's insura nce carrier woul d be the one pay ing for the dam ages/injury sustained; m oreover, provide d Newsome with inform ation needed to determine the common denominat or in m atters involving he r. See EXHIBIT "1" - Letter to David Meranus of February 6, 2009 attached hereto and incorporat ed by reference. To Stor-All 's and it s counsel's/representatives' disappointm ent, Newsom e knew that they were engaging in criminal activities; however, knew she (being African-Am erican) would have to obtain evidence and patiently wait until th ey revealed such crim inal acts as Meranus did on February 6, 2009. Thus, pertinent inform ation Newsom e believes is very beneficial and crucial to any investigation into the criminal/civil wrongs leveled against her.

15. In this instant lawsuit, this Court has a defendant who is an African-American female, graduating from one of the top ACCREDITED African-American universities (Florida A&M University) in the United States defending this matter against those who are white and have been schooled in the law – only going three or more years longer to obtain their law degree; however, they have failed in getting the job done. No the traps set for Newsome (implemented by certain whites and used repeatedly against Newsome and members of her class), were the very traps which has ensnared Stor-All, its counsel and/or representatives.

B. STOR-ALL'S FAILURE TO FILE ENTRY OF APPEARANCE FOR ATTORNEY MOLLY G. VANCE IS PREJUDICIAL TO DEFENDANT:

16. It appears that Stor-All's counsel, Michael E. Lively ("Lively"), is still attempting to have this Court recognize and accept the appearance of Molly G. Vance ("Vance") in this instant lawsuit, for to do so would allow Stor-All to enter him as a "substitution" for Vance, when Stor-All cannot do this as a matter of law. It is UNDISPUED that the Stor-All's Complaint was submitted for filing by its counsel, Meranus. Therefore, it was Meranus who may be the one allowed to enter filings in this lawsuit; however, Vance took it upon herself to file pleadings/motions on February 17, 2009 entitled, "Motion for Enlargement of Time;" February 18, 1009 entitled, "Motion of Stor-All, LLC for Leave to File Memorandum in Opposition to Motion for Rule 11 Sanctions;" and on February 18, 2009 entitled, "Stor-All, LLC's Memorandum in Opposition to Defendant's Motion for Rule 11 Sanctions," which are not permissible and Newsome has filed the required Motion to Strike and/or Objection/Opposition responsive pleading (requesting court to exercise its discretion and strike). Meranus, who had filed this lawsuit on behalf of Stor-All, is with the law firm of Schwartz Manes Ruby & Slovin, LPA("Schwartz Manes"). Vance is notnull/void. Moreover, any said entry /ruling granting relief therein is null/void. While Stor-All was made aware of said error (if such, in that said acts by Stor-All may have been a dilatory and strategic move which backfired in that it did not think Newsome – trying to take an advantage of her because she is pro se – would know that such tactics were impermissible) through documents filed by Newsome, as well as notation on Certificate of Service in pleadings/motions filed by her which stated, "Without waiving objections to this attorney's pleading and participation in this lawsuit for failure to file applicable pleading/document for appearance in this action," it did nothing to correct any such error. If the acts of Stor-All's counsel was a good-faith error, said error should have been corrected immediately; however, Stor-All elected not to do so; therefore any enlargement of time to file an Answer, respond to discovery, should have been filed by Meranus (if from filing Complaint, he is considered counsel of record – this Court's Notice of Transfer advising "YOU SHALL HAVE 2 8

DAYS FROM T HE RECEIPT OF T HIS NOTICE TO ANSWE R IN T HIS TRANSFERRED ACTION," was submitted to Meranus on or about February 9, 2009, as attorney of record – See EXHIBIT "2" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein) or Vance should have filed the proper document entering her as counsel in this action for Stor-All. Instead, both Meranus and Vance m ade a conscious, willful, deliberate and knowing decisi on not to enter an appearance for Vance on Stor-All's behalf – said failure which appears to be a mistake and error to Newsome's benefit and great joy.

{¶ 14} Our review of the record reveals that at the hearing on May 22, 2008, attorney Warner advised the trial court that he was adm itted to the Ohio bar and licensed to practice before the c ourts in the state of Ohio. Additionally, attorney Warner is employed by Javitch, Block & Rathbone, L .L.P., which is the sa me firm that employs at torney McCann, whose name appears on the pleadings in this case on behalf > of FIA. Furthermore, we note that the appearance of attorney Warner as substitute counsel for attorney McCann was in no way prejudicial to the appellee in this case.

> {¶ 15} Based on the foregoing, as the appearance of attorney Warner as substitute counsel was in no way prejudicial to the appellee, we find that the trial court abused its discretion by dismissing FIA's case for failure to prosecute pursuant to Civ.R. 41(B)(1). Accordingly, FIA's sole assignment of error is sustained.

See EXHIBIT "3" - FIA Card Services, N.A. v. Salmon, attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein. (EMPHASIS ADDED)

17. A reasonable mind may conclude that Meranus' assertion in this instant lawsuit through Stor-All's Bifurcation motion is appearance for representation and counsel on the Complaint ONLY and not Newsome's Counter-Claim; moreover, Stor-All's acceptance of Meranus' abandonment of the Counter-Claim filed in this lawsuit. The record evidence will support that Stor-All having a great deal of time to retain counsel in that it was served with Newsome's Answer and Counter-Claim on January 29, 2009, and was made aware prior to its filing of a Complaint against Newsome, it would be met with a counter action; moreover, its insurance company having access to an arsenal of law firms to represent its insured Stor-All. Nevertheless, Stor-All elected to allow Molly G. Vance to file pleading/motion on its behalf without entering an appearance.

18. Stor-All and its counsel knew that an appearance need to be filed for Vance; however, waived such. A reasonable mind may also conclude that Stor-All's failure to require that its counsel enter an appearance may be due to its knowledge that there may have been a " CONFLICT OF INTEREST" and/or Vance doing so to avoid liability and sanctions of and against her as well as Stor-All. Moreover, a reasonable mind may conclude that Vance's acts were deliberately done to take advantage of the fact of her knowledge that Newsome was proceeding in this lawsuit pro se and would not think to address such prejudicial practices and filings prohibited by statutes/laws. Newsome has filed the required pleading/motion requesting the striking of documents or opposition/objection to documents filed by Vance on behalf of Stor-All. As a direct and proximate result of such unlawful practices of Stor-All, Newsome has been prejudiced. Newsome filing timely pleadings/motions to preserve her rights on this issue.

19. Based upon the facts, evidence and legal conclusions presented in Newsome's Answer and Counter-Claim and her subsequent pleadings/motions, a reasonable mind may conclude that Stor-All's acts are in furtherance of its attempts to obstruct the administration of justice, vexatiously increase the costs of litigation, etc. in that it and its counsel were successful in getting Newsome terminated from her place of employment.

20. Because Newsome has challenged Vance's appearance in this lawsuit, this Court must decide this issue on the record on this matter. Therefore, upon review of the Docket Sheet and/or Appearance Docket in this action, it is clearly evident that Vance has not filed an appearance in this matter. See EXHIBIT "4" - Notification of Clarification, attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein.

> Terry v. C laypool, 65 N.E.2d 8 83 (Ohio. App.3.Dist.Hancock. Co.,1945) - Where appearance of a defendant in an action is in issue, the m atter must be tried by the record alone and not by other evidence.

> Terry v. C laypool, 65 N.E.2d 8 83 (Ohio. App.3.Dist.Hancock. Co.,1945) - If jurisdiction of defendant has not otherwise been acquired, it is absolutely essential to establish jurisdiction of co urt to enter a judgm ent in per sonam that an appearance of a defendant affirmatively appear in the record which is the sole evidence thereof if the matter is placed in issue.

> Dillon v. Carlisle Garmont Co., 5 Ohio App 347 (1915) - Wh en the appearance of a party and/or its counsel is at issue, the matter must be tried by the record alone and by other evidence.

Lively attempted to mask such deliberate and willful acts of Stor-All by asserting in its Notification of Appearance and Substitution of Counsel, "Mr. Lively is hereby substituted for Molly G. Vance as attorney for Plaintiff as to the Counterclaim;" however, such effort has also hit a brick wall because Newsome picked up on it and addressed such and her opposition again to Vance's failure to enter an appearance on behalf of Stor-All; moreover, the cover-up attem pted by Lively to do dam age control. Se e Newsom e's filing of March 11, 2009 entitled, " Notification of Clarification" attached hereto and incorporated by reference at EXHIBIT "4" as if set forth in full herein. Stor-All is represented by counsel (t hose schooled and educated in the law) and therefore, are subject to t he consequences of its counsel 's errors and m istakes. Newsome is pro se and is held accountable for her errors and mistakes if m ade. Meyers v. First Nat. Bank, 3 Ohio App 3d 209, 4 4 NE2d 412 (1981) - OJP&R[3] §10:11 at Fn.22.

21. The record evidence supports that Newsom e filed timely objection/opposition documents to Vance 's fi ling of pleading/m otions in this lawsuit. Thus, preserving this defense and issue that St or-All was ti mely, properly and adequately placed on notice of the lack of appearance for Vance in the record of this Court. Had Newsom e not contested such filings by Vance on behalf of St or-All, said defense would have bee n waived. Newsom e, through her opposition filin gs, requesting that plead ings/motions filed by Vance on behalf of Stor-All be stricken.

[3] Ohio Jurisprudence Pleading & Practice Forms – Venue & Process. ("OJP&R")

22. Not only does this Court 's Local Rule 11 r equire Vance to enter an appearance, the Ohio Revised Code does so as well:

> LOCAL RULE – Hamilton County Court of Common Pleas > RULE 11. Pleadings and other papers
>
> (B) Civil: Case Classification and Attorney Notification Forms. Criminal: Counsel ret ained, co-counsel retained and counsel appointed.

23. The Ohio Revised Code requires that an appearance docket be kept f or common pleas courts. (RC §§ 2303.12, 2303.13) - OJP&R §10:2

> RC §2303.12 - Books to be kept by clerk.

At the time it occurs and under the case so docketed, he shall also enter the issue of the sum mons or other mesne process or order and the filing of ea ch paper, and he shall record i n full the return of such writ or order with the date of its return to the court, which entry shall be evidence of such service.

Upon review of the record in this instant lawsuit, the record will reflect that there is no appearance on record filed by Vance on behalf of Stor-All.

24. As Newsome (who i s pro se) brought to this C ourt's attention during the March 10, 2009 hearing, that she is required to abide by the rules and proc edures of this Court, there appears to be double standards when said rules a nd procedures are applied to Stor-All and/or its c ounsel/representatives. As a m atter of law, Stor-All and i ts counsel/representatives m ust accept the conseque nces of their m istakes and errors – as with this issue, they have waived the right to file an Answer a nd/or responsive pleading/motion to Newsom e's Counter-Claim due to its delib erate acts no t to enter an appearance for Vance and Meranus' failure to correct said error.

> Pro se civil litigants are bound by the same rules and procedures as those litigants w ho retain counsel . They are not accorded greater rights and must accept the results of t heir own mistakes and errors.

Meyers v. First Nat. Bank, 3 Ohio App 3d 209, 44 NE2d 412 (1981) - OJP&R §10:11 at Fn.22.

25. This is a court of law. However, upon review of the record as well as evidenced during the March 10, 2009 hearing held before this Court, Stor-All and its counsel file pleadings/motions that are not in compliance with the statutes/laws governing said matters.

26. It was Stor-All's counsel, David Meranus, who filed the Complaint in this instant lawsuit. Therefore, Meranus may be presumed to be the attorney of record for Stor-All and perhaps authorized on its behalf to do any act within the scope of his employment – which would have been to re-file the applicable pleadings/motions filed by Vance; however, Meranus made a conscious and deliberate decision not to do so. Neither did Vance file the required appearance document. Without such steps to preserve their right in this action to bring the documents filed by Vance, any said defense set forth in pleadings/motions filed by Vance is null/void and impermissible. Newsome is a party to this action (and not a stranger); therefore, she is permitted to question the authority of Vance, who would be considered a stranger as well as her client Liberty Mutual to this lawsuit, to enter the pleadings/motions filed by her on behalf of Stor-All.

> An attorney who files a complaint on behalf of persons whom he or she claims to represent will be presumed to be the attorney for these parties and will be authorized on their behalf to do any act within the scope of his or her employment. Coble v. Mills, Dayton 80. (When a petition is filed by regularly admitted members of the bar, a presumption arises that they were duly authorized to file it. Minnesota v. Karp, 84 Ohio App 51, 39 Ohio Op 96, 52 Ohio L Abst 513, 84 NE2d 76 (1948)) - OJP&R §10:13.

> A stranger to the judgment will not be permitted to question the authority of an attorney who represented one of the parties in the cause in which the judgment was rendered. Bryans v. Taylor, Wright 245. OJP&R §10:13.

27. A reasonable mind may conclude that Vance's failure to enter an appearance was a dilatory and defense tactic to keep this Court from obtaining jurisdiction over her as well as her clients, Stor-All and Liberty Mutual. Therefore, any such ruling(s) by this Court on documents filed by Vance on behalf of Stor-All is null/void.

> Collins v. Collins, 844 N.E.2d 910 (Ohio.App.1.Dist.Hamilton. Co.,2006) - For a court to acquire personal jurisdiction, there must be . . . an entry of appearance, and a judgment entered without . . . an entry of appearance is null and void.

> Miami Exporting Co. v. Brown, 6 Ohio 535 (Ohio,1834) - A judgment without notice, and without the appearance of the party against whom it was rendered, is a nullity.

> State ex rel. Estate of Miles v. Village of Piketon, 2009 -Ohio - 786 (Ohio,2009) - For a court to acquire jurisdiction there must be a proper service of summons or an entry of appearance, and a judgment rendered without proper service or entry of appearance is a nullity and void.

28. Stor-All has waived any such right and/or opportunity to file an Answer or otherwise plead to Newsome's Counter-Claim; moreover, respond to the discovery request served on it. Neither is this Court allowed to accept Stor-All's Motion for Enlargement of Time to Answer or Otherwise Plead; and Respond to Discovery because it was submitted for filing by Vance, who was not allowed to file pleading/motions in this action (i.e. Vance being a stranger to this matter) without making an appearance in this lawsuit. The time in which Stor-All was to file an Answer or otherwise plead has lapsed. The time for Stor-All to answer discovery served on it has lapsed. Stor-All cannot rely on any such defense that it was not aware that Vance was not allowed to file pleadings/motions, because it was timely, properly and adequately notified by Newsome that said filings by Vance were impermissible; however, Stor-All failed to correct once notified. If Meranus elected to abandon Stor-All on Newsome's Counter-Claim and failed to retain counsel and enter an appearance in a timely manner, it is to its own demise (errors and mistake) – Stor-All has legal counsel in this lawsuit and is not proceeding pro se and even it was, would still be subject to the rules and procedures of this Court and state of Ohio.

> ACTS CONSTITUTING APPEARANCE
> A motion for leave to move or otherwise plead does not submit a party to the jurisdiction of the court. (Maryhew v. Yova, 11 Ohio St 3d 154, 11 Ohio BR 471, 464 NE2d 538 (1984)(request by defendant to trial court for leave to move or otherwise plead is not motion or responsive pleading contemplated by Civ R 7, and obtaining of such order does not constitute waiver under Civ R 12(H) of any affirmative defenses, nor does it submit defendant to jurisdiction of court.
> It should be noted that the Civil Rules provide that certain defenses may, at the option of the pleader, be made by motion (including the defense of lack of jurisdiction over the person) and no defense or objection is waived by being joined with one or more other defenses or objection is waived by being joined with one or more other defenses in a responsive pleading or motion. Civ R 12(B). However, the personal jurisdiction defense or objection is waived by failure to include it either by motion or in a responsive pleading. Civ R 12 (H).) - OJP&R §10:22 at Fn.54.

While Vance attended the hearing in this matter on March 10, 2009, it still would not suffice as an appearance in this matter on behalf of Stor-All.[4]

[4] PRACTICE TIP: The defendant and attorney may have the right to be in the courtroom as spectators when the case is called, without submitting the person of the defendant to the jurisdiction of the court, so long as they do not participate in any way in any of the proceedings. Also a defendant who is not, in fact, served with process does not waive service and submit himself to the jurisdiction of the court by reason of having knowledge of the action against him or her. OJP&R §10:22

The following also do not amount to an appearance: the mere examination of papers in the case, filed in the clerk's office; a conversation with the plaintiff's counsel or the judge of the court about the case; a letter to the judge by the counsel for the defendant asking that service of summons be quashed; a letter from counsel requesting a continuance of an action. The action of a waiver of summons is not an appearance where the waiver is filed with the complaint in the case, nor does a promise to settle constitute an appearance, whether the promise is made before or after judgment. Also, an appearance by a defendant in one court does not constitute an appearance in another, entirely different court, regardless of the fact that both actions arise from the same incident and are against the same defendants. - OJP&R §10:22

> Other acts which do not amount to an appearance include, for example, the mere physical presence of the party or his or her attorney in the courtroom. Wirt v. Wirt, 13 Ohio L Abst 11 (1932) - OJP&R §10:22.

29. As a matter of law, this Court is required to vacate the March 2, 2009, Docket entries granting relief to Stor-All through pleadings filed by Vance. Newsome's Motions to Strike and/or Objection/Opposition pleadings were timely, proper and adequate in defense regarding such issue.

> EFFECT OF UNAUTHORIZED APPEARANCE ON BEHALF OF PARTY
> With regard to the binding effect of a judgment entered on an unauthorized appearance of an attorney, according to the great weight of modern authority, such a judgment is subject to direct attack (46 Am Jur 2d, Judgments §733). The Supreme Court of Ohio has held that where an attorney appears without authority and acknowledges services or files a plea, the judgment is entered against the defendant, the court may on motion, vacate the judgment. - OJP&R §10:33.

C. DEFENDANT HAS THE LEGAL ADVANTAGE IN THIS MATTER – ENTITLED TO JUDGMENT BY DEFAULT:

30. While Stor-All through its MFPRO has slandered and scandalized Newsome's character, it merely filed its MFPRO to purposes of distracting this Court, through its misrepresentation and distortion of information of exposing their criminal behavior. As a matter of law, Newsome is in a better position for judgment in her favor in this lawsuit for the following reasons: (a) Stor-All has failed to file a timely Answer to the Counterclaim and their time to do so has lapsed. No motion for an enlargement of time to file an Answer or otherwise plead and/or responsive pleading or Rule 12 motion in this action has been filed by counsel for Stor-All who has filed an appearance in this lawsuit before the time permitted under the statutes/laws governing said matters. Stor-All and its counsel took a gamble thinking that Newsome – who is pro se and not an attorney – would be ignorant to the point she would not notice such willful, deliberate and intentional acts of Stor-All's counsel not to enter an appearance because of perhaps a Conflict of Interest known to Vance as well as such acts may have been strategically done to avoid liability against Stor-All's insured and being subjected to Rule 11 sanctions; and (b) Stor-All's Motion to Bifurcate is not a motion allowed under Rule 12 of the Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure ("ORCP") and/or Rule 8 of the ORCP governing answer to Newsome's counterclaim. Therefore, as a matter of law, Newsome is entitled to Judgment by Default in which she will be moving for through the appropriate motion.

> FIA Card Servs., N.A. v. Salmon, CASE NO. 14-08-26, COURT OF APPEALS OF OHIO, THIRD APPELLATE DISTRICT, UNION COUNTY, 2009 Ohio 80; 2009 Ohio App. LEXIS 66, January 12, 2009, Decided - The Court: Mr. McCann is the one who should be here. Either that or has to be some sort of a substitution or some sort of an entry of appearance.

No, Stor-All allowed an attorney by the name of Molly G. Vance just to submit for filing pleadings/motions on its behalf without abiding by the rules governing said matters and have her file an appearance in this action.

31. Given the fact that Stor-All's insurance company, Liberty Mutual, had recently settled a matter with Newsome on behalf of another insured arising out of another matter; a reasonable mind may conclude Vance's eager filings without making an appearance was an act in furtherance of Meranus behavior on February 6, 2009, to let Newsome know that it has connections and ties to resources involving her in unrelated matters for purposes of attempting to force her to abandon her Counter-Claim in this lawsuit. However, to Stor-All's, its counsel and its insurance company's disappointment, Newsome is entitled (as a matter of law) to seek damages for injury/harm sustained as she did. See EXHIBIT "5" – Letter ONLY, attached hereto. A reasonable mind may conclude Vance thinking that Newsome's seeing "Liberty Mutual" on pleadings would have meaning adversely affecting her claims; however, to the contrary, it was information Newsome needed to determine who the common denominator working behind the scene on matters Newsome is taking up with the proper authorities. Thus, shining the light and answering a great deal of questions Newsome had.

32. The record is silence on an Entry of Appearance for Stor-All's attorney, Molly G. Vance. Therefore, as a matter of law any such ruling on any pleading submitted for filing by her on behalf of Stor-All is null and void. While the error was timely brought to Stor-All's attention through its attorney, David Meranus, Meranus made a conscious and willful decision not to refile any pleading by Vance to preserve the rights of Stor-All and because he did not want it in the record he was defending Stor-All on the Newsome's counterclaim – said acts by Stor-All's counsel which has proven to be very fruitful in Newsome's favor.

While there is a Doc ket entry of March 2, 2009 on the docket granting relief sought through Stor-All's motions filed by Vance, any such granting of relief sought by Stor-All would be an usurpation of judicial po wer because this Court did not have jurisdiction to do so since Stor-All refused to file an Entry of Appearance for Vance. Thus, if Stor-All knew that Meranus was not going to represent the m on Newsom e's counterclaim, it was required or its counsel to file the appropriate document required entering Vance 's appearance rather than ju st let her ru n am uck an d file pleadings/m otions without filing the legal requirements for said filing.

D. G RANTING STOR-ALL A PROTECTIVE/RESTRAINING ORDER WOULD BE AN ABUSE OF DISCRETION:

Stor-All has failed to meet its burden of proof that a Protective/Restraining Order is required of and against Defenda nt/Newsome this action. Neither Stor-All nor its counsel/re presentatives assert that imm ediate an d irreparable injury , loss or damage will result to it or its representatives before this matter can be heard. While Stor-A ll with its MFPRO provided an Affidavit by i ts counsel, said Affidavit fails to meet the pleading requirem ents governing said m atters. There is nothing to sustain Stor-All 's MFPR O. Thus su pporting the striking of statements and docum ents provided in its MFPRO. In further support Newsome states:

> ORCP Rule 65
> (A) Tempor ary restraining order; notice; hear ing; duration. A temporary restraining order m ay be granted without written or oral notice to the adverse party or his attorney only if (1) it clearly appears from specific facts shown by a ffidavit or by the verified complaint that immediate and irreparable injury, loss or damage will result to the applicant before the adverse party or his attorney can be heard in opposition, . . . The verification of such affidavit or verified complaint shall be upon the affiant's own knowledge, inform ation or belief; and so far as upon informati on and belie f, shall state that he believes this information to be true . Every tem porary restraining order granted without notice shall be filed forthwith in the clerk' s office; shall define the injury and state why it is irreparable and why the order was granted without notice; . . .
> (C) Sec urity. No . . . restraining order or prelim inary injunction is operative until the party obtaining it gives a bond executed by sufficient surety, approved by the clerk of the court granting the order or injunction, in an amount fixed by the court or judge allowing it, to secure to the party enjoined the damages he may sustain, i f it is finally decid ed that the order or inj unction should not hav e been granted.

> The party obtaining the order or injunction may deposit, in lieu of such bond, with the clerk of the court granting the order or injunction, currency, cashier's check, certified check or negotiable government bonds in the amount fixed by the court.
> (D) Form and scope of restraining order or injunction. Every order granting an injunction and every restraining order shall set forth the reasons for its issuance; shall be specific in terms; shall describe in reasonable detail, and not by reference to the complaint or other document, the act or acts sought to be restrained; and is binding upon the parties to the action, their officers, agents, servants, employees, attorneys and those persons in active concert or participation with them who receive actual notice of the order whether by personal service or otherwise.

Stor-All's MFPRO is scandalous, slanderous, defamatory, insulting, offensive, derogatory, an assignation of Newsome character/reputation, etc. and has been submitted for purposes of frivolous and ill intent – delay, hindering proceedings, harassment, embarrassment, intimidation, obstructing the administration of justice, vexatious litigation, increasing the cost of litigation, deprivation of rights, deprivation of equal protection of the laws, deprivation of due process of laws, etc. For this Court to grant Stor-All's MFPRO would be an abuse of discretion, clearly erroneous, prejudicial to Defendant, etc.

> 34. Stor-All has moved this Court for a Protective/Restraining Order; however, using the snapshot rule the record will support that it provides no Local Rule of this Court, Rule of the Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure, Ohio Revised Code, etc. to support the relief it seeks through such request. Therefore, a reasonable mind may conclude that Stor-All is attempting to get this Court to grant relief to which it is not entitled. Moreover, to get this Court to abuse its discretion. Abuse in discretion by this Court in granting the relief Stor-All seeks would be more than error of law or judgment; it would imply unreasonable, arbitrary or unconscionable attitude – clearly supporting violation of the statutes/laws governing said matters and Newsome being prejudiced from same.
> > Deacon v. Landers, 587 N.E.2d 395 (Ohio.App.4.Dist.Ross. Co.,1990) - Decision to grant civil protection order is within discretion of court; abuse of that discretion connotes more than error of law or judgment; it implies unreasonable, arbitrary or unconscionable attitude. R.C. § 3113.31.
> > Smith v. Wunsch, 832 N.E.2d 757 (Ohio.App.4.Dist.Hocking. Co.,2005) - The decision to grant a civil stalking protection order (CSPO) is left to a trial court's sound discretion and will not be reversed on appeal absent an abuse of that discretion.

35. Stor-All has failed to meet its burden of proof that a Protective/Restraining Order is required of and against Defendant/Newsome this action. Neither Stor-All nor its counsel/representatives assert that immediate and irreparable injury, loss or damage will result to it or its representatives before this matter can be heard. While Stor-All with its MFPRO provided an Affidavit by its counsel, said Affidavit fails to meet the pleading requirements governing said matters.

36. The record evidence will support that if any protective/restraining order is warranted, it is in favor of Newsome and said relief has been sought through her instant Counter-Claim filed in this lawsuit which for example states, Enter the applicable injunctions and restraining orders requiring Plaintiff, Stor-All Alfred, LLC, their agents, employees, attorneys, representatives and all persons acting in concert with them to cease their unconstitutional and unlawful practices. (See Defendant's Counter-Claim in this action ¶¶ 103, 106, 124, 127, 144, 147, 155, 158, 174, 177, 192, 195, 204, 207, 215, 218, 224, 227, 234, 237)

E. FAILURE TO MEET PLEADING REQUIREMENTS:

> OHIO JUR PL & FORMS - PLEADINGS & MOTIONS
> §16:11 - In General:
> The Ohio Civil Rules provides that all averments of a claim must be made in numbered paragraphs, and the contents of each paragraph shall be limited as far as practicable to a statement of a single set of circumstances. Also, a paragraph may be referred to by number in all succeeding pleadings.
> . . .Under the former provisions of the Revised Code, different causes of action could be joined in the same petition, and the defendant in his or her answer could set forth as many grounds for defense or counterclaim as he or she had, legal or equitable, or both [See Pavey v. Pavey, 30 Ohio St 600 (1876); Booco v. Mansfield, 66 Ohio St 121, 64 NE 115 (1902); Hooven & A. Co. v. National Cordage Col, 11 Ohio Dec 434, affd 6 Ohio CC 625, 3 Ohio Cir Dec 613)] . . .
> Under prerule practice, a motion attacking the failure to separately state and number was available [See Hartford v. Bennett, 10 Ohio St 441 (1859); Bailey v. Hughes, 35 Ohio St 597 (1880); Bear v. Knowles, 36 Ohio St 43 (1880)(remaining citations omitted)]. Even though the Civil Rule governing motions does not specifically provide for the motion to separately state and number, such a motion may be used in rule practice, but it should be granted as a practical matter only when confusion is caused by failure to separately state and number, such that opposing party cannot properly answer [See Klein, Browne, Murtaugh, Ohio Civil Practice §13:02]

37. Because Stor-All's MFPRO fails to set forth its defense and/or averments in numbered paragraphs, it has made it difficult to determine the purpose for said filing. Moreover, difficult to address through a rebuttal pleading such as this instant MTSPMFPRO.

38. Stor-All's MFPRO fails to state upon what statutes/laws its is based because it is fully aware that based on the reasons provided in its motion that it fails to meet the pleading requirements to obtain relief it seeks under the restraining/protective order laws.

39. Newsome would be prejudiced by this Court's granting Stor-All's MFPRO. Moreover, would be deprived equal protection of the laws and due process of laws secured to her under the Constitution (Ohio and United States), Civil Rights Act and other statutes/laws governing said matters.

40. Stor-All's MFPRO fails to meet the pleading requirements of the Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure, Local Rules of this Court and statutes/laws governing said matters. If this Court were to examine Stor-All's MFPRO closely, it will find that it is NOT founded upon any statutes or laws to sustain it because it is legally and lawfully deficient and cannot be sustained. Thus, warranting the imposition of sanctions sought herein.

F. STOR-ALL'S ASSERTION OF MULTI-STATE CONSPIRACY:

Newsome believes this Court's investigation and/or inquiry into Stor-All's assertion of a multi-state conspiracy is a statement based on matters outside this lawsuit involving Newsome's engagement in protected activities. Moreover, this lawsuit was motivated by ill intent – Stor-All stooping to criminal activities (i.e. contacting Newsome's employer) and relying on relationships to deprive Newsome of life, liberties and the pursuit of happiness – having knowledge of Newsome's engagement in protected activities, Stor-All sought was to obtain an undue advantage over her and relied upon criminal/civil violations (i.e. participating in getting Newsome terminated and to cause her financial devastation – without monies she would not be able to pursue legal actions made known to Stor-All for their violation). Stor-All's counsel's, David Meranus', admission on February 6, 2009 at the hearing held in the Municipal Court further confirmed its knowledge of Newsome's participation in protected activities; moreover, that it went as far as to contact her employer and seek was to get her terminated relying upon Stor-All's counsel's law firm's relationship with Newsome's former employer and the possibility of a "Conflict of Interest" in its representation of Stor-All in this lawsuit as a direct and proximate result of Newsome's employment and working with an attorney that worked with Stor-All's counsel's law firm in the past. The record evidence in this matter will support that Stor-All has not been required to abide by the rules and procedures governing said matters. While this is a court of law, Stor-All has repeatedly been allowed to take a far departure from the rules and procedures governing said matters and waste this Court's and Newsome's time in filing such sham and frivolous documents. While Newsome is presently proceeding in this action pro se, she is entitled to equal protection and equal application of the laws in the handling of this lawsuit. Stor-All and its counsel and/or representatives are subject to the same rules, procedures and laws that Newsome is subject to and are to abide by same. In support thereof, Newsome further states.

> Burnett v. Motorists Mut. Ins. Co., 2008-Ohio-2751 (Ohio,2008) - The Equal Protection Clauses of the Federal and State Constitutions require that individuals be treated in a manner similar to others in like circumstances. Const.Amend. 14; Const. Art. 1, § 2.
> E. Liverpool Edn. Assn. v. E. Liverpool City School Dist. Bd. of Edn., 2008-Ohio-3327 (Ohio.App.7.Dist.Columbiana.Co.,2008) - Equal Protection Clause does not prevent all classification; it simply forbids laws that treat persons differently when they are otherwise alike in all relevant respects. Const.Amend. 14; Const. Art. 1, § 2.
>
> Columbia Gas Transm. Corp. v. Levin, 882 N.E.2d 400 (Ohio,2008) - Equal Protection Clauses of state and federal constitutions require that all similarly situated individuals be treated in a similar manner. Const.Amend. 14; Const. Art. 1, § 2.
> Discount Cellular, Inc. v. Pub. Util. Comm., 859 N.E.2d 957 (Ohio,2007) - State and federal equal protection clauses require that all similarly situated individuals be treated in a similar manner. Const.Amend. 14; Const. Art. 1, § 2.

41. While Stor-All asserts that Newsome is alleging a multi-state conspiracy a reasonable mind may conclude that Stor-All may have an ulterior/hidden motive for making such assertion since such was not stated by Newsome. Newsome addressed systematic racial/judicial abuse targeting African-Americans; however, Stor-All is asserting a multi-state conspiracy. Well since Stor-All and its counsel has gone in that direction, it is important for Newsome to bring to this Court's attention information to support that Stor-All's MFPRO is defamatory, insulting, offensive, derogatory, an assignation of her character/reputation, etc., in that the following will support that while Newsome has had to endure such unlawful/illegal practices as that rendered by Stor-All in this instant action, apparently Stor-All's assertion of a multi-state conspiracy is its willful acknowledgement of its engagement similar to and in furtherance of criminal acts rendered Newsome by Stor-All and its representatives. Said criminal acts of Stor-All against Newsome are prohibited by statutes/laws. Moreover, its reliance of knowledge of Newsome's engagement in protected activities to unlawfully/illegally seize her storage unit and property and repeat acts attem pting to extort m onies from her to receive her storage unit and propert y back is prohibited by st atutes/laws. A reasonable m ind m ay conclude that Stor-All 's assertion of a m ulti-state conspirac y may also be a direct and proximate result of its knowledge of other m atters Newsom e is engaged in outside this lawsuit. Moreover, that Stor-All's unlawful/illegal seizure of Newsom e's storage unit and property may have been a direct and proximate result of inform ation it obtained and, therefore, its acts were deliberately done in furtherance of criminal/civil wrongs known to it that has been rendered against Newsome by others outside this lawsuit. For example:

(A) It is im portant to note for this Court to know that Stor-All and its counsel/representatives m ay be using this process to furthe r criminal and illegal/unlawful acts known to it co mmitted by its cohorts in other states against Newsom e – (i.e. in one state where Newsom e was subjected to cr iminal act such as: (i) (1) Conspiracy;[5] (2) Bur glary;[6] (3) Ro bbery;[7] (4) Assault;[8] (5)

[5] Conspiracy - An agreement by two or more persons to commit an unlawful act, coupled with an intent to achieve the agreement's objective, and (in most states) action or conduct that furthers the agreement; a combination for an unlawful purpose. 18 USC ~371. . . .

"When two or more persons co mbine for the purpose of inflicting upon another person an injur y which is unlawful in itself, or which is rendered unl awful by the mode in which it is infl icted, and in either case the other person suffers damage, th ey commit the tort of conspiracy." P.H. Winfield, A Textbook of the Law of Tort ~128, at 434 (5th ed. 1950)

Chain Conspiracy - A single conspiracy in which each person is responsible for a distinct act within the overall plan. . . .*All participants are interested in the overall scheme and liable for all other participants' acts in furtherance of that scheme. (Conspiracy ~24(3) C.J.S. Conspiracy ~~~117-118.

Conspire - To engage in conspiracy; to join in a conspiracy.

Conspirator - A person who takes part in a conspiracy.

[6] Burglary - (2) The modern statu tory offense of breaking and entering any building - not just a dw elling, and not only at night - with the intent to commit a felony.

Burglar - One who commits burglary.

Burglarized - To commit burglary.

Breaking - (Criminal Law): In the law of burglary, the act of entering a building without permission.

"[T]o constitute a breaking at common law, ther e had to be th e creation of a breach or op ening; a mere trespass at law was insufficien t. If th e occupant of the dw elling had created the opening , it was felt that he had not entitled himself to the protection of the law, as he had not properly secured his dwelling . . . This is not to suggest, however, th at elimination of this requirement h as left th e 'entry' element un adorned, so tha t an y t ype of ent ry w ill suffic e. Rather, at least som e of what was encompassed within the common law 'breaking' element is reflected by other terms describing what kind of entry is necessary. The most common statutory term is 'unlawfully,' but some jurisdictions use other language, such as ' unauthorized,' by 'trespass,' 'without aut hority,' 'without consent,' or 'without privilege.' Wayne R. LaFave & Austin W. Scott Jr., Criminal Law ~8.13 at 793-94 (2d ed. 1986).

[7] Robber y - The illeg al taking o f propert y from a person of an other, or in th e person's presence, b y v iolence o r intimidation; aggravated larceny.

Kidnapping;[9] (6) Battery ;[10] (7) Theft; [11] (8) Larceny;[12] (9) Invasion;[13] (10) Unlawful Entry /Forcible Actions; [14] (11)

Aggravated Robbery – Robbery committed by a person who either carries a dangerous weapon – often called armed robbery – or inflicts bodily harm or someone during the robbery.

Armed Robbery – Robbery committed by a person carrying a dangerous weapon, regardless of whether the weapon was revealed or used.

[8] Assault – Criminal & Tort Law. The threat or use of force on another that causes that person to have a reasonable apprehension of imminent harmful or offensive contact; the act of putting another person in reasonable fear or apprehension of an immediate battery by means of an act amounting to an attempt or threat to commit a battery. 2. Criminal law. An attempt to commit battery, requiring the specific intent to cause physical injury.

Aggravated Assault – Criminal assault accompanied by circumstances that make it more severe, such as the intent to commit another crime or the intent to cause serious bodily injury, esp. by using a deadly weapon. See Model Penal Code § 211.1(2).

[9] Kidnapping – The crime of seizing and taking away a person by force or fraud.

Aggravated Kidnapping – Kidnapping accompanied by some aggravating factor (such as a demand for ransom or injury of the victim).

Kidnapping for Ransom – The offense of unlawfully seizing a person and then confining the person in a secret place while attempting to extort ransom.

[10] Battery – Criminal Law. The use of force against another, resulting in harmful or offensive contact.

Aggravated Battery – A criminal battery accompanied by circumstances that make it more severe, such as the use of a deadly weapon or the fact that the battery resulted in serious bodily harm.

[11] Theft - (1) The felonious taking and removing of another's personal property with the intent of depriving the true owner of it; larceny [Cases: Larceny ~1. C.J.S. Larceny ~~1(1,2), 9.] (2) Broadly, any act or instance of stealing, including larceny, burglary, embezzlement, and false pretenses.

Under such a statute it is not necessary for the indictment charging theft to specify whether the offense is larceny, embezzlement or false pretenses." Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 389-90 (3d ed. 1982).

Theft by Deception - The use of trickery to obtain another's property, esp. by (1) creating or reinforcing a false impression . . . (2) preventing one from obtaining information that would affect one's judgment about a transaction, or (3) failing to disclose, in a property transfer, a known lien or other legal impediment.

Theft by Extortion - Larceny in which the perpetrator obtains property by threatening to (1) inflict bodily harm on anyone or commit any other criminal offense. . . (4) take or withhold action as an official, or cause an official to take or withhold action, (5) bring about . . .collective unofficial action, if the property is not demanded or received for the benefit of the group in whose interest the actor purports to act, (6) testify or provide information or withhold testimony or information with respect to another's legal claim or defense, or (7) inflict any other harm that would not benefit the actor.

Theft of Services - The act of obtaining services from another by deception, threat, coercion, stealth, mechanical tampering, or using a false token or device.

[12] Larceny - The unlawful taking and carrying away of someone else's personal property with the intent to deprive the possessor of it permanently. *Common-law larceny has been broadened by some statutes to include embezzlement and false pretense, all three of which are often subsumed under the statutory crime of "theft."

> "The criminal offence of larceny or theft in the Common Law was intimately connected with the civil wrong of trespass. 'Where there has been no trespass,' said Lord Coleridge, 'there can at law be no larceny.' Larceny, in other words, is merely a particular kind of trespass to goods which, by virtue of the trespasser's intent, is converted into a crime. Trespass is a wrong, not to ownership but to possession, and theft, therefore, is not the violation of a person's right to ownership, but the infringement of his possession, accompanied with a particular criminal intent."

Aggravated Larceny - Larceny accompanied by some aggravating factor (as when the theft is from a person).

Grand Larceny - Larceny of property worth more than a statutory cutoff amount, usu. $100.

Obstruction of Justice/Process;[15] (12) Color of Law; [16] (13) Conspiracy Against Rights;[17] (14) Conspiracy to Interfere With Civil Rights; [18] and (15) Power/Failure to Prevent. [19]- wherein Mixed Larceny - (1) Larceny accompanied by aggravation or violence to the person. (2) Larceny involving a taking from a house.

[13] Invasion - (1) A hostile or forcible encroachment on the rights of another.

> Intentional Invasion - A hostile or forcible encroachment on another's interest in the use or enjoyment of property, esp. real property, though not necessarily inspired by malice or ill will.

Invasion of Privacy - An unjustified exploitation of one's personality or intrusion into one's personal activities, actionable under tort law and sometimes under constitutional law.

Invasion of Privacy by Intrusion - An offensive, intentional interference with a person's seclusion or private affairs.

Intrusion - (1) A person entering without permission. (2) In an action for invasion of privacy, a highly offensive invasion of another person's seclusion or private life.

Intruder - A person who enters, remains on, uses, or touches land or chattels in another's possession without the possessor's consent.

[14] Unlawful Entry - (1) The crime of entering another's real property, by fraud or other illegal means, without the owner's consent.

Forcible - Effected by force or threat of force against opposition or resistance.

Forcible Detainer - (1) The wrongful retention of possession of property by one originally in lawful possession, often with threats or actual use of violence.

Forcible Entry and Detainer - (1) The act of violently taking and keeping possession of lands and tenements without legal authority. (2) A quick and simple legal proceeding for regaining possession of real property from someone who has wrongfully taken, or refused to surrender, possession.

Forcible Entry - (1) The act or an instance of violently and unlawfully taking possession of lands and tenements against the will of those in lawful possession. (2) The act of entering land in another's possession by the use of force against another or by breaking into the premises.

[15] Obstruction of Justice - Interference with the orderly administration of law and justice, as by giving false information to or withholding evidence from a police officer or prosecutor, or by harming or intimidating a witness or juror. *Obstruction of justice is a crime in most jurisdictions.

Obstruction of Process - Interference of any kind the lawful service or execution of a writ, warrant, or other process. *Most jurisdictions make this offense a crime.

[16] Color of Law: The appearance of semblance, without the substance, of a legal right. *The term u.s.u. implies a misuse of power made possible because the wrongdoer is clothed with the authority of the state.

They shall be fined under this title or imprisoned not more than ten years, or both; and if death results from the acts committed in violation of this section or if such acts include kidnapping or an attempt to kidnap, aggravated sexual abuse or an attempt to commit aggravated sexual abuse, or an attempt to kill, they shall be fined under this title or imprisoned for any term of years or for life, or both, or may be sentenced to death.

[18] Conspiracy to Interfere With Civil Rights (42 U.S.C. § 1985):

guns and weapons were present; - a matter in which a formal complaint has been filed with the appropriate federal agency with jurisdiction over such issues and is presently pending – Newsome's investigation finding that those involved having ties and relationship to courts, judges, etc., thus, in the interest of justice, Newsome knew that other legal resources would be required to assure equal protection of the laws and that those committing crimes brought to justice; (ii) then in another state,(1) Conspiracy, (2) Burglary, (3) Theft, (4) Larceny, (5) Invasion, (6) Unlawful Entry/Forcible Actions, (7) Obstruction of Justice, (8) Color of Law, (9) Conspiracy Against Right, (10) Conspiracy to Interfere with Civil Rights, (11) Power/Failure to Prevent; - the irony in that matter was that attorneys, etc. thought that their connections with the police department would shield them; however, this action was brought with the appropriate federal agency which has jurisdiction to investigate such matters and is presently pending – Newsome's investigation finding that those involved

(2) Obstructing justice; intimidating party, witness, or juror:

> If two or more persons in any State or Territory conspire to deter, by force, intimidation, or threat, any party or witness in any court of the United States from attending such court, or from testifying to any matter pending therein, freely, fully, and truthfully, or to injure such party or witness in his person or property on account of his having so attended or testified, or to influence the verdict, presentment, or indictment of any grand or petit juror in any such court, or to injure such juror in his person or property on account of any verdict, presentment, or indictment lawfully assented to by him, or of his being or having been such juror; or if two or more persons conspire for the purpose of impeding, hindering, obstructing, or defeating, in any manner, the due course of justice in any State or Territory, with intent to deny to any citizen the equal protection of the laws, or to injure him or his property for lawfully enforcing, or attempting to enforce, the right of any person, or class of persons, to the equal protection of the laws;

(3) Depriving persons of rights or privileges:

> If two or more persons in any State or Territory conspire or go in disguise on the highway or on the premises of another, for the purpose of depriving, either directly or indirectly, any person or class of persons of the equal protection of the laws, or of equal privileges and immunities under the laws; or for the purpose of preventing or hindering the constituted authorities of any State or Territory from giving or securing to all persons within such State or Territory the equal protection of the laws; or if two or more persons conspire to prevent by force, intimidation, or threat, any citizen who is lawfully entitled to vote, from giving his support or advocacy in a legal manner, toward or in favor of the election of any lawfully qualified person as an elector for President or Vice President, or as a Member of Congress of the United States; or to injure any citizen in person or property on account of such support or advocacy; in any case of conspiracy set forth in this section, if one or more persons engaged therein do, or cause to be done, any act in furtherance of the object of such conspiracy, whereby another is injured in his person or property, or deprived of having and exercising any right or privilege of a citizen of the United States, the party so injured or deprived may have an action for the recovery of damages occasioned by such injury or deprivation, against any one or more of the conspirators.

[19] Power/Failure to Prevent (42 USC § 1986):

> Every person who, having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done, and mentioned in section 1985 of this title, are about to be committed, and having power to prevent or aid in preventing the commission of the same, neglects or refuses so to do, if such wrongful act be committed, shall be liable to the party injured, or his legal representatives, for all damages caused by such wrongful act, which such person by reasonable diligence could have prevented; and such damages may be recovered in an action on the case; and any number of persons guilty of such wrongful neglect or refusal may be joined as defendants in the action; . . .

having formerly worked with judge and havi ng ties and relationship to courts, judges, etc. , thus, in the interest of justice, Newsome knew that other legal resources would be required to assure equal protection of the laws and that those committing crimes brought to justice; and now (iii) Stor-All's criminal activities in keeping with furtherance of the criminal activities of its cohorts in April 2008, unlawfully seized Newsome's storage unit and property without legal/statutory authority and without order and/or judgment by a court of law and through such process has resorted to the crime of extortion, etc. to obtain monies from Newsome in exchange for her receiving her property back. Stor-All's counsel's (Meranus) acts on February 6, 2009, sustains such motives for his and his client's unlawful/illegal actions.

(B) A formal complaint has been filed with the appropriate federal agency. With Stor-All's criminal activities to be reported as well. A reasonable mind may conclude that its mention of a "multi-state" conspiracy, that it is aware of the criminal acts of others rendered against Newsome and the unlawful seizure of her property – thus, supporting a pattern-of-criminal activity committed against Newsome by certain whites who have placed themselves above the law. Even with such repeated criminal acts taken against Newsome, she has repeatedly relied upon the laws and the proper agencies (courts, etc.) to resolve such matters and has not once taken the laws into her own hands and resorted to crimes as that committed by Carl Brandon.

(C) Common practices known to be committed by certain whites as Stor-All, its counsel/representatives because thinking they would not get caught. Then when actions are brought by Newsome it is decided and/or planned (as Stor-All is attempting to do in this matter; however, changed course when Newsome exposed) to label her as a serial litigator, paranoid, crazy, potential murder (i.e. attempting to push her to the Carl Brandon point), etc. as supported by Stor-All's MFPRO. To Stor-All's disappointment, unlike Carl Brandon, Newsome being aware of what other options were available to her pursued said options in the exercise of her rights.

42. To put into perspective the disparity in the application of the laws when it involves African-Americans and/or people of color versus whites, Newsome will rely upon the handling of the O.J. Simpson matter which a ruling was just handed down recently on his sentencing. For information provided on the O.J. Simpson Matter column, Newsome relies upon the Complaint filed in the O.J. Simpson matter – See EXHIBIT "6" attached hereto and information cut and pasted from:

http://www.cnn.com/2008/CRIME/12/05/oj.simpson.sentencing/index.html

See EXHIBIT "7" attached hereto and incorporated by reference. Information Newsome believes is important to drive home her defense and the criminal actions leveled against her by Stor-All and its representatives. Therefore, supporting the relief sought herein.

a) O.J. Simpson Matter : Former gridiron great O.J. Simpson will serve at least nine years in prison for his role in an armed confrontation with sports memorabilia dealers. . . .

Simpson was sentenced to a maximum of 33 years with the possibility of parole after nine.

b) O.J. Simpson Matter : . . .believed he did nothing wrong. Glass, however, brushed his apology aside, saying his actions amounted to " much more than stupidity," and calling him both arrogant and ignorant.

"Earlier in this case, at a bail hearing, I said to Mr. Simpson, I didn't know if he was arrogant, ignorant or both," Glass said. "During the trial and through this proceeding, I got the answer, and it was both."

c) O.J. Simpson Matter : "It could have been a lot worse," Yale Galanter said, noting that Simpson and co-defendant Clarence "C.J." Stewart both could have been sentenced to life in prison.

d) O.J. Simpson Matter: A jury convicted Simpson, 61, and Stewart, 54, on 12 charges including conspiracy to commit a crime, robbery, assault and kidnapping with a deadly weapon stemming from a September 13, 2007, incident at Las Vegas' Palace Station hotel and casino.

e) O.J. Simpson Matter: Prosecutors alleged that Simpson led a group of men who used threats, guns and force to take sports memorabilia from dealers Bruce Fromong and Al Beardsley. Simpson claimed that he was attempting to recover items that belonged to him.

f) O.J. Simpson Matter: "The back of his head looks the same as it did every day that we watched him in the criminal case, and we feel very proud of our efforts," Kim Goldman said. "We feel very strongly that because of our pursuit of him for all these years, that it did drive him to the brink of this."

"If that pushed him over the edge, great," Fred Goldman said afterward. "Put him where he belongs."

Defendant's Matter - Newsome believes that an investigation into the issues and allegations of this instant lawsuit will support how Stor-All, their counsel and others have engaged in criminal and civil wrongs – such as stalking Newsome from job-to-job (contacting her employer(s)) and notifying said employer(s) of lawsuit(s) Newsome has filed and/or is engaged in. Said acts are clearly in violation of the laws; however, Stor-All and their counsel/representatives have embarked on carrying out such criminal and civil wrongs against Newsome.

A reasonable mind may conclude, Stor-All 's counsel engaged in such criminal acts with their goal being to drive Newsome to the point of such acts as those committed by O.J. Simpson, Carl Brandon – a man stalked from job-to-job and repeatedly having to start over because of persons committing criminal and civil acts against him by contacting his employer and notifying of lawsuit/complaint involving him; with the intentions of getting him terminated (wherein they would succeed). It appears that Carl Brandon, not able to take such acts any more, resorted to committing criminal acts and embarked on a shooting spree targeting those he believed to be behind such criminal and civil wrongs against him.

In the instant lawsuit, rather than resort to such criminal acts, that named Stor-All, its counsel and/or representatives and others were trying to force Newsome to resort to, she has brought this instant counterclaim and will be filing the applicable criminal charges against Stor-All, its counsel and/or representatives based on the information obtained from its counsel on February 6, 2009, after the hearing and during the signing of the Magistrate's Decision in the Municipal Court action. See EXHIBIT "1" – letter of February 6, 2009 to David Meranus attached hereto and incorporated by reference (copy being sent to D.C. – it was a good thing Stor-All's counsel and now their insurance carrier has identified itself, because Newsome was able to obtain additional information to sustain her beliefs and concerns of Stor-All's insurance carrier's ties to law firms such as Baker Donelson).[20] However, to Stor-All's disappointment Newsome [20] How big is Baker Donelson? Its boasting of its legal arsenal is apparent. Moreover, its vast financial wealth/power, vast political ties/relationships to Washington, D.C, ties/relationships to the courts are prevalent, etc. No, Stor-All, its counsel, insurance provider (Liberty Mutual) relied upon such vast legal resources as that of Baker Donelson – a law firm with approximately 540 attorneys - against a sole single African-American female. Moreover, Liberty Mutual relying upon information perhaps obtained through other means (confidential and protected sources, claims, insurance, etc.) to track the Defendant and embark on criminal sprees with others to destroy the Defendant's life. Criminal/Civil wrongs leveled against the Defendant which are clearly UNACCEPTABLE, in VIOLATION OF THE LAWS/STATUTES and worthy of an investigation.

BAKER DONELSON
BEARMAN, CALDWELL & BERKOWITZ, PC

Baker, Donelson, Bearman, Caldwell & Berkowitz, PC

Size of Organization: 540
Year Established: 1888
Main Office: Memphis, Tennessee
Web Site: http://www.bakerdonelson.com

Baker, Donelson, Bearman, Caldwell & Berkowitz, PC, is ranked by The National Law Journal as one of the 100 largest law firms in the country. Through strategic acquisitions and mergers over the past century, the Firm has grown to include more than 540 attorneys and public policy and international advisors. Baker Donelson has offices located in five states in the southern U.S. as well as Washington, D.C., plus a representative office in Beijing, China.

Current and former Baker Donelson attorneys and advisors include, among many other highly distinguished individuals, people who have served as: Chief of Staff to the President of the United States; U.S. Senate Majority Leader; U.S. Secretary of State; Members of the United States Senate; Members of the United States House of Representatives; Acting Administrator and Deputy Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration; Director of the Office of Foreign Assets Control for the U.S.

filed the proper Counter-Claim to which it has waived its rights to file an answer to. Therefore, as a matter of law, Newsome is entitled to the relief sought through her Counter-Claim.

As like the Goldman's (white), Stor-All, their counsel and others have conspired with others to destroy Newsome's life without legal or just cause. While such practices commonly used amongst certain whites were successful with Carl Brandon, O.J. Simpson and most likely others, Newsome (regardless of the past injustices and criminal and civil wrongs committed against her to destroy her life, character, reputation, etc) filed this instant Counter-Claim as well as proper complaints with the proper agency and/or government entity.

g) O.J. Simpson Matter: Although Simpson was acquitted in the deaths, a civil jury later found him liable, slapping him with a $33 million judgment. Attorneys for the Goldman family have doggedly pursued Simpson's financial assets to pay the judgment.

Newsome Matter- Newsome believes that while O. J. Simpson relied upon the laws and his attorneys to defend him in the criminal lawsuit, the Goldman's were not satisfied and, it appears, they filed a civil lawsuit and were granted a $33 million judgment. An African-American man using the judicial process and was acquitted. However, this just was not enough. The Goldman's just would not stop until they destroyed his life. Whether O.J. Simpson was "guilty" or "innocent" of the Nicole Simpson and Ron Goldman murders, the Goldman's were not satisfied with the result of the criminal trial.

Department of the Treasury; Director of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts; Chief Counsel, Acting Director, and Acting Deputy Director of U.S. Citizenship & Immigration Services within the United States Department of Homeland Security; Majority and Minority Staff Director of the Senate Committee on Appropriations; a member of President's Domestic Policy Council; Counselor to the Deputy Secretary for the United States Department of HHS; Chief of Staff of the Supreme Court of the United States; Administrative Assistant to the Chief Justice of the United States;[20] Deputy Under Secretary for International Trade for the U.S. Department of Commerce; Ambassador to Japan; Ambassador to Turkey; Ambassador to Saudi Arabia; Ambassador to the Sultanate of Oman; Governor of Tennessee; Governor of Mississippi; Deputy Governor and Chief of Staff for the Governor of Tennessee; Commissioner of Finance & Administration (Chief Operating Officer), State of Tennessee; Special Counselor to the Governor of Virginia; United States Circuit Court of Appeals Judge; United States District Court Judges; United States Attorneys; and Presidents of State and Local Bar Associations.

What is sad is how there are certain whites that use the judicial process and/or administrative process to destroy innocent lives (such as Newsome's) because she legally and lawfully sought relief for criminal and civil wrongs leveled against her.

Now it is time to see whether or not Newsome (who is African-American) get the relief sought as well as the millions of dollars she is entitled to since Stor-All did not contest her Counter-Claim. The Goldman's who are white obtained a judgment of $33 million. Will Newsome get the millions as well as the other relief she is seeking for the civil wrongs rendered against her in this instant lawsuit.

h) O.J. Simpson Matter: Denise Brown, the sister of Nicole Brown Simpson, issued a statement on the sentence saying, "It is very sad to think that an individual who had it all, an amazing career, beautiful wife and two precious children, has ended up like this.

"Allowing wealth, power and control to consume him self, he made a horrific choice on June 12, 1994, which has spiraled into where he is today."

Newsome Matter- Newsome believes that the record evidence will support that Stor-All, their counsel/representatives, and others are relying upon their wealth, social status, powers and controls, relationship to judges, etc. to get them verdict and decisions they know are contrary to statutes/laws.

i) O.J. Simpson Matter: "I just wanted my personal things. I was stupid. I'm sorry," Simpson said. "I didn't know I was doing anything illegal. I thought I was confronting friends. I thought I was retrieving my things. I didn't mean to hurt anybody, and I didn't mean to steal anything."

Newsome Matter - Newsome believes Stor-All knew and/or should have known it were committing a crime. In fact, a reasonable mind may conclude because it solicited the services of those in law, it was fully aware of the crimes and civil wrongs being rendered Newsome. Moreover, Stor-All's counsel – as officers of this Court - did nothing to deter[21] any such crimes although timely, properly and adequately placed on notice Stor-All was committing criminal acts.

j) O.J. Simpson Matter: But Glass rejected those statements in imposing the sentence.

"When you take a gun with you and you take men with you ... in a show of force, that's not just a 'Hey, give me my stuff back,' " Glass said. "That's something else. And that's what went on here, and that's why we're all here.

[21] 42 USC § 1986: Every person who, having knowledge that any of the wrongs conspired to be done, and mentioned in section 1985 of this title, are about to be committed, and having power to prevent or aid in preventing the commission of the same, neglects or refuses so to do, if such wrongful act be committed, shall be liable to the party injured, or his legal representatives, for all damages caused by such wrongful act, which such person by reasonable diligence could have prevented; and such damages may be recovered in an action on the case; and any number of persons guilty of such wrongful neglect or refusal may be joined as defendants in the action; . . .

"I have to tell you, it was much more than stupidity. ... You went to the room, you took guns -- meaning you and the group -- you used force, you took property, whether it was yours or somebody else's, and in this state, that amounts to robbery with the use of a deadly weapon."

k) O.J. Simpson Matter: The judge said Simpson's contrite words in court were not as powerful as his angry words, as caught on tape, during the confrontation. "Everything in this case was on tape," Glass said. "The evidence in this case was overwhelming."

Newsome Matter- Newsome believes officers were swift to move in on an African-American man (i.e. O. J. Simpson), have him arrested, tried and sentenced in approximately a year's time. The O.J. Simpson matter happened in September 2007.

MOTION FOR SANCTIONS

COMES NOW, Defendant/Newsome, without waiving her rights and relief sought through the above referenced MTSPMFPRO (herein incorporating the above statements, facts, evidence and legal conclusions of Motion to Strike), and files this, her Motion for Rule 11 Sanctions Of and Against Plaintiff's Counsel in this instant pleading pursuant to Rule 11 of the Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure, Ohio Revised Code ("RC") §2323.51 governing sanctions and/or signing of pleadings, motions, and other documents and any/all applicable statutes/laws governing said matters. Through this instant motion Newsome seeks sanctions of and against Stor-All's Counsel, Michael E. Lively (Ohio Bar No. 0066536).

Newsome through this instant motion, request this Court exercise its own discretion and/or accept this motion and issue the applicable sanctions (if permissible – via "snapshot rule" and "inherent power," etc.) in that Stor-All's Counsel, Michael E. Lively ("Lively) knew and/or should have known that MFPRO lacked legal and evidentiary support and has been submitted for purposes of annoyance, delay, sham, frivolousness, ill motive, bad faith, hindering proceedings, harassment, embarrassment, intimidation, obstructing the administration of justice, vexatious litigation, increasing the cost of litigation, deprivation of rights, deprivation of equal protection of the laws, deprivation of due process of laws, etc. of Newsome; therefore warranting sanctions for violation of Rule 11 of the Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure and/or applicable statutes/laws governing said matters. In support thereof, the Newsome states:

> OHIO RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE:
> RULE 11. Signing of Pleadings, Motions, or Other Documents
> Every pleading, motion, or other document of a party represented by an attorney shall be signed by at least one attorney of record in the attorney's individual name, whose address, attorney registration number, telephone number, telefax number, if any, and business e-mail address, if any, shall be stated. A party who is not represented by an attorney shall sign the pleading, motion, or other document and state the party's address. Except when otherwise specifically provided by the se rules, pleadings need not be verified or accompanied by affidavit. The signature of an attorney or pro se party constitutes a certificate by the attorney or party that the attorney or party has read the document; that to the best of the attorney's or party's knowledge, information, and belief there is good ground to support it; and that it is not interposed for delay. If a document is not signed or is signed with intent to defeat the purpose of this rule, it may be stricken as sham and false and the action may proceed as though the document had not been served. For a willful violation of this rule, an attorney or pro se party, upon motion of a party or upon the court's own motion, may be subjected to appropriate action, including an award to the opposing party of expenses and reasonable attorney fees incurred in bringing any motion under this rule. Similar action may be taken if scandalous or indecent matter is inserted.

Skidmore Energy, Inc. v. KPMG, 455 F.3d 564, 569-570 (2006) – Under the "snapshot" rule, sanctions based on a frivolous pleading were proper because the lack of legal and evidentiary support for the pleading at the time it was filed. The . . .court found the claims lacked both legal and factual support and imposed more than $500,000 in sanctions against plaintiffs and their counsel, based on defendants' reasonable expenses incurred in litigating against the claims. . . . This test focuses on the instant when the signature is placed on the document, and the state of mind of the signer at the time. The test ensures the Rule 11 liability is assessed only for violation existing at the moment of filing. The . . . court had clearly concluded that the pleadings were frivolous when filed. The fact that they continued to lack evidentiary support throughout the proceedings only underscored the violation.

Skidmore Energy, Inc. v. KPMG, 455 F.3d 564 (5th Cir. 2006) - (n. 4) Both client and attorney have duty to conduct reasonable inquiry into facts or law before filing lawsuit; (n. 5) In lawsuit addressing ongoing dispute . . .court did not abuse its discretion in awarding Rule 11 sanctions against plaintiffs; rather than sanctioning them for legally frivolous nature of pleadings, it sanctioned them for . . .factually groundless allegations in their complaint; and (n. 7) Fifth Circuit's

"snapshot" rule/test ensures that Rule 11 liability is assessed only for a violation existing at moment of filing.

43. Sanctions are required of and against Stor-All and its attorney(s) pursuant to ORCP Rule 11 and RC §2323.51. Based on the facts, evidence and legal conclusions submitted in this instant MTSPMFPRO Stor-All submitted its MFPRO for frivolous and ill intent – delay, hindering proceedings, harassment, embarrassment, intimidation, obstructing the administration of justice, vexatious litigation, increasing the cost of litigation, deprivation of rights, deprivation of equal protection of the laws, deprivation of due process of laws, etc. Stor-All counsel, Lively, is one schooled in the laws and has been practicing for approximately 13 year. Therefore, a reasonable mind may conclude that he is not a novice and aware that Vance's pleadings filed on behalf of Stor-All was in violation of the Rules of this Court and the Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure. Moreover, Lively knew that without Vance's filing of an Appearance in this lawsuit made the March 2, 2009 Docket entry granting the relief Stor-All sought through the pleading filed by her null and void. Stor-All's MFPRO has been submitted for such ill purposes/motives as warranting sanctions and the relief sought through this instant MTSPMFPRO. There is no evidentiary support to sustain Stor-All's MFPRO.

RC §2323.51 Frivolous conduct in filing civil claims.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Conduct" means any of the following:

(a) The filing of a civil action, the assertion of a claim, defense, or other position in connection with a civil action, the filing of a pleading, motion, or other paper in a civil action, including, but not limited to, a motion or paper filed for discovery purposes, or the taking of any other action in connection with a civil action;

(2) "Frivolous conduct" means either of the following:

(a) Conduct of an party to a civil action, of an inmate who has filed an appeal of the type described in division (A)(1)(b) of this section, or of the inmate's or other party's counsel of record that satisfies any of the following:

(i) It obviously serves merely to harass or maliciously injure another party to the civil action or appeal or is for another improper purpose, including, but not limited to, causing unnecessary delay or a needless increase in the cost of litigation.

(ii) It is not warranted under existing law, cannot be supported by a good faith argument for an extension, modification, or reversal of existing law, or cannot be supported by a good faith argument for the establishment of new law.

(iii) The conduct consists of allegations or other factual contentions that have no evidentiary support or, if specifically so identified, are not likely to have evidentiary support after a reasonable opportunity for further investigation or discovery.

> (iv) The c onduct consists o f de nials or factual contentions that are not w arranted by the evidence or, if specifically so identified, are not reasonably based on a lack of information or belief.

44. As set forth more fully herein, it is clear that Stor-All' s MFPRO has no good grounds to support it and have been filed merely for purpose of delay, hindering proceedings, harassment, embarrassment, intimidation, obstruc ting the administration of justice, vexatious litigation, increasi ng the cost of litigatio n, deprivati on of rights, deprivation of equal protection of the laws, deprivation of due process of laws, etc. Stor-All cannot possibl y hope to succeed on its m otion, and is m erely attem pting by thi s device to slander and sca ndalize Newsome and increase vexatiously the cost of litigation to Newsome and to further delay a trial of this cause.

45. Pursuant to RC §2323.51, Defendant is entitled to move this Court for an award of attorney fees to compe nsate Defe ndant for fee s w hich she reasona bly incurred and w hich were necessitated by the frivolous conduct of Stor-All and i ts Counsel.

46. Stor-All's MFPRO is frivolous in its entirety and therefore, this Court has the inherent power to strike a pleading on such gro und that it is frivolous. Moreover, the record evidence will sustain that Stor-All 's bringing of this lawsuit was for unlawful/illegal purposes.

> A trial court has the inherent power to strike a pleading on the ground that it is frivolous [Brown v. Lamb, 112 Ohio App. 116, 1 3 Ohio Op.2d 430 , 16 Ohio Op .2d 47, 171 N.E.2d 19 1 (6th Di st. Lucas County 196 0)]. 75 Ohio Jur. 3d §314 – Frivolous, Equivocal, or Evasive Pleading].

47. Through Newsome's instant MTSPMFPRO, she seeks this Court's regulation over Stor-All's MFPRO as to prevent further harm/injury to her.

> A m otion to strike is a method where by court can regulate pleadings to prevent real harm to movant. H.K. Porter Co. v. Bremer, 11 F.R.D. 89 (N.D. Ohio 1950) (West Ohio Digest).

48. In the im position of sanctions of and against Stor-All and/or its counsel , Lively, for the filing of its MFPRO, this Court needs to consider the relevant facts presented in this instant pleading/motion, including the duties that Stor-All 's counse l breached/violated, it is ap parent that Lively mental state is that shared by certain whites to paint Newsom e (Afri can-American) as a potential murder, hostile, angry , revengeful person that is going to ca rry out acts of those com mitted by Carl Brandon (when she i s not) and sanctions that have been imposed in similar matters.

> Disciplinary Counsel v. Davis, 2009 -Ohio- 500 (Ohio,2009) - When imposing sanctions for attorney m isconduct, the Suprem e Court considers re levant factors, including the dutie s the re spondent breached and the sanctions imposed in similar cases.

> Warren Cty. Bar Assn. v . Marsh all, 2009 -Ohio- 501 (Ohio,2009) - When im posing sanctions for attorney m isconduct, the Suprem e Court consi ders relevant factors, including the duties the lawy er violated, the lawy er's m ental state, and sanctions i mposed in sim ilar cases.
> Disciplinary Counsel v. Zigan, 2008 -Ohio- 197 6 (Ohio,200 8) - In determining the appropriate sanction to impose for attorney misconduct, the Suprem e Court considers the duties violated, the actual or potential injury caused, the attorney 's m ental state, the existence of aggravating or m itigating circum stances, and sanctions imposed in similar cases.

49. Lively: (a) had sufficient tim e to investigate m atter prior to filing Stor-All's MFP RO on behalf of Stor-All; (b) did not have to rely on Stor-All's f or information underlying the reasons provided in its MFPRO; (c) knew that its MFPRO was not based on a plausible view of the law; moreover, upon review of Stor-All's MFPRO this Court will find that Lively provides no facts, evidence or legal conclusion to support MFPRO – not even mention under what st atutes/laws it is bringing MFPRO; and (d) did not have to depend on inform ation forwarded to him from another attorney or m ember of the bar, he had sufficient inform ation that contained legal authorities presented by Newsom e to support the pleadings/m otions she filed in this lawsuit.

> Davis v. Crush, 862 F.2d 84 (C.A.6.Ohio,1988) - Relevant factors for determ ining whether party' s conduct in signing pleading was not reasonable under the circum stances so as to warrant Rule 11 sanctions include (1) tim e available to signer f or investigation; (2) whether signer had to rely on client for inform ation as to facts underlying pleading, motion, or other paper; (3) whether pleading, motion, or other paper was based on plausible view of law; (4) or whether signer depended on forwarding counsel or another member of the bar.
> Neighborhood Research Institute v. Campus Partners for Community Urban Development, 212 F.R.D. 374 (S.D.Ohio.E.Div.,2002) - Relevant factors for determ ining whether the attorney acted reason ably in compliance with Rule 11 include: (1) the tim e available to the signo r for inves tigation; (2) w hether the signor had to rely on a client for inform ation as to the facts underlying the pleading, m otion, or other paper; (3) whether the pleading, motion, or other paper wa s based on a plausible view of the law; (4) or whether the signor depended on forwarding counsel or another member of the bar.

50. Based upon the facts, evidence and legal conclusions pre sented Newsom e in this instant filing, this Court m ay subject Stor-All's counsel, Lively, to appropriate action under Rule 11 because he willfully violated said rule in the filing of Stor-All 's MFPRO, Lively having knowledge that MFPRO was not supported by good ground and/or brought in good faith. Newsome is therefore entitled to fees associated with costs in defending Stor-All's MFPRO; moreover, this Court's striking of Stor-All's MFPRO.

> Before a court may subject an attorney to "appropriate action" under Rule 11, the attorney must willfully violate said Rule; in particular, the attorney to the best of his knowledge, information and belief, was not supported by good ground [Haubeil & Sons Asphalt and Materials, Inc. v. Brewer & Brewer Sons, Inc., 57 Ohio App.3d 22, 565 N.E.2d 1278 (4th Dist. Ross County 19890); 74 Ohio Jur. 3d § 55 – Willful Violation of Rule; Sanctions].
> In addition to striking a sham or false pleading, the court may impose sanctions on the attorney or party who signed the pleading. Thus, a trial court has authority to award attorney fees incurred in meeting a sham pleading. . . 74 Ohio Jur. 3d § 56 – Sham or False Pleading.

51. While Lively under the Ohio Rules of Professional Conduct has an ethical obligation of zealous advocacy on behalf of Stor-All, this does not amount to his using the judicial process to burden this Court and Newsome with motoins such as Stor-All's MFPRO in which he knew and/or should have known that allegations asserted were frivolous; moreover, that he knew and/or should have known were submitted for needlessly increasing the costs of litigation, obstructing the administration of justice, to deprive Newsome equal protect of the laws, due process of laws, harassment, threats, coercion, ill motive, malicious intent, etc. Therefore, at the expense of Stor-All, Lively continues to file vexatious pleadings, etc.

> Attorney's ethical obligation of zealous advocacy on behalf of his or her client does not amount to carte blanche to burden the . . .courts by pursuing claims that are frivolous on the merits, and, when attorney knows or reasonably should know that claim pursued is frivolous, or that his or her litigation tactics will needlessly obstruct the litigation of nonfrivolous claims, trial court does not err by assessing fees attributable to such actions against the attorney . Wilson-Simmons v. Lake County Sheriff's Dept., 207 F.3d 818, 2000 Fed.App. 104P (6th Cir., Ohio 2000) (West Ohio Digest).
> When attorney knows or reasonably should know that claim pursued is frivolous, or that his or her litigation tactics will needlessly obstruct litigation of nonfrivolous claims, assessment of fees attributable to such actions against attorney is proper. Fifth Third Bank v. Boswell, 125 F.R.D. 460 (S.D. Ohio, 1989) (West Ohio Digest)

52. Lively signed Stor-All's MFPRO with willful and deliberate intent to defeat the purpose of Rule 11 of the ORCP. Therefore, said document (and/or statements and supporting document) may be stricken as sham and false and this Court and Newsome are to move forward in this action as though Stor-All's MFPRO had not been served. While Lively provided an Affidavit with MFPRO, it does not meet the pleading requirements for said actions, fails to state the need for Protective/Restraining, that averments are true, etc. – thus, Affidavit alone is a sham.

> If a document is signed with intent to defeat the purpose of Rule 11, it may be stricken as sham and false and the action may proceed as though the document had not been served. (ORCP Rule 11)

> A sham answer or other pleading is defined as one good in form but false in fact, and one which may or may not be pleaded in good faith (Am. Jur. 2d §36). The Common Pleas Court's power to order a sham answer stricken from the files [Butterick Pub. Co. v. Smith, 24 Ohio N.P. (n.s.) 573, 1924 WL 2695 (Super. Ct. 1924), aff'd, 112 Ohio St. 73, 3 Ohio L. Abs. 185, 146 N.E. 898 (1925)] has been held to be a power existing at the common law, and is one of the powers inherent in the court to be exercised in the due and speedy administration of justice [Butterick Pub. Co. v. Smith, 112 Ohio St. 73, 3 Ohio L.Abs. 185, 146 N.E. 898 (1925); Thomas v. Kalbfus, 97 Ohio St. 232, 119 N.E. 412 (1918); Crew v. Pennsylvania R. Co., 21 Ohio App. 143, 4 Ohio L. Abs. 451, 153 N.E. 95 (1st Dist. Hamilton County 1926); 75 Ohio Jur 3d § 313 – Sham Pleading or Part of Pleading]

53. As an appropriate sanction, Newsome, as a matter of law, is entitled to reasonable fees in which she has incurred for defending MFPRO which has been filed without justification to be imposed against Stor-All's counsel who has brought MFPRO in flagrant disregard of norms of proper legal practice and/or total disregard to the statutes/laws governing said matters which was easily discernible by counsel (Lively).

> Reasonable counsel fees for defending a suit pursued without justification was an appropriate sanction to be imposed against plaintiff, whose counsel was evidently operating in a flagrant disregard of norms of proper legal practice or in flagrant ignorance of legal principles easily discernible and relevant to the case. Costanzo v. Plain Dealer Pub. Co., 715 F.Supp. 1380 (N.D. Ohio, 1989) (West Ohio Digest)

54. Newsome request that this Court impose sanctions on Stor-All's counsel, Lively, under its inherent powers, should it find from the facts, evidence and legal conclusion that Stor-All's MFPRO was submitted in bad faith; moreover, violation of Rule 11 of the ORCP.

55. Stor-All's MFPRO is frivolous and lacks any legal basis or evidentiary facts and/or evidence to sustain it. Stor-All and its counsel knew at the time of filing of MFPRO, that it was a sham and/or frivolous. Moreover, patently frivolous.

WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED Defendant moves this Court to: (a) Strike the "STRICKEN STATEMENT(S)" and deny relief sought by Stor-All in its MFPRO for the reasons mentioned above in this instant filing; (b) impose sanctions of and against Stor-All's counsel, Michael E. Lively, in the amount of $3,572.50[22] for the costs associated with researching/drafting and preparation of this instant motion - which is approximate hours of 30.50 @ $115 hr, plus out-of-pocket expenses approximately $65.00]; (c) if permissible, report any such violations (i.e. under the Ohio Rules of Professional Conduct) known to this Court to the appropriate disciplinary body for the enactment of disciplinary process; and (d) as well as any and all other relief this Court deems appropriate to deter such acts of Plaintiff and its counsel.

Respectfully submitted this 19th day of March, 2009.

RE: UPDATE AND URGENT REQUEST REGARDING: Emergency Complaint and Request for Legislature/Congress Intervention; Also Request for Investigations, Hearings and Finding

Dear President-Elect/Senator Obama:

CONGRATULATIONS on your November 4, 2008 PRESIDENTIAL Victory!!!! Truly history was made on this date and America spoke for CHANGE. Congratulations to you, Michelle, Joe Biden, Jill, your family, friends and the many supporters and citizens (as me) who voted for you and for CHANGE! I pray that you remain HUMBLE and seek God for direction in all that you do.

I am going to be brief because those who know me know that I can be long winded. ☺

On or about August 2, 2008, I submitted to your attention a copy of the Complaint I submitted for filing entitled, Emergency Complaint and Request for Legislature/Congress Intervention; Also Request for Investigations, Hearings and Finding. The original was mailed on or about July 13, 2008, and sent to the attention of Senator Patrick Leahy; while copies were later mailed to you and a few others in efforts to assure that the ball is not dropped on this Complaint. To date I have heard nothing.

Now that you have been elected as our next President of the United States, I am hoping that, if you do not take this matter with you to the White House to monitor, that you brief your successor in the Senate as to what is taking place. I believe a SPECIAL COMMITTEE is going to be needed to handle this because of the magnitude of issues and evidence provided and to be obtained during an investigation of the claims/issues raised. Will you please check with your staff in regards to receipt of this Complaint if you are not familiar with it? Your attention to this matter is greatly appreciated.

The URGENCY of this matter is also as a direct and proximate result of an October 9, 2008, attack on me which I believe could have resulted in my death (by being shot and killed) had I been at my residence. An official criminal complaint has been filed in regards to this incident with the FBI; however, still oversight will be needed by your Administration in that I have very strong feelings the FBI will not perform their duties without oversight from your Administration and the perpetrators of such criminal actions will not be punished for such legal wrongs if not watched. A copy of the FBI Complaint I filed in regards to this incident is attached for your review.

I believe you will find not only from my July 13, 2008 Complaint filed with the Legislature/Congress, but also with the FBI that I am definitely in the trenches fighting for the little people and have been doing so since leaving Florida A & M University ("FAMU"). However, due to the systematic prejudices and injustices which has plagued African-Americans and/or people of color – justice has been delayed; however, now with the new administration, not denied and believe the laws will be applied equally, just and fair.

I take the fight for Civil Rights and many other protected rights very seriously and believe you will find from the documentation provided you and/or sent you that this is true. Not only that that I was fighting for such causes during the times you were working in the communities – just in different states. I am still fighting and will continue to fight; however, like you advised you are going to need us working with you as President in our communities, I am going to need you working for me as well as those on whose behalf I am fighting for while you are our President and believe this can be done (YES WE CAN!!!!). Therefore, please take the time to review the attached documents as well as the July 13, 2008 Complaint sent to your attention and advise or have your Aid(s) contact me regarding the status.

Please find the following documents attached:

1. FBI Criminal Complaint (Brief Only) submitted for filing October 13, 2008 – regarding October 9, 2008 incident;
2. Injunction and Restraining Order that was in place at time of October 9, 2008, criminal invasion/wrongs;
3. Receipt of Payment of October 2008 Rent into Escrow;
4. Letter (Only) of November 8, 2008 to Governor Steve Beshear (Kentucky) – requesting your support for change and efforts to move the State of Kentucky in this direction;
5. An electronic copy of my August 2, 2008 letter to you (Senator Barack Obama);
6. My PowerPoint Slide of you with some of the Rattlers;
7. Picture of you with "Cal" – the one holding the Obama sign. Cal provides security service in the building in which I work and also knows my passion for the causes in which I fight as well as my support and happiness for the November 4, 2008 victory;
8. November 9, 2008 MSNBC article entitled, "Obama' Business Backers Look Ahead – A powerful group of African American executives helped get Obama elected President. Now they hope he can provide solutions to the economic crisis. An article I was happy to see feature a Rattler, Lyle Logan.

9. Last of all me (an Alumni of FAMU) wearing and supporting the Orange & Green – well you can't tell because its in black and white, so take my word ☺ !.

Your most URGENT attention to this matter prior to taking the Presidential Office is greatly appreciated. I need your assistance in seeing that the ball is not dropped and that CHANGE happens. ☺ While I would love to attend the Inauguration in January 2009, I am sure you can understand from what has transpired in my life and as recent as October 9, 2008, it makes it financially difficult. Nevertheless, just know that I am in the trenches fighting for you as well as working towards the CHANGE you and so many other Americans seek.

Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me at the above address or phone number. My direct fax at work is (513) 419-6453.

With Warmest Regards,

Denise Newsome

RE: UPDATE AND URGENT REQUEST REGARDING: Emergency Complaint and Request for Legislature/Congress Intervention; Also Request for Investigations, Hearings and Finding

Dear President-Elect/Senator Obama:

I read on yesterday that you are resigning your seat in the Senate effective Sunday, November 16, 2008. You mentioned that you want the public to feel free to come to you, well here I am.

Therefore, please accept this as my FINAL request and plea to you in your remaining days as Senator and your remaining days as President-Elect to see that a Special* Committee and/or the appropriate actions are taken to see that the July 2008 Complaint submitted to your attention and others is handled most urgently. I ask that you do not take on what I call the "Pilate" syndrome, wherein, in this story, this leader (Pilate) had the opportunity to do what was right by a just man; however, buckled under the pressure and I gathered having the need to be accepted and liked - simply put, "While Pilate saw that he could not prevail nothing, but that rather a tumult was made, he took water, and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this just person; see ye to it" (Matthew 27: 24) – allowed an innocent man to be killed. However, he was just as guilty as the rest because he had the opportunity, power and authority to stop the actions, but elected to allow the people to proceed and threw a just and innocent man to the wolves. Clearly actions repeatedly rendered today by those in authority. Rather than do what is right, they allow the just to suffer persecution needlessly while either looking the other way or laughing with those who commit such criminal acts. From this story, because of the coward acts of Pilate, a precious life was lost and/or destroyed because this leader gave into the pressure of those who sided with freeing a criminal. While I realize there was only one King Solomon who was known for his wisdom, I realize that such gifts as "wisdom," "courage," "strength," "integrity," etc. is also given freely to those who ask of it. There is no respect of person.

Although November 4, 2008 seemed so far away, to others, there are those that believed that upon your announcement of running for office, the milestone of your becoming the next President as well as the first African-American President of the United States was indeed possible. I just hope that you remain humble and continue to seek wisdom, guidance and other tools needed for your journey in this position.

If you don't hear our RATTLE, then feel the BITE!!

Again, the critical and/or urgency for my request is because I have had to suffer and endure a great deal of injustices for approximately 20 years. Nevertheless, I patiently waited for the fulfillment of so many dreams and visions spoken and seen for the change that occurred on November 4, 2008. It is no secret to many that know me that I have repeatedly been victimized by our government and the judicial process; nevertheless, it did not stop me from continuing to believe that one day, rather than work against me, the judicial process and justice would work for me. With my July 2008 Complaint submitted to the United States Legislature/Congress I provided factual documentation and/or evidence which many knows is very hard/difficult to come by. Information to support the corrupt judicial process and systematic injustices in place to keep myself and people of color oppressed. With the July 2008 Complaint I provided information such as:

1. Evidence of the unlawful/illegal stalking of me from job-to-job – wherein there are certain persons stalking and tracking me down, finding out where I was working and contacting my employers to notify them of lawsuit(s) filed by me. The reasons' being was to get me terminated from my jobs. Such civil/criminal acts in which such persons were successful in accomplishing their goals. Each and every time I tried to move on, they just would not let go and followed me to the next job – even to the one I hold today. However, to their disappointment, the law firm at which I am presently employed in their employment policy prohibits discrimination against persons who have filed lawsuits. Even with such policy in place, it has not stopped those in pursuit of me from pressuring my employer to let me go and/or look for a Judas among them. What was I to do especially when the system is designed to break and destroy me? Many people sharing with me that with such repeated attacks as I have suffered and had to endure, they would have given up a long time ago. However, those who know me know I am not a quitter and believe in finishing the race/course (being the former athlete I am) that has been set for me. I realize there is no way that some of the evidence I have been blessed to obtain such as:

    (a) tape recording by co-worker advising me to go home and take a bath because my skin is the wrong color; (b) racial literature mocking mother with interracial children being distributed in workplace; (c) racial remarks being written in the newspaper and left in the break room for others to view, etc. (documents memorialized in courts and agency records).

    is very difficult to obtain and to sustain the discriminatory environments in which I have worked. Nevertheless, employer(s) was allowed to continue practicing in such a manner without any intervention and/or regulation by the EEOC and/or the appropriate agencies that are supposedly designed to deter such practices. While I was required to look the other way and just to take it, this simply was something I could not do and simply behavior I could not condone and did not condone while it came with consequences and the government relying on their vast resources and ties to scandalize my name and reputation all because I decided to take them and others on. Did it cost me? Yes. The government has seen to it that my name is posted on the internet and through such efforts for exposing them to see that my life is destroyed. Their reason for doing so is to destroy my life, character and to make it difficult for me to get a job, etc. Nevertheless, it has not stopped me and I continue to fight. I have been very blessed to work with people who can vouch for my work ethics and character as shown in the attached references obtained. So while it is obvious I have been projected and/or the government has tried to paint me as a "mental" case for going after them and now are trying to shut the Courts down to me, I continue to fight for my rights secured to me under the Constitution, Civil Rights Act and other laws/statutes in place.

2. Evidence of employer's witnesses (under oath) admitting to discriminating against me and subjecting me to a hostile work environment and the government set by and allowed them to do this. How easy does one think it was to get persons on tape and under oath to admit to such civil wrongs? Nevertheless, I was blessed to get this and provided portions of the transcript in which such testimony was provided under cross-examination (by me) because they came in with well rehearsed testimony and had no clue that I was using this opportunity to obtain key testimony that will assist me in the future. I provided portion of transcript verifying this in my July 2008 Complaint filed with the U.S. Legislature/Congress.

3. I have been laughed at and mocked by attorneys for stating my preservation of matters; however, as I share with others, I believed that November 4, 2008 was possible and I believed that a change would eventually come. So while they laughed and mocked me for preserving evidence and memorializing evidence, etc. for a later date and/or time, I just simply kept believing that the tide would eventually turn and that the CHANGE and pursuit for justice would eventually prevail. I believe that the November 4, 2008, election clearly supports that our nation is looking for CHANGE. No, prior to the November election, in July 2008, I moved to have cases transferred to the forum/jurisdiction of the United States Legislature/ Congress.

4. I have been falsely imprisoned – tape recording to the incident stolen off of my persons and officer destroyed this evidence. Clearly through all my situations when one would think I had the right to be hostile, angry, bitter, etc. I maintained my patience, temperance, etc. Always being subjected to situations where it was obvious that I was being provoked; however, would not allow them to take me there (or to bring the streets out one may say) and continued to look towards the future and that justice will prevail.

5. While the Court records in proceedings I am presently engaged in cannot be certified because the record has been compromised, tampered with and documents submitted for filing withheld from the file, etc. while they launched various attacks against me and in their efforts of shutting the courts' doors to me, it was a good thing I listened to an attorney I met at a conference in June 2008 and filed the July 2008 Complaint with the U.S. Legislature/Congress and requesting its intervention. Yes, it was clear that I was on my way to another railroading and/or lynching by the certain persons at the helm of the judicial process and consenting to such criminal acts; however, to their disappointment, they never knew I would file a Complaint with the U.S. Legislature/Congress exposing such criminal/civil wrongs as I did.

While I am presently employed with a law firm in Cincinnati (since 9/11/06 – contracted prior to accepting permanent job offer) my passion is fighting for the little people and working with getting our system cleaned up – whom better than a victim of the process. It is no secret that the system has been designed to destroy innocent lives such as Carl Brandon (an African-American guy stalked from job-to-job in Mississippi and repeatedly and in which there were certain persons who sought to see that his employer terminated him and were successful; however, this man could not take it and one day went on a shooting spree) – he is discussed in my July 2008 Complaint submitted to the U.S. Legislature/Congress. Look at what happened in the Jena 6 matter and so many others. Unlike so many, rather than take the road the system set up for me, I elected to use the judicial process regardless of how they would attempt to turn it and use it against me and/or now even try and deprive me access to keep me from bringing civil lawsuits they know are inevitable.

No it is obvious there are those (certain persons) using a systematic process to close the doors to protect their own and through a systematic process designed to destroy African-Americans and to incarcerate us. Then when you beat them at their own game (as I have done), they still try and steal the rug out from underneath you and close the Courts down on you. This is not right and it is definitely time for CHANGE!!!

I close with a plea and request that you do as much as possible in the power you have been blessed to acquire to help in the fight and change you promised. Please do not allow your promise to become empty/hollow words.

Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me at the above address or phone number. My direct fax at work is (513) 419-6453.

White Collar Crime and Government Investigations

Few companies or executives plan for a criminal investigation. But in the complex regulatory environment facing modern businesses, few corporations can safely assume that their operations and employees are immune from government investigations and even prosecution. For many companies, the very existence of such probes can do substantial damage. When the stakes are highest, corporations and individuals need lawyers versed in the unique challenges of such cases.

Robert E. Hauberg Jr.

When the unthinkable happens, businesses and executives need a law firm that moves quickly to answer and defend against charges of illegal behavior. Attorneys in the White Collar Crime Group limit client exposure in government and internal investigations of employee wrongdoing, and defend companies and executives in parallel proceedings involving agency litigation, civil lawsuits and criminal prosecutions.

When a government contractor's operations are out of compliance with contractual or regulatory obligations, they can often find themselves defending multiple fronts simultaneously. While defending a qui tam or other civil suit, the company may also find itself responding to a governmental agency or grand jury investigation. In such cases, the company needs experienced counsel to guide it proactively to an efficient, global resolution or to respond on the civil side while working to avoid indictment.

Relying upon attorneys with backgrounds in state law enforcement, heavily-regulated industries, DOJ, FBI, EPA and various agencies, this Group assists clients in responding to grand jury, administrative or inspector general subpoenas; monitoring grand jury proceedings; and negotiating immunities, pleas, settlements and corporate integrity agreements. If negotiated resolution is not possible, our teams try both civil and criminal cases, handle appeals and fight threats of suspension, debarment and exclusion. We counsel and defend clients from every industry, from Boston to Los Angeles and from London to Tokyo.

The best defense against a government investigation is to have effective compliance policies in place. Attorneys in the White Collar Crime Group prepare and review compliance plans, negotiate corporate integrity agreements, advise on reimbursements under government contracts, plan responses on whistleblower issues, and defend against debarment and exclusion from federal programs.

Possibility that Omar Thornton did not act alone

Unfortunately, the Connecticut workplace shooting leaves more facts that have not been considered. In college Psychology, I recall researching the ABCs (an acronym for Antecedents, Behaviors, and Consequences) of Psychology. These principles provide tremendous assistance in understanding what happened in Manchester, Connecticut this past Tuesday. Some people don't want to discuss racism as being a form of violence because it would reveal that they themselves are in fact extremely violent and in denial about it.

Omar Thornton's incident has a host of websites spewing hate talk toward African-Americans. Hartford Distributors may have used racism and gradually managed to kill Omar Thornton mentally and emotionally before the killing spree via attrition. Jessica Anne Brocuglio, an ex-girlfriend of Omar Thornton, comes forward with character evidence:

> He always felt like he was being discriminated (against) because he was black[.]" "Basically they wouldn't give him pay raises. He never felt like they accepted him as a hard working person."

This statement corroborates with what Kristi Hannah, Omar Thornton's fiancée before his death, had been telling the Manchester Police Department about Hartford Distributors treating him like a persona non grata.

Plus, a fellow co-worker who was employed with Omar Thornton at Hartford Distributors has come forward stating that he had seen the racist taunts: "Stuff on walls. Racist comments. I saw with my own eyes." More importantly, the fellow co-worker said Mr. Thornton was hired as a truck driver; yet, he was assigned to loading boxes in the warehouse. Mr. Thornton had to fight to get behind the wheel. The co-worker then states that Hartford Distributors are lying and the evidence is in Omar's cell phone. These statements are serious and they are not based upon speculation. This places the co-worker in a position to be called as a key witness to racism within Hartford Distributors. Although the co-worker is no longer under the employ of Hartford Distributors, he has witnessed these incidents first-hand. These statements make it appear as if Hartford Distributors is deliberately being obtuse to shield themselves from potential liability. As Marcellus said in William Shakespeare's play "Hamlet," "[s]omething is rotten in the state of Denmark." Thus far, the answers provided by Hartford Distributors just rubs me the wrong way.

If Hartford Distributors created an atmosphere of institutionalized racism within the workplace, then Omar Thornton's contributing accomplice would be Hartford Distributors who subtly enraged Mr. Thornton to kill 9 employees. In no uncertain terms am I expressing that Omar Thornton was justified by what he did. However, I am expressing that if employers are allowed to continue with business as usual without being held accountable, the contributing employer accomplice will continue its uncorrected racist practices with the result being identical to the facts currently before us. Albert Einstein defined insanity as "doing the same thing over and over again expecting different results." Let's not wait until something else happens before we correct this, let's get it right . . . right now!

If not, the subjective side of the alleged violence will continue without correction. Racist employers are in dire need help to redirect their violent tendencies in the workplace! If Mr. Thornton is correct, racism (his employer's racism) motivated him to do what he did. A Latin term used in the legal community is ipse dixit (he himself said it). How is it that a fair minded person can incriminate Omar Thornton for what he did; yet, absolve the Hartford Distributors for their alleged racist conduct? If there was no shooting spree, many have suggested that he could have used the administrative process to report the racism. What that indicates is that many actually believe Omar had enough to file a complaint. Otherwise, why suggest filing a complaint when you don't believe anything happened? That would be a futile gesture. It also suggests that a large population of people believe Mr. Thornton was subjected to racism. Normally, it's the employer that recommends that the employee receive help with a problem that affects his/her job performance. In this case, it could be the employer who needs help with its entrenched racist practices toward African-Americans. But who will direct the employer to enroll in training to correct the problem? I'd bet dollars to doughnuts that neither of the supervisors or managers have had training regarding racism as a form of violence in the workplace. According to Omar Thornton, racism directly contributed to his shooting spree.

In a company that quickly identifies people by color, Hartford Distributors knew that its employees recognized which color was in the minority and the majority. The 911 tape is replete with descriptions of Omar Thornton being Black and one caller adds that he is the only Black guy that works there. The racism herein may have been cloaked in secrecy and a higher mind and set of eyes are reviewing the evidence in this case to find it. The Manchester Police Department must be applauded for their diligent effort to find the truth regarding this atrocity. When law enforcement acts professionally, the result is an important lesson being learned in the community. As the facts unfold, you can guarantee that they will be reported here.

Beer warehouse shooter long complained of racism

By JOHN CHRISTOFFERSEN (AP) – 2 days ago

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — To those closest to him, Omar Thornton was caring, quiet and soft-spoken. He was excited to land a well-paying job at a beer delivery company a few years ago and his longtime girlfriend says they talked of marrying and having children.

But underneath, Thornton seethed with a sense of racial injustice for years that culminated in a shooting rampage Tuesday in which the Connecticut man killed eight and wounded two others at his job at Hartford Distributors in Manchester before killing himself.

"I know what pushed him over the edge was all the racial stuff that was happening at work," said his girlfriend, Kristi Hannah.

Thornton, a black man, said as much in a chilling, four-minute 911 call.

"You probably want to know the reason why I shot this place up," Thornton said in a recording released Thursday. "This place is a racist place. They're treating me bad over here. And treat all other black employees bad over here, too. So I took it to my own hands and handled the problem. I wish I could have got more of the people."

Thornton, 34, went on his killing spree moments after he was forced to resign when confronted with video evidence that he had been stealing and reselling beer.

Hartford Distributors president Ross Hollander said there was no record to support claims of "racial insensitivity" made through the company's anti-harassment policy, the union grievance process or state and federal agencies. Relatives of the victims also rejected the claims.

Thornton, who grew up in the Hartford area, complained about racial troubles on the job long before he worked at Hartford Distributors.

"He always felt like he was being discriminated (against) because he was black," said Jessica Anne Brocuglio, his former girlfriend. "Basically they wouldn't give him pay raises. He never felt like they accepted him as a hard working person."

One time Thornton had a confrontation with a white co-worker who used a racial slur against him, she said. Thornton changed jobs a few times because he was not getting raises, Brocuglio said.

"I'm sick of having to quit jobs and get another job because they can't accept me," she said he told her.

Brocuglio, who said she dated Thornton until eight years ago, said Thornton helped her become a certified nursing aide. She said he never drank or smoked and remained calm, even when she would yell or grab him.

"He was such a caring person," said Brocuglio, who is white. "He showed me so much love. He was like a teddy bear."

Brocuglio's sister, Toni, said Thornton would come home and say co-workers called him racial slurs. He was also upset by comments made by passers-by about the interracial couple, she said.

"He just didn't understand why people had so much hatred in their lives," Toni Brocuglio said.

Brocuglio said Thornton put her family up in a hotel after a fire at her house and was "like a second dad" to her children.

"Omar was the best man I ever met in my life," Brocuglio said.

Thornton ran into his own troubles a decade ago when he filed for bankruptcy protection. His debts were discharged in 2001 and the case was closed.

Around that time, Thornton was hired as a driver with Chemstation New England, a chemical company in South Windsor. But he was let go after 10 months, unable to master the mechanical skills involved handling the equipment, said Bruce LeFebvre, the owner.

"He was a real nice kid when he was with us," LeFebvre said. "Certainly I would never have expected anything like this from him."

LeFebvre said Thornton handled it well when he was let go.

Thornton was hired for a warehouse job at Hartford Distributors about two years ago and was later promoted to driver. Drivers can make up to $60,000 and receive excellent benefits, said John Hollis, legislative liaison for the Teamsters who represent employees at the company.

"He had this huge smile on his face" when he was hired, Hannah said.

Thornton seemed happy outside of work, too, playing basketball and video games and occasionally shooting his gun at a local range with a friend.

Thornton and his mother were especially excited when Barack Obama was elected the first African American president, Hannah said. He listed Obama and the gun range among his interests on his Facebook page.

But Hannah said he showed her cell phone photos of racist graffiti in the bathroom at the beer company and overheard a company official using a racial epithet in reference to him, but a union representative did not return his phone calls. Police said they recovered the phone and forensics experts would examine it.

"Nothing else bothered him except these comments he would make about them doing the racial things to him," Hannah said.

(This version CORRECTS spelling of former girlfriend's last name to 'Brocuglio' instead of 'Brocuglia' in paragraphs 12-13.)

What ever happened to "Love One Another"? I heard of the disaster / murder and it felt as if my heart was ripped from my body. Not that I don't hear of murders daily but because I cannot believe that my small home town has taken on the same problems as the Big Cities. I am extemeely sorry to know that my classmate was the person who did the shooting. As a young person growing up in that small town and not returning for decades, as I look back on how people in other parts of the country measure up to the people in Small Town Port Gibson, I would Put Carl Brandon as a model from my town. I think he was one of the more intellegent and well manners persons in the class. i cannot imagine this guy waking up one morning to decide that he want to destroy his life and others. I think that this is a tragedy and that fact cannot be denied, but the greater issue is that behind all of this there was a reason. For every action there is a reaction. Sometimes the reaction is hard to understand but it has to be caused by some action first. We can only pray that God will forgive because there are no winners in this situation. Everyone lost something. I am over 18 hundred miles away and have not in that small town in years but I felt a lost.

" May God Bless and don't forget to love ,embrace and forgive one another.

I was sad to hear what had happend in my home town, and shock to find out that it was Carl, that went off. Some time a person try to walk away from a problem, but there are people in this world that want let them do that. This man had left this job and move on, but that was not good enough. They had to call his job and tell them what happend

9 years ago, and got this man fired. I hate that he let the devil take over him at the time, but I do understand. My heart goes out to Carl and his family, and to Miller & Burrell family as well. I hope that we can learn something from this tragedy. I will keep everyone in my Prayer.

Wow. You understand why this coward shot another human being in the face with a 12 guage shotgun and your heart goes out first to him and his family. He set in his vehicle in ambush to kill another human being. He knew exactly what he was doing, the snuffing out of a life as well as the trauma and devestation he was going to cause Michelle and the kids. What a despicable, cowardly act. My sympathy is with the victims families, and I don't mean the guy who had his house shot into and has to replace some windows. Brandon should face the full wrath of our Justice system ASAP!

Wow it is so sad that the person you can feel sorry for is the Burrell family. When there was a young lady shot and is fighting for her life and a young man home was shot up. Everyone lost, the Burrell, Miller, Porter and the Brandon. They all have children, and these kids are going to need some help. The damage have been done, now it is time to move ahead. I still pray for all the family's including the Brandon.

You are correct that I should have specifically stated that the lady that was shot is also a victim. From what I have read she is not "fighting for her life" but I very much count her as a victim in this and she will be traumatized by this cowards actions for some time to come. Any children involved are victims as well. However, in your previous post you seem to blame the victims for their actions that you have ZERO proof of. I've read nothing about anyone else pursuing this matter and getting Brandon fired from his new job. If this did in fact take place Brandon would have ample legal recourse. My objection was, and is, to your excusing this animal's actions and blaming the victims as you so obviously did in your initial post. You are so right that lots of people are going to need help in this situation. My objection is only to any notion that the blame should be anywhere but squarely on the shoulders of the man that pulled the trigger. In my opinion he should face the death penalty without delay.

My dear God, this is a time for understanding and healing, not name-calling and a recommendation of more violence.

This story is very confounding because not much has been reported in the news but there is a lot of “he-said she-said ” surrounding the situation. Here is what I’d like to know. Is it true that Mr. Burrell falsely accused Mr. Brandon of sexually harassing a child, which resulted in Mr. Brandon losing his county job about nine years ago?(I say “falsely accused Mr. Brandon” because it’s my understanding the charges were never proven or even believed by anyone who knew Mr. Brandon). If this is true, we can't gloss over it. If it's not true, may an end be put to the rumors.

It also has been said that Mr. Burrell recently called Mr. Brandon's latest employer and repeated those same unproven charges of sexual harassment about him, which prompted Mr. Brandon's employer to terminate him.

Perhaps all the pertinent information involving this unfortunate incident will be revealed in court. So far, it’s all so sketchy.

It is particularly disturbing that even before this case has been to trial and Mr. Brandon’s innocence or guilt has been proven, someone has suggested the death penalty. What if, and only if, the rumors are true that Mr. Burrell virtually stalked Mr. Brandon and robbed him of his livelihood and happy family life? If that is so, it’s possible that Mr. Brandon is already dead emotionally, spiritually and mentally at the hands of Mr. Burrell. It’s not so farfetched that we should be exploring a double homicide, one of the spirit and one of the flesh –both tragic.

This is indeed a gloomy time for friends and family of Mr. Burrell, Mr. Brandon and Ms. Porter and Mr. Miller. Importantly, it is a time for understanding, for example, understanding that violence is not the best way, as Mr. Burrell’s death shows. It is time to understand the Golden Rule: do unto others as you would have them do unto you.

escaped injury or murder. I grieve for my own family, Allen's family, Loretha's family, and the human family.

I was a classmate of Carl Brandom. We were very good friends growing up in Mississippi.
It was very surprising to me that he would commit this crime. It grieves my heart for him and his family; also the lawyer's and the other families that were invovled. It has affected the small town, and many of us who live in other cities.

By the way, James Miller and I are cousins, and I hope that his wife Carolyn realizes that God spared she and her family's life. I give God praise for that. I am praying for them all. I pray that those involved can come to a place of forgiveness, because anger only wil produce more harm.

Carl Brandon was a victim also. He had lost his job because someone said he had harrassed them. He lost his reputation and the respect of some. When he tried to move on some vindictive, vicious persons went to his next job and scandalized him. He fought through every legal avenue available to him and found no justice. I am so sorry for him and the entire Brandon family. They are a proud old family who have made Port Gibson their home for over a century
True lives were lost in this tragedy. True families were wounded and have to live with the irrevocable loss of their loved ones.
But Carl's life has been lost also. The rest of his life to be spent in a penal institution. His family also has suffered irrevocable loss.
my sympathy goes out to all concerned.

Accused Port Gibson Shooter Arraigned, Denied Bond

POSTED: 11:29 am CST March 20, 2006
UPDATED: 3:07 pm CST March 21, 2006

PORT GIBSON, Miss. -- Carl Brandon walked into his initial court appearance on Tuesday morning without an attorney.

WAPT was not allowed to videotape the proceedings but Brandon certainly had plenty to say.

County prosecutor Michael Keyton told the court Brandon should be denied bond because he's a too dangerous.

"I don't know how you can consider me a danger. I was made a criminal through the system ... The sexual harassment charges made against me were trumped up, yet the system allowed the board of supervisors to take them and run with them," Brandon said in court.

Karl Devine, Brandon's longtime friend, said Brandon never got over the fact that the courts upheld the board's decision to fire him in 1997.

Devine believes the years Brandon spent unsuccessfully trying to clear his name, caused him to finally snap.

"Carl, would always talk about it he said 'The one thing that I want, I just want them to clear my name. They don't have to pay me, they don't have to give me no job, just clear my name," said Devine.

Sheriff Frank Davis said he warned two of the victims of Brandon's alleged shooting rampage, Allen Burell and James Miller, that they might be in danger.

Davis said he even spoke to Brandon the day before the shootings and that Brandon appeared to be visibly upset about being fired.

But Davis said he had no just cause to bring Brandon in and not enough means to keep under constant surveillance.

"We can't stay with anybody 24 hours a day. We can't follow them around. I'm limited on a budget, I'm limited from my board of supervisors as to how much money I have. I'm limited with manpower," said Davis.

Keyton said they would have enough evidence to prove that Brandon should spend the rest of his natural life behind bars.

"We have the witnesses to prove each element of each crime and we'll just see how Mr. Brandon

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

The 2010 Austin suicide attack occurred on February 18, 2010, when Andrew Joseph Stack III, flying his Piper Dakota, crashed into Building I of the Echelon office complex in Austin, Texas, United States,[4] killing himself and Internal Revenue Service manager Vernon Hunter.[5] Thirteen others were injured, two seriously. The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) field office was located in a four-story[6][7] office building along with other state and federal government agencies.[8] Prior to the crash, Stack had posted a suicide note dated February 18, 2010 to his business website.

Incident

Approximately an hour before the crash, Stack allegedly set fire to his $230,000[9] house located on Dapplegrey Lane in North Austin.[10][11] He then drove to a hangar he rented at Georgetown Municipal Airport, approximately 20 miles to the north.[12] He boarded his single-engine Piper Dakota airplane and was cleared to take off around 9:45 a.m. Central Standard Time.[8][13][14][15] He indicated to the control tower his flight would be "going southbound, sir."[16] After taking off his final words were "thanks for your help, have a great day."[17]

About ten minutes later his plane descended and collided at full speed into Echelon I, a building containing offices for 190 IRS employees, resulting in a large fireball and explosion.[8][18][19] The building is located near the intersection of Research Boulevard (U.S. Route 183) and Mopac Expressway (Loop 1).

Perpetrator

The plane was piloted by Andrew Joseph Stack III of the Scofield Farms neighborhood in North Austin, who worked as an embedded software consultant.[10][20][21] He grew up in Pennsylvania and had two brothers and two sisters, was orphaned at age four, and spent some time at a Catholic orphanage.[16] He graduated from the Milton Hershey School in 1974 and studied engineering at Harrisburg Area Community College from 1975 to 1977 but did not graduate.[22][23] His first marriage to Ginger Stack, which ended in divorce, produced a daughter, Samantha Bell.[16][24] In 2007 Stack had remarried to Sheryl Housh who had a daughter from a previous marriage.[16]

Joseph Stack in The Billy Eli Band (2006)

In 1985, Stack, along with his first wife, incorporated Prowess Engineering. In 1994, he failed to file a state tax return. In 1998, the Stacks divorced and a year later his wife filed Chapter 11 Bankruptcy, citing IRS liabilities totaling nearly $126,000. In 1995, Stack started Software Systems Service Corp, which was suspended in 2004 for non-payment of state taxes.[16] It was revealed in CNN and ABC news broadcasts by another software consultant who testified that the IRS had taken away a tax status for software consultants, which might have set off the incident with Stack.[25][26]

Stack obtained a pilot's license in 1994 and owned a Velocity Elite XL-RG plane, in addition to the Piper Dakota (aircraft registration N2889D) he flew into the Echelon building.[16] He had been using the Georgetown Municipal Airport for four and a half years and paid $236.25 a month to rent a hangar.[1] There has been speculation that Stack replaced seats on his aircraft with extra drums of fuel prior to the collision.[9]

Stack's accountant confirmed that he was being audited by the IRS for failure to report income at the time of the incident.[27]

Suicide note

On the morning of the crash, Stack posted a suicide note on his website, embeddedart.com.[21][28][29][30][31] The HTML source code of the web page shows the letter was composed using Microsoft Word starting two days prior, February 16, at 19:24Z (1:24 p.m. CST).[32] The document also shows that it was revised 27 times with the last being February 18 at 06:42Z (12:42 a.m. CST).[32]

In the suicide note, he begins by expressing displeasure with the government, the bailout of financial institutions, politicians, the conglomerate companies of General Motors, Enron and Arthur Andersen, the unions, the drug and health care insurance companies, and the Catholic Church.[31] He then describes his life as an engineer; including his meeting with a poor widow who never got the pension benefits she was promised, the effect of the Tax Reform Act of 1986 on engineers, the September 11 attacks airline bailouts that only benefited the airlines but not the suffering engineers and how a CPA he hired seemed to side with the government to take extra tax money from him. His suicide note included criticism of the FAA, the George W. Bush administration, and a call for violent revolt.

The suicide note also mentions, several times, Stack's having issues with taxes, debt, and the IRS and his having a long-running feud with the organization.[33] While the IRS also has a larger regional office in

Austin, the field office located in Echelon I performed tax audits, seizures, investigations and collections.[33]

The suicide note ended with:[31]

> I saw it written once that the definition of insanity is repeating the same process over and over and expecting the outcome to suddenly be different. I am finally ready to stop this insanity. Well, Mr. Big Brother IRS man, let's try something different; take my pound of flesh and sleep well.

Big Brother is the name of George Orwell's fictional omniscient dictator in the novel Nineteen Eighty-Four. The phrase "pound of flesh" dates back to William Shakespeare's play The Merchant of Venice.[34] The communist creed was penned by Karl Marx.

Aftermath

Killed in the incident along with Stack was Vernon Hunter, a 68-year-old Revenue Officer Group Manager for the IRS and a military veteran of the Vietnam War; Hunter was survived by his wife IRS Revenue Officer Valerie Hunter and their six children.[5][35] Thirteen people were reported as injured, two of them critically. Debris from the crash reportedly struck a car being driven on the southbound access road of Route 183 in front of the building, shattering the windshield.[3] Another driver on the southbound access road of Route 183 had his windows and sunroof shattered during the impact, and had debris fall inside his car, yet escaped uninjured.[5][36] Robin Dehaven, a glass worker and former combat engineer for the United States Army, saw the collision while commuting to his job, and used the ladder on his truck to rescue five people from the building.[37] By coincidence, Travis County Hazardous Materials Team - an inter-agency group of firefighters from outside the City of Austin - had just assembled for training across the freeway from the targeted building, observed the low and fast flight of Stack's plane, and heard the blast impact.[38] They immediately responded, attacking the fire and initiating search-and-rescue.[38] Several City of Austin fire engines for the area of the Echelon building were already deployed at the fire at Stack's home at the time of the impact.[38]

Stack's North Austin home was mostly destroyed by fire.[5][39]

Georgetown Municipal Airport was temporarily evacuated while a bomb disposal team searched Stack's abandoned vehicle.[40]

An inspection into the Echelon building's structural integrity was concluded six days after the incident and a preliminary decision was made to repair the building rather than demolish it.[41]

Response

The United States Department of Homeland Security issued a statement saying that the incident did not appear to be linked to organized international terrorist groups.[8] White House spokesman Robert Gibbs reaffirmed what Homeland Security said, and that President Barack Obama was briefed on the incident.[42] The President expressed his concern and commended the courageous actions of the first responders.[42] The North American Aerospace Defense Command (NORAD) launched two F-16 fighter aircraft from Ellington Airport in Houston, Texas, to conduct an air patrol in response to the crash. That action was reported as standard operating procedure in this situation.[28]

The company hosting embeddedart.com, T35 hosting, took Stack's website offline "due to the sensitive nature of the events that transpired in Texas this morning and in compliance with a request from the FBI."[43][44] Several groups supporting Stack on the social networking website Facebook appeared following the incident and the news of the accompanying manifesto. These were immediately shut down by Facebook staff.[45][46][47]

Austin police chief Art Acevedo stated that the incident was not the action of a major terrorist organization. He also cited "some heroic actions on the part of federal employees" that "will be told at the appropriate time."[48]

The Federal Bureau of Investigation stated that it was investigating the incident "as a criminal matter of an assault on a federal officer" and that it was not being considered terrorism at this time.[49]

However, two members of the United States House of Representatives made statements to the contrary. Rep. Lloyd Doggett (D-Texas) stated, "Like the larger-scale tragedy in Oklahoma City, this was a cowardly act of domestic terrorism." Mike McCaul (R-Texas), told a reporter that, "it sounds like it [was a terrorist attack] to me." Nihad Awad, the Executive Director of the Council on American-Islamic Relations (CAIR), is also asking the federal government to classify this as an act of terrorism. In a statement on February 19, he said, "Whenever an individual or group attacks civilians in order to make a political statement, that is an act of terror. Terrorism is terrorism, regardless of the faith, race or ethnicity of the perpetrator or the victims. If a Muslim had carried out the IRS attack, it would have surely been labeled an act of terrorism."[50] Georgetown University Professor Bruce Hoffman stated that for this to be considered an act of terrorism, "there has to be some political motive and it has to send a broader message that seeks some policy change. From what I've heard, that doesn't appear to be the case. It appears he was very mad at the [IRS] and this was a cathartic outburst of violence. His motivation was the key."[51] A USA Today headline used the term "a chilling echo of terrorism."[19]

Citing the copy of Joseph Stack's suicide note posted online,[31] the liberal Daily Kos website observed that, "Obviously Stack was not a mentally healthy person, and he was embittered at capitalism, including crony capitalism, and health insurance companies and the government." They also noted that while Stack cannot be connected with the popular Tea Party movement, it "should inject a bit of caution into the anti-government flame-throwers on the right."[52] The website Ace of Spades HQ disputed any connection to the movement and additionally stated Stack was not "right wing", citing Stack's criticism of politicians for not doing anything about health care reform.[53]

In an interview with ABC's Good Morning America, Joe Stack's adult daughter, Samantha Bell, who now lives in Norway, stated that she considered her father to be a hero, because she felt that now people might listen. While she does not agree with his specific actions involving the plane crash, she does agree with his actions about speaking out against "injustice" and "the government."[24] Bell subsequently retracted aspects of her statement, saying her father was "not a hero" and adding, "We are mourning for Vernon

Hunter."[54]

Five days after her husband Vernon Hunter's death, Valerie Hunter filed a wrongful death lawsuit against Sheryl Mann Stack, Andrew Joseph Stack's widow in District Court. The lawsuit alleges that Sheryl had a duty to "avoid a foreseeable risk of injury to others," including her late husband and failed to do so by not warning others about her late husband. The lawsuit also mentions that Stack was required by law to fly his plane at an altitude 1,000 feet above the highest obstacle.[55] At a March 8, 2010 benefit event, Stack's widow Sheryl publicly offered condolences for the victims of the attack.[56]

Iowa congressman Steve King (R-Iowa) has made several statements regarding Stack including "I think if we'd abolished the IRS back when I first advocated it, he wouldn't have a target for his airplane. And I'm still for abolishing the IRS, I've been for it for thirty years and I'm for a national sales tax (in its place)."[57][58]

Noted libertarian socialist American intellectual Noam Chomsky cited Joe Stack's suicide letter as indicative of some of the public sentiment in the U.S., stated that several of Stack's assertions are accurate or based on real grievances, and urged people to "help" the Joseph Stacks of the world get involved in constructive popular movements instead of letting the Joseph Stacks "destroy themselves, and maybe the world," in order to prevent a process similar to how legitimate and valid popular grievances of the German people in the 1920s and 1930s were manipulated by the Nazis towards violent and away from constructive ends.[59][60]

The Internal Revenue Service formally designates certain individuals as potentially dangerous taxpayers (PDTs). In response to an inquiry after the attack, an IRS spokesperson declined to state whether Stack had been designated as a PDT.[61]

That's Specter With A "D"

Posted by David S Morgan | 85

The newest member of the Democratic Party, Senator Arlen Specter of Pennsylvania, said his decision to switch parties was motivated by what he viewed as his dismal prospects in the Republican primary in 2010, for which he blamed far-right activists whose interests were not those of the party as a whole — and whom he faulted for the GOP's loss of control in Congress in 2006.

Appearing on CBS News' *Face The Nation, Specter said that the party should stop listening to far-right activists like the Club for Growth, which has campaigned against (and sometimes helped defeat) moderate Republicans in primary races, thereby weakening the party's chances in the general election by fielding far-right candidates.

(CBS)

Specter (left) said his vote to pass President Obama's stimulus bill caused a "precipitous drop" in support among right-wing GOP members.

"The prospects were very bleak to win the Republican primary," Specter said. Knowing that right-wing conservatives were more likely to participate in primary voting, Specter said, "I simply was not going to put my 29-year record before the Republican primary electorate."

Asked if the Senator's party switch would "mutate" and encourage other Senators to jump over to the President's party, Specter said instead, "It would be my hope that this would be a wake-up call, and the party would move to a broader big tent."

Host Bob Schieffer asked what Specter believes is the problem with the Republican Party today.

"I would tell the party to take the advice of Olympia Snowe," who wrote a scathing New York Times op-ed earlier this week in which she said the party had failed to learn lessons from the 2001 defection of Vermont Senator Jim Jeffords and be more — not less — inclusive.

Specter said the GOP should "try to bring back the party to the Reagan big tent," advocating more diversity.

"I was sorry to disappoint many people," he said of Republicans who had voted for him out of party loyalty. "Frankly, I was disappointed that the Republican Party did not want me as their candidate."

He added that, "as a matter of principle I am becoming much more comfortable with the Democrats' approach."

EXHIBIT 74

While Specter's switch has generated expectations that the Democrats would gain a 60-vote, filibuster-proof majority (pending the outcome of the Minnesota race), Schieffer asked the Senator to outline legislative areas where he would not necessarily go along with the Democratic caucus or side with President Obama.

Citing his independence, Specter said that he disagrees on the issue of employee choice -- legislation important to many labor unions.

President Obama allegedly told Specter that he would be looking for the new Democrat's advice, particularly regarding issues on which they do not agree.

On President Obama's pending nomination to fill retiring Supreme Court Justice David Souter's seat, Specter supported a broader range of experience on the Court and said the future Justice should represent minorities.

"I would like to see more diversity," he said. "I think another woman. Ultimately maybe now we need a Hispanic; African Americans are underrepresented."

"Would you favor anyone who was not pro-choice on the issue of abortion?" Schieffer asked.

"I would not use a litmus test, Bob," Specter responded, noting that he had supported Justices Rhenquist, Scalia, Ginsberg and Breyer, who have ruled on opposite sides of the abortion issue.

He said he would not support someone who was not mainstream.

"I would like to see someone with broader experience," he said, arguing that all of the current Justices came from the Appeals Court which he said limits their breadth of experience.

"I'd like to see more diversity," he said. "I think another woman would be good. I think that ultimately maybe now we need an Hispanic. African-Americans are underrepresented."

Specter also said that he could envision, and could support, someone who was not a lawyer for the opening seat, acknowledging that there is no Constitutional requirement that a Supreme Court Justice be an attorney.

Surprisingly, after complaining that some party stalwarts are ready to vote him out of office over a single vote, Senator Specter admitted that he himself does not agree with all of the estimated 10,000 votes he has cast during his career.

When nudged by Schieffer to reveal which of his votes he regrets, Specter demurred, hastening to add that he is comfortable with his votes on the big issues.

Sonia Sotomayor's Big Day

September 25, 2009 11:00 AM

With the first Monday in October just around the corner, Justice Sonia Sotomayor sat for an interview with C-Span's Susan Swain and reveals the dramatic tale of how she came to learn that she was being nominated to the Supreme Court:

SWAIN: I believe this might be the first time that you sat down with television since your appointment was announced. I'm wondering if you would mind, for history, telling us the story of when you got the telephone call?

SOTOMAYOR: I was told that Monday that the President would - I had been told all weekend that the president would be making up his mind, making his decision sometime on Monday, and I had been sitting in my office from 8:00 that morning waiting for a phone call. The phone calls I got instead were from my family telling me, or asking me what was happening, and I was getting the calls almost hourly. And almost - and every hour I would say, 'I don't know.' Two o'clock was arriving and my family had been told that they would have to start moving to the airport shortly, and so they were more and more anxious about whether they should be going to the airport or not and my response was, 'I don't know.'

Finally, at about 5:00 p.m., they're at the airports and they're still calling asking me whether they should get on the planes, and my response was 'I still don't know. If they haven't pulled you back, I guess you should.' My brother calls me from, I think its Baltimore, he had to make a stop at Baltimore and then take a shuttle over to Washington and he says, should I keep going? I said, 'if they haven't told you to stop you should.'

It's now nearly 7:00 in the evening, and I call the White House and say, 'Well you're getting my family to Washington, have any of you given any thought about how I'm going to get there?" And they stopped and said, 'Oh I guess we should figure that out, shouldn't we?' Literally that was the response. What I was told was that the president had gotten distracted with some important other business that was going on at the time, and that he would call me at about 8:00 p.m. but that I should go home and pack to come to Washington, and that they would prefer that I didn't take a plane.

So I rushed out of my office, home, put a suitcase on top of my bed, and with my assistant, Theresa, who had come home with me, we started packing a suitcase, and I called a friend to ask him to drive me to Washington. And he came, or was on his way, and at 8:10 p.m. I received a call at my - on my cell phone. The White House operator tells you that the president is on the line.

SWAIN: And you were somewhere on the road at this point?

SOTOMAYOR: Nope, I was in …

SWAIN: Still at home.

SOTOMAYOR: Still at home, still packing. I actually stood by my balcony doors, and I had the - my cell phone in my right hand and I had my left hand over my chest trying to calm my beating heart, literally. And the president got on the phone and said to me, 'Judge, I would like to announce you as my selection to be the next Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court.'

And I said to him--I caught my breath and started to cry and said, 'Thank you, Mr. President.' That was what the moment was like.

SWAIN: And then what?

SOTOMAYOR: He asked me to make him two promises. The first was to remain the person I was, and the second was to stay connected to my community. And I said to him that those were two easy promises to make, because those two things I could not change. And he then said we would see each other in the morning. Which we obviously did.

SWAIN: And did you in fact drive?

SOTOMAYOR: Uh-hmm.

SWAIN: What was that drive like?

SOTOMAYOR: Well, it was - it went very quickly in parts because I was working the entire time on my speech for the next day, so I had a draft that they had told me to anticipate making a speech, so I had a draft, but I was still working on it.

SWAIN: It's about - for most people watching this who aren't from this part of the country, it's about four hours plus from New York to Washington?

SOTOMAYOR: It took us a little longer because it started to - a torrential rain started on the drive and it knocked out our GPS, and so we got lost and all of sudden I'm in Virginia and looking up because I had been scrambling on the piece of paper - scribbling on the piece of paper and making changes and all of a sudden I look up and I look at my friend and say, 'Tom, we're not going into Washington, we're going away from Washington, we'd better stop.' So we pulled over on a road and I started calling up a friend and saying please get on the computer and figure out how we get back to where we have to go. And I had a law clerk who was also - my law clerks and my staff and my assistant and everybody had been driving down in separate cars, and he was from Washington and he actually talked us back onto the road and to the hotel.

So it was a very busy five and a half, close to six hours between the rain and getting lost, it was a very eventful night.

SWAIN: It sounds like it, not much sleep before the next day.

SOTOMAYOR: No, we arrived in Washington at 2:30 a.m. I practiced my speech for an hour. The last thing I did before I went to bed was to reread it and try to commit it again to memory. And three hours later when I got up, the first thing I did was to give the speech without the papers in front of me and when I was able to do that I said, I got it. And then I was able to shower and get dressed comfortably.

Sotomayor and Progress

Posted by michelle garcia

September 29th, 2009

He called. He made an offer. She cried. She thanked him.

Such were some of the details about the 8 p.m. conversation between President Obama and Sonia Sotomayor, then a judge on the 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals, in which he informs Sotomayor that he will announce her as the nominee for U.S. Supreme Court.

But my attention lingers on the two promises Obama asked Sotomayor to keep:

"The first was to remain the person I was, and the second was to stay connected to my community," she said. "And I said to him that those were two easy promises to make, because those two things I could not change."

As we saw in the confirmation hearings, Sotomayor's ethnicity, gender, heritage, public service, judicial philosophy came under fire and Sotomayor while demonstrating intellectual acumen and an impressive cool, did, in fact, distance herself from the very details that define her self.

To witness the substance of "diversity" drained from her nomination, to watch as the race conversation around her quickly get shoved inside the archaic black/white box made clear the lack of understanding about Latinos identity and contribution to U.S. jurisprudence.

The Sotomayor experience spurred me and a few women including our host Professor Cristina Rodriguez to organize a symposium that was held at New York University School of Law.

And from that came a Manifesto, that lays out key challenges regarding Latinos, diversity, legal constructions, a call to action.

While the chattaratti focused on the "wise Latina" comment, we might have gained some important insights into her and Latinos by—adding some context to that comment or examining her other writing, such as a paper that examines issues derived from U.S. colonialism. I invite you to listen to my commentary on NPR's Latino USA, and pass around the manifesto.

Sotomayor's elevation to the high court should inspire the many she is said to represent –women, Latinas/non-whites– and the nation that has presumably been enriched by the social advancement that her confirmation heralded, to embrace the challenges that were left in the wake of "progress."

Why He Matters

On Feb. 3, 2009, Daschle withdrew his name from consideration as Barack Obama's nominee for secretary of the Health and Human Services Department after he revealed that he owed until recently $140,000 in back taxes for use of a limousine and driver provided by a business associate. Obama had asked Daschle to spearhead a massive effort to reform health care in the United States and, as such, head the new White House Office of Health Reform.

A former Senate majority leader and currently a fellow at the liberal Center for American Progress (CAP), Daschle was one of the earliest prominent backers of Obama during his run for the White House, and his endorsement gave the green light to other key Democrats to join the Obama bandwagon.

Daschle spent ten years as leader of the Senate's Democratic Party, but only two as majority leader. A liberal with big ideas for health care and international development, he spent most of his Senate career in the minority fighting against the majority Republicans.

One of his biggest accomplishments in the Senate was keeping his party from convicting President Clinton after the House impeached the former president in December 1998. "I always wanted to be an offensive quarterback," he told USA Today when he left the Senate. "But I've been a defensive lineman most of my career."(1)

After leaving the Senate, he worked with the law firm Alston & Bird as a policy adviser, carving out a niche on health-care issues. After the Obama Health Secretary controversy, Dsachle returned to work there. He remained an important but unofficial voice on health reform, as an adviser and through his many allies and aides in influential administraiton positions.

EXHIBIT 79

campaigning against a sitting party leader.(9)

Post-Senate Career and Tax Problems

After leaving the Hill, Daschle stayed involved in politics. He is a distinguished fellow at CAP, a visiting professor at Georgetown University and a policy adviser to the law firm of Alston & Bird.(10) Despite advising clients on a wide range of issues, Daschle was not a registered lobbyist before being nominated as Health and Human Services secretary.

Daschle thought about running for president himself in 2008, but came out as an early Obama supporter.(11) Daschle advised the Obama campaign and led the transition team's health-policy working group. Obama announced he was nominating Daschle as HHS secretary in December 2008.

But trouble soon hit in the form of tax problems. Daschle waited nearly a month after being nominated before revealing that he owed more than $140,000 in back taxes for the use of a car and a driver from a business associate. The former Senate majority leader said had known since June 2008 that he owed back taxes and interest on a car and driver provided by a wealthy New York investor when he was working for a lobbying firm.

Daschle's filings with Obama's ethics team also revealed that after leaving the Senate, the former lawmaker had advised some major health organizations and received income, including $220,000 in speaking fees, from others. Although he was not a registered lobbyist at the time, some said that Daschle should have been.(12) was the third of Obama's high-profile nominees to disclose tax problems. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner was confirmed despite owing $43,000 in back taxes from work at the IMF, and Nancy Killefer, Obama's nominee for chief performance officer, withdrew her nomination because of her failure to pay unemployment compensation for a household employee.

Although the Democratic Senate would have likely confirmed its former colleague, Daschle's

Daschle withdrew his name from consideration as the HHS nominee on Feb. 3, 2009.

Policy Adviser

Daschle resumed his work at Alston & Bird, where he advised interested players on the lay of the land in health reform. He never registered as a lobbyist.

"I'm very proud of the fact that I've drawn a very hard line with regard to advocacy on the Hill," Daschle told the New York Times about his role. "I've not made a call nor made a visit since I left the Senate on behalf of a client. And I don't have any expectation that I'll do that in the future." (13)

Daschle left Alston & Bird for the firm DLA Piper, which has a broader global practice, in December 2009.

The Issues

But Daschle's exit from the public arena hasn't stopped him from influencing Obama's health-policy reform effort in an unofficial capacity. And a passel of his former aides remain at the most senior levels of the Obama administration.

Daschle has been trying to reform the health-care system for years. He was a supporter of Hillary Rodham Clinton's 1993 health-care overhaul, which died spectacularly. While in Congress, Daschle worked on providing universal health insurance, and since, he has strongly criticized George W. Bush for refusing to expand funding for the State Children's Health Insurance Program (SCHIP).(14)

His 2008 book, "Critical: What We Can Do about the Health-Care Crisis," co-written with Jeanne Lambrew, lays out his views on how to change the health-care system. In the book, he calls health care the biggest U.S. domestic policy issue and recites stories of Americans who have struggled with poor health care. "Americans with solid, employer-based insurance may believe they are secure, but in our health-care system, everyone is just a pink slip, a divorce or a major illness from financial disaster."(15)

Taking the role of policy adviser at the law firm DLA Piper in late 2009, was "really is an opportunity to immerse myself in international work," Daschle told the New York Times. (13)

Federal Health Board

Daschle's key reform would have been the creation of a federal health board, modeled after the Federal Reserve system. As described in his 2008 book, “Critical,” the board would set standards and systems, create guidelines about which treatments and procedures are most cost-effective and have authority over federally funded health-care programs such as Medicare and Medicaid.

The board would write standards for government-run health insurance programs like Medicare, Medicaid and the Veterans Health Administration. Daschle believed the board would effectively encourage private insurers to adhere to its standards. “It would create a public framework for a largely private health-care delivery system,” he wrote in the book.(16)

Daschle envisions a health board composed of independent experts who are above political scuffling. “Congress and the White House would relinquish some of their health-policy decisions to it,” Daschle wrote in his book. “For example, a shift to a more effective drug service would be accomplished without an act of Congress or the White House."(16)

Universal Health Care

In Daschle’s plan, the board was the first step toward achieving universal health care. In 2007 testimony before Congress Daschle said, “There is no excuse in the wealthiest nation in the world for a person to suffer or die needlessly due to financial barriers to care, he said in 2006 testimony before Congress. “We can and must end uninsurance.”(17)

Health-Insurance Consultant Controversy

Daschle had been acting as an informal adviser to the Obama administration on health reform, when, in August 2009, BusinessWeek revealed that Daschle whad also returned to his role advising UnitedHealth, a major insurance company opposed to reform. (18)

"They just want a description of the lay of the land, an assessment of circumstances as they appear to be as health reform unfolds," Daschle told BusinessWeek, saying he left direct discussions with his former colleagues in Congress to others at his law firm. (18)

The Network

Daschle returned to Alston & Byrd after withdrawing his name as an HHS candidate. Former senator and presidential candidate Bob Dole (R-Kan.) is a special counsel at the firm.

But Daschle's former aides and staffers permeate the Obama administration. Obama’s Senate chief of staff, Pete Rouse, is a former chief of staff to Daschle; Obama's congressional liaison Phil Schiliro was Daschle's policy director in 2004. Daschle also worked with Jeanne Lambrew at CAP, and the two wrote a book together. She, along with Mark Childress, were set to be Daschle's deputies at the White House before he stepped down.

Daschle's wife, Linda Daschle, who worked for the Federal Aviation Administration under President Clinton, is a prominent lobbyist for Baker Donelson. Her 2008 clients included Boeing Co., Lockheed Martin and Norfolk Southern.

Howard Baker

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Howard Henry Baker, Jr. (born November 15, 1925) is a former Senate Majority Leader, Republican U.S. Senator from Tennessee, White House Chief of Staff, and a former United States Ambassador to Japan.

Known in Washington, D.C. as the "Great Conciliator," Baker is often regarded as one of the most successful senators in terms of brokering compromises, enacting legislation, and maintaining civility. A story is sometimes told of a reporter telling a senior Democratic senator that privately, a plurality of his Democratic colleagues would vote for Baker for President of the United States. The senator is reported to have replied, "You're wrong. He'd win a majority."

Family history

Baker was born in Huntsville, in Scott County, Tennessee. He attended The McCallie School in Chattanooga, and after graduating he attended Tulane University in New Orleans. During World War II, he trained at a U.S. Navy facility on the campus of the University of the South in Sewanee, Tennessee. He served in the United States Navy from 1943 to 1946 and graduated from the University of Tennessee College of Law in 1949. That same year, he was admitted to the Tennessee bar and commenced his practice. The rotunda at the University of Tennessee College of Law is now

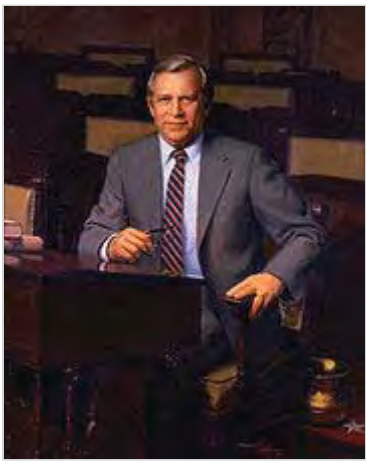
Political career

The Senate

The younger Baker began his own political career in 1964, when he lost an election to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Estes Kefauver to the liberal Democrat Ross Bass. In the 1966 Senate election, Bass lost the Democratic primary to former Governor Frank G. Clement. In the general election, Baker capitalized on Clement's failure to energize the Democratic base, specifically Tennessee labor, and won. He thus became the first elected Republican senator from Tennessee since Reconstruction. (Newell Sanders, a Republican who represented Tennessee in the U.S. Senate from 1912 to 1913, had been appointed by Republican Governor Ben W. Hooper when Democrat Robert Love Taylor died in office.) [1]

In 1971, President Richard Nixon asked Baker to fill one of two empty seats on the U.S. Supreme Court. [2] When Baker took too long to decide whether he wanted the appointment or not, Nixon changed his mind and decided to nominate William Rehnquist instead.[3]



Senator Baker

Baker was re-elected in 1972 and again in 1978, and served from January 3, 1967, to January 3, 1985. For the last eight of those years, he led the Senate Republicans, with two terms as Senate Minority Leader (1977–1981) and two terms as Senate Majority Leader (1981–1985). Baker was also the influential ranking minority member of the Senate committee, chaired by Senator Sam Ervin, that investigated the Watergate scandal. He is famous for having asked aloud, "What did the President know and when did he know it?", a question given him to ask by his counsel and former campaign manager, future U.S. Senator Fred Thompson.

Baker was frequently mentioned by insiders as possible nominee for Vice President of the United States on a ticket headed by incumbent President Gerald Ford in 1976 and, according to many sources, a front-runner for this post. Ford, however, in a surprising move, chose Kansas Senator Bob Dole.[4]

Baker ran for President in 1980, dropping out of the race for the GOP nomination after losing the Iowa caucuses to George H.W. Bush and the New Hampshire Primary to Ronald Reagan. Baker's duties as Senate Minority Leader prevented him from campaigning heavily in these important early test races.

Further activities

He did not seek re-election in 1984, and received the Presidential Medal of Freedom the same year. However, as a testament to his skill as a negotiator and honest and amiable broker, Reagan tapped him to serve as Chief of Staff during part of his second term (1987–1988). Many saw this as a move to mend relations with the Senate, which had deteriorated somewhat under the previous Chief of Staff, Donald Regan. (Baker had complained that Regan had become a too-powerful "Prime Minister" inside an increasingly complex Imperial Presidency.) In accepting this appointment, Baker chose to skip another bid for the White House in 1988.[5]

In 2001, the Howard H. Baker, Jr. Center for Public Policy was set up at the University of Tennessee in honor of the former senator. Vice President Dick Cheney gave a speech at the 2005 ground-breaking ceremony for the Center's new building.

Baker is currently Senior Counsel to the law firm of Baker, Donelson, Bearman, Caldwell & Berkowitz.[6] He is also an Advisory Board member for the Partnership for a Secure America, a not-for-profit organization dedicated to recreating the bipartisan center in American national security and foreign policy. Baker also holds a seat on the board of the International Foundation for Electoral Systems', a non-Profit which provides international election support.[7]

Honors

- Presidential Medal of Freedom, 1984.
- Order of the Rising Sun with Paulownia Blossoms, Grand Cordon, 2008 (Japan).[8]

Personal life

Baker has been married to the daughters of two prominent Republicans. Since 1996 he has been married to former U.S. Senator Nancy Landon Kassebaum, the daughter of the late Kansas Governor Alfred M. Landon, who was the Republican nominee for President in 1936. Baker's late first wife, Joy, who died of cancer, was the daughter of former Senate Minority Leader Everett Dirksen. Howard Baker is a Presbyterian.

"The Senate commends its former colleague - for a lifetime of distinguished service to the country and confers upon him the thanks of a grateful Nation."

-Senate Resolution, Feb. 17, 2005

Capping a distinguished public-service career as senator, presidential advisor and ambassador, Howard H. Baker, Jr. returned in February 2005 to Baker, Donelson, Bearman, Caldwell & Berkowitz, PC, the law firm his grandfather founded and where he formerly practiced with his father, the late U.S. Rep. Howard H. Baker. As Senior Counsel to the Firm, Senator Baker focuses his practice on public policy and international matters.

Senator Baker's return followed his service as 26th U.S. Ambassador to Japan, a position to which President George W. Bush appointed him in 2001. The appointment was yet another milestone in a public-service career that began in 1966, when Senator Baker became the first Republican popularly elected to the U.S. Senate from Tennessee.

Senator Baker gained national recognition in 1973 as Vice Chairman of the Senate Watergate Committee. Three years later, he was keynote speaker at the Republican National Convention and was a 1980 candidate for the Republican presidential nomination. He concluded his Senate career in 1985 after two terms as Majority Leader (1981 to 1985) and two terms as Minority Leader (1977 to 1981). He was President Reagan's Chief of Staff from February 1987 to July 1988.

A delegate to the United Nations in 1976, Senator Baker has extensive foreign policy experience. He served on the President's Foreign Intelligence Board from 1985 to 1987 and from 1988 to 1990 and is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations and the Washington Institute of Foreign Affairs. He serves on the board of the Forum of International Policy and is an International Counselor for the Center for Strategic and International Studies.

Among his many awards are the 1984 Presidential Medal of Freedom, the nation's highest civilian award, and the Jefferson Award for Greatest Public Service Performed by an Elected or Appointed Official, which he received in 1982. An accomplished photographer, Senator Baker received The American Society of Photographers' International Award in 1993 and was elected into the Photo Marketing Association's Hall of Fame in 1994. He has received honorary degrees from such institutions as Yale University, Dartmouth College, Georgetown University, Bradley University, Pepperdine University and Centre College.

Senator Baker is the author of four books: No Margin for Error (1980); Howard Baker's Washington (1982); Big South Fork Country (1993) and Scott's Gulf (2000).

Sheila P. Burke, Senior Public Policy Advisor in the Washington, DC office, brings a deep knowledge of federal policy and programs drawn from her distinguished career in the private and public sectors to provide clients with the perspective they need for effective strategic and public policy decision making.

In addition to her role at the firm, Ms. Burke continues as a faculty member at the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University where she teaches a health policy course and co-directs a public policy simulation exercise. She remains a faculty research fellow at Harvard's Malcolm Weiner Center for Social Policy. From 1996 to 2000, she was Executive Dean and lecturer in public policy at the Kennedy School. She also serves as a Research Professor at the Public Policy Institute as well as a Distinguished Visitor at the O'Neill Institute for National and Global Health Law at Georgetown University.

Ms. Burke served for 19 years on Capitol Hill. Early in her career she was a member of the staff of the Senate Finance Committee responsible for legislation relating to Medicare, Medicaid and other health programs. She ultimately became Deputy Staff Director of the Finance Committee. She went on to serve as Deputy Chief of Staff to Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole and then his Chief of Staff. In these roles she was involved with numerous legislative issues including those related to Medicare, Medicaid and the Maternal and Child Health programs, welfare reform, budget reconciliation and the previous legislative efforts to reform health care. In 1995, she was elected as Secretary of the Senate, the chief administrative officer of the United States Senate.

In addition to her government and academic experience, Ms. Burke served as the Deputy Secretary and Chief Operating Officer of the Smithsonian Institution, the world's largest museum and research complex. As the Chief Operating Officer she had responsibility for the overall operations of the 19 individual museums and galleries, the National Zoo, and nine research facilities located in Washington, DC, five states and 150 foreign countries with revenues of approximately $1 billion and an endowment of $1 billion. During her 7 year tenure at the Smithsonian, she oversaw the completion of the National Air and Space Museum's Udvar-Hazy Center, the National Museum of the American Indian and the renovation of the Smithsonian's Reynolds Center for Art and Portraiture. She was also involved in the initial planning for the National Museum of African American History and Culture. She began her Smithsonian tenure in 2000 as the Undersecretary for American Museums and National Programs becoming Deputy Secretary and Chief Operating Officer in 2004.

Letter from the Sponsoring Organizations

The initiative for a bipartisan, independent, forward-looking "fresh-eyes" assessment of Iraq emerged from conversations U.S. House Appropriations Committee Member Frank Wolf had with us. In late 2005, Congressman Wolf asked the United States Institute of Peace, a bipartisan federal entity, to facilitate the assessment, in collaboration with the James A. Baker III Institute for Public Policy at Rice University, the Center for the Study of the Presidency, and the Center for Strategic and International Studies.

Interested members of Congress, in consultation with the sponsoring organizations and the administration, agreed that former Republican U.S. Secretary of State James A. Baker, III and former Democratic Congressman Lee H. Hamilton had the breadth of knowledge of foreign affairs required to co-chair this bipartisan effort. The co-chairs subsequently selected the other members of the bipartisan Iraq Study Group, all senior individuals with distinguished records of public service. Democrats included former Secretary of Defense William J. Perry, former Governor and U.S. Senator Charles S. Robb, former Congressman and White House chief of staff Leon E. Panetta, and Vernon E. Jordan, Jr., advisor to President Bill Clinton. Republicans included former Associate Justice to the U.S. Supreme Court Sandra Day O'Connor, former U.S. Senator Alan K. Simpson, former Attorney General Edwin Meese III, and former Secretary of State Lawrence S. Eagleburger. Former CIA Director Robert Gates was an active member for a period of months until his nomination as Secretary of Defense.

The Iraq Study Group was launched on March 15, 2006, in a Capitol Hill meeting hosted by U.S. Senator John Warner and attended by congressional leaders from both sides of the aisle.

To support the Study Group, the sponsoring organizations created four expert working groups consisting of 44 leading foreign policy analysts and specialists on Iraq. The working groups, led by staff of the United States Institute of Peace, focused on the Strategic Environment, Military and Security Issues, Political Development, and the Economy and Reconstruction. Every effort was made to ensure the participation of experts across a wide span of the political spectrum. Additionally, a panel of retired military officers was consulted.

We are grateful to all those who have assisted the Study Group, especially the supporting experts and staff. Our thanks go to Daniel P. Serwer of the Institute of Peace, who served as executive director; Christopher Kojm, advisor to the Study Group; John Williams, Policy Assistant to Mr. Baker; and Ben Rhodes, Special Assistant to Mr. Hamilton.

Lawrence S. Eagleburger—Member

Lawrence S. Eagleburger was sworn in as the 62nd U.S. Secretary of State by President George H. W. Bush on December 8, 1992, and as Deputy Secretary of State on March 20, 1989.

After his entry into the Foreign Service in 1957, Mr. Eagleburger served in the U.S. Embassy in Tegucigalpa, Honduras, in the State Department Bureau of Intelligence and Research, in the U.S. Embassy in Belgrade, and the U.S. Mission to NATO in Belgium. In 1963, after a severe earthquake in Macedonia, he led the U.S. government effort to provide medical and other assistance. He was then assigned to Washington, D.C., where he served on the Secretariat staff and as special assistant to Dean Acheson, advisor to the President on Franco-NATO issues. In August 1966, he became acting director of the Secretariat staff.

In October 1966, Mr. Eagleburger joined the National Security Council staff. In October 1967, he was assigned as special assistant to Under Secretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach. In November 1968, he was appointed Dr. Henry Kissinger's assistant, and in January 1969, he became executive assistant to Dr. Kissinger at the White House. In September 1969, he was assigned as political advisor and chief of the political section of the U.S. Mission to NATO in Brussels.

Mr. Eagleburger became Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense in August 1971. Two years later, he became Acting Assistant Secretary of Defense for International Security Affairs. The same year he returned to the White House as Deputy Assistant to the President for National Security Operations. He subsequently followed Dr. Kissinger to the State Department, becoming Executive Assistant to the Secretary of State. In 1975, he was made Deputy Under Secretary of State for Management.

In June 1977, Mr. Eagleburger was appointed Ambassador to Yugoslavia, and in 1981 he was nominated as Assistant Secretary of State for European Affairs. In February 1982, he was appointed Under Secretary of State for Political Affairs.

Mr. Eagleburger has received numerous awards, including an honorary knighthood from Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II (1994); the Distinguished Service Award (1992), the Wilbur J. Carr Award (1984), and the Distinguished Honor Award (1984) from the Department of State; the Distinguished Civilian Service Medal from the Department of Defense (1978); and the President's Award for Distinguished Federal Civilian Service (1976).

After retiring from the Department of State in May 1984, Mr. Eagleburger was named president of Kissinger Associates, Inc. Following his resignation as Secretary of State on January 19, 1993, he joined the law firm of Baker, Donelson, Bearman and Caldwell as Senior Foreign Policy Advisor. He joined the boards of Halliburton Company, Phillips Petroleum Company, and Universal Corporation. Mr. Eagleburger currently serves as Chairman of the International Commission on Holocaust Era Insurance Claims.

He received his B.S. degree in 1952 and his M.S. degree in 1957, both from the University of Wisconsin, and served as first lieutenant in the U.S. Army from 1952 to 1954. Mr. Eagleburger is married to the former Marlene Ann Heinemann. He is the father of three sons, Lawrence Scott, Lawrence Andrew, and Lawrence Jason.

The Honorable Nancy L. Johnson

Senior Public Policy Advisor, Baker, Donelson, Bearman, Caldwell & Berkowitz, P.C.

After serving 24 years in the U.S. Congress, Nancy Johnson joined Baker Donelson. She served 18 years on the House Ways and Means Committee and played an integral role in the passage of every major tax, trade and health care initiative during years of rapid technological and political change and the globalization of the economy. Ms. Johnson is widely recognized for her acumen and sound analyses of healthcare, tax and trade policies.

As a member and then Chairwoman of the Ways and Means Health Subcommittee, she introduced the national Children's Health Insurance Program and was a principal author of the Medicare Modernization Act. She introduced the health information technology legislation that led to the establishment of the Office of the National Coordinator for Health Information Technology (HIT) and continues to fight for broad adoption of HIT to reduce medical errors and improve care quality. As the Chairwoman of the House Ways and Means Oversight Subcommittee, Ms. Johnson also authored a series of taxpayer rights bills that provided protections for individuals and small businesses and passed legislation to implement the recommendations of the commission to reorganize the IRS to modernize consumer services and enhance agency accountability. In addition, throughout her service on the Ways and Means Committee, she led many reforms of our pension laws, created the Simple Plan for small businesses, helped pass numerous tax incentives to encourage personal savings and co-led passage of the landmark Portman-Cardin reform. Ms. Johnson is a graduate of Radcliff College, Harvard University; attended the University of London, Courtauld Institute; and has received several honorary doctorates.

RE: Letters in support of Mr. Puryear's nomination from David Randolph Smith, Thurgood Marshall Jr., Wallace W. Dietz, Michael L. Dagley, Jonathon Cole, Gary C. Shockley, Robert J. Walker, Hannah K.V. Cassidy, James F. Sanders and Lisa Ramsey Cole

Dear Chairman Leahy:

According to a recent news report, there has been a "renewed public relations push highlighting the support" of both Democrats and Republicans who have endorsed the pending nomination of Mr. Gustavus A. Puryear IV.

These supporters include attorneys with the firms of Bass Berry & Sims, Baker Donelson et al., Neal & Harwell, Walker Tipps and Malone, and Lewis King Krieg & Waldrop, as well as CCA Board member Thurgood Marshall, Jr. and plaintiff's attorney David Randolph Smith.

Frankly it is good to see bipartisan support for any nominee. I am of the personal opinion that partisan politics should play no part in the selection of judicial candidates, whose nominations should be based primarily on qualifications, experience and fitness for a lifetime appointment to the federal bench. Those who support Mr. Puryear, however, tend to share financial, political and/or professional relationships with his employer, Corrections Corp. of America (CCA).

Wallace W. Dietz and Michael L. Dagley, of Bass Berry & Sims, have endorsed Mr. Puryear's nomination. Bass Berry & Sims lists CCA among the firm's clients, and has represented CCA in connection with public securities offerings. The firm hired former CCA senior director Leslie Hafter to head its lobbying efforts. Also, Bass Berry & Sims partner Lee Barfield II is a brother-in-law of former Senator Bill Frist, who employed Mr. Puryear as his legislative director.

1114 Brandt Drive - Tallahassee, FL 32308
850-980-0887 - www.PrivateCI.org

Gary C. Shockley and Jonathon Cole of Baker Donelson, et al. have submitted letters in support of Mr. Puryear's nomination. Baker Donelson represents CCA as a client. Representatives from both CCA and Baker Donelson sit on the boards of Bethlehem Centers and You Have the Power, two Nashville non-profit agencies. The law firm, which includes former Senator Howard Baker, Jr. as senior counsel, also has strong connections with Senator Lamar Alexander – in fact, Baker Donelson is listed as Sen. Alexander's 4th largest campaign contributor from 2003-2008. CCA was the Senator's second largest contributor over the same period of time. Senator Alexander in turn has very strong connections with CCA that go back over 20 years, including a longstanding relationship with CCA co-founder Tom Beasley, who once served as his campaign manager.

Robert J. Walker, a partner with Walker Tipps and Malone, has endorsed Mr. Puryear. Walker Tipps and Malone has represented CCA as a client, including in the Estelle Richardson lawsuit as well as securities litigation. It was another partner at the firm, J. Mark Tipps, formerly with Bass Berry & Sims, who recruited Mr. Puryear to work for then-Senator Fred Thompson. Mr. Tipps later recommended Mr. Puryear to then-Senator Bill Frist and subsequently introduced Mr. Puryear to CCA CEO John Ferguson, who hired him as CCA's general counsel. Both Mr. Puryear and a Walker Tipps and Malone attorney serve on the board of the Exchange Club.

Hannah K.V. Cassidy, of Reno & Cavanaugh, is supportive of Mr. Puryear. According to the D.C. office of Reno & Cavanaugh, the firm represents CCA as a client. Until several months ago Ms. Cassidy was a partner at Stites & Harbison, and knew Mr. Puryear from his employment at that firm in the 1990's. CCA is listed as a client of Stites & Harbison. Another former partner at the firm, Steve Groom, currently serves as CCA's deputy general counsel. Stites & Harbison and CCA both have representatives who serve on the board of CASA, a Nashville non-profit.

Attorney James F. Sanders of Neal & Harwell provided the Committee with a supportive letter on February 26. As noted in his correspondence, Mr. Sanders represented CCA in the Estelle Richardson lawsuit. Additionally, Neal & Harwell and CCA both have representatives on the advisory board of the Nashville chapter of the Salvation Army.

Lisa Ramsey Cole of Lewis King Krieg & Waldrop has sent a letter to the Committee in support of Mr. Puryear. CCA is a client of Lewis King; further, the firm has a representative on the board of Love Helps Inc., a Nashville-based non-profit that receives financial support from CCA.

In regard to Thurgood Marshall, Jr., who also has endorsed Mr. Puryear's judicial nomination, Mr. Marshall joined CCA's board of directors in 2002. According to SEC filings, as of August 2007 he owned 7,000 shares of CCA stock either directly or through options to purchase. He thus has a substantial financial stake in CCA's continued success and, of course, has a duty as a board member to be supportive of the company and its officers, including Mr. Puryear.

I am sure that the persons discussed above, who have expressed support for Mr. Puryear, have a genuine liking for him both personally and professionally as indicated in their correspondence. However, to the extent that they all also have interconnected professional, financial or business ties with CCA, including paid client relationships, their support of Mr. Puryear, which serves to strengthen those ties, should be taken into consideration by the Committee members.

Further, much has been made of a letter sent to the Committee by David Randolph Smith, the plaintiff's attorney in a lawsuit filed against CCA by Estelle Richardson's family. Mr. Smith, a Democrat, strongly endorsed Mr. Puryear's nomination; further, Mr. Puryear cited Mr. Smith's comments in his written answers submitted to the Committee.

I spoke with Mr. Smith last February and we had a candid conversation as to why he wrote his letter. As that was a private discussion, until recently I have not disclosed Mr. Smith's underlying motivation as it was relayed by him to me. In fact, when PCI provided the Judiciary Committee with its Response to Mr. Puryear's written answers in a March 7 letter, I stated as follows:

> "Mr. Puryear cited a letter from David Randolph Smith, one of the attorneys who represented Ms. Richardson's family in the lawsuit against CCA. I spoke with Mr. Smith and he related to me the underlying reasons why he sent his letter to the Committee. I am not at liberty to disclose those reasons as communicated to me during our private conversation; it is up to Mr. Smith to inform the Committee as to the true motivation behind his letter."

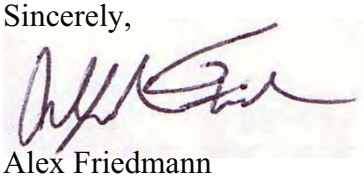
On April 10, the Nashville City Paper, a free local daily, published an article which cited Mr. Smith's letter and, based on an interview, quoted his stated reasons for endorsing Mr. Puryear's nomination. As Mr. Smith went on the record, I am now free to do so myself.

In my conversation with Mr. Smith, he stated to me – twice – that he supported Mr. Puryear's nomination because he did not want a "right-wing religious nutjob" confirmed in his stead. He felt that Mr. Puryear was more of a moderate and feared who might be endorsed by Tennessee's Republican Senators if Mr. Puryear was not confirmed. Mr. Smith made it clear to me that he preferred not to have a Republican judicial nominee period, but that Mr. Puryear was the least objectionable candidate.

Mr. Smith has acknowledged that he used the phrase mentioned above – which was, in part, a motivating factor for the letter he sent to the Committee – in an on-the-record conversation with the managing editor of the Nashville Scene, an independent local weekly publication. Mr. Smith further stated that he liked Mr. Puryear both personally and professionally.

Certainly, the Committee members should look at the totality of the statements and evidence they have received relative to Mr. Puryear's nomination, and weigh it accordingly. In order to do so with accuracy, I believe the information presented in this letter will be helpful.

Sincerely,



Alex Friedmann
Vice President, PCI

President Obama nominates David Michaels to lead OSHA

Alert

by Mary LeAnn Mynatt
July 31, 2009

On July 28, the White House announced that President Obama had selected epidemiologist David Michaels, Ph.D, MPH, to head OSHA as Assistant Secretary of Labor. Mr. Michaels must be confirmed by the Senate. He has prior government experience, serving as the Department of Energy Assistant Secretary for Environment, Safety and Health during the Clinton Administration. One of his achievements at DOE was to aid the passage of the Energy Employees Occupational Illness Compensation Program Act of 2000, designed to compensate nuclear weapons workers who developed illnesses as a result of exposure to radiation and chemicals in the workplace.

Dr. Michaels is currently a research professor and interim chair of the Department of Environmental and Occupational Health at the George Washington University School of Public Health and Health Services. There, his work includes studying the health effects of occupational exposure to toxic chemicals, including asbestos, metals, and solvents. In testimony before a Senate committee in 2007, Michaels expressed concern about several issues, including the underreporting of workplace injuries and illnesses, lack of new standards promulgated by OSHA, insufficient use of OSHA's General Duty Clause as an enforcement tool, and the outdated health standards still in place. Mr. Michaels' nomination has been hailed by Democrats. U.S. Representative George Miller (D-Cal.) stated that Mr. Michaels will help OSHA "restore vital health and safety protections for America's workers."

Dr. Michael's nomination comes at a particularly pivotal time for OSHA. Perhaps more so than at any time since its creation in April 1971, labor and Democratic leaders are clamoring to enhance enforcement and increase the promulgation of new regulations concerning workplace standards. The proposed Protecting America's Workers Act (HR 2067) would, among other things, expand OSHA's coverage to include more workers. It would also allow felony prosecutions against employers under certain conditions, raise civil penalties, and set mandatory minimum penalties for violations resulting in death. Following eight years of relative quiet - fewer OSHA regulations were promulgated under the Bush Administration than any other president - such changes would reinvigorate the agency. As a result, there's a backlog of initiatives to track, including combustible dust, diacetyl, new health standards, and a possible resurrection of the ergonomics standard. Representative Lynn Woolsey (D-Cal.) stated that OSHA will be able to "issue long overdue safety standards and bring back more vigorous enforcement of workplace safety and health standards."

Given the renewed emphasis on workplace conditions, employers should pay strict attention to matters that could be deemed administrative in nature, such as properly maintaining OSHA 300 Logs for Injuries and Illnesses. In addition, during this economic downtown, disgruntled ex-employees may be even more prone to claiming retaliatory discharge following allegations of health and safety violations in the workplace. Employers should also expect more OSHA attention and resources devoted to inspections and enforcement. OSHA routinely tracks not only the number of inspections but those that result in of citations, with a goal of issuing a citation with every inspection. Finally, employers should carefully evaluate their workplaces for hazards, regardless of whether a specific regulation addresses a particular hazard, given Dr. Michaels's stated desire to increase the use of the General Duty Clause as an enforcement tool.

Our attorneys have conducted onsite OSHA presentations to members of clients' management, safety teams, safety departments and line employees, and have advised clients, including an asbestos-certified contractor, on OSHA, EPA and TDEC asbestos regulatory requirements. We work closely with clients to enhance their safety and health programs to include OSHA compliance as well as an Industrial Risk Management program. 300 private and public entities in over 100 countries. Currently the firm has two contracts with a private-sector organization in Lima, Peru that are subject to the buyer obtaining financing and other conditions. There is no certainty that these contracts will be consummated. One is for composite structures, the other to be fabricated from metal. The first contract is for a minimum of 36,000 basic structural units over three years, utilizing composite material, and a minimum sales value of $67.5 million. The second contract is to purchase 22 million square feet of the metal system over a year for a total of $121 million. The Export-Import Bank of the US expressed interest in financing the two contracts. Daedalus staff visited Peru and planning continues a pace toward commencement of production and for support from government users, banks, and local officials. In addition to the foregoing, Daedalus has a letter of intent from an Argentinean company for the purchase of 20 units upon the successful demonstration of initial housing units.

Daedalus is currently negotiating contracts to construct basic shelter and low-cost housing in various countries including Philippines, Turkey, Honduras, South Africa, Vietnam and Pakistan.

The outstanding, unusual and potentially worldwide high profile business enterprise and the acceptance of its products on a worldwide basis has attracted a team of prominent individuals to Daedalus' Management and Board of Directors.

Admiral James A. "Ace" Lyons, Jr., U. S. Navy Retired, will serve as the Chairman of the Board. Mr. Lyons is President and CEO of LION Associates, an international consulting firm.. Mr. Lyons served for 36 years as an officer in the U. S. Navy, including serving as Commander-in-Chief of the U. S. Pacific Fleet, the largest single military command in the world. In addition, he served as the Senior U. S. Military Representative to the United Nations, as well as serving in various military and civilian leadership capacities in China, Japan, Philippines, Russia and other Pacific rim countries.

Mr. George C. Montgomery, a graduate of Vanderbilt University, with a Juris Doctor degree, former member of the law firm of Vinson & Elkins, and is currently the managing partner in the Washington law firm of Baker, Donelson, Bearman & Caldwell. Mr. Montgomery served as Ambassador of the United States to the Sultanate of Oman under President Reagan in 1985, and currently is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations, on the Board of Visitors of the Georgetown University School of Business, and a Captain in the United States Naval Reserve. Mr. Montgomery served as Chief Legislative Assistant Counsel to Senator Howard H. Baker, Jr., the Majority Leader of the United States Senate in 1981. . . .

Ducks Unlimited Mourns the Loss of a Conservation Leader

The Ducks Unlimited family mourns the untimely passing of a paragon of conservation, and our friend, Jim Range.

Jim Range was a strong and accomplished proponent of countless conservation initiatives especially, but not exclusively focusing on public policy work. His commitment to wetlands and waterfowl habitat was legendary. He served as Secretary on the Ducks Unlimited Board of Directors, was a major donor, a charter member of the Ducks Unlimited Feather Society, and was the co-founder of the Ducks Unlimited Federal City Chapter – the first and only Ducks Unlimited chapter in Washington, D.C.

Jim was also an active supporter of Ducks Unlimited's Wetlands America Trust, where he served on the Board of Directors from 1993-1998 and again from 2000-2006. He served as Secretary of that Board from 1995-1998.

Jim was involved in the leadership of many other conservation organizations, most notably as founder and Chairman of the Board of the Theodore Roosevelt Conservation Partnership.

In his professional life, Jim was a Senior Legislative Policy advisor for Baker, Donelson, Bearman, Caldwell and Berkowitz law firm, where he specialized in conservation advocacy and environmental, regulatory, and legislative policy. Earlier in his career on Capitol Hill, Jim was instrumental in the creation or reauthorization of many of the nation's most important and notable conservation laws.

Fittingly, a memorial service for Jim will be held in Washington, D.C. at an area he liked to frequent on the Potomac River, one of his favorite pastimes while in Washington.

Please join us in remembrance and appreciation for a staunch advocate for, and friend of waterfowl, waterfowlers and wildlife.

We pass appreciation for the life and work of Jim, along with our sympathies to his family.

James D. Range Obituary

James D. Range, 63, died peacefully, surrounded by family and loved ones, on Tuesday, January 20 at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota after an extraordinarily courageous battle with kidney cancer.

Range was one of the nation's most prominent champions of natural resource conservation. He was known in Washington and throughout the United States as a skilled policy strategist with an extraordinary bipartisan network of friends and contacts. Along with his political adeptness, he possessed an oratorical gift and was known as someone who always spoke from his heart with passionate conviction. A life-long outdoorsman, Range was instrumental in the conservation and continued protection of many different corners of the American landscape and was a passionate advocate for the country's fish and wildlife and their habitat. Perhaps best known as a long-time advisor to former Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker, he also was known personally to countless people as a beloved confidant, friend and mentor.

At the time of his death, Range worked as senior policy advisor in the law firm of Baker, Donelson, Bearman, Caldwell & Berkowitz and served as Chairman of the Board of the Theodore Roosevelt Conservation Partnership, an organization he co-founded in 2002. He was instrumental in the founding of the Bipartisan Policy Center and worked as an advisor to that organization.

Mr. Range was chief counsel to Senator Baker during the period between 1980 and 1984 when the senator served as Majority Leader. From 1973 to 1980, Range served as minority counsel to the U.S. Senate's Committee on the Environment and Public Works. He was counsel to the National Commission on Water Quality in 1972.

From 1984 through 1992, Range worked as Vice President of Government Affairs for Waste Management, Inc., and from 1992 to 1994, Range served in the identical capacity for Rust International, Inc., a subsidiary of WMX Technologies, Inc.

"Jim Range was a dedicated, loyal and trusted member of my staff who helped to fashion some of this country's most vital environmental legislation," Sen. Baker said. "Of all his efforts to promote comprehensive oversight concerning clean air and clean water, Jim was especially helpful with a project that was of particular importance to me. He was an essential part of the team that was able to come up with a unique approach that allowed the creation of the Big South Fork National River and Recreation Area located in Tennessee and Kentucky. Were it not for Jim Range and a few others, this idea would have never been possible. Jim and I continued working together, outside of our formal positions in government, to try to influence responsible care for our country's all important natural resources in a bipartisan spirit. I will miss Jim's counsel, but more importantly, I will miss him."

In his 1986 book "Running in Place: Inside the Senate," James A. Miller described Range as "… a legislative cowboy – a southern, tough-talking, Jack Daniels-drinking, boyishly handsome, charismatic lawyer who long ago made the right connections on his way up north. … At 36, the blustery Range has become one of a handful of key aides recognized by senators and staff alike as an authoritative source of crucial information about the Senate's agenda."

Many of Jim's beneficial contributions to natural resource law are well-known. He played an instrumental role in the crafting and final passage of a string of landmark laws, including the Clean Water Act, but his true cumulative influence on behalf of America's fish and wildlife resources is inestimable. Jim attributed much of the success he and his colleagues had in the policymaking arena to their ability to work in a bipartisan fashion, putting America's outdoor resources above party politics. He often paraphrased President Ronald Reagan, saying, "It's amazing what you can get done in this town when you don't worry about who gets the credit."

Aside from service as Chairman of the Theodore Roosevelt Conservation Partnership's Board of Directors, Range served on the Boards of Directors for Trout Unlimited, Ducks Unlimited, the Wetlands America Trust, the Recreational Boating and Fishing Foundation, the American Sportfishing Association, the American Bird Conservancy, the Pacific Forest Trust, the Yellowstone Park Foundation, and the Bonefish and Tarpon Trust.

An original board member and Chair of the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation, Range also was a White House appointee to the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin, the Sportfishing and Boating Partnership Council and the Valles Caldera Trust.

In 2003, Range received the U.S. Department of the Interior's Great Blue Heron Award, the highest honor given to an individual at the national level by the Department. He was also awarded the 2003 Outdoor Life Magazine Conservationist of the Year Award and the Norville Prosser Lifetime Achievement Award presented by the American Sportfishing Association.

Range was profiled by Time magazine in 2005 for his efforts to expand the availability of conservation easements, and a Wall Street Journal story that same year highlighted Range's successful efforts to engineer the rollback of an excise tax that was unintentionally placing American fly rod manufacturers at a huge competitive disadvantage. Of Range and Rod DeArment, a former chief of staff to Bob Dole when he was Senate majority leader, the Journal reported, "The men worked together to push through pillars of the Reagan agenda -- tax cuts in 1981 and the last big reform of the Social Security system in 1983 -- but also were allies in a little-noticed 1984 law that placed excise taxes on fishing gear and some motor fuels into a trust fund that sponsored state programs to clean up rivers and improve fishing ecosystems."

When still serving as chairman of the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee, Senator Pete Domenici of New Mexico said of Range, "Jim Range has been one of those rare individuals who has dedicated his life to bringing opposing parties together to unite for a common good. He did it as a senior staff in the United States Senate working on clean air, clean water, and wildlife issues. He is still doing it in the conservation field now with the Theodore Roosevelt Conservation Partnership. I truly believe that if extremists on both sides of the environmental spectrum could learn from Jim's wisdom and work, the whole country would be better off."

Range enjoyed a wide variety of outdoor activities, but loved hunting and fishing the most. He pursued both passions all over the world but ended up falling in love with Montana and its trout and game birds. He spent as much time as he could at his property on the Missouri River in Craig, Montana, the Flyway Ranch. Range graciously hosted many important events over the years for leaders from political, business, non-governmental organization and media circles. It was his personal bastion of respite as he found relief from his many commitments and busy schedule on the waters of the Missouri River with a fly rod in his hands.

In addition to hunting and fishing Jim enjoyed pastimes close to home. Jim was an avid backyard birder and loved tending to his perennial garden. He had a special place in his heart for orchids, which he raised in a greenhouse dedicated to that purpose. He had a multitude of bird feeders that he faithfully replenished throughout the year. Jim's back garden in the springtime was a magical oasis of colorful blossoms and birds, scent and song, where he loved to work in the early morning and relax in the evenings. Jim was also a renowned gourmet cook. Friends far and wide were drawn to his table, where they knew they would enjoy an exceptional meal—usually featuring fresh game or fish—numerous libations and lively political debate that would last late into the early morning hours.

Growing up in Johnson City, Jim learned his love of the outdoors in the mountains of Tennessee. He was an Eagle Scout, acting as an aquatics instructor at Camp Tom Howard, attending National Camping School and working at Philmont Scout Ranch. He attended Science Hill High School. Range attained a B.S. degree at Tulane University, a M.S. in fisheries biology from Tennessee Tech, and graduated from the University of Miami School of Law.

Jim is survived by twin daughters Kimberly Range Truesdale and Allison Range, both of Arlington, Va.; his father Dr. James J. (Bud) Range of Johnson City, Tenn. and Marco Island, Fla.; brothers Harry of Marietta, Ga., John Neel of Braselton, Ga. and Peter of Richmond Hills, Ga.; and friend Anni Ince-McKillop and her two children, Greg and Jess McKillop of Washington, DC. Range was preceded in death by his mother, Estelle Range.

President Bush to Nominate Six Individuals to Serve as US Attorneys and Two Individuals to Serve as Members of the Federal Judiciary

President George W. Bush today announced his intention to nominate six individuals to serve as United States Attorneys and his intention to nominate two individuals to serve as members of the federal judiciary.

The President intends to nominate Timothy M. Burgess to be United States Attorney for the District of Alaska. He has served as an Assistant United States Attorney in the District of Alaska since 1989, and was an Associate with Gilmore and Franklin in Anchorage, from 1987 to 1989. Burgess received his undergraduate degree and M. B. A. from the University of Alaska and his J. D. from Northeastern University.

The President intends to nominate Harry S. Mattice, Jr. to be United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Tennessee. He is presently Of Counsel to Baker, Donelson, Bearman and Caldwell in Chattanooga. In 1997, he served as Senior Counsel to the United States Senate Committee on Government Affairs. From 1981 to 1997, and then again from 1998 to 2000, Mattice was with Miller and Martin in Chattanooga, first as an Associate and then as a Partner. He received both his undergraduate and law degrees from the University of Tennessee.

The President intends to nominate Robert G. McCampbell to be United States Attorney for the Western District of Oklahoma. He is currently a Partner with Crowe and Dunlevy in Oklahoma City, and from 1987 to 1994, he was an Assistant U.S. Attorney for the Western District of Oklahoma. Before joining the U.S. Attorneys office, he was an Associate with Crowe and Dunlevey. He is a graduate of Vanderbilt University and Yale Law School.

The President intends to nominate Paul J. McNulty to be United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Virginia. He presently serves as Principal Associate Deputy Attorney General at the U.S. Department of Justice and from 1999 to 2001, he was Chief Counsel and Director of Legislative Operations in the Office of Majority Leader of the House of Representatives. From 1995 to 1999, he served with the House of Representatives Judiciary Committee, first as Chief Counsel to the Subcommittee on Crime and then as Director of Communications and Chief Counsel to the Committee. McNulty was Counsel to Shaw, Pittman, Potts and Trowbridge from 1993 to 1995, and he served with the Department of Justice from 1990 to 1993 as Deputy Director of the Office of Policy Development and then as Director and Chief Spokesman for the Office of Policy and Communications. He was Minority Counsel to the House Judiciary Subcommittee on Crime from 1987 to 1990, and from 1985 to 1987 he was Director of Legal Services at the Legal Services Corporation. From 1983 to 1985, he served as Counsel to the U.S. House Committee on Standards of Official Conduct. He is a graduate of Grove City College and Capital University School of Law.

The President intends to nominate Michael W. Mosman to be United States Attorney for the District of Oregon. He has served as Assistant U.S. Attorney for the District of Oregon since 1988. Mr. Tuck was commissioned in the U.S. Navy from 1967 to 1973 and served as a Captain in the Naval Reserve until he retired in 1994. He holds a bachelor's degree from Georgetown University.

Eric Washburn

Eric Washburn, Partner, has extensive expertise in energy and environmental policy in both the public and private sectors.

Prior to joining BlueWater Strategies, Mr. Washburn ran his own consulting firm and was a senior public policy advisor at Baker, Donelson, Bearman, Caldwell, and Berkowitz where he provided business and governmental affairs advice to industry, non-profit and philanthropic foundation clients on a broad range of natural resources and energy issues.

For over ten years prior to that, Mr. Washburn worked in various policy-making and management capacities in the United States Senate. From June 2001 until 2003, he worked for then-U.S. Senate Majority Leader Thomas A. Daschle as a senior policy advisor, overseeing development and U.S. Senate passage of the Energy Policy Act of 2002. Previously Mr. Washburn worked for Senator Harry Reid as the Democratic staff director of the Senate Environment and Public Works (EPW) Committee. Before joining the EPW Committee, he was Senate Democratic Leader Daschle's legislative director for four years, during which time he wrote the legislation establishing the national renewable fuel standard.

Mr. Washburn's initial service in Congress was as a legislative assistant to Senator Daschle for energy and environmental issues, where he led the development of Senate Democratic Caucus strategy on a range of issues, including energy-related tax policy, renewable energy, oil and gas extraction, global climate change, and the Clean Air Act.

Prior to working in the U.S. Senate, Mr. Washburn consulted with the Natural Resources Defense Council (NRDC), the Natural Resources Council of Maine (NRCM), and the Congressional Office of Technology Assessment. Mr. Washburn is also currently counsel to the Bipartisan Policy Center/National Commission on Energy Policy and to the American Coalition for Ethanol.

Mr. Washburn holds a master's degree in forest science from the Yale University School of Forestry and Environmental Studies and a bachelor's degree in psychobiology from Bowdoin College. He and his wife, Robin, have two children.

About David Baria

David Baria was born and raised on the Mississippi Gulf Coast in Jackson County. After growing up in Escatawpa and graduating from Moss Point High School, he attended the University of Southern Mississippi where he earned a degree in Criminal Justice. David later obtained a law degree from the University of Mississippi in 1990.

After law school David took a job practicing law in Jackson. In 1991 he married his wife, the former Marcie Fyke, of Jackson. They had three children, Darden (now deceased), Merritt and Bess.

David established a successful law practice in Jackson and was the founding member of Baria, Fyke, Hawkins & Stracener. Over the years David had a varied practice that focused on representing people who had been denied insurance benefits. His practice also brought him into frequent contact with the lawmakers in Jackson and he was asked on several occasions to provide written opinions on various insurance issues as well as testimony before the legislature.

In early 2004, David fulfilled a life-long dream of returning to the Mississippi Gulf Coast and settled with his family in Bay Saint Louis. On August 29, 2005, like so many others here, David and his family lost their home and everything in it.

After these catastrophic events, David knew that taking care of his family was more important than anything else. After securing them, what mattered to him most was returning to Coast as soon as possible to begin rebuilding the place he so loved. At the same time, he left the law practice and established a construction/demolition company to help with the recovery efforts on the Coast. David is now the CEO of Rhino Construction and has been engaged in the construction/demolition business since Katrina.

It is David's life-long love of the Coast and his wish to see the people here back on their feet that has lead him to seek office as your State Senator.

David believes that with proper leadership there are many issues that can be aggressively addressed in Jackson with results that will benefit the people of Hancock and Harrison Counties. He stands ready, willing and able to take on the tough insurance issues in his power to bring affordable housing back to the area so that local folks can re-settle and our businesses will have both employees and customers. David firmly believes that our law enforcement personnel need assistance and will bring the resources they need home so that they have the tools to do their job. With proper leadership on these and other issues, the Coast can once again lead Mississippi forward into prosperity for all. The people of this District deserve, and David Baria will settle for no less.

Louisiana Lawsuit Penalizes Insurer

By ANITA LEE
Biloxi-Gulfport-South Mississippi Sun Herald
January 10, 2009

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals handed a victory to Louisiana policyholders this week in a Katrina insurance case, but the ruling won't benefit Mississippians because the state lacks a law requiring timely payment of claims.

In the Louisiana case of Grilletta v. Lexington Insurance Co., a trial judge levied a penalty equal to 25 percent of the undisputed amount paid for wind damage because the company failed to act on the claim within 30 days of receiving proof of the loss. In fact, the appellate ruling said, "Lexington arbitrarily sat on the claim for over two months" after an adjuster concluded wind had destroyed the house. Lexington then hired an engineering firm that blamed the loss on storm surge, excluded from coverage. The April 2006 report also noted wind damage.

In June 2006, Lexington sent the policyholder a $311,055.38 check for the wind damage.

A trial judge levied a 25 percent penalty on that amount for the arbitrary late payment. The judge rejected penalties for the additional amount awarded at trial, $248,325.42, reasoning there was a legitimate coverage dispute.

The appellate court ordered the judge to assess the 25 percent penalty on coverage awarded at trial, saying failure to make timely payment on a covered claim exposes the insurer to penalties on the entire claim.

Mississippians, hundreds of whom waited more than two years for Katrina payments, lack similar protection and are unlikely to get it from the current Legislature, say policyholder attorneys and state Sen. David Baria. Baria is sponsoring a bill that mandates timely payment of claims.

"I believe that would get the insurance companies' attention as far as treating policyholders more fairly," said attorney Ben Galloway of Owen Galloway & Myers in Gulfport. "Right now, the deck is stacked against the policyholder. We've seen it over and over in Katrina litigation.

"There's really not much incentive for insurance companies to be fair with insureds on a claim."

Baria's bill sets time frames for processing and paying claims, with extensions for insurance companies in catastrophes. Failure to make timely payment subjects companies to 18 percent annual interest and attorney's fees. The policyholder bill of rights includes other consumer protections.

"It encourages the insurance companies to do the right thing in a timely manner," said Baria, D-Bay St. Louis. "The insurance company obviously benefits from not paying in a timely manner, whereas the insured's condition worsens over time. Then the policyholder settles the case for far less than they are entitled to because they're under duress. That's what this type provision is designed to prevent."

Baria holds little hope for passage of the time provision. A much-weaker bill of rights passed the House last year, but Senate Insurance Committee Chair Eugene S. "Buck" Clark never even brought it up for discussion.

"The insurance industry is very powerful," Baria said. "They exert their influence over various pieces of legislation, in Mississippi and nationally."

Clark said he is willing to look at Baria's bill. They plan to meet next week.

However, Clark said, "I'm not going to promise now which bills I might bring up." Clark also acknowledged insurance lobbyists aplenty roam the state Capitol.

"There's a lobbyist for every insurance company, and then they have contract lobbyists," he said. "Oh yeah, they're up there. I talk to all of them." He said the lobbyists had nothing to do with his failure to allow committee discussion of the 2008 policyholder bill.

"We're all policyholders," Clark said. "I wouldn't say it was the lobbyists at all. It's just me talking to some of my colleagues."

GOVERNMENTAL RELATIONS

Brunini Government Relations offers advice, advocacy and access to companies and organizations wanting to do business with the state or the federal government. Various legislative and administrative governmental entities make decisions every day that impact your business. Mississippi's current political climate has created new rules, new programs, and includes huge budgets and budget problems. These activities create challenges as well as opportunities. Clearly, the right government relations firm can make the difference between success and failure for you and for your business. More than any other lobbying firm, Brunini understands your lobbying needs and has the combined experience and expertise to deliver it. You want results—not process. Our firm provides the advice, advocacy and access to help you achieve those results as a "one-stop shop."

First, we offer unparalleled access to top decision makers in Mississippi, as well as to Mississippi's delegation in Washington, D.C. The abundance and strength of these relationships make our team uniquely able to reach key public officials—both elected and appointed—from Mississippi. Our government relations advisors bring with them relationships cultivated over years of public service and political activity. As a result, Brunini can open doors and get your message heard by the right people. Second, our advocacy is grounded in a firm culture that emphasizes vigorous and passionate persuasion. Getting the meeting is important, but our real job starts when the meeting begins. Our government relations advisors have the natural temperament and professional training to be an aggressive and effective advocate for you and your position. To maximize our impact, we make the connection between the merits of your argument and policy direction of the decision maker. With a little imagination and a lot of effort, we guide the process to achieve a favorable result. Finally, our firm thinks strategically. We know that the game is frequently won or lost before the first word is uttered in a high-level meeting. Brunini can help you formulate a plan that meets your short-term needs, while positioning your organization to achieve its long-term goals.

TRANSCRIPT: EXCERPTS FROM ALLEN'S AND GORDON'S EXAMINATION DURING UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION HEARING: McArn v. Allied Bruce-Terminix Co., Inc., 626 So.2d 603 (Miss.,1993) - Whether or not there is written contract, there should be public policy exceptions to employment-at-will doctrine for employee who refuses to participate in illegal act or employee who reports illegal act of his employer; these exceptions will apply even where there is "privately made law" governing employment relationship, or where illegal activity either declined by employee or reported by him affects third parties among general public, though they are not parties to lawsuit. (n. 3) Employer's alleged statement to Employment Security Commission that employee was terminated for a "bad attitude" was privileged and could not be basis for libel suit, absent proof that such statements were false or maliciously made.[1]

THE TESTIMONY/INFORMATION IS A MATTER OF PUBLIC RECORD AND CAN BE FOUND IN HINDS COUNTY CIRCUIT COURT RECORDS.

Newsome	56	2-4	Okay, so my December 1, 2004 e-mail in regards to harassment incident, was not out of the ordinary. I have submitted complaints in the past in regards to Mr. Gordon's behavior, is that correct?
Allen	56	5	You have.
Newsome	56	6-8	At any time during my employment, did I mention to you that I felt that Mr. Gordon's treatment, or his behavior, and conduct in regards to me was hostile?
Allen	56	9	You did.
Newsome	56	10	Okay, was this before your June 7th Memorandum or after?
Allen	56	11	I don't recall.
Newsome	56	16-18	And the complaint that I submitted to OSHA, OSHA contacted the firm, you were to respond, if I'm not mistaken, by June 8, 2004. Is that correct?

[1] [3] McArn argues that the Mississippi Employment Security Commission was falsely told that he was terminated for a bad attitude and not told the true reason for his firing. McArn argues that Miss.Code Ann. § 71-5-131 (1972) permits a claim for defamation whenever the employer makes statements to the Commission which are "false in fact and maliciously ... made for the purpose of causing a denial of benefits."

There is no question but that Miss.Code Ann. § 71-5-131 provides that communications between an employer and the Commission are privileged and "when qualified privilege is established, statements or written communications are not actionable as slanderous or libelous absent bad faith or malice if the communications are limited to those persons who have a legitimate and direct interest in the subject matter." Benson v. Hall, 339 So.2d 570, 573 (Miss.1976).

In his complaint, McArn charged that Terminix maliciously defamed him before the Mississippi Employment Security Commission by stating he was fired for a "bad attitude." At trial, McArn testified that Terminix's contention that he was insubordinate was false. That is the extent of McArn's evidence of defamation.

EXHIBIT 83

Allen	56	19-20	I don't know the exact date. We did respond within the time limits they asked us to.
Newsome	57	1-4	Okay, the date of that Memorandum . . .was June 7, 2004, the response, if I'm not mistaken, because like I said, I wasn't aware this was coming up, was due on June 8, 2004. That e-mail or that Memorandum came out the day prior. Did that have anything to do?
Allen	57	5-6	Absolutely not, that's why I stated in here, you could do all you wanted about, with, with agencies.
Newsome	57	7-10	But also in regards to the complaints that I had submitted to the firm, have I ever submitted any complaints of harassment, discrimination, or anything to the attention of Mitchell, McNutt & Sams in regards to Bob Gordon?
Allen	57	11	Discrimination, harassment, yes, you've used that word several times.
Newsome	57	12-14	Okay, and did I ever mention to you that I felt that I was discriminated or either in the handling of my complaints being discriminative in any nature?
Allen	57	15-16	You asked me to follow through with going to the Board, is that what you're referring to?
Newsome	57	17-20	No, I'm asking did you ever receive any e-mail correspondence from me in regards to complaints I submitted to the firm, that I felt I was being subjected to certain treatment?
Allen	57	20	Discriminatory.
Newsome	58	1	Discriminative treatment?
Allen	58	2	You're, I believe you sent me one like that, yes.
Newsome	58	3-5	Okay, so you were, so Mitchell, McNutt & Sams was made aware prior to November 30th on several occasions that I had filed complaints in regards to Mr. Gordon's behavior?
Allen	58	6	Yes.
Newsome	58	7-9	Did Mitchell, McNutt & Sams at any time prior to November 30, 2004 submit in writing to me, written responses to my complaints in regards to Mr. Gordon's behavior?

Allen	58	10-12	Let's see, we, we talked about it at the Board, and talked to Mr. Gordon about it, and I'm trying to think if, what happened from that point forward. I don't recall if we sent anything to you, if I did.
Newsome	58	13-15	Okay, so I can, it, it is your testimony that I submitted several complaints, but the firm never responded to me in writing in regards to my complaints on Mr. Gordon's behavior.
Allen	58	16	I responded back to you.
Newsome	58	17	In regards to Mr. Gordon's behavior?
Allen	58		Uh hum.
Newsome	58	17-18	Do you have any documentation?
Allen	58	19-20	Oh, I tried, I may have some e-mails that we had through correspondence commenting back on.
Newsome	59	1-3	Okay, did Mr. Gordon ever receive an elaborate e-mail or Memorandum such as. . . that you forwarded to me in regards to the complaints I submitted in regards to him?
Allen	59	4	Did he receive one?
Newsome	59	5-9	Did Mr. Gordon, I submitted a complaint in regards to harassment or discrimination like I said, I don't' have them all, but I submitted my complaints to the firm in regards to Mitchell, McNutt & Sams conduct and behavior as well as Mr. Gordon, did you ever follow up with an e-mail or memorandum as you June 7, 2004?
Allen	59	10	To Mr. Gordon?
Newsome	59	11	To Mr. Gordon?
Allen	59	12	No.
Newsome	59	13-14	So Mitchell, McNutt & Sams did nothing to deter or discourage Mr. Gordon's behavior?
Allen	59	15-16	I don't know if there was, there was some discussions with, that, that we had.

Another example:

Newsome	144	19-20	Yes, just a moment. It was the incident that I went out to lunch with Attorney Mike Farrell and Ladye Margaret?
Gordon	146	7-13	She was gone for, what to me was an inordinate of the time to get something to pick up, to pick something up to bring it back. My recollection is that she was gone approximately forty-five minutes or so, and then she returned and at that time I criticized her for having gone and eaten out when I had told her that she needed to work through the lunch hour, and if she was going to get something to eat, go get it, and bring it back.
Newsome	146	14-15	So you said it was about forty-five minutes. For the record, can you explain your conduct when I did return, your behavior?
Newsome	147	1-2	So would you say your behavior, for instance stomping around and slamming the door is acceptable?
Gordon	147	3-4	I don't know that I stomped around and slammed the door, but I, yes, I was very upset.
Newsome	147	5	Okay, would you say you were hostile?
Gordon	147	6	Yes.
Newsome	147	8-9	Were you aware that your behavior was noticed by other employees at Mitchell, McNutt & Sams?
Gordon	147	10	Yes.
Newsome	147	11	Are you aware that I reported that behavior to Mr. Allen?
Gordon	147	12	Sitting here right now, I don't, I do not recall being aware of that.
Newsome	148	1-2	You, were you aware that when I went to lunch, that I was not driving, that I did go with Mr. Farrell and Ladye Margaret?
Gordon	148	3-4	You told me that when you returned, you did not tell me that before you were going.

Newsome	148	5-6	Prior to leaving. Were you aware that the lunch break was only about probably thirty-five minutes?
Gordon	148	7	It occurred, it appeared to me it was around forty-five minutes.
Newsome	148	16-17	Did that thirty-five minutes, or if you say forty-five minutes, did that preclude or prevent you from getting that Pleading filed in time?
Gordon	148	18-20	We got the Pleading filed on that day, but while you were out, a revision or revisions to that Pleading were sitting at your desk and not being done.
Newsome	149	14-16	And are you aware that your conduct affected the work of another attorney, who was wondering whether or not you had calmed down that day after that particular incident?
Gordon	149	17	No.
Newsome	150	2	So Mr. Gordon, you would say your conduct was hostile?
Gordon	150	3	That's what I, yes, I said that.
Newsome	150	4-5	Did Mitchell, McNutt & Sams ever notify you of your conduct of being you know, you being a hostile employee?
Gordon	150	6	No.
Newsome	150	13-14	Are you aware that I have, that I submitted complaints in regards to your conduct to Mitchell, McNutt & Sams?
Gordon	150	15	You have submitted complaints or e-mails alleging harassment.

A Yes.

Q Okay, so my December 1, 2004 e-mail in regards to harassment incident, was not out of the ordinary. I have submitted complaints in the past in regards to Mr. Gordon's behavior, is that correct?

A You have.

Q At any time during my employment, did I mention to you that I felt that Mr. Gordon's treatment, or his behavior, and conduct in regards to me was hostile?

A You did.

Q Okay, was this before your June 7th Memorandum or after?

A I don't recall.

Q "Employer Exhibit #9," the one I objected to, the June 7, 2004 Memorandum, you state that in that Memorandum, just paraphrasing because I don't have a copy of it before me, in regards to filing complaints with agencies, you mentioned also in your testimony something about OSHA. And the complaint that I submitted to OSHA, OSHA contacted the firm, you were to respond, if I'm not mistaken, by June 8, 2004. Is that correct?

A I don't know the exact date. We did respond within the time limits that they asked us to.

Q Okay, the date of that Memorandum in "Employer Exhibit #9" was June 7, 2004, the response, if I'm not mistaken, because like I said, I wasn't aware this was coming up, was due on June 8, 2004. That e-mail or that Memorandum came out the day prior. Did that have anything to do?

A Absolutely not, that's why I stated in here, you could do all you wanted about, with, with agencies.

Q But also in regards to the complaints that I had submitted to the firm, have I ever submitted any complaints of harassment, discrimination, or anything to the attention of Mitchell, McNutt & Sams in regards to Bob Gordon?

A Discrimination, harassment, yes, you've used that word several times.

Q Okay, and did I ever mention to you that I felt that I was discriminated or either in the handling of my complaints being discriminative in any nature?

A You asked me to follow through with going to the Board, is that what you're referring to?

Q No, I'm asking, did you ever receive any e-mail correspondence from me in regards to complaints I submitted to the firm, that I felt I was being subjected to certain treatment?

A Discriminatory.

Q Discriminative treatment?

A You're, I believe you sent me one like that, yes.

Q Okay, so you were, so Mitchell, McNutt & Sams was made aware prior to November 30th on several occasions that I had filed complaints in regards to Mr. Gordon's behavior?

A Yes.

Q Did Mitchell, McNutt & Sams at any time prior to November 30, 2004 submit in writing to me, written responses to my complaints in regards to Mr. Gordon's behavior?

A Let's see, we, we talked about it at the Board, and talked to Mr. Gordon about it, and I'm trying to think if, what happened from that point forward. I don't recall if we sent anything to you, if I did.

Q Okay, so I can, it, it is your testimony that I submitted several complaints, but the firm never responded to me in writing in regards to my complaints on Mr. Gordon's behavior.

A I responded back to you. Allen Linhum

Q In regards to Mr. Gordon's behavior? Do you have any documentation?

A Oh, I tried, I may have some e-mails that we had through correspondence commenting back on.

Q Okay, did Mr. Gordon ever receive an elaborate e-mail or Memorandum such as "Employer Exhibit #9" that you forwarded to me in regards to the complaints I submitted in regards to him?

A Did he receive one?

Q Did Mr. Gordon, I submitted a complaint in regards to harassment or discrimination like I said, I don't have them all, but when I submitted my complaints to the firm in regards to Mitchell, McNutt & Sams conduct and behavior as well as Mr. Gordon, did you all ever follow up with an e-mail or memorandum as your June 7, 2004?

A To Mr. Gordon?

Q To Mr. Gordon?

A No.

Q So Mitchell, McNutt & Sams did nothing to deter or discourage Mr. Gordon's behavior?

A I don't know if there was, there was some discussions with, that, that we had.

Q May I hold "Employer Exhibit #5?" I would like to look at, looking at 104 Business Ethics and Conduct. According to the information provided to the Unemployment Commission in regard to the false you know, my accusation of accusing Bob of false information, if indeed that information is Referee: For the record I'm going to call this "Claimant Exhibit #5." It is objected to on relevancy and authenticity. Now this is signed by a Jane Hedglin?

Q Yes.

Referee: She works for Staffers?

Q That's correct. It's one of the agencies I'm registered with.

Referee: I'll make a copy of that, and give that back to you as well.

Q Okay.

Referee: Any other questions for?

Q Yes, I do, because the, like I said, at, at question here is that I submitted in the e-mail to deflect from my own Performance Evaluation. And it's basically to establish the accuracy, and the reason why I would not sign. During my employment, although it didn't come up, Mr. Gordon, I mean there was an incident in regards to your asking me to come, to interrupt my lunch and return to work on a pleading that you needed to get that day. Is that correct?

A Which incident, what, can you be more specific as to when you're referring to?

Q Yes, just a moment. It was the incident that I went out to lunch with Attorney Mike Farrell and Ladye Margaret?

anything to eat, but if you're going to get something to eat, go get it, and bring it back, and eat it at your desk when you have time. So that we can continue working on that Pleading. She objected. I told her it's just going to be necessary to do, because we've got to be sure we get our Pleading out that day. And she then told me that she's leaving going with Mike Farrell and Ladye Margaret Townsend to get something to eat, and would be bringing it back, and I said that's fine. She was gone for, what to me was an inordinate of the time to get something to pick up, to pick something up to bring it back. My recollection is that she was gone approximately forty-five minutes or so, and then she returned and at that time I criticized her for having gone and eaten out when I had told her that she needed to work through the lunch hour, and if she was going to get something to eat, go get it, and bring it back.

Q So you said it was about forty-five minutes. For the record, can you explain your conduct when I did return, your behavior?

A Because you had acted in a defiant and insubordinate manner, and going out, in my, in my judgment, in going out to get lunch, and eating out when I told you you needed you needed to work through the lunch hour, and or just needed to go out and get the lunch and bring it back and eat at your desk so we could complete work.

Q So would you say your behavior, for instance stomping around and slamming the door is acceptable?

A I don't know that I stomped around and slammed the door, but I, yes, I was very upset.

Q Okay, would you say you were hostile?

A Yes.

Q Okay, for the record, let me find which exhibit it is, just a minute, I would like to enter, because, let me ask this question. Were you aware that your behavior was noticed by other employees at Mitchell, McNutt & Sams?

A Yes.

Q Are you aware that I reported that behavior to Mr. Allen?

A Sitting here right now, I don't, I do not recall being aware of that.

Q Okay.

A I, I may.

Q So Mr. Allen, did I make you aware of that submitted your conduct, that incident rather, that incident to his attention?

A He may have, I just don't recall it right now. And if you did it by way of an e-mail, he may have forwarded a copy of the e-mail to me. I just, just don't recall.

Q You, were you aware that when I went to lunch, that I was not driving, that I did go with Mr. Farrell and Ladye Margaret?

A You told me that when you returned, you did not tell me that before you were going.

Q Prior to leaving. Were you aware that the lunch break was only about, probably thirty-five minutes?

A It occurred, it appeared to me it was around forty-five minutes.

Q Okay, even if it were forty-five minutes, was I in violation of any of the policies in regards to meals, breaks, lunch, of Mitchell, McNutt & Sams?

A In my judgment, yes, because even though you do have an hour lunch break, that hours lunch, had taken that hour lunch is always subject to the needs of the work that, that, this is in the office, and the need to get the work out in a timely and proper manner , and so that on occasions when that does arise, yes, that lunch hour is subject to, to being taken early, or deferred, late shortened, or even missed all together.

Q Did that thirty-five minutes, or if you say forty-five minutes, did that preclude or prevent you from getting that Pleading filed in time?

A We got the Pleading filed on that day, but while you were out, a revision or revisions to that Pleading were sitting at your desk and not being done.

Q But I am entitled to a break, right?

A Subject to the demands of the workplace, yes.

Q At this time, I would like to, I do need a copy of this back to show that it was only thirty-five minute lunch, and we will look at your evaluation saying it was forty-five minutes.

Allen: That's my assistant.

Ardelean: Okay.

Referee: Any objection, Ms. Ardelean?

Ardelean: Relevancy.

Referee: This will be "Claimant Exhibit #6." for the claimant It is an e-mail from Ms. Newsome to Rosonna Murray, and a copy to Jim Allen, TIMECLOCK, it is objected to in regards to relevance, and that is "Claimant Exhibit #6." Any other questions, Ms. Newsome?

Q Yes, I do. And are you aware that your conduct affected the work of another attorney, who was wondering whether or not you had calmed down that day after that particular incident?

A No.

Q At this time, I would like to enter this in regards to the e-mail that was sent in regards to Mr. Gordon's behavior that day.

Referee: Any objection to that, Ms. Ardelean?

Ardelean: I have an objection on relevancy.

Q So Mr. Gordon, you would say your conduct was hostile?

A That's what I, yes, I said that.

Q Did Mitchell, McNutt & Sams ever notify you of your conduct of being you know, you being hostile towards an employee?

A No.

Q Were you aware that there were complaints submitted in regards to your conduct to Mitchell, McNutt & Sams?

Ardelean: Could you get to the point because I'm not sure what complaints you're referring to?

Q I, I'm asking, are you aware?

A By whom or, and of what?

Q Are you aware that I have, that I submitted complaints in regards to your conduct to Mitchell, McNutt & Sams?

A You have submitted complaints or e-mails alleging harassment.

Referee: Let me enter this document. This will be "Claimant Exhibit #7." It is objected to on relevance. It is a series of e-mails from Ms. Townsend to Ms. Vogel and back. Okay, that is "Claimant Exhibit #7" that's objected to regarding relevancy.

Q Okay, in regards, and this was about February 2004, for the record?

RE: Retaliation - Unlawful/Wrongful Termination of Vogel Newsome

Dear Mr. Sams:

I am in receipt of your letter dated December 10, 2004. This letter is basically being submitted in response to your letter to clear up some distorted facts you present in said letter in regards to my being represented by counsel.

Let me say that I did not advise you at the time of my termination that I was represented by counsel. Neither did I advise you that my counsel would be in contact with you. Like my annual Performance Review by MMS, it is apparent how MMS attempts to take information and distort it for unlawful means and purposes to suit them.

For clarification of the false information you provide in your December 10, 2004 letter, on Friday, December 3, 2004, at the time of my termination, you demanded that I give you the copy of the Mitchell McNutt & Sams, P.A. Employee Handbook that was mine. Although I objected to your request, I then provided you with the copy of the Employee Handbook and advised that any additional documentation that you and/or MMS seek from me would have to be sought through my attorney. You advised me after that comment to have my attorney contact you. You, having full knowledge, that I at no given time did I advise you that I am presently and/or currently represented by counsel.

Enough on the frivolous assertions made in the letter you have provided. You can address this matter with the appropriate agency(s). Because my initial Complaints with the Wage and Hour Division and OSHA are still pending, I believe you and/or MMS can address each of the issues raised in the Retaliation Complaint(s) that has been filed and/or will be filed with the appropriate agency(s). This particular incident you address in your December 10, 2004, has been addressed at ¶ 29 in a Retaliation Complaint I have filed with the United States Department of Labor – Wage and Hour Division. Said Department/Division should be contacting MMS shortly for its response. Therefore, if you have any recorded statements or evidence to support the assertion you make in your letter, you may present it at the time of the investigation.

I have advised the appropriate agency(s) that I intend and am requesting to be reinstated immediately. I have also shared with the Wage and Hour Division that I seek reinstatement immediately and I will proceed to bring legal action against MMS for its unlawful and/or wrongful termination of my employment for my reporting of violations which are protected activities through the appropriate avenues. But, first things first – getting my job back. A copy of excerpts from the Handy Reference Guide to the Fair Labor Standards Act, pp. 13 – 14 is attached hereto for your reference. I expect the WHD to enforce the FLSA and upon doing so, I intend to bring legal actions against MMS.

I will share with you at this time, that I have found your actions and the repeat unlawful violations rendered by MMS' employees against me - for the filing of my Complaints with the firm, WHD and OSHA - willful, malicious and wanton. Moreover, the most recent ones of December 3, 2004, being done to cause me embarrassment, humiliation, distress, hardship, injury/harm, etc. Therefore, I intend to seek recovery (the maximum allowed under law) for all damages/injuries I have sustained as a direct and proximate result of said violations permitted under law including punitive damages – which if allowed, for up to one-half the financial worth of MMS. I provide you with some information for your review, research and reference in support thereof:

CASE LAW:

Scribner v. Waffle House, Inc., 14 F.Supp. 2d 873 - An employer is liable under Title VII for the discriminatory acts of an employee if it knew or should have known of the employee's offensive conduct and failed to take steps to repudiate that conduct and eliminate the hostile environment. Id. at 883 citing Nash v. Electrospace Sys., Inc., 9 F.3d 401, 404 (5th Cir. 1993)(citing Jones v. Flagship, 793 F.2d at 720)(As this Court noted in Waltman v. International Paper Co., the type and extent of notice necessary to impose liability on an employer under Title VII are the subject of some uncertainty. 875 F.2d 468, 478 (5th Cir. 1989)(concluding that three separate complaints to higher management constituted sufficient notice.)).

Although it felt this was "undoubtedly a close question" in Farpella-Crosby, the Fifth Circuit held that plaintiff had met her burden of proving that Horizon Health Care "knew or should have known" that she was being subjected to a hostile work environment – primarily with evidence of Farpella-Crosby's complaints to two of the company's "human resource directors."

Specifically, Farpella-Crosby testified that she frequently talked to Belinda Callejo about "her problems" with Jose Blanco, telling the human resource director.

The credibility of the witnesses issues is addressed in Scribner at 884-885.

To prove severe emotional distress, a plaintiff must show that she suffered "more than mere worry, anxiety, vexation, embarrassment, or anger. In making this determination, courts should consider "[t]he intensity and duration of the distress." Scribner at 932, 933 [Behringer v. Behringer, 884 S.W.2d 839, 844]

Also, "the extreme and outrageous character of the defendant's conduct is in itself important evidence that the distress existed." A plaintiff need not prove, however, that her emotional distress had physical manifestations. Villasenor v. Vallasenor, 911 S.W. 2d 411, 417.

Her torment continued almost unbroken during her entire Waffle House employment. . . The harassment of Scribner for this period was abusive and unrelenting. Having observed her demeanor in testifying about the extreme humiliation, disgust, and despair she endured, the court is convinced that she suffered severe emotional distress. Scribner at 933.

Considering all of these circumstances, the court finds that Therese Scribner is entitled to recover $358,000 as mental anguish damages.

A party seeking punitive damages must establish either "actual malice" or that the defendant's acts were accompanied by fraud or other aggravating circumstances. Actual mailice, as distinguished from "legal malice" requires a showing of "ill-will, spite, evil motive or purposing the injury of another. Scribner at 933.

. . . As in other instances which require proof of the wrongdoer's state of mind, the requisite state of mind can properly be inferred from the acts and conduct of the wrongdoer. Chandler State Bank v. Dorsey, 797 F.2d at 237.

A plaintiff injured by defamation is entitled to recover (i) actual damages, including lost income and mental anguish, and (ii) punitive damages. Scribner at 935 referencing Brown v. Petrolite Corp., 965 F.2d 38 (5th Cir. 1992)

PUNITIVE DAMAGES:

In BMW of North America v. Gore, 517 U.S. 559, 116 S.Ct. 1589, 134 L.Ed.2d 809 (1996), the Supreme Court derived these principles from its earlier decision in Halsip[1] and TXO:[2]

Punitive damages may properly be imposed to further a States legitimate interests in punishing unlawful conduct and deterring its repetition . . . Helsip, 499 U.S., at 22, 111 S.Ct., at 1045-1046.

. . . Certainly, evidence that a defendant has repeatedly engaged in prohibited conduct while knowing or suspecting that it was unlawful would provide relevant support for an argument that strong medicine is required to cure the defendant's disrespect for the law. . . Haslip, 499 U.S., at 5, 111 S.Ct., at 1036, TXO, 509 U.S., at 453, 113 S.Ct. at 2717-2718 (116 S.Ct. at 1601).

DEFAMATION:[3]

Damages for defamation may be based on elements other than injury to one's reputation such as personal humiliation, embarrassment, and mental anguish and suffering.

MALICE: The intent, without justification or excuse, to commit a wrongful act. (2) Reckless disregard of the law or of a person's legal rights. (3) Ill will; wickedness of heart.

---

[1] Pacific Mutual Life Ins. Co. v. Haslip, 499 U.S. 1, 111 S.Ct. 1032, 113 L.Ed.2d 1, 113 L.Ed.2d 1 (1991).

[2] TXO Production Corp. v. Alliance Resources Corp., 509 U.S. 443, 113 S.Ct. 2711, 125 L.Ed.2d 366 (1993).

[3] An example of such defamation can be found in MMS 11/15/04 Performance Review prepared by Robert T. Gordon, Jr.

ACTUAL MALICE: The deliberate intent to commit an injury, as evidenced by external circumstances – Also termed express malice, malice in fact. Cf. implied malice.

Damages Awarded in Scribner:

- $119,500 – mental anguish as actual damage for defamation
- $24,188 – Tortious interference
- 6.3M – Severe, pervasive harassment[4]
- $1,149,504 – Punitive damages for defamation and tortuous interference

Again, I will first be seeking reinstatement of employment with MMS as the law requires – MMS still has an opportunity to correct the wrongful termination and have me reinstated immediately itself. However, if MMS elects to do so without the assistance of the outside government agencies, MMS must keep in mind that I have every intention to move forward in seeking recovery for damages for the unlawful/wrongful termination. Believe the documents in MMS' possession will support just how severe, pervasive, unrelenting, etc. its harassment of me was. Moreover, that the actions by MMS was willful, malicious and wanton. MMS repeated discriminatory/retaliatory practices and its repeatedly subjecting me to a hostile work environment created by it in efforts to force me out of the workplace is unlawful – MMS was timely, properly and duly notified of its unlawful/unethical practices, however elected not to do anything to correct them. As a direct and proximate result of my reporting the unlawful/unethical practices, my employment with MMS has been terminated and I have been injured/harmed. It is clear from record evidence, that MMS clearly disrespects the law and/or thinks that it is above the law.

Thank you for your time and consideration in this matter. Should you have further questions, comments and/or want to discuss this letter, please feel free to contact me.

Respectfully,

Vogel Newsome

[4] Please see MMS Employee Handbook also. Supporting MMS was aware that conduct by its employees towards me was indeed harassment. Yet MMS did nothing to deter nor discourage the unlawful practices once reported. Instead, MMS continued to seek ways to force me out of the workplace. When all such efforts to force me out of the workplace, MMS wrongfully terminated my employment for reporting violations which are protected activities.

RE: MEDICAL COVERAGE - CONCERNS DISCRIMINATION UNDER FMLA AND COBRA VIOLATIONS

Dear Paul:

This will confirm receipt of your voicemail message on yesterday which was cut off and our telephone conversation on today in regards to the above referenced matter.

From my understanding of the conversation, Wood & Lamping (Andrea) acknowledges that I advised of my request regarding medical procedure I discussed with her. At this time, Wood & Lamping is willing to extend me medical coverage under COBRA where they will make the payments. However, in exchange for such agreement, I would be required to sign a Release relinquishing all rights that I may have to bring charges and/or lawsuit against Wood & Lamping for any injury/harm I sustained from violations – i.e. wrongful discharge, retaliation, racial discrimination, etc. As I shared with you, my main focus right now is getting the medical procedure done that I was advised of any other relief I seek will be done in the applicable time permitted by statute/laws.

HOWEVER, PLEASE LET ME REITERATE, it is Wood & Lamping's duty and responsibility to mitigate damages – that includes continuing medical coverage and/or benefits – in the showing of good faith (not in continuance of bad faith or malicious behavior, etc. to cause me additional injury/harm).

You mentioned that an employee, Angie, brought charges against Wood & Lamping which was unsuccessful. While I am not aware of any charges by Angie, I would think that any comparison of my treatment and handling would be left up to the appropriate agency to handle; moreover, up to a jury to decide. I believe that the liability in my situation is clear and that Wood & Lamping retaliated against me in interfering with my rights under the Family and Medical Leave Act; moreover, may be in retaliation of its knowledge of my engagement in protected activities.

Being brief:

> EQUAL OPPORTUNITY
> The firm is an equal opportunity employer, and as such, is firmly committed to treating all employees and applicants equally without regard to race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, marital status, veteran status, or other protected classes. We will > endeavor to make reasonable accommodations for known physical or mental limitations of otherwise qualified employees and applicants with disabilities unless the accommodation would impose an undue hardship on the operation of or business. Our employment decisions, including, but not limited to, hiring, compensation, benefits, training, and promotions are based on the principles of equal employment opportunity. Discrimination by any member of the firm will not be tolerated. Suspected violations of this policy must be reported promptly to a member of management or to a partner. Violators will receive discipline appropriate to the offense, up to an including termination. This policy also prohibits retaliation against anyone who has filed a complaint of discrimination or harassment.

> (Wood & Lamping LLP Policies and Procedures Manual @ p. 11)

Pattern-of-Discrimination/Retaliation:

1. About November 2006, I requested assistance from Wood & Lamping regarding a Landlord matter I was dealing with. Elizabeth Horwitz was assigned to assist me. However, Elizabeth became upset with me with I refused to give up rights I believe I was entitled to under the Fair Housing Act. From my take, Elizabeth (white) and opposing counsel (white) were must have agreed to try and convince me to waive rights secured under the Fair Housing Act. Such efforts failed and I proceeded to file the lawsuit to protect my rights. Again, Elizabeth being upset with me, requested a change in Secretaries/Legal Assistants and Wood & Lamping obliged. Her acts were unacceptable, and clearly obvious of no understanding or feeling of what it is like to have to stand by rights that many sacrificed their lives for so that I can enjoy and live where I want not where another decides. Some of our conversations I am confident are memorialized in Wood & Lamping's e-mails.

2. Then I was assigned Brian Gillan. While I was commended on my work ethics and strived to carry myself in a professional manner, my experience with Brian Gillan was a continuance by Wood & Lamping to subject me to retaliation and discriminatory treatment. First appearing to be pleased with my work (as evidenced in e-mail), Brian's sudden change and craftily drafted e-mail to slander my character, work ethics, etc. was launched. Wood & Lamping was aware of this and for quite some time did nothing to deter Brian's acts although I reported violations to its attention. It was not until I advised that I was to going to report this to Bill Ellis that Brian was pulled. My concerns were made known as to the motives behind Brian's conduct; however, nothing was done. My concerns regarding how other white employees were not required to endure the hostile, discriminatory and brutal treatment that Wood & Lamping was going to make me endure although it was fully aware of the emotional, physical and mental impact it was having on me. Some of our conversations I am confident are memorialized in Wood & Lamping's e-mail (for example attached).

> POLICY AGAINST UNLAWFUL HARASSMENT
> General:
> Wood & Lamping is committed to maintaining a professional and collegial work environment in which all individuals are treated with respect and dignity. The firm prohibits discrimination because of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, veteran's status, disability, or any other protected status in accordance with applicable laws. Harassment is a form of discrimination and will not be tolerated.

Wood & Lamping encourages individuals who believe they are subject to harassing behavior to clearly and promptly notify the offender that his or her behavior is unwelcomed, but one is not required to do so. However, any individual who believes he or she has been subject to harassment of any kind must notify a partner of the firm or a member of management in order for the matter to be resolved. (Wood & Lamping LLP Policies and Procedures Manual @ p. 20)

Policy Against Sexual Harassment:

A. Sexual Harassment Defined
. . .While mutually consenting relationships between members of the firm are not sexual harassment, these relationships are considered unwise because of the potential denial of mutual consent.

B. Procedures for Reporting Sexual Harassment
Wood & Lamping encourages individuals who believe they are subject to sexual harassment to clearly and promptly notify the offender that his or her behavior is unwelcomed. However, one is not required to do so. Any individual who believes he or she has been subject to harassment of any kind must notify a partner of the firm or a member of management. The partner or manager will initiate an investigation of the matter....

C. Investigations
Investigations will be prompt, thorough, accurate, consistent, and conducted as discreetly as possible. Confidentiality will be maintained to the extent practical, but a few members of the firm will have to know about the situation due to the employer's obligation to investigate. Effective enforcement of this policy requires that the offender be made aware of the alleged conduct at some point, and fairness demands that an accused be afforded an opportunity to make a defense. The reporting individual will be notified before the offender is questioned about or told of the charge.

Once the investigation is complete, findings and decisions will be made and communicated to the reporting individual and the offender. If there is no evidence to support the allegations, the matter will be dropped and the investigation closed. If the investigation confirms that harassment occurred, the harasser will be subject to resolution procedures and/or appropriate disciplinary penalties, which may include one or more of the following: referral to counseling, withholding of a promotion, reassignment, mediation, temporary suspension without pay, a written warning, and discharge from the firm.

Non-Retaliation Policy:
No one will be subject to any form of discipline or retaliation for reporting incidents of unlawful harassment, pursuing any such claim, or cooperating in the investigation of such reports. Any form of retaliation will result in appropriate disciplinary procedures, up to and including discharge from the firm. However, individuals who falsely and maliciously accuse another will be subject to the disciplinary procedures described above.
(Wood & Lamping LLP Policies and Procedures Manual @ pp. 20-22)

WORKPLACE VIOLENCE
Threats, intimidation, flashing of weapons, stalking or any acts of aggression or violence made toward or by anyone will not be tolerated. Any potentially dangerous situations, including threats, should be reported immediately to a manager or partner. All reports will be promptly investigated. To protect the firm and its staff, the firm reserves the right to search employees and their personal property when there is reason to believe that this policy has been violated. Searches of firm facilities and property may be conducted at any time and do not have to be prompted by a belief that a policy is being violated. No employee will be subject to retaliation, intimidation or discipline as a result of reporting a situation. If an investigation confirms that a threat of a violent act or violence itself has occurred, corrective action will be taken against the offender.
(Wood & Lamping LLP Policies and Procedures Manual @ p. 29)

3. While it was not clear to me why Wood & Lamping would not represent me in matters brought to its attention, I could not dwell on that. I was able to obtain an Injunction and Restraining Order in my Landlord & Tenant matter which Elizabeth thought would be hard to obtain. Then in October 2008, I was unlawfully evicted from my residence. Wood & Lamping was timely and promptly notified of this matter. I even advised of my reporting this matter to the FBI. Either way, I was engaging in protected activities in which Wood & Lamping was fully aware. See my correspondence with Andrea regarding this. What I did not like about this was how Andrea attempted to make it appear there was a problem with my being out. I do not ever recall exceeding any days allowed for leave (vacation and/or sick); however, aware of my circumstances, attempted to add salt to the womb – clearly UNACCEPABLE.

4. I had a doctor's appointment in October and advised Andrea of what was taking place. Then in December 2008, I went to Andrea to advise of medical procedure and determine how leave would be covered. Andrea advised of the Family and Medical Leave Act and how the firm would handle such matters. I followed up with the required Request Form for leave on January 8, 2009. On January 9, 2009, I was terminated being advised my position was being eliminated.

5. Since leaving Wood & Lamping, I have found out that Thomas J. Breed's former law firm Schwartz Manes & Ruby – now Schwartz Manes Ruby & Slovin – is representing a client that has business a business dispute with me. Whether or not Wood & Lamping would have represented me in that matter, I do not know. What I do know, is that I recall getting a fax from the company while at Wood & Lamping when I picked it up from the counter in the copy room. While I was not aware at the time that Tom's former law firm was representing that company, I found it interesting to find out that my termination came on January 9, 2009 – the very same weekend this company was holding what they called an "Amnesty Weekend." Not only that, no fax as sent prior by them on this date (so I concluded that they knew of what was about to take place at Wood & Lamping), but I was mailed a notice on the very same date of my termination. Tom is a member of the Executive Board at Wood & Lamping if I am not mistaken. Raising concerns for a reasonable mind (jury) as to the motive behind my termination – was it done to aid his former law firm (you scratch my back and I'll scratch yours – at my expense). What is Tom's interest in the matter and whether or not he has any interest still with Schwartz Manes? Again, that is not up to me to decide, but for a jury I would think. A causal link/connection can be established.

6. In regards to the FMLA, I will only present the following and let you take it from there because all I am required to do is present a prima facie case and evidence which I believe can be done:

> If the condition for which leave is granted is foreseeable, employees must provide the employer with 30 days notice to be entitled to the protection of the FMLA. . .
>
> Upon return from leave granted under the FMLA, employees are entitled to reinstatement to the position of employment previously held, or to an equivalent position with equivalent benefits, pay, and other terms and conditions of employment . . . Employer's may not interfere with any employee's attempt to exercise his/her rights under the FMLA. It is also illegal for employers to discriminate against or discharge an employee because he/she has attempted to exercise his/her rights. . .granted by the FMLA.

See p. 32 of Wood & Lamping's Employer's Guide

You know McDonnell Douglas is a landmark case.

Hodgens v. General Dynamics Corp., 144 F.3d 151 (C.A. 1, 1998)

(n. 16) Employee's atrial fibrillation was "serious health condition" within meaning of FMLA section entitling employee to 12 weeks of leave for serious health condition making employee unable to perform his or her job; employee had over three consecutive days' absences from work, had two or more treatments by health care provider, and was placed on treatment regimen of medication, and his illness might have proved fatal if left untreated. Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993, §§ 101(11), 102(a)(1)(D), 29 U.S.C.A. §§ 2611(11), 2612(a)(1)(D); 29 C.F.R. § 825.114(a)(2, 3), (b)(1, 2) (1993).

(n. 18) FMLA protects employee who visits a doctor with symptoms that are eventually diagnosed as constituting a serious health condition, even if, at the time of the initial medical appointments, the illness has not yet been diagnosed nor its degree of seriousness determined. Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993, § 102(a)(1)(D), 29 U.S.C.A. § 2612(a)(1)(D); 29 C.F.R. § 825.114(b).

(n. 23) Employer may not use reduction-in-force (RIF), reorganization, or improved-efficiency rationale as pretext to mask actual discrimination or retaliation for employee's exercise of FMLA rights; the mere incantation of the mantra of "efficiency" is not a talisman insulating an employer from liability for invidious discrimination. Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993, § 105(a), 29 U.S.C.A. § 2615(a); 29 C.F.R. § 825.220.

(n. 25) Even if employer's articulated reason for its adverse employment action is facially neutral, as in the case of a reduction in force (RIF), if in reality the employer acted for reason prohibited by the FMLA's retaliation provision, then its asserted legitimate reason and its ostensibly nondiscriminatory selection criteria as to who is subject to RIF cannot insulate it from liability. Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993, § 105(a), 29 U.S.C.A. § 2615(a).

(n. 35) Statements by supervisors carrying the inference that the supervisor harbored animus against protected classes of people or conduct are clearly probative of pretext in FMLA retaliation action. Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993, § 105(a), 29 U.S.C.A. § 2615(a).

> (@ n. 23) an employer may not use its RIF/reorganization/improved-efficiency rationale as a pretext to mask actual discrimination or retaliation; the mere incantation of the mantra of "efficiency" is not a talisman insulating an employer from liability for invidious discrimination. See McDonnell Douglas, 411 U.S. at 804, 93 S.Ct. 1817 (employer may not use an ostensibly legitimate reason for an adverse action as a pretext for discrimination that is prohibited by statute); 29 U.S.C. § 2615(a); 29 C.F.R. § 825.220; cf. INS v. Chadha, 462 U.S. 919, 944, 103 S.Ct. 2764, 77 L.Ed.2d 317 (1983): "Convenience and efficiency are not the primary objectives-or the hallmarks-of democratic government." Nor are they the objectives of public policy underlying statutes like the FMLA or the ADA.

> (@ n. 25) Because of the availability of seemingly neutral rationales under which an employer can hide its discriminatory intent, and because of the difficulty of accurately determining whether an employer's motive is legitimate or is a pretext for discrimination, there is reason to be concerned about the possibility that an employer could manipulate its decisions to purge employees it wanted to eliminate. See Weldon v. Kraft, Inc., 896 F.2d 793, 798 (3d Cir.1990) (Subjective evaluations of performance "are more susceptible of abuse and more likely to mask pretext" than objective job qualifications.) (internal quotation marks omitted). The law does not permit this. Even if an employer's actions and articulated reasons are facially neutral (e.g., a RIF), if in reality the employer acted for a prohibited reason (e.g., retaliation for exercising a protected right), then its asserted legitimate reason for the RIF and its ostensibly nondiscriminatory selection criteria as to who gets RIFed cannot insulate it from liability. As Judge Posner wrote in the context of ADA disability discrimination, "[a] RIF is not an open sesame to discrimination against a disabled person. Even if the employer has a compelling reason wholly unrelated to the disabilities of any of its employees to reduce the size of its work force, this does not entitle it to use the occasion as a convenient opportunity to get rid of its disabled workers." Matthews v. Commonwealth Edison Co., 128 F.3d 1194, 1195 (7th Cir.1997) (citation omitted). Nor can it be an opportunity to get rid of workers who exercise their FMLA right to take medical leave for serious medical conditions. See 29 U.S.C. § 2615(a).

OHIO LAW IS CLEAR ON THIS SUBJECT (so I'm sure it will be in areas in which other violations have occurred)

> Skrjanc v. Great Lakes Power Service Co., 272 F.3d 309 (C.A.6.Ohio,2001) - Employee presented prima facie case of retaliatory discharge under FMLA by showing that he availed himself of protected right by notifying employer of his intent to take leave, that he was adversely affected by employment decision when he was discharged, and that there was proximity in time between employee's request for leave and his discharge. Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993, § 102(a)(1)(D), 29 U.S.C.A. § 2612(a)(1)(D).

> Hollingsworth v. Time Warner Cable, 812 N.E.2d 976 (Ohio.App.1.Dist.Hamilton.Co., 2004) - To establish a prima facie case of discrimination under the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA), an employee must demonstrate that (1) she was a member of a protected class, (2) she suffered an adverse employment action, (3) she was qualified for the position that she lost, and (4) she was replaced by a person outside the > protected class, or a comparable nonprotected person was treated better. Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993, § 2 et seq., 29 U.S.C.A. § 2601 et seq.

> Zechar v. Ohio Dept. of Edn., 782 N.E.2d 163 (Ohio.Ct.Cl.,2002) - An employee can prove Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) retaliation circumstantially, using the method of proof established in McDonnell Douglas, and thus, to establish a prima facie case of retaliation circumstantially, employee must show that she exercised rights afforded by the FMLA, that she suffered an adverse employment action, and that there was a causal connection between her exercise of rights and the adverse employment action. Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993, § 2 et seq., 29 U.S.C.A. § 2601 et seq.

So to deprive me medical coverage which I am certain will be proven was provided to white employees similarly situated for hopes of dragging out the process, is clearly UNACCEPTABLE – Negligence, Malice, etc. (COMPENSATORY, PUNITIVE DAMAGES, is looking good now – especially when the violations rendered me is within the firms area of speciality). Remember Wood & Lamping has a duty to mitigate damages.

7. PRETEXT on the part of Wood & Lamping can also be shown. I believe a reasonable mind and/or jury may conclude that its taking of my Policies and Procedures Manual was deliberate, willful and malicious. Moreover, done to cover up unlawful/illegal practices. Clearly prior to my termination Wood & Lamping had premeditated, calculated and well-hatched plan to cover-up their retaliatory and discriminatory practices. Such acts which are clearly unacceptable. Thank goodness I decided to make a copy of the Policies and Procedures Manual as well as keep my copy of the binder provided at the Seminar Julie Pugh and Heath Walsh conducted. Even the laws are aware how shady employers are in attempting to cover-up such unlawful/illegal acts. No I believe I have a valid claim.

8. It is going to be interesting to find out why others (white) felt comfortable acknowledging bringing Complaints and wanting feedback; however, when I presented mine, how Wood & Lamping retaliated; moreover, subjected to discriminatory treatment - which ultimately resulted in my termination.

9. Elimination of my job – taking away of my job duties were merely acts orchestrated by Wood & Lamping to mask their unlawful/illegal practices (discrimination and retaliation and knowledge of my engagement in protected activities). The Policies and Procedures Manual clearly states no employee engaging in protected activities would be discriminated and/or retaliated against; however, that was not the case. Again, who am I - just let a jury decide.

10. While you mentioned economic times contributing to Wood & Lamping's decision, that is also up to a jury to decide. Let them release their financial information and of course a great deal of other information as it relates to the information they relied upon to reach their decision. Let the jury decide whether or not my termination was for non-discriminatory reasons. I really do not think so. However, that is not up to me to decide.

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE, that I had a call from the doctor's office (after my phone conversation with you) advising that because of my condition, the aggressive treatment discussed is required. Not only that, it looks as though the recovery period will require a great deal of time. The proper paperwork (if needed) to comply with the FMLA and privacy guidelines can be provided if need be.

As you have been advised, I have begun the process in the filing of the applicable charges; however, this does not relieve Wood & Lamping from mitigating damages.

Sincerely,

Denise Newsome

RE: MEDICAL COVERAGE - CONCERNS DISCRIMINATION UNDER FMLA AND COBRA VIOLATIONS

Dear Paul:

This will confirm receipt of your voicemail message on yesterday which was cut off and our telephone conversation on today in regards to the above referenced matter.

From my understanding of the conversation, Wood & Lamping (Andrea) acknowledges that I advised of my request regarding medical procedure I discussed with her. At this time, Wood & Lamping is willing to extend me medical coverage under COBRA where they will make the payments. However, in exchange for such agreement, I would be required to sign a Release relinquishing all rights that I may have to bring charges and/or lawsuit against Wood & Lamping for any injury/harm I sustained from violations – i.e. wrongful discharge, retaliation, racial discrimination, etc. As I shared with you, my main focus right now is getting the medical procedure done that I was advised of any other relief I seek will be done in the applicable time permitted by statute/laws.

HOWEVER, PLEASE LET ME REITERATE, it is Wood & Lamping's duty and responsibility to mitigate damages – that includes continuing medical coverage and/or benefits – in the showing of good faith (not in continuance of bad faith or malicious behavior, etc. to cause me additional injury/harm).

ARB CASE NO. 04-082

DATE: September 14, 2004

BEFORE: THE ADMINISTRATIVE REVIEW BOARD

FINAL DECISION AND ORDER

BACKGROUND

This case arises from a complaint filed by the Complainant, Vogel Newsome, against the Respondent, Mitchell, McNutt & Sams, P.A., for unpaid wages pursuant to the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA), 29 U.S.C.A. § 201 (West 1998). On March 19, 2004, the District Director of the Jackson, Mississippi office of the Department of Labor Wage and Hour Division issued a letter to the Complainant, notifying her that he found no violation of the FLSA and that the Wage and Hour Division would take no further action. On April 16, 2004, the Administrative Review Board (ARB) received a petition for review from the Complainant requesting the ARB to review the Wage and Hour Division's determination.

Because it did not appear from the face of the petition for review that the ARB had jurisdiction of the matter, the ARB ordered the Complainant to show cause why her petition for review should not be dismissed for lack of jurisdiction. The ARB explained,

EXHIBIT
87

"To show cause, the Complainant must demonstrate how her petition for review falls under this Board's jurisdiction to review decisions made by the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division (or an authorized agent of the Administrator) under Section 4 of the Secretary's delegation of authority to the ARB."[1]

The Complainant filed a response to the Show Cause Order on July 7, 2004. For the following reasons we conclude that the ARB does not have jurisdiction to consider Newsome's petition for review.

DISCUSSION

The Secretary of Labor established the ARB to issue final decisions for the Secretary in cases arising under a limited number of specified statutory provisions. Secretary's Order 1-2002, 67 Fed. Reg. 64272 (Oct. 17, 2002). Accordingly, the ARB's jurisdiction to issue such decisions is limited to the statutory provisions specifically enumerated. In this case, Newsome appeals a decision issued by the Department of Labor's Wage and Hour Division. The Secretary of Labor has delegated authority to the ARB to review final decisions of the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division or an approved agent of the Administrator[2] under:

> (1) The Davis-Bacon Act, as amended (40 U.S.C. 276a et seq.); any laws now existing or which may be subsequently enacted, providing for prevailing wages determined by the Secretary of Labor in accordance with or pursuant to the Davis-Bacon Act; the Contract Work Hours and Safety Standards Act (40 U.S.C. 327 et seq.) (except matters pertaining to safety); the Copeland Act (40 U.S.C. 276c); Reorganization Plan No. 14 of 1950; and 29 CFR parts 1, 3, 5, 6, subpart C and D.
>
> b. Final decisions of the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division or an authorized representative of the Administrator, and from decisions of ALJ, arising under the McNamara-O'Hara Service Contract Act, as amended (41 U.S.C. 351); the Contract Work Hours and Safety Standards Act (40 U.S.C. 327 et seq.) (except matters

---

[1] See Secretary's Order 1-2002, Delegation of Authority and Assignment of Responsibility to the Administrative Review Board, 67 Fed. Reg. 64272 (Oct. 17, 2002).

[2] The Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division did not sign the letter of which Newsome seeks review, nor does the letter purport to be a final decision of the Administrator. Given our conclusion that the ARB does not have jurisdiction of this case in any event, it is not necessary for us to determine whether the letter was a final decision by an authorized agent of the Administrator.

> pertaining to safety) where the contract is also subject to the McNamara-O'Hara Service Contract Act; and 29 CFR parts 4, 5, 6, subparts B, D, E.

Secretary's Order 1-2002, 67 Fed. Reg. 64272 (Oct. 17, 2002). Thus, the Secretary has delegated to the Board the jurisdiction to review final decisions of the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division only in cases arising under the statutes specified and these specified statutes do not include the FLSA.

In support of her argument that the ARB has jurisdiction of her appeal, Newsome contends that the ARB's statement in the Order to Show Cause that its jurisdiction is limited to those statutes enumerated in the Secretary's Delegation of Authority is belied by information posted on the ARB's website that states, "the Secretary delegated directly to the Administrative Review Board the authority of the Secretary of Labor and other deciding officials to issue final agency decisions under a broad range of Federal labor laws." Response to Show Cause (Resp.) at 4. The two statements are not contradictory. The variety of the subject matters of the statutes under which the ARB issues decisions for the Secretary is indeed quite broad, including, for example, environmental, airline, nuclear energy, trucking and airline whistleblower protections, federal contracts for construction and services, child labor protection, migrant and seasonal worker protection and H-1B non-immigrant employee protections. However, the Board's jurisdiction is in fact "limited," in that the Board may only issue decisions for the Secretary as specified in the Secretary's delegation of authority to the Board.[3]

Newsome also argues that Section 4(c)(10)-(13) of the Secretary's Order delegates to the Board authority to review decisions in cases arising under specified sections of the FLSA and its regulations. However, even if Newsome's claim fell within these enumerated sections and regulations, Section 4(c)'s delegation to the Board is limited to review of "[d]ecisions and recommended decisions by ALJs" in such cases. Newsome has petitioned for review of the letter of a Wage and Hour District Director, not from the decision of an ALJ. Therefore Section 4(c)(10)-(13) does not delegate authority to the Board to review the District Director's letter as requested by Newsome.

[3] Newsome notes that the Board neglected to include a copy of the Secretary's Order of delegation with the Show Cause Order. The Board apologizes for any inconvenience caused by this omission and the necessity for Newsome to obtain a copy from the Department of Labor's website.

CONCLUSION

In response to the Board's Show Cause Order, Newsome has failed to demonstrate, nor is the Board cognizant of, any basis for asserting jurisdiction in this case. Consequently, we DISMISS the petition for review.[4]

SO ORDERED.

FLSA NARRATIVE REPORT

Ms Newsome was interviewed (Exhibit B-3) during the course of this investigation. This supplemented her 26 page "Amended Retaliation Complaint"

Evidence: Interviews of Supervisor Robert Gordon, Attorney Mike Farrell, and Secretary, Ladye Margaret Townsend revealed that Ms Newsome had been rebellious and insubordinate in job duties assigned to her from the start of her employment.

[redacted] interview (Exhibit [redacted]) stated that every since Ms Newsome was hired she been looking for a way to get fired to pursue a law suit. She further confirmed the event in which the baseball cap was worn and supervisor Gordon requested Ms Newsome to remove it and she was insubordinate. (Exhibit D-11…D-11-a) After this incident Ms Newsome began working on whether she was paid properly. According to [redacted], Newsome spent hours on research on this matter. She further confirmed that the firm did all they could to alleviate any concerns Ms Newsome had about by being paid properly under FLSA. (Exhibit D-8…D-8-h)

[redacted] Newsome disagreed with Attorney Farrell and told Cochanuer and Townsend she was going to contact Wage Hour. [redacted] didn't know if Newsome did on not because nothing came of it. [redacted] further confirmed other events of insubordination.

Court of Appeals

Judge
DONNA M. BARNES
District 1, Position 2

Court of Appeals Judge Donna M. Barnes of Tupelo was appointed by Governor Haley Barbour on July 26, 2004, to a vacancy on the court. In November 2006, Judge Barnes was elected unopposed to serve the remaining four years of this term.

Born in Natchez, Judge Barnes earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1982 from the University of Mississippi, summa cum laude, with majors in classical civilizations and English.

Judge Barnes obtained her Juris Doctorate from the University of Mississippi School of Law, where she graduated magna cum laude in 1985. She was a member of Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity and a research editor of Mississippi Law Journal. Judge Barnes is a member of the University of Mississippi Lamar Order.

For more than 18 years, Judge Barnes practiced law with Mitchell, McNutt and Sams in Tupelo with concentrations in appellate practice, real estate, health care, employment discrimination, section 1983 litigation and professional liability defense.

In 1996, she took sabbatical to study law at the University of Cambridge, where she was one of three American students in the LL.M. program which that year admitted 152 attorneys from 48 countries. Her studies included international commercial litigation, comparative public law, international human rights, and law and practice of civil liberties. A member of Magdalene College, Judge Barnes earned her Master of Law from the University of Cambridge in 1997.

Admitted to the practice of law in Mississippi in 1985, Judge Barnes is qualified to practice before the United States Supreme Court, the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit, the United States District Courts for the Northern and Southern Districts of Mississippi, and all Mississippi state courts. She is a member of the Mississippi Bar and the Lee County Bar Association. She has served as president of both the Lee County Bar Association and the Lee County Young Lawyers Association. She is a graduate of Leadership Lee County and a member of the Tupelo Main Street Association "E-Club."

Egypt's Opposition Leaders Sound Off on Upcoming Obama Visit

12/05/2009

By Mohammed Abdul-Raouf

Cairo, Asharq Al-Awsat- The Announcement of the anticipated visit to Egypt by US President Barak Obama has stirred controversy among Egypt's political opposition leaders, who have played down the significance of the visit. The Egyptian Embassy in Washington welcomed the visit. The Muslim Brotherhood said that President Obama's visit to Egypt is of no value, while the opposition Wafd party and the Grouping Party said the visit constitutes reconciliation with Cairo and provides an opportunity to turn a new page in relations. The Kifayah movement played down the importance of the visit, saying it did not pin much hope on it.

Ina statement to Asharq Al-Awsat, Muhammad Habib, first deputy to the general guide of the Muslim Brotherhood, said: "The US Administration employs all cards to serve its own interests." He said that the speech that Obama intends to deliver in Egypt is "of no value." He added: "Statements and speeches must be associated with, or preceded by real change in policy on the ground, because policy is judged by deeds, not words."

Habib said that there should be two axes in the Middle East, one that includes Egypt, Iran, and Turkey, and another that includes Egypt, Saudi Arabia, and Syria. He said: "In both axes Egypt should be the base and the spearhead in handling all thorny issues in the Middle East, and it should deny any opportunity for interference by Israel, the United States, or any Western power."

For his part, George Ishaq, assistant to the general coordinator of the Egyptian Movement for Change, "Kifayah," downplayed the importance of President Obama's visit to Egypt as well as his speech to the Muslim world. He said that the US policy will not change after Obama's visit to Egypt and the speech he will deliver to the Muslim world. He told Asharq Al-Awsat that "Washington's policy will continue to support despotic regimes because they prefer stability to democracy, as former US Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice said." He pointed out that relations between Washington and Cairo are based on interest and benefit, and that Obama's speech has no value. He added: "We do not pin much on hope on his visit though we wish the visit would mark reconciliation and accord with the peoples, not against them."

Dr Rifat al-Said, leader of the left-wing opposition Grouping Party, said Obama's visit to Egypt and delivering his speech in Cairo is no more than an attempt to placate the Egyptian side after a period of "mutual admonition" between Cairo and Washington during the era of former US President George Bush.

Robert Gibbs, the White House press spokesman, said the specific site for Obama's speech has not yet been selected, but noted that Egypt is a suitable country for the speech because, from many aspects, it represents the heart of the Arab world." At a new conference the day before yesterday, and in reply to a question on the [poor] human rights record in Egypt, Gibbs said: "The scope of the speech was more important than the leadership of the country in which it was given."

Samih Shukri, Egypt's ambassador to the United States, said that Egypt provides President Obama with an appropriate forum because of its large population, cultural traditions, and "moderate Islamic values." In a statement he released, he added: "The truth of Islam emanates from its moderation, not extremism. Egypt hopes that Obama's speech will be a key element in the United States's relations with the Muslim world." He added: "It is important for America's relations with the Muslim would to rely on mutual respect and understanding. Egypt is ready to work with President Obama and his administration to achieve this goal in keeping with our long-time friendship.

The White House said that President Obama's visit to Egypt was not at the invitation of the Egyptian government. It should be recalled that Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak will visit Washington before the end of this month. Gibbs said that President Obama's message is aimed not just at the Arabs, but Muslims throughout the world. He gave as example Indonesia, where President Obama spent part of his childhood and which has the world's largest Muslim population.

Before his inauguration as president on 20 January, President Obama had expressed a desire to improve the US image in the world, particularly the Muslim world. In his inauguration speech, he proposed "a new approach based on mutual interest and respect." Obama's speech in Egypt will follow his speech in Turkey in which he spoke of the importance of improving relations between the two parties, and stressed that his country "is not at war with Islam."

Obama had earlier stated that he intended to speak to a major Muslim forum in the first 100 days after his inauguration, if he were to be elected. However, the first 100 days passed on 30 April without delivering his speech. US officials said that the US president's busy schedule and his first

MEMORANDUM

TO: WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

FROM: Robert K. Lansden
Vice President

DATE: July 11, 1996

RE: VOGEL D. NEWSOME

This letter is to confirm and recommend Ms. Vogel Newsome to a position of Executive Assistant, Administrative or greater. While working with Lash Marine, she performed the duties of Executive Assistant with skill and energy. Her spirit and motivation acted as a beacon of light to others. Her leadership and training of others was a great service. Always willing to share; she possess a unique ability to teach complex skills to the beginner and bring them quickly up to speed. In addition, being a caring and concerned citizen she put aside her time to train and work with Training, Inc. employees to develop their office skills for a better future.

She is an asset and will be sorely missed at Lash Marine.

RE: Vogel Newsome

Dear Ms. Sanders:

This letter follows-up my telephone conversation with your office on August 15, 2003. As you know, Bill Purdy and I just recently formed this firm. I left another firm to start this one. After leaving my previous firm, I needed a temporary secretary. For the last several weeks your office provided us with Ms. Vogel Newsome.

I have been very, very pleased with Vogel, not only in terms of her work product, but also in terms of her attitude and personality. I would rate her as one of the best legal secretaries with whom I have ever worked. I would highly recommend her to any one who is looking for a full-time legal secretary. If my previous secretary were not rejoining me, I would want Vogel to be my new permanent secretary.

If any one would care to discuss Vogel with me, please do not hesitate to give them my name and number. I will be more than happy to talk with them.

I am not certain of the exact day when my previous secretary will rejoin me. It could be immediately, or, it could be a couple of weeks. In light of that, we would like to request that we be allowed to continue to work with Vogel until further notice. However, the last thing I want to do is have Vogel miss another good opportunity that might lead to permanent employment. Therefore, if she must be reassigned, I will understand, but grudgingly so.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to give me a call.

Sincerely yours,

RE: Denise Newsome Letter of Recommendation

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

I was first introduced to Ms. Newsome over five (5) years ago. Since that time, she has been a Woman of integrity and intelligence. Ms. Newsome always has presented herself in a professional manner and has always addressed me and others with the uttermost of respect. Ms. Newsome outgoing personality and personal strengths would make her an excellent additional to anyone's staff. I have had the opportunity to work with Ms. Newsome and she has demonstrated flexibility in working outside of her field of endeavor and doing an excellent job is a strong indicator of how well she will do in her chosen field of endeavor. Ms. Newsome demonstrated a willingness to perform any task assigned to her promptly and correctly with little supervision. Ms. Newsome is a very pleasant person to associate with, works as a team player, and would truly be an ASSET to your organization because she is the best one for the job.

Thank you,

To: Vogel Newsome

Vogel, First and foremost, you are doing an excellent job. These are just a few things that I thought of that might save us both some time and help things flow smoother.

1. Pleadings. All pleadings shall be double-spaced unless I say otherwise.

2. Discovery. When filing interrogatories, requests for production of documents and requests for admissions, we retain the originals and the copies go to the attorneys. The Notice of Service only is filed with the Court, not the actual pleadings.

3. When I say prepare discovery for filing, that means to include the Notice of Service as well as the letter to the clerk.

4. Spell check. Please run spell check on all drafts. Also, please proof all drafts of dictation before you bring to me. This is the VERY important. I understand that I produce a lot of work and you also work with another associate but, I always prefer quality to quantity. My work product reflects directly on me and PKH so it must be done correctly.

5. JDH. Please copy JDH on all correspondence in his cases.
TYP. Do not copy or blind copy him on anything unless I specifically ask you to.

6. Caselist. Please keep my caselist updated and complete. Remember to remove any case that we settle or close.

7. Page numbers should not go on the first page of pleadings. Remember to suppress the page number on the first page.

8. Filing. Filing should be done for me on a weekly basis. It is harder to catch up once the stack piles up. If you will put the file cart in my office I will be happy to place the filing as it comes in, in the appropriate folder.

9. Timesheets. It is imperative that time is entered timely as to alleviate any fines. You are doing a wonderful job at this.

11. Dictation. If you get behind on dictation, please let me know. I don't or won't know unless you tell me.

12. Phone Calls. On most occasions, phone calls from adjuster, other attorneys, etc. go to my voice mail, but if they go to you it is very important to get complete info. If it is an adjuster, make every attempt to get what they need. Also, do not put an adjuster on hold. Adjusters are how we get cases, we must keep them happy.

Please let me know if you have questions or the work gets overwhelming. If so, we can work together to prioritize and make your life easier. Thanks again for all your hard work. SOC

Doc. # 19970890

August 28, 1997

RECEIVED
AUG 29 1997
BOBBIE STERNE

Ms. Bobbie Sterne
Member of City Council
City Hall
801 Plum Street
Cincinnati, Ohio 45202

Dear Ms. Stern:

As you may be aware, I represent the Queensgate Civic Association, a group of property and business owners who have made substantial financial commitments to the Queensgate area. For your information, I am enclosing herewith a copy of the directory of the Queensgate Civic Association, identifying most of its members.

I have been retained by the Queensgate Civic Association to attempt to present an informed and coherent position with regard to the sexually oriented business overlay zone proposed to be located in Queensgate. I presented my comments orally to the Planning Commission at their August 22, 1997 meeting, but unfortunately, I will be unable to be present at the Urban Development Committee and full Council meetings on September 3 and 4, 1997, since I will be out of town.

Briefly, our position is that the concentration of sexually oriented businesses into one district runs counter to the lawful objectives of zoning in general and the stated objectives of the proposed legislation in particular. As you know, zoning is an exercise of the police power, permitted in order to promote and preserve the health, safety and welfare of the community. On the other hand, according to the premises upon which the zoning regulation of sexually oriented business is based, the concentration of sexually oriented businesses has a demonstrated secondary effect of increasing crime rates and decreasing property values in such an area. The establishment of a sexually oriented business zone in one area as a "combat zone" or "dumping ground" would thus run counter to the public health, safety and welfare and result in increased crime and decreased property values in the area where the zone is located. Indeed, property owners could have a case of inverse condemnation against the City if their property values were sufficiently decreased by the establishment and development of a sexually oriented business zone in their vicinity. In such a case, the City would clearly have decided to sacrifice the property values of those in the district for the supposed benefit of the broader population of the City.

We do not disagree, however, that is in the interest of the health, safety and welfare of Cincinnati to enact valid time, place and manner restrictions with respect to sexually oriented business uses. We believe the current interim development control regulations indicate the appropriate direction in which such regulation should proceed. Stated simply, we believe that a valid solution to the problem of how to regulate sexually oriented businesses will be to provide that such businesses, as defined and regulated in Chapter 899 of the Cincinnati Municipal Code, are conditional uses in M2 and M3 zones throughout the City, subject to approval as conditional uses by the Director of Buildings and Inspections in accordance with approval standards specifying required location distances from other sexually oriented businesses and from other types of uses. I have taken the liberty of preparing a proposed Ordinance enacting such provisions, copies of which I provided to the members of the Planning Commission on August 22, 1997, and a further copy of which I herewith enclose.

Please bear in mind that while there may appear to be a dearth of residences in the Queensgate area, many of the people who operate and work at businesses there, and many of those who own property there, are residents and voters of the City of Cincinnati. They, and I, will certainly appreciate your attentive consideration to our position.

Respectfully,

William B. Singer

HAMILTON COUNTY MUNICIPAL COURT
HAMILTON COUNTY, OHIO

STOR-ALL ALFRED, LLC 1109 Alfred Street Cincinnati, Ohio Plaintiff	:	CASE NO.: 09CV01690
vs.	:	DEFENDANT'S ANSWER TO COMPLAINT FOR FORCIBLE ENTRY AND DETAINER; NOTIFICATION ACCOMPANYING COUNTER-CLAIM; COUNTER-CLAIM AND DEMAND FOR JURY TRIAL[1]
Denise V. Newsome Post Office Box 14731 Cincinnati, Ohio 45250 Defendant	:

COMES NOW Defendant, named as Denise V. Newsome ("Defendant") and presents this, her Answer to Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer; Notification Accompanying Counter-Claim; Counter-Claim and Demand for Jury Trial in the above referenced matter. In support thereof, Defendant states:

DEFENDANT'S ANSWER TO COMPLAINT FOR FORCIBLE ENTRY AND DETAINER

FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF:

1. Defendant denies the allegation contained in Paragraph 1 of Plaintiff's Complaint. Without waiving said denial, Defendant has no knowledge of Plaintiff, Stor-All Alfred, LLC ("Stor-All" or "Plaintiff"), being the owner (not "owner and landlord" of the "premises located at 1109 Alfred Street, Cincinnati, Hamilton County, Ohio 45214." This appears to be a factual assertion and/or allegation by Stor-All and a discoverable issue; however, Stor-All has presented no evidence to support its ownership of said premises. In its craftiness in the use of the pen, Stor-All is attempting to mislead this Court and the Defendant by intentionally and purposefully omitting the fact that it is not Defendant's landlord. Furthermore, Stor-All has failed to present any factual documentation/evidence (i.e. Rental Agreement) to support its assertion that Defendant is a tenant of it. There is no contract, lease and/or rental agreement between Stor-All and

[1] Boldface, Italics and Underline added for emphasis. Legal Resource materials utilized: American Jurisprudence Pleading and Practice Forms, Ohio Jurisprudence 3d, West's Ohio Digest, Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure, etc.)

EXHIBIT 104

Defendant. Said allegation by Stor-All is merely words and its abuse of process of the judicial process and/or legal process.

2. Defendant denies the allegation set forth in Paragraph 2 of Plaintiff's Complaint. Without waiving said denial, this again appears to be a factual assertion accusing Defendant of being "in default of her rental agreement for failure to pay rent." However, Stor-All has failed to produce the rental agreement it relies upon because no such rental agreement exist between Stor-All and the Defendant. Said allegation by Stor-All is merely words and its abuse of process of the judicial process and/or legal process.

3. Defendant denies the allegation set forth in Paragraph 3 of Plaintiff's Complaint. Without waiving said denial, Defendant is in receipt of a "NOTICE TO LEAVE THE PREMISES" mailed to her on or about January 9, 2009 and not January 9, 2008. In said document Stor-All identifies itself as "Landlord: Stor-All Alfred, LLC. . .;" however, has failed to produce any factual documentation to assert such a claim. Stor-All has failed as alleged "Landlord" to provide any evidence to sustain a Landlord and Tenant relationship because no such relationship exist between Stor-All and the Defendant; moreover, no such document to sustain such an allegation. Stor-All was not authorized by Ohio statutes/laws to execute and/or serve such a notice identifying itself as Defendant's landlord. Such action by Stor-All may be implied as being done with deceit and fraudulent intent. Furthermore, said action of Stor-All in the service of such notice, is an abuse of process of the judicial process and/or legal process.

4. Defendant denies the allegation set forth in Paragraph 4 of Plaintiff's Complaint. Without waiving said denial, Stor-All has presented no factual documentation to support a contract between it and Defendant. In Paragraphs 2 and 4, Stor-All alleges Defendant has been in default "From and after, April 1, 2008;" then, asserts in Paragraph 4, "Defendant has, since Janury 19, 2009, unlawfully and forcibly detained from the Plaintiff possession of the above-described premises;" however, presents no factual documentation to support such allegations. Defendant on July 27, 2007, entered into a Rental Agreement with Crown Storage-Camp Washington for the storage unit located at 1109 Alfred Street, Cincinnati, Ohio 45214; therefore, Defendant is in legal possession of storage "Unit 173." See EXHIBIT "1" – Rental Agreement attached hereto and incorporated by reference. Said Agreement being provided to the Defendant by Stor-All upon request. There is no contractual and/or rental agreement between Stor-All and Defendant. Said allegation by Stor-All is merely words and its abuse of process of the judicial process and/or legal process.

SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF:

Defendant incorporates herein by reference her answers set forth in Paragraphs 1 through 4 above as if fully restated and/or set forth herein. Defendant further states in response:

5. Defendant denies the allegation set forth in Paragraph 5 of Plaintiff's Complaint. Without waiving said denial, Defendant denies that she "is indebted to Plaintiff for rent and late fees in the amount of $552.39." Moreover, while Stor-All makes such allegation and/or assertion, it has presented no evidence to sustain the debt it alleges it is entitled to. Stor-All alleges Defendant owes the debt; however, has failed; (a) to prove that there is such a debt – has provided no documentation to sustain such a claim and/or that Plaintiff had agreed to such or obtained any such services warranting such charges, (b) how it arrived at said debt; and (c) its entitlement to said debt. Said allegation by Stor-All is merely words and its abuse of process of the judicial process and/or legal process.

6. Defendant denies the allegation set forth in the unnumbered Paragraph following Paragraph 5 which begins, "WHEREFORE, Plaintiff demands restitution and recovery of said Premises" in Stor-All's Complaint. Without waiving said denial, it is important for this Court to know that Stor-All and/or others have unlawfully and illegally seized the Premises it seeks this Court's intervention on. Executing and enforcing its own self-made forcible entry and detainer action over the Defendant's objections. Moreover, as a matter of law, Stor-All, its agents, representatives, etc. are not entitled to the relief sought in said Paragraph. Therefore, this Court is to deny the relief Stor-All is seeking. Said allegation by Stor-All is merely words and its abuse of process of the judicial process and/or legal process.

7. Defendant denies the allegation set forth in the unnumbered Paragraph that is blocked bearing a title, "NOTICE UNDER THE FAIR DEBT COLLECTION PRACTICES ACT." Without waiving said denial, Stor-All, its agents, representatives, etc. are not entitled to the debt they allege is owed by the Defendant. Moreover, Stor-All, its agents, representatives, etc. is attempting to unlawfully and illegally collect a debt to which it knows is fraudulent and/or false. Stor-All is liable and subject to the injury/harm rendered and/or sustained by the Defendant for any bad faith actions – as its Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer filed in this lawsuit – to collect a debt to which it has full knowledge it is not entitled to. Said allegation by Stor-All is merely words and its abuse of process of the judicial process and/or legal process.

NOTIFICATION ACCOMPANYING COUNTER-CLAIM

FOR THE PURPOSES OF AVOIDING VEXATIOUS AND OPPRESSIVE LITIGATION, NEEDLESSLY INCREASING THE COST OF LITIGATION, ETC.: Plaintiff, Stor-All Alfred, LLC, is hereby NOTIFIED that should it elect to answer the Counter-Claim, that its responsive pleading shall comply with the Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure Rule 8[2] and/or the applicable laws governing said matters and those responses to Defendant's Counter-Claim:

[2] For reference purposes in preparation of Counter-Claim see legal source: Rule 8 General Rules of Pleadings – Wright & Miller Federal Practice and Procedure Civil 3d.

1. State in short and plain terms Stor-All's defenses to each claim asserted and shall admit or deny averments upon which it relies;

2. If Stor-All is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of an averment, it shall so state and this has the effect of a denial. However, said denials shall fairly meet the substance of the averments denied;

3. If Stor-All intend in good faith to deny only a part or qualification of an averment, then it shall specify so much of it as is true and material and shall deny only the remainder; and

4. Be subject to the provisions of Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure Rule 11. Stor-All's (which includes, its attorneys, representatives, agents, etc.) "failure to comply with Rule 11 is subject to possible disciplinary action." Stor-All's signing of pleading constitutes a certificate of the following:

    a. That the attorney (or party) has conducted a reasonable inquiry;

    b. That he or she is satisfied that the paper is well grounded in fact;

    c. That the pleading has a basis in existing law or that the attorney (or party) has a good faith argument to amend or reverse existing law;

    d. That the pleading is not interposed for any improper purpose, such as harassment, delay, or needless increase of his opponent's costs of litigation.

. . . If the pleading or other paper is signed in violation of this Rule, appropriate sanctions shall be imposed by the court on motion or on its own initiative. Sanctions may include an order to pay the other party the amount of reasonable expenses caused by the violation, including reasonable attorney fees.[3]

Stor-All is hereby further NOTIFIED that:

5. It is to familiarize and/or acquaint itself with the Rules governing responsive pleadings. Answers such as "failure to state a claim," "lack of subject matter jurisdiction," provided for purposes of misrepresentation,

[3] For reference purposes in preparation of Counter-Claim see legal source: Niles Federal Civil Procedure 7.530 Signing of Pleadings, Motions and Other Papers.

delay of proceedings, obstruction of justice, etc. will be subject to the provisions of Rule 11.[4]

6. If Stor-All's answer is not sufficiently definite in nature to give reasonable notice of the allegations in the Counter-Claim sought to be placed in issue, the Defendant's, Denise Newsome's ("Defendant"), averments may be treated as admitted (i.e. a corporate defendant's denial of "each and every allegation" did not give "plain notice.").[5]

7. A denial of knowledge or information requires that Stor-All not only lack first-hand knowledge of the necessary facts involved, but also that Stor-All lack information upon which it reasonably could form a personal belief concerning the truth of the Defendant's allegations.[6]

8. Normally, Stor-All may not assert lack of knowledge or information if the necessary facts or data involved are within Stor-All's knowledge or easily brought within its knowledge – (i.e. An answer denying information as to the truth or falsity of a matter necessarily within the knowledge of the party's managing officers is a sham, and will be treated as an admission of allegation of the Counter-Claim.[7])

9. An averment, that Stor-All is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to matters that are of common knowledge or of with it can inform itself with the slightest effort, will be treated as patently false and the effect and purpose will be taken as such to merely delay justice.[8]

10. If Stor-All's Answer to the Counter-Claim is not incompliance with the rules and/or laws governing responsive pleadings and/or said matters, the applicable Motion to Strike the Answer will be filed and request for the proper relief (i.e. sanctions against Stor-All and/or its attorney [if applicable]) will be sought.

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE: That Defendant's Counter-Claim has been filed in good faith and has been drafted to save time and costs and/or expenses. Defendant can only hope that Stor-All will allow wisdom to prevail.

Stor-All is also NOTIFIED that unless it serves and file a written response to the Counter-Claim within the specified time allowed, the Defendant will seek judgment of and against it by default for the relief demanded in the Counter-Claim.

DEFENDANT'S COUNTER-CLAIM and DEMAND FOR JURY TRIAL

COMES NOW Defendant, Denise V. Newsome – a/k/a Denise Newsome ("Defendant") having answered and providing defense to Plaintiff's, Stor-All Alfred, LLC's ("Stor-All" or "Plaintiff"), Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer, and without waiving said defenses thereof, files this her Counter-Claim and Demand for Jury Trial.

Defendant herein incorporates Paragraphs 1 through 7 of Defendant's Answer to Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer as if set forth in full herein and reiterates her non-waiver of the denials therein stated.

Statement of Facts:

1. On or about July 27, 2007, Defendant entered into a Rental Agreement with Crown Storage-Camp Washington ("Crown Storage"). See EXHIBIT "1" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein.

2. Crown Storage at all times mentioned was the owner and/or landlord according to the Rental Agreement (Lease No. 2543) entered into with the Defendant.

3. On July 27, 2007, Defendant was lawfully possessed of a certain storage Unit Numbered 173 located at 1109 Alfred Street, Cincinnati, Ohio, Hamilton County, Ohio and lawfully possessed and owned the personal property placed in and/or contained therein.

4. Defendant rented the storage unit from Crown Storage for $29.82 per month and the rental contract was in full force and in effect at all times mentioned.

5. Nothing in the Rental Agreement between Crown Storage and Defendant states how such matters involving the property being sold during the Defendant's tenancy should be handled. Defendant did not agree to be bound by any terms and conditions of said Rental Agreement upon Crown Storage through a sale of its property to another.

6. Under the Rental Agreement between Crown Storage and Defendant no problem arose regarding unpaid rent. Defendant made payments in compliance with the terms and conditions of the Rental Agreement entered into with Crown Storage.

7. Defendant has duly performed all conditions, covenants, and promises required to be performed by her under the Rental Agreement entered into with Crown Storage under its terms and conditions, except for those acts which have been prevented, delayed or excused by acts or omissions of Stor-All and Crown Storage.

8. For approximately eight (8) months under the Rental Agreement between Crown Storage and Defendant, Crown Storage had no problems in obtaining rent payment from Defendant.

9. In April 2008, Stor-All unlawfully entered and seized the storage unit and property of the Defendant. Said acts are in violation of within meaning of RC § 5321.04 of the Landlord and Tenant Act.

10. Problems arose with the Defendant's rental of her storage unit after Stor-All's assertion of entitlement of Defendant's rent and unlawful seizure of her property and denial of access to said unit and property.

11. As a direct and proximate result of Stor-All's constructive eviction of Defendant from the premises, Defendant suffers from mental anguish and pain, all to Defendants general damage to be determined by a jury.

12. Stor-All's constructive eviction of Defendant from the premises and the unlawful/illegal seizure of her storage unit and property were retaliatory, oppressive and malicious within the meaning of RC §5321.03, in that it has subjected the Defendant to cruel and unjust hardship, harassment, threats, etc. in willful and conscious disregard of Defendant's rights, entitling Defendant to an award of punitive damages within meaning of RC §521.12.

13. As a further proximate result of Stor-All's conduct as alleged in its Complaint and in this Counter-Complaint, Defendant will incur moving expenses and additional increase in storage cost in an amount to be determined.

14. Defendant made it verbally known and in writing she was not interested with leasing with Stor-All. Neither was she interested in entering a Rental Agreement with Stor-All. As evidenced in the file of Stor-All regarding the Defendant, the "STOR-

ALL LEASE AGREEMENT" to date remains unexecuted. See EXHIBIT "2" attached hereto and incorporated by reference.

15. In or about April 2008, Stor-All claimed that Defendant went into default. When Defendant submitted payment for her storage unit, it was rejected by Stor-All. Payment was submitted under the terms and agreement of the Rental Agreement between Crown Storage and the Defendant. Defendant advised of her objections. When Defendant advised wanting to retrieve her property, Stor-All denied her request and demanded that she pay monies for rent and late fees and lien charges applied.

16. In or about April 2008, Stor-All forcibly seized the Defendant's storage unit. Defendant did not authorize and/or agree to such forcible seizure.

17. In or about April 2008, Stor-All and Stor-All's agent(s), representative(s), etc. unlawfully invaded the Defendant's storage unit. Defendant did not authorize and/or agree to such invasion.

18. In or about April 2008, Stor-All and Stor-All's agent(s), representative(s), etc. forcibly seized the Defendant's storage unit and prevented, interfered, refused and denied Defendant access to her storage unit unless she gave it money.

19. Since April 2008, Defendant's right to her storage unit was striped away from her without legal and/or statutory authority by Stor-All. Defendant has not been to her storage unit for approximately ten (10) months because of the unlawful/illegal actions of Stor-All.

20. On December 9, 2008, Stor-All's representative, Lori Whiteside ("Whiteside"), contacted Defendant at her place of employment by use of Defendant's employer's fax machine at (513) 852-6087. See EXHIBIT "3" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein.

21. On December 9, 2008, Whiteside contacted Defendant at her place of employment via facsimile at (513) 852-6087. Whiteside doing so without the authorization of the Defendant to correspond with her through her employer's fax number (513) 852-6087. Whiteside using said method of correspondence to place the Defendant's employer and Defendant's co-workers on notice as to the personal and private affairs of the Defendant. Whiteside knew and/or should have known that sending correspondence to Defendant's employer's fax number (513) 852-6087 would have been received by Defendant's employer and or Defendant's co-workers. The action of Whiteside was done with forethought and premeditation. The action of Whiteside was willful, malicious and wanton and was done with reckless regard to the rights and privacy of the Defendant.

22. On December 9, 2008, Defendant advised Whiteside of her objections in sending her correspondence to her employer at the fax number (513) 852-6087. Whiteside was provided with a fax number by the Defendant had she wanted to use this form of motion for communication; however, Whiteside with her own motives ignored the information provided by the Defendant and sent fax to the Defendant at a number not authorized by her. Through Defendant's correspondence to Whiteside, she placed Whiteside of her knowledge that sending of fax to employer's fax number (513) 852-6087 was ill motivated. Whiteside was advised of the emotional, mental anguish, etc. harm/injury sustained by Defendant. See EXHIBIT "4" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein.

23. On December 19, 2008, Whiteside advised the Defendant that Stor-All's file in the matter regarding her was being submitted to Stor-All's attorney, Dave Meranus in Cincinnati, Ohio. Whiteside withholding the name of the law firm in which Meranus was employed. Whiteside withholding name of law firm that Meranus was employed at because of knowledge and/or may have been made aware that Defendant was working with an attorney, Thomas J. Breed, who was formerly employed with Stor-All's counsel's law firm prior to coming to Defendant's employer, Wood & Lamping LLP. See EXHIBIT "5" attached hereto and incorporated herein by reference as if set forth in full herein.

24. Information as to the attorney(s) Defendant assisted could be heard when calling and listening to her voicemail message at her place of employment, Wood & Lamping LLP. Said information (i.e. name of law firm, attorneys she provided assistance to) was in Defendant's voicemail.

25. Whiteside was able to obtain the information regarding the Defendant's place of employment and the attorney(s) to which she assisted. Whiteside having called the Defendant at her place of employment and in failing to reach her, proceeded to call Defendant at home.

26. Whiteside advised Defendant she has a background in the legal field.

27. In the December 19, 2008 facsimile to Defendant, Whiteside also advised of Stor-All's plans scheduling an "amnesty weekend for January 9, 10, and 11, 2009." Said weekend would entail, "at which time we are going to have a moving truck and driver available for any of the tenants that wish to vacate the premises at absolutely no cost to the tenant." See Exhibit "5."

28. The amnesty weekend by Stor-All was done with willful and malicious intent to deprive the Defendant of any damages to which she may be entitled. The amnesty weekend by Stor-All was to release other tenants from such similar criminal and civil wrongs they had subjected the Defendant to. Stor-All's amnesty weekend was for the benefit of masking/ shielding its liability for the illegal/unlawful acts rendered the Defendant and perhaps others.

29. Stor-All having knowledge that it was in violation of the statutes/laws; however, failed to notify its tenants who elected to participate in the amnesty weekend scam, that they were waiving any right to seek damages of and against Stor-All if they elected to take Stor-All up on its frivolous and ill-motive good will offer.

30. On December 19, 2008, Defendant provided Whiteside with Ohio statutes/laws to advise her of the violations of Stor-All. To no avail. See EXHIBIT "6" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein.

31. On or about December 23, 2008, Defendant advised Whiteside of concerns that the amnesty weekend appeared to be "only in the interest of Stor-All alone." Defendant also advising knowledge that Stor-All was considering bringing a Forcible Entry and Detainer action. Stor-All only deciding to bring such an action upon being advised by Defendant that their threats (which lasted for several months) of Liens and her property being sold/auctioned were prohibited by the statutes/laws of Ohio. Whiteside having already confirmed that Defendant was right that they were not entitled to the "LIEN-actions" they repeatedly harassed her with. In Defendant's December 23, 2008, correspondence, Defendant provided Whiteside with a draft of a Complaint she is considering filing. See EXHIBIT "7" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein.

32. On or about December 23, 2008, Defendant advised Whiteside, "you are not a lawyer; the courts are here to interpret and enforce the laws. I am certain that the reason why Stor-All has not received rent is not due to any breach on my part. So let Stor-All move forward with their lawsuit and I will counter in that it is clear where the laws lie. The offer made was only what was in Stor-All's best interest, so let the Court(s) decide if it had a legal right to withhold my rent and continue to threaten me with liens – when I proved case law to support it was not entitle to such. The delay was not due to my part and neither was nonpayment for any contribution on my part, but all attributed to the direct acts of Stor-All and its insistence on imposing liens on me in which it was not entitled and neither was there a lease between me and Stor-all." See Exhibit "7" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein.

33. On January 9, 2009, Stor-All mailed Defendant "NOTICE TO LEAVE THE PREMISES" by January 19, 2009. Stor-All did not fax and mail said notice. It provided notice to the Defendant via regular mail and certified mail. Defendant was at her place of employment all day. Apparently Stor-All having knowledge as to Defendant's employer's intent to terminate her employment. A causal link/connection established. Whiteside taking a far departure from the method of communication she had been using prior to January 9, 2009. Moreover, since introducing herself to Defendant.

34. On January 9, 2009, Defendant was terminated from her place of employment with Wood & Lamping LLP. Being advised that her termination was due to her position being eliminated. Said termination was without just cause.

35. Defendant's termination was done with willful and malicious intent to aid Stor-All. Moreover, to aid Stor-All in obtaining an undue advantage over the Defendant. By succeeding in getting the Defendant terminated, this eliminated the potential conflict of interest that may arise had Defendant still been employed with Wood & Lamping and working with Thomas J. Breed when Stor-All's counsel filed its Complaint in this action.

36. Defendant's termination was done to cause her financial ruin and devastation. Stor-All thinking that with said ruin and devastation, the Defendant would be forced to waive important rights secured to her under the Ohio Constitution, United States Constitution, Ohio Landlord and Tenant Act, and other statutes/laws governing said matters. Stor-All believing that if the Defendant is terminated that she would be forced to succumb to its attempts of extorting monies from her. Nevertheless, with all its hard work – failing on December 9, 2008, to obtain Defendant's termination – Stor-All was ruthless, unrelenting and determined to see that Defendant was terminated from employment with Wood & Lamping LLP. Said acts by Stor-All was done for ill gain.

37. What Stor-All did not know which proved to be very beneficial to the Defendant:

(a) That prior to December 2008 and in December 2008, Defendant had notified her employer of a medical procedure.

(b) That in December 2008, when Defendant again notified her employer of the need for medical procedure, from the time of notification Defendant was covered and/or protected under the Family and Medical Leave Act ("FMLA").

(c) That on January 8, 2009, Defendant provided her written request form to begin this process. That said leave was approved by her attorneys, which included Thomas J. Breed's approval.

(d) That the very NEXT day (January 9, 2009) in retaliation and in efforts of aiding Stor-All, Wood & Lamping LLP terminated Defendant's employment with no just cause and in violation of the FMLA; moreover, in efforts of assisting Stor-All in the criminal and civil wrongs undertaken against the Defendant.

(e) That in an effort to cover up their unlawful/illegal acts, Wood & Lamping had a representative remove Defendant's Employee Handbook from her desk. The taking of the Employee Handbook was done with malicious intent to cover-up and/or mask/shield an illegal animus. With laughter, that was not the Defendant's only copy. Defendant retaining a copy of her Employee Handbook at her residence as well.

(f) That during Defendant's employment with Wood & Lamping, she assisted an attorney by the name of Julie R. Pugh, who specialized in employment law. That Pugh and another attorney, Heather Walsh, conducted an Employment Seminar in which the Defendant attended. At said Seminar attendees were provided with a Notebook containing Wood & Lamping LLP's Employer's Guide. With laughter of which Defendant also received and retained. A Notebook and the Employer's Guide available to the public. A Guide clearly addressing violations of Wood & Lamping under the FMLA.

(g) While Defendant knew that her termination was unlawful, the icing on the cake came upon receipt of Stor-All's Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer; wherein said document not only provided the name of counsel, David Meranus, but that Stor-All had engaged the services of Schwartz Manes Ruby & Slovin, LPA – former law firm of Thomas J. Breed. Breed being the attorney Defendant assigned to assist at Wood & Lamping LLP. A causal link established between Defendant's wrongful discharge and Stor-All's unlawful/illegal acts against her. Moreover, an established relationship and/or shared interest between Stor-All, their counsel – his law firm, and Wood & Lamping.

(h) Defendant is thankful, thankful, thankful, for the additional information obtained and/or received in that it has opened the door for many, many, many. . . opportunities for justice and the recovery of damages.

38. On January 17, 2009, Defendant advised Stor-All of its receipt of its Notice of Eviction. Defendant advising that any such action by Stor-All would be met with a Counter-Claim. In said correspondence, Defendant extended a good faith offer of $5,500. Said offer was declined by Stor-All as evidenced in the filing of their Complaint. In said correspondence, Defendant advised, "I believe a wise man would tell you that $5,500 is a reasonable and/or good faith offer – considering the additional damages and costs I may be entitled to should a lawsuit be have to be filed by me and/or on my behalf (attorney fees, compensatory damages, etc.)." Nevertheless, Stor-All refused said offer. Taking the path of a fool. Stor-All refusing said offer in that it was aware of its unlawful/illegal acts.

39. On or about January 20, 2009, Stor-All brought a Forcible Entry and Detainer action against the Defendant.

40. For the Defendant, it was a good thing Stor-All refused her January 17, 2009 offer. The doors have been swung open for exceedingly higher damages well above that which Defendant was not aware was entitled to at the time of her January 17, 2009 offer. Yes, it was a good thing and very beneficial to the Defendant when Stor-All declined her offer. Especially, upon learning of what was taking place behind the scene and Stor-All appears to have been in the driver seat of such wrongs being committed against Defendant.

41. Stor-All had actual knowledge that Defendant owed it no rent and that it had unlawfully and illegally seized the Defendant's unit and property without legal authority and/or statute.

42. Stor-All's filing of its Forcible Entry and Detainer Complaint was not only to collect a frivolous debt that it knew it was not entitled to from the Defendant, but to use such Complaint for "abuse of process" purposes to unlawfully and illegally extort monies from the Defendant to which it is not entitled.

43. Stor-All by filing its Forcible Entry and Detainer Complaint against Defendant, intended to deceive and commit fraudulent acts upon this Court in an effort to get this Court to engage in the furtherance of the criminal activities they have subjected the Defendant to.

44. None of the Defendant's property has been recovered and she has been denied access to the storage unit and retrieval of her property unless she pays monies Stor-All, its agents and/or representatives are attempting to extort from her.

45. Defendant has repeatedly in good faith provided Stor-All with dates that she would like to obtain her property; however, said requests were denied unless Defendant agreed to pay the outrageous fee and/or charges imposed by Stor-All.

46. Not only has Stor-All stooped to such criminal acts in its extortion scheme; but in its demands to the Defendant, request that Defendant pay it the monies without any consequences and/or liability to Stor-All. Stor-All refusing to own up to its liability in this matter.

47. During the time and place referred to above, Stor-All unlawfully and wrongfully seized the Defendant's storage unit and denied her access and retrieval of her property which may be in value of $8,000.00, and refused to allow her to retrieve her property unless she paid the outrageous fees (late and lien) that it illegally and unlawfully attached.

48. During the period of the unlawful seizure of the Defendant's storage unit and property, Stor-All subjected the Defendant to repeated threats of placing a lien on her property and repeatedly serving her with documents entitled, "NOTICE OF INTENT TO ENFORCE LIEN ON STORED PROPERTY PURSUANT TO RC §5322.01, ET. SEQ." See EXHIBIT "8" attached hereto and incorporated by reference as if set forth in full herein.

49. Upon receipt of Stor-All's "NOTICE OF INTENT TO ENFORCE LIEN ON STORED PROPERTY PURSUANT TO RC §5322.01, ET. SEQ.," Defendant responded in a timely manner as to her objections. Defendant being entitled to rights guaranteed/secured to her under the Ohio Constitution, United States Constitution, Ohio Landlord & Tenant Act, and any/all applicable statutes/laws governing said matters.

50. In early and/or mid 2008, Stor-All was timely, properly and adequately placed on notice as to the statutes/laws it was in violation of in the handling of Defendant's storage unit and property. To no avail. Stor-All made a willful, conscious and knowing decision to continue to conduct business in such an illegal/unlawful manner.

51. Stor-All elected to unlawfully seize and take the Defendant's storage unit and property hostage. Stor-All making it clear Defendant would not be receiving her property unless she paid the monies it demanded from her.

52. While Defendant repeatedly requested and demanded that Stor-All provide her with legal conclusions to support its actions, to date, as with Stor-All's Complaint filed in this action, it has not been able to provide the Defendant with the information requested. Nevertheless, as with Stor-All's Complaint, it continues to demand monies from the Defendant to which it is not entitled. Stor-All being requested as early as May 13, 2008 to provide said information. See EXHIBIT "9" – electronic copy[9] attached hereto and incorporated herein as if set forth in full.

53. Defendant acted in good faith, and, before the institution of the proceeding of Stor-All's Complaint, Defendant stated all facts and circumstances connected with this matter to support her defense in this lawsuit. Stor-All was provided with facts, evidence and/or statutes/laws governing said matters which supported Defendant's defense to the monies it was asserting was owed it. Moreover, with case laws/statutes supporting a defense to the relief she sought. A jury trial on this matter will sustain that there is sufficient information in the possession of Stor-All to support the filing of its Complaint against Defendant is an abuse of process, is not sound in law and filed in furtherance of the criminal and civil wrongs already rendered against Defendant.

54. Defendant, as lessee in the Rental Agreement entered into between Crown Storage and her, entered into said Agreement of the storage unit in good faith. Upon the execution of said Agreement, Defendant entered into possession of the premises under the terms of the Agreement and pursuant to the Agreement, remained in good standing as a tenant of said premises at all times until Stor-All took over and began claiming right and/or entitlement to Defendant's rent and the outrageous fees and liens charges leveled against her. Moreover, Stor-All's unlawful/illegal denying Defendant access and depriving her of her property in storage unit.

55. During the period when Defendant was entitled to the peaceable possession of the premises as a tenant under the Lease entered between she and Crown Storage, Stor-All unlawfully/illegally seized the Defendant's property and denied her access and/or retrieval of said property unless she paid the monies it attempted to extort from her. Stor-All doing so intending to injure Defendant in her good name and reputation, and in order to cause the Defendant great loss and damages, falsely, willfully, maliciously and without probable cause whatever, unlawfully took possession of Defendant's storage unit and property over the Defendant's objections, and caused the lock Defendant placed on her storage unit to secure her property to be removed and may have replaced it with a lock of its own to deprive the Defendant access to the demised premises and her property.

[9] Defendant reserving the right to supplement this Exhibit upon retrieving executed copy if requested.

56. Stor-All knew that Defendant had no binding Rental Agreement with it; moreover, that Defendant's Rental Agreement was with Crown Storage. However, through its unlawful seizure of the Defendant's storage unit and property, it attempted to unlawfully/illegally extort monies from the Defendant in exchange for her receipt of her property. Stor-All's sole purpose for filing its Forcible Entry and Detainer action is in furtherance of its unlawful and illegal practices of said extortion practices; moreover, to deprive Defendant access to her storage unit and her property. Thus, the filing of Stor-All's Forcible Entry and Detainer Complaint is an abuse of process in that its lawsuit is being used for a purpose other than that for which it was lawfully intended to be used for.

57. Stor-All devised an elaborate scam to unlawfully/illegally obtain the property of persons renting space at the 1109 Alfred Street, Cincinnati, Ohio 45214. Said scam involving the taking of person's property through a lawful process; however, through illegal means (i.e. by way of extorting money, etc. from persons through fear of losing their property). Stor-All using such methods for financial gain from the monies earned at auctioning off property. For instance, Defendant believes that an auction would have yielded Stor-All a profit – her rent being approximately $29.82 and had Stor-All sold it at auction, stood to earn a great deal more (perhaps hundreds and/or thousand of dollars more).

58. As a direct and proximate result of Stor-All's unlawful and illegal seizure and taking of Defendant's storage unit and its removal of Defendant's lock and may have replaced it with one of its own, Defendant was deprived of her rights as a tenant and of her personal property contained on the premises under the Rental Agreement between she and Crown Storage.

59. To date, Defendant has not recovered her property and is not certain if her property is still there in that she has been denied access to it for almost a year. An inability to recover because Stor-All has repeatedly attempted to extort monies from the Defendant in exchange and/or has attempted to get the Defendant to waive rights secured to her under the statutes/laws which would entitle her to relief for such unlawful/illegal practices.

60. Stor-All's acts were willful, malicious and wanton in hopes that Defendant would weary and eventually abandon her property. To Stor-All's disappointment, Defendant is literate, college educated and capable of researching the laws.

61. The record in Stor-All's possession will support the good faith efforts by the Defendant to support her response and the efforts made to resolve this matter and retrieve her property. However, Stor-All refused all such good faith efforts by Defendant in that it refused to accept its liability from the illegal/unlawful wrongs rendered the Defendant.

62. There is no Landlord and Tenant relationship between Stor-All and Defendant. Stor-All just asserted such title of Landlord over the Defendant's objections.

Moreover, with knowledge that Defendant did not wish to enter into a Rental Agreement with it. Action by Stor-All was for purpose of abuse of process.

63. Stor-All since asserting such relationship (Landlord and Tenant), has retaliated and deprived the Defendant of quiet enjoyment of premises as a direct result of Defendant's refusal to enter a Rental Agreement and to deprive her of property.

64. Stor-All's actions were intentional. Stor-All's conduct and behavior being done to deprive the Defendant beneficial enjoyment of premises and the retrieval of her property in that Defendant does not wish to enter a Rental Agreement with Stor-All.

65. Stor-All has intentionally filed its Forcible Entry and Detainer action knowing it is not entitled to the relief it seeks. Stor-All using a lawful purpose with unlawful/illegal intent; moreover, for abuse of process.

66. Since Stor-All's filing of its Complaint, Plaintiff was able to obtain the additional information and ill motive of Stor-All and its unrelenting efforts to destroy her life.

67. Defendant has given Stor-All reasonable time to return her property and in good faith has attempted to reach a financial settlement to compensate her for the injury/harm sustained. To no avail. Stor-All merely wants the Defendant to let it go without consequences for the criminal and/or illegal/unlawful wrongs rendered her.

68. Defendant believe that prior to bringing this counter-claim, she has in good faith attempted to mitigate damages; however, Stor-All again, simply wanted Defendant to agree to monies to which it was not entitled and/or leave without holding it accountable for the damages (injury/harm) Defendant sustained as a direct and proximate result of its unlawful/illegal actions.

COUNT ONE
ABUSE OF PROCESS
(OF AND AGAINST STOR-ALL ALFRED, LLC – WHICH INCLUDES STORE-ALL ALFRED, LLC, ITS AGENTS, REPRESENTATIVES, ATTORNEY, ETC.)

Defendant herein incorporates Paragraphs 1 through 68 of her Counter-Claim and Paragraphs 1 through 7 of Defendant's Answer to Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer as if set forth herein with said protection as that argued therein.

Defendant seeks relief as a direct and proximate result of Stor-All's abuse of process in the filing of its Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer. In support thereof, Defendant alleges:

69. Stor-All in the filing of its Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer has filed said action for purposes of abuse of process. Stor-All's bringing of its forcible entry and detainer action in a manner not proper in the regular conduct of such proceedings with ill and/or ulterior motives – i.e. to obtain an undue advantage over the Defendant, obtain storage unit and monies from the Defendant to which it was not entitled, subject the Defendant to injury/harm, etc.. Neither was Stor-All entitled, as a matter of law to bring said forcible entry and detainer action against the Defendant.

> 45 Ohio Jur.3d § 66 – Distinctions:
> While the gist of the action for malicious prosecution is that the prosecution has been carried on maliciously and without probable cause, the essence of the action for abuse of process is the use of process in a manner not proper in the regular conduct of the proceeding, with an ulterior motive.

> 45 Ohio Jur.3d § 215 – Distinguished from malicious prosecution:
> Under Ohio law, the tort of abuse of process differs from the tort of malicious criminal prosecution in that the gist of the tort of abuse of process is not commencing an action or causing process to issue without justification, but misusing, or misapplying process justified in itself for an end other than that which it was designed to accomplish; the purpose for which the process is used, once it is issued, is the only thing of importance. (Bickley v. FMC Technologies, Inc., 282 F.Supp.2d 631 (N.D. Ohio 2003).

70. To support the prima facie requirement for abuse of process Defendant must show: (a) a legal proceeding has been set in motion in proper form and with probable cause; (b) the proceeding was perverted to attempt to accomplish an ulterior purpose for which it was not designed; and (c) direct damage has resulted from the wrongful use of process. Therefore, in support of said allegation that Stor-All's Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer is an abuse of process, Defendant states:

> (a) The filing of Stor-All's Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer initiated a legal proceeding in proper form and, through said acts, with its assertion for probable cause; (b) the filing of Stor-All's Complaint has perverted these proceeding and the judicial process for purposes of attempting to accomplish an ulterior purpose – such as (i) extorting monies from the Defendant, (ii) cover-up/shield the unlawful/illegal eviction it initiated about April 2008, (iii) obstruct the administration of justice, deprive Defendant equal protection of the laws and due process of laws, (iv) financially devastating the Defendant for purposes of obtaining an undue advantage over her – Stor-All working on and/or seeing that Defendant was terminated from her place of employment in hopes that it would destitute the Defendant and force her to waive protected rights secured/guaranteed under the Ohio Constitution, U.S. Constitution, Landlord and Tenant Act, and other applicable statutes/laws governing said matters; and (c) as a direct a direct and proximate result of the unlawful/illegal as well as criminal and civil wrongs Stor-All leveled against the Defendant, she has sustained direct damage from the wrongful use of process – i.e. Stor-All's filing of Complaint was in furtherance of their criminal and civil wrongs already initiated against the Defendant. Stor All having already taken the laws into its hands and evicting the Defendant without legal authority and/or court order. Stor-All's filing of Complaint was merely a continuance of it pattern-of-practice in abuse of process and when it failed up under its repeated "Notice of Intent to Enforce Lien. . . ," it sought ways and means to see that Defendant was terminated from her place of employment until it accomplished such efforts on January 9, 2009, then it moved forward on January 20, 2009, and in continuance with abuse of process, filed its Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer.

45 Ohio Jur.3d § 214 – Generally; Nature and elements of cause of action:

Under Ohio law, the elements of a claim of abuse of process are that (1) a legal proceeding has been set in motion in proper form and with probable cause; (2) the proceeding has been perverted to attempt to accomplish an ulterior purpose for which it was not designed; and (3) direct damage has resulted from the wrongful use of process (Voyticky v. Village of Timberlake, Ohio, 412 F.3d 669, 2005 FED App. 0273P (6th Cir. 2005); Bickley v. FMC Technologies, Inc., 282 F.Supp. 631 (N.D. Ohio 2003); Greenwood v. Delphi Automotive Systems, Inc., 257 F.Supp.2d 1047 (S.D. Ohio 2003), aff'd, 103 Fed. Appx. 609 (6th Cir. 2004))…

71. In determining what relief, if any, the Defendant is entitled to for the Stor-All's abuse of process, the Court may: (a) consider loss of earnings, (b) physical suffering, (c) mental suffering, (d) embarrassment, (e) humiliation, (f) loss of property or freedom, etc..

> 45 Ohio Jur.3d § 218 – Damages:
>
> A prevailing plaintiff in an action for abuse of process is entitled to recover the amount of money which will reasonably compensate him for the actual damages he has sustained as a proximate result of the abuse of process in determining compensatory damages, the court may consider the plaintiff's loss of earnings, medical and other expenses, physical suffering, mental suffering, embarrassment, humiliation*,* and loss of personal property or freedom. The plaintiff may recover only those damages which naturally resulted from defendant's acts, and the court cannot consider remote, indefinite or speculative injuries or damages.
> Actual malice is necessary for a recovery of punitive damages in an abuse of process case. Where defendant's abuse of the legal process involved a conscious disregard for the rights and safety of the plaintiff, as where the defendant was aware that his acts had a great probability of causing substantial harm to the plaintiff, an award of punitive damages is appropriate. (Donohoe v. Burd, 722 F.Supp. 1507 (S.D. Ohio 1989), judgment aff'd, 923 F.2d 854 (6th Cir. 1991).

72. Stor-All having knowledge of the injury that would be rendered and/or had been rendered Defendant, resorted to a commonly used practice used by it in depriving citizens, such as Defendant, of equal protection of the laws and due process of laws, in unlawfully/illegally seizing Defendants storage unit without legal authority.

73. The legal process for obtaining premises through a forcible entry and detainer action was abused by Stor-All. Stor-All evaded process and unlawfully evicted the Defendant and seized her property without just cause and without legal authority.

74. The perverted use by Stor-All of the legal process was done to deprive Defendant rights secured and/or guaranteed under the Ohio Constitution, U.S. Constitution, Ohio Landlord and Tenant Act and any/all applicable statutes/laws governing said matters.

75. Stor-All committed an illegal and wrongful act in commencing an eviction of the Defendant by seizing her storage unit and taking her property without legal justification and/or probable cause.

76. Stor-All resorted to abuse of process to coerce and obtain collateral advantage to force the Defendant to surrender her storage unit and/or abandon said storage unit, by abusing process, taking the laws into its own hands, unlawfully seizing

Defendants storage unit and taking her property for the means of extorting monies from her.

77. Acting with express authorization by Stor-All, its employees, agents and/or representatives willfully, maliciously, unlawfully and illegally entered the Defendant's storage unit in order to evict her without legal process and/or statutory right.

78. Access to the Defendant's storage unit was obtained by force without legal process and/or statutory right.

79. The malicious and wrongful acts of Stor-All caused Defendant damages, inconvenience and discomfort, mental suffering, embarrassment, humiliation, distress, loss of employment and more to Plaintiff's loss and damage in the sum to be determined.

80. Under Ohio law, the laws are clear on how matters involving rental of commercial property is to be handled.

81. Stor-All placed the cart-before-the-horse when it took the laws into its own hands and unlawfully/illegally evicted the Defendant from her storage unit. Now in a desperate effort to cover up such unlawful/illegal and criminal acts, it filed its January 20, 2009 Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer failing to advise the Court of the legal wrongs that it had rendered the Defendant. If Stor-All believed that it had a right to the Defendant's storage unit (when it did not), it should have brought a forcible entry and detainer action BEFORE the unlawful/illegal eviction it performed under its self-imposed laws.

82. Defendant was never indebted to Stor-All and neither has Stor-All presented any evidence to sustain such claim to monies alleged to be owed.

83. Stor-All's failure to comply with statutes/laws governing said matter subjected the Defendant to an illegal/unlawful eviction and the seizure of her property.

84. At any given time prior to Stor-All's filing of the instant lawsuit, it could have settled this matter; however, elected to move forward with ill motive.

85. On January 20, 2009, Stor-All maliciously sued out and caused Summons in Action in Forcible Entry, Detainer, and Money to be issued against Defendant, falsely and maliciously in connection to its Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer in the Hamilton County Municipal Court – Hamilton County, Ohio alleging failure to pay rent.

86. Stor-All had actual knowledge that the Defendant owed it no monies alleged prior to bringing this instant lawsuit. Nevertheless, is abusing the judicial process for ill motive.

87. None of Defendant's property that was unlawfully/illegal seized by Stor-All has been returned to the Defendant.

88. In perpetrating the above acts, Stor-All acted malicious and wrongfully and with the intent, design, and purpose to injure Defendant.

89. Stor-All's filing of this instant lawsuit and seeking out the Summons to be issued in this matter and causing said Summons to be executed, was willful, malicious and wanton.

90. Stor-All through its representative(s) contacted Defendant's employer via facsimile and/or other means known to it regarding dispute between it and Defendant. Stor-All doing so with ill intent/motive.

91. By filing this instant lawsuit and due to acts prior to filing by Stor-All, Defendant has incurred and continues to incur legal expenses. Said expenses and services which is expected to exceed $15,000. Moreover, Defendant may be required to retain an attorney in the representation of this matter.

92. Ohio Constitution, Ohio Landlord and Tenant Act and other statutes/laws governing such matters are clear that Stor-All's handling of Defendant has created an infringement upon her protected rights.

93. A reasonable mind may conclude that there were other means available to Stor-All prior to its unlawful/illegal eviction of Defendant from her storage unit and the seizure of her property. If Stor-All believed that it had a legal right (although it did not) to bring a forcible entry and detainer, it should have brought such action when at the time it claims rent was not paid – in April 2008 or shortly thereafter. Instead it elected to unlawful/illegally forcibly enter and seize the Defendant's storage unit and property rather than use the legal process to resolve this matter. A reasonable mind may conclude that the unlawful/illegal method used by Stor-All in the taking of the Defendant's storage unit and property is one commonly used by it to deprive citizens, such as Defendant, of protected rights.

94. The abuse of process by Stor-All was done with malice, forethought, harassment, retaliation, and improper motive to all this Court to grant punitive damages.

95. Stor-All with knowledge of the way its employees, agents and representatives were conducting business on its behalf, did nothing to deter, prevent and/or correct such legal wrongs rendered the Defendant. Instead, Stor-All made a willful and conscious decision to unlawfully/illegally evict the Defendant and seize her storage unit and property.

96. As a direct and proximate result Stor-All's acts, Defendant was injured, deprived entitlement to storage unit and property, deprived rights secured under the Ohio Constitution, U.S. Constitution, Ohio Landlord and Tenant Act, and any/all applicable laws governing said matters.

97. In perpetrating the above acts, Stor-All acted maliciously and wrongfully and with the intent, design, and purpose to injure Defendant. Accordingly, Defendant requests exemplary damages, compensatory damages, punitive damages against Stor-All in the sum to be determined by a jury.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff request judgment of and against Plaintiff, Stor-All Alfred, LLC for:

98. Compensatory damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $250,000.

99. Actual damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) to be determined.

100. Consequential damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $225,000.

101. Future damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $225,000.

102. Punitive damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $750,000.

103. Enter the applicable injunctions and restraining orders requiring Plaintiff, Stor-All Alfred, LLC, their agents, employees, attorneys, representatives and all persons acting in concert with them to cease their unconstitutional and unlawful practices.

104. Reasonable fees and/or attorney fees.

105. Costs of suit; and

106. Such other further relief as the Court deem just and proper.

COUNT TWO WRONGFUL EVICTION
(OF AND AGAINST STOR-ALL ALFRED, LLC – WHICH INCLUDES STORE-ALL ALFRED, LLC, ITS AGENTS, REPRESENTATIVES, ATTORNEY, ETC.)

Defendant herein incorporates Paragraphs 1 through 106 of her Counter-Claim and Paragraphs 1 through 7 of Defendant's Answer to Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer as if set forth herein with said protection as that argued therein.

Defendant brings this Counter-Claim for the wrongful eviction action of Stor-All. In Stor-All's filing of Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer it has asserted itself as a Landlord and, thus, has voluntarily surrendered itself to be liable to the damages and relief Defendant seeks through her Counter-Claim. Stor-All's Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer is done for purposes of wrongful eviction action. Even if Stor-All would now want to abandon its "Landlord" title to avoid liability, such acts would also fail in that such relinquishing of title would then allow the Defendant to bring an action against it for "malicious prosecution." Therefore, Defendant alleges:

107. On January 20, 2009, Stor-All filed Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer against the Defendant.

108. There is no Rental Agreement between Stor-All and the Defendant. An unexecuted Stor-All Lease Agreement between Stor-All and Defendant supports said averment. Therefore, under Ohio law, Stor-All has no right to entry and/or the relief sought in their Forcible Entry and Detainer action.

> 65 Ohio Jur.3d § 73 – Generally:
> The estate of a landlord during the existence of an outstanding leasehold is a mere reversion, though, in the case of a tenancy under a lease, the lessor has an ever-present interest – a constant right to participate in the benefits of possession. However, in the absence of an agreement or statute to the contrary, the landlord has no right of entry during the lease term.

109. As a matter of Ohio law, Defendant was wrongfully evicted about April 2008, or shortly thereafter, in that Stor-All: (a) subjected her to disturbance in the use of her storage unit; (b) deprived Defendant of the enjoyment of her storage unit apparently as a third party either acting under its own authority or that of Crown Storage-Camp Washington, Defendant's landlord and/or in which a Rental Agreement was entered; (c) denied the Defendant access unless she paid the charges/fees alleged; (d) had the Defendant's lock removed from the storage unit in taking possession of it.

> 65 Ohio Jur.3d § 161 – Generally:
> The term "eviction" is one with peculiar reference to a tenant, being the disturbance of his possession, or his expulsion, depriving him of the enjoyment of the premises demised, or any > portion of them by the landlord, the act of third persons acting under the authority of the landlord, or by act of someone having a paramount title.

110. Stor-All's Forcible Entry and Detainer action has been brought against the Defendant although it is fully aware that it has already made an unlawful entry in an unreasonable manner of Defendant's storage unit. Moreover, Stor-All has repeatedly served the Defendant with "NOTICE OF INTENT TO ENFORCE LIEN ON STORED PROPERTY PURSUANT TO RC § 5322.01 ET.SEQ." with knowledge and/or should have known that such action was not permissible under the laws of the State of Ohio. Stor-All placing the cart-before-the-horse and being unsuccessful in such threats has now brought its Forcible Entry and Detainer action in furtherance of such threats, harassment and other unlawful/illegal means of which Defendant has had to endure in Stor-All's efforts of obtaining her property. Therefore, this action is necessary to obtain injunctive relief as well as additional relief to which the laws of the state of Ohio entitle the Defendant to.

> 65 Ohio Jur.3d § 130 – Wrongful entry or wrongful refusal of access under 1974 Landlord and Tenant Act**:
> If a landlord under a rental agreement enters upon the demised premises in violation of the statutory provision governing the right of entry (R.C. 5321.04(A)(8), makes lawful entry in an unreasonable manner, or makes repeated demands for entry otherwise lawful, which have the effect of harassing the tenant, the tenant may recover actual damages resulting from the entry or demands, obtain injunctive relief to prevent the recurrence of the conduct, and obtain a judgment for reasonable attorney fees, or terminate the rental agreement. (R.C. 5321.04(B). As to award of attorney's fees under R.C. ch. 5321 and/or § 135).

111. Defendant has been subjected to acts of actual eviction by Stor-All in that she has been excluded from her storage unit and Stor-All has repeatedly denied her access unless she paid monies it was attempting to extort from her. Defendant has also been subjected to acts of constructive eviction by Stor-All in that: (a) it has repeatedly interfered and/or obstructed Defendant's access to her storage unit, removed the Defendant's lock she had on her storage unit and may have replaced it with one of their own, (b) it has substantially deprived the Defendant of the beneficial use of her storage unit and the Defendant has not returned; and (c) the Defendant has involuntarily relinquished possession of her storage unit – i.e. Stor-All unlawfully/illegally seizing storage unit and taking it as its own, (d) Stor-All's acts were meritless, done in malice and bad faith; moreover, so severe that it not only interfered with Defendant's peaceful enjoyment of the storage unit, but went as far as bringing such unlawful/illegal practices to the Defendant's place of employment which resulted in the Defendant being terminated.

65 Ohio Jur.3d § 162 – Elements and requisites; actual or constructive eviction:

An eviction, in the strict sense of the term, is to enter upon lands and expel the tenant (Forbus v. Collier, 7 Ohio Dec. Rep. 331, 2 W.L.B. 122, 1877 WL 7471 (Ohio Dist. Ct. 1877). However, the result is also an eviction if the tenant loses the enjoyment of any part of the leased premises by some act of the landlord, of a permanent character, done with the intention of depriving him or her of the enjoyment (Id.)

An eviction may be actual or constructive (McAlpine v. Woodruff, 11 Ohio St. 120, 1860 WL 31 (1860); Wetzel V. Richcreek, 53 Ohio St. 62, 40 N.E. 1004 (1895)). Actual eviction involves expulsion or exclusion from the demised premises (Liberal Sav. & Loan Co. v. Frankel Realty Co., 137 Ohio St. 489, 19 Ohio Op. 170, 30 N.E.2d 1012 (1940); Foote Theatre, Inc. v. Dixie Roller Rink, Inc., 14 Ohio App. 3d 456, 471 N.E. 2d 866 (3d Dist. Hardin County 1984)). In order to establish constructive eviction, there must be proof of active interference by the landlord or someone authorized by the landlord which compelled the tenant to leave (Eckhart v. Robert E. Lee Motel, 2 Ohio App. 3d 80, 440 N.E.2d 824 (10th Dist. Franklin County 1981)). Constructive eviction occurs when the landlord has substantially deprived the tenant of beneficial use of the premises, and the tenant vacates (Wood v. Rathfelder, 128 F. Supp.2d 1079 (N.D. Ohio 2000). So long as the tenant remains in possession, he or she cannot maintain that there has been a constructive eviction. Thus, for constructive eviction to occur when there is merely interference with the tenant's possession and enjoyment, the tenant must relinquish possession of premises (Doll v. Rapp, 74 Ohio Misc.2d 140, 660 N.E.2d 542 (Mun. Ct. 1995)). . . . Constructive eviction also occurs when the landlord's actions are meritless, done in malice or bad faith, and so severe as to interfere with the tenant's peaceful enjoyment of the premises. (Wood v. Rathfelder, 128 F.Supp.2d 1079 (N.D. Ohio 2000)). Thus, a constructive eviction has also been defined as a failure or interference on the part of the landlord with the intended enjoyment of the leased premises, which is of a substantial nature, and so injurious as to deprive the tenant of the beneficial enjoyment of the leased premises. (Nye v. Schuler, 110 Ohio App. 443, 13 Ohio Op.2d 208, 82 Ohio L. Abs. 321, 165 N.E.2d 16 (4th Dist. Ross County 1959)).

65 Ohio Jur.3d § 173 – Pleading and proof; Trial:

♦ Illustration: A charge to the jury that a constructive eviction is such a failure or interference on the part of the landlord with the intended enjoyment of the leased premises as to be of a substantial nature, and so injurious to the tenant as to deprive him or her of the beneficial enjoyment of the leased premises, is a clear and concise definition of a constructive eviction, and in the absence of a request for a more complete definition, is sufficient. (Nye v. Schuler, 110 Ohio App. 443, 13 Ohio Op.2d 208, 82 Ohio L. Abs. 321, 165 N.E.2d 16 (4th Dist. Ross County 1959)).

In an action for damages for breach of covenants in a lease, a defense that the lessor's agent evicted the lessee raises an issue of fact as the agency, which must be passed on by a jury unless a jury is waived (Shepfer v. Hannenkrat, 48 Ohio App. 35, 1 Ohio Op. 19, 17 Ohio L. Abs. 561, 192 N.E. 274 (5th Dist. Tuscarawas County 1933)).

112. On January 9, 2009, and on the same date that Defendant was terminated from her place of employment, Stor-All served her with "NOTICE TO LEAVE THE PREMISES" asserting that the Defendant rented from it. Requesting the Defendant to leave the premises with knowledge it has not allowed her on the premises and/or entry into her storage unit since about April 2008. Had Defendant complied with said notice and vacated, she would have lost her rights to bring this Counter-Claim, in that her vacating would have been taken as voluntary. At the time of Stor-All's filing of its Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer as well as its claim to ownership of the property, the Defendant was rightfully in possession of her storage unit and entitled to remain. In the interest of justice and in compliance with Ohio law, Defendant: (a) should await legal proceedings threatened against her – in which she has; and (b) rather than comply with Stor-All's notice to leave the premises (which it has denied her access for almost a year), bring an action such as her Counter-Claim for alleged damages that perhaps never would have resulted. In fact, Stor-All was so determined to ruin the Defendant; it went as far as engaging and/or providing information for review by her former employer for purposes of obtaining an undue advantage over the Defendant in the handling of this matter. A causal link between Stor-All's acts and Defendant's wrongful termination is established.

65 Ohio Jur.3d § 164 – Notice to vacate; bringing possessory action:

A notice by the landlord that the tenancy is being terminated, combined with a demand by him or her for possession of the premises, and voluntary compliance therewith by the tenant without protest, is not an eviction for which damages may be recovered. (Greenberg v. Murphy, 16 Ohio C.D. 359, 1904 WL 1147 (Ohio Cir. Ct. 1904)). [Practice Guide: If the tenant is rightfully in possession and entitled to remain, the tenant should await legal proceedings that are threatened, and make defense thereto, rather than comply with the demand, and then bring an action for alleged damages that perhaps never would have resulted. (Greenberg)]

Where a tenant, upon request or notice to vacate, voluntarily abandons the premises without protest, no action for damages against the landlord, based on fraud or misrepresentations as to the reasons for such request can be maintained under rights recognized by the common law, or any statute of Ohio. (Ferguson v. Buddenberg, 87 Ohio App. 326, 42 Ohio Op. 488, 57 Ohio L. Abs. 473, 94 N.E.2d 568 (1st Dist. Hamilton County 1950)).

113. Stor-All through the filing of its Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer is attempting force the Defendant to give up her storage unit. The actions of Stor-All are in violation of the covenant of quiet enjoyment and statutory provisions governing rights given to the Defendant under the Ohio Landlord and Tenant Act. As a direct and proximate result of Stor-All's actions, Defendant has sustained damages and/or injury/harm to which she is entitled to compensatory damages to the extent that she is being forced to leave as well as having to pay more for a comparable space elsewhere.

65 Ohio Jur.3d § 131 – Generally; liquated damages:

General contract principles govern damages recoverable in an action for the breach of a lease, including claims for breach of a covenant of quiet enjoyment, breach of a warranty of habitability, and breach of a landlord's statutory duties. (Allen v. Lee, 43 Ohio App. 3d 31, 538 N.E.2d 1073 (8th Dist. Cuyahoga County 1987)). A party injured by a breach of a contract is entitled to his or her expectation interest, which is the injured party's interest in having the benefit of the bargain by being put in as good a position as that party would have been in had the contract been performed. (Ohio Jur. 3d, Damages § 18; see F. Enterprises, Inc. v. Kentucky Fried Chicken Corp., 47 Ohio St. 2d 154, 1 Ohio Op. 3d 90, 351 N.E.2d 121 (1976)) [Observation: Under Ohio law, any ambiguities in commercial lease language setting forth damages recoverable upon default must be strictly construed against drafter of lease[10] (New Market Acquisitions, Ltd. v. Powerhouse Gym, 212 F.Supp. 2d 763 (S.D. Ohio 2002)).]

As to the damages recoverable for a breach by the lessor, the general rule is that a lessee who is forced by the lessor's breach to give up the lease incurs compensable damages to the extent that the lessee has to pay more for comparable space over the term of the original lease, plus any special damages (Am. Jur. 2d, Landlord and Tenant §§ 97, 98. As to measure of damages for breach of covenant of title of quiet enjoyment, see § 184).

App. 8th Dist. Cuyahoga County 1972)) and favorably to the person who had no voice in the selection of the language (Madden v. American News Co., 11 Ohio Misc. 119, 40 Ohio Op.2d 355, 229 N.E.2d 119 (C.P. 1967)) applies to the interpretation of the leases.

114. Stor-All's Forcible Entry and Detainer action has been brought for purposes of extorting monies from the Defendant and to have her unlawfully/illegally evicted.

115. Stor-All having no authority under Ohio statutes/laws to bring this action against the Defendant.

116. Prior to Stor-All's filing of Forcible Entry and Detainer action, it knew and/or should have known that it was not entitled to bring this lawsuit against the Defendant.

117. As a direct and proximate result of Stor-All's acts, the Defendant has sustained damages and/or injury/harm to which she seeks relief thereof through the filing of this instant Counter-Claim. Said relief as allowed under Ohio law:

65 Ohio Jur.3d § 174 – Measure and elements of damages:

In many jurisdictions, the view is taken that in a tort action for wrongful eviction by a landlord or by persons for whose act the landlord is responsible, the tenant may recover as general damages the actual or rental value of the unexpired lease term less the rent reserved (Am. Jur.2d, Landlord and Tenant § 668). There is authority in Ohio supporting this view (Grunau v. Faflik, 50 Ohio L. Abs. 142, 77 N.E.2d 719 (Ct. App. 8th Dist. Cuyahoga County 1947)(damage for eviction by or under authority of landlord is reasonable value of leasehold) and also the view that a lessor is liable to the lessee (or a sublessor is liable to the sublessor) for all damages sustained by reason of a wrongful eviction for which he or she is responsible. (Hoffstetter v. Harris, 23 Ohio N.P. (n.s.) 579, 1921 WL 1344 (C.P. 1921)).

In actions based on the wrongful eviction of a tenant, damages for special losses, such as . . . expenses in defending an ejectment action, have been recovered. . . .exemplary damages are not recoverable in an action for breach of contract unless the conduct constituting the breach is also a tort for which punitive damages are recoverable (Ohio Jur.3d, Damages § 128). . . . [Illustration: A landlord's constructive eviction of the tenants. . . in changing the locks of the tenants' door one day after posting a three-day eviction notice . . .entitled the tenants to punitive damages (Proctor v. Frame, 90 Ohio Mis. 2d 11, 695 N.E.2d 357 (Mun. Ct. 1998)).

> A tenant who is constructively evicted . . . is entitled, as far as it is possible to do so, to a monetary award in order to be placed in the position that the tenant would have been in had constructive eviction not occurred, keeping in mind the purpose for which the premises were leased. Thus, where there is a constructive eviction of the tenant, the tenant may be awarded judgment on the landlord's counterclaims which are based on unpaid rent for the balance of the lease agreement (Weingarden v. Eagle Ridge Condominiums, 71 Ohio Misc.2d 7, 653 N.E.2d 759 (Mun. Ct. 1995)).

118. Defendant seeks any and all relief afforded to her under the laws of the State of Ohio and/or applicable statutes/laws governing such matters relating to the wrongful eviction she sustained. While Stor-All brought Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer on January 20, 2009, it had already taken the laws into its own hands by unlawfully/illegally evicting the Defendant under its own self-made laws. Since April 2008 to present, the Defendant has not been allowed to return to her storage unit. Moreover, in order to retrieve her property she was required to pay the monies Stor-All was attempting to extort from her. The acts of Stor-All were retaliatory, fraudulent, oppressive, willful, malicious and wanton entitling the Defendant to punitive damages. Moreover, the extremes of such acts are evidenced in Stor-All's obsessive acts in destroying the Defendant's life, liberty and pursuit of happiness. The evidence supports that aggravation and outrage, spite and malice, fraudulent and evil intent, as well as a conscious and deliberate disregard for the interests and rights of the Defendant.

> 49 Am. Jur.2d, Landlord and Tenant § 538 – *Generally, Measure of damages:
> Where a tenant is wrongfully evicted by the landlord or by persons for whose acts the landlord is responsible, the tenant may maintain an action in tort against the landlord and may recover as general damage the actual or rental value of the unexpired term less the rent reserved. In addition, the tenant may recover all losses actually sustained, or which the tenant will necessarily sustain, under the circumstances, as a result of the unlawful eviction. Such losses may include the cost of moving, actual expenses, reasonably incurred, and lost profits.

> 49 Am. Jur.2d, Landlord and Tenant § 544 – *Punitive damage:
> The damages recoverable for wrongful eviction, actual or constructive, may include punitive damages. The mere commission of the tort of wrongful eviction, however, is insufficient. There must be circumstances of aggravation or outrage, such as spite or malice, or a fraudulent or evil motive or such a conscious and deliberate disregard of the interests of others that the landlord's conduct may be call willful or wanton.

> A commercial landlord acted with malice toward a tenant, and thus an award of punitive damages was warranted on unlawful eviction and conversion claims, where the landlord suddenly locked the tenant out of the rented premises, wrongfully retained the tenant's business equipment, . . . and expressed personal animosity toward the tenant. . . It has also been stated that punitive damages may be awarded to tenants when a landlord's conduct is morally culpable or actuated by evil and reprehensible motives (Maula v. Milford Management Corp., 559 F.Supp. 1000 (1983)), or is malicious and wanton (Stewart v. Johnson, 209 W. Va. 476, 549 S.E.2d 670 (2001)). In addition, a lessee who does not move, and is not evicted, because of a lessor's retaliatory act may nevertheless recover a statutory punitive damages award of the lessor's retaliatory act of fraud, oppression, or malice.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff request judgment of and against Plaintiff, Stor-All Alfred, LLC for:

119. Compensatory damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $75,000.

120. Actual damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) to be determined.

121. Consequential damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $20,000.

122. Future damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $50,000.

123. Punitive damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $250,000.

124. Enter the applicable injunctions and restraining orders requiring Plaintiff, Stor-All Alfred, LLC, their agents, employees, attorneys, representatives and all persons acting in concert with them to cease their unconstitutional and unlawful practices.

125. Reasonable fees and/or attorney fees.

126. Costs of suit; and

127. Such other further relief as the Court deem just and proper.

COUNT THREE
LOSS OF ENJOYMENT/DISTURBANCE

(OF AND AGAINST STOR-ALL ALFRED, LLC – WHICH INCLUDES STORE-ALL ALFRED, LLC, ITS AGENTS, REPRESENTATIVES, ATTORNEY, ETC.)

Defendant herein incorporates Paragraphs 1 through 127 of her Counter-Claim and Paragraphs 1 through 7 of Defendant's Answer to Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer as if set forth herein with said protection as that argued therein.

Defendant seeks relief for the loss of enjoyment and disturbance to as a direct and proximate result of Stor-All's unlawful/illegal actions. In support thereof, Defendant alleges:

128. Stor-All had no right to enter remove the lock Defendant had placed on her storage unit. Defendant did not authorize said removal. Stor-All had no right to enter the Defendant's storage unit. Defendant did not authorize said entry. Even if Defendant's tenancy was at will (when it was not), Stor-All had no legal and/or statutory authority to enter the Defendant's storage unit; moreover, seize said unit and deny her access to it. Neither did Stor-All have a judgment from a court authorizing its actions taken against the Defendant. Stor-All bypassed the laws and took matters into it own hands and evicted the Defendant about April 2008.

> 65 Ohio Jur.3d § 137 – Landlord's right of entry:
> In light of the fact that the interest that a lessor normally retains in the leased premises is merely that of a reversion, a lessor generally has no right to enter the demised premises during the term of the lease (State of Cincinnati Tin & Japan Co., 66 Ohio St. 182, 64 N.E. 68 (1902); Nigh v. Keifer, 3 Ohio C.D. 1, 1890 WL 343 (Ohio Cir. Ct. 1890); Kilfoyl v. Hull, 4 Ohio Dec. Rep. 552, 2 Cleve. Law Rep. 369, 1879 WL 6355 (Ohio C.P. 1879)). Even under a tenancy at will, the landlord has no right to enter without the tenant's permission; he or she must resort to a legal remedy to enforce a right to possession. (Coward v. Fleming, 89 Ohio App. 485, 46 Ohio Op. 289, 102 N.E.2d 850 (1st Dist. Hamilton County 1951)).
>
> Notwithstanding the general rule that a lessor has no right to enter the demised premises during the term of the lease, a lessor may enter the premises without incurring liability as a trespasser where:. . .● there has been a breach of condition, ● the entry is limited to common areas, ● the lessor is acting under an express right of entry provided for in the lease (Helvich v. George A. Rutherford Co., 96 Ohio App. 367, 54 Ohio Op. 365, 114 N.E.2d 514 (8th Dist. Cuyahoga County 1953)), ● the lessor is acting under a right of entry provided by statute.

129. The July 27, 2007, Rental Agreement was entered into between Crown Storage-Camp Washington ("Crown Storage") and Defendant. Stor-All claims it is now owner of the property at which Defendant has a storage unit. Even if said property was sold and Stor-All purchased it, said purchase did not pass possession and control under the Rental Agreement to it. Accordingly, Stor-All by having no right to enter the leased premises has no power to authorize someone else to enter on its behalf. While Stor-All claims ownership of said property, it provided no evidence to support such claim.

> 65 Ohio Jur.3d § 138 – Landlord's right of entry – Entry of others on landlord's behalf:
> In conjunction with the passing of possession and control of the premises under a lease agreement to the lessee, the lessor parts with the power and right to admit people to the premises or to exclude them. Accordingly, a landlord who has no right to enter the leased premises has no power to authorize someone else to enter on his or her behalf. (Richmond Glass and Aluminum Corp. v. Wynn, 1991 WL 172902 (Ohio Ct. App. 7th Dist. Columbiana County 1991)).

130. In entering the Rental Agreement with Crown Storage, the "covenant of quiet enjoyment" is implied and protected Defendant's right to peaceful and undisturbed enjoyment of her storage unit. Under said covenant, Defendant was entitled to believe that Crown Storage would do no act (or allow anyone else – i.e. such as Stor-All) which interrupts the free and peaceable enjoyment of her storage unit and/or premises during the terms of said Agreement, and indemnified the Defendant from against such unlawful/illegal acts as committed against her by Stor-All.

> 65 Ohio Jur.3d § 176 – Covenants respecting enjoyment of premises by lessee:
> A covenant of quiet enjoyment is implied into every lease contract for realty (Hamilton Brownfields Redevelopment, LLC v. Duro Tire & Wheel, 156 Ohio App.3d 525, 2004-Ohio-1365, 806 N.E.2d 1039 (12th Dist. Butler County 2004); Dworkin v. Paley, 93 Ohio App.3d 383, 638 N.E.2d 636 (8th Dist. Cuyahoga County 1994)) and protects the tenant's right to peaceful and undisturbed enjoyment of the leasehold. (Dworkin).
> A covenant of quiet enjoyment, insofar as leases are concerned, has been defined as an undertaking on the part of the grantor to do no act which interrupts the free and peaceable enjoyment of the premises demised during the continuance of the term, and to indemnify the lessee against all acts committed by virtue of paramount title (Barker v. Blanchard, 5 Ohio N.P. 398, 7

Ohio Dec. 537, 1898 WL 1464 (C.P. 1898)). Quiet enjoyment has also been defined to mean a right to enjoy unimpaired (so far as a landlord who is owner to the leased property can insure) the physical status of the property at the time of the execution of the lease, and for the duration of the lease. (Weiss-Pollak Co. v. Gibson Art Co., 27 Ohio N.P. (n.s.) 354, 1929 WL 2385 (C.P. 1929))

131. The covenant of quiet enjoyment afford to the Defendant under the Rental Agreement with Crown Storage was interfered with when Stor-All took the laws into its own hands and obstructed and/or interfered with, as well as took away from the Defendant the entire access and use of her storage unit. Stor-All in committing such acts ousted and/or evicted the Defendant and has not allowed her to enter her storage unit unless she agreed to pay the monies they were attempting to extort from her and/or agreed to the unlawful/illegal terms presented by Stor-All to get her to waive her rights.

65 Ohio Jur.3d § 178 – Acts of landlord:

The covenant of quiet enjoyment is breached when the landlord obstructs, interferes with, or takes away from the tenant a substantial degree of beneficial use of the leasehold. (Hamilton). Thus, the following acts may constitute a breach of the covenant for quiet enjoyment: interference by the landlord with the lessee's possession by ousting the lessee from possession (Weiss-Pollak).

132. As a matter of law and in the interest of justice, Defendant is entitled to compensatory damages, punitive damages and/or any and all applicable damages permissible by law.

65 Ohio Jur.3d § 184 – Measure and elements of damages:

In the case of a breach of covenant of quiet enjoyment by an eviction, the majority rule is that the measure of damages is the difference between the actual value of the unexpired term and the agreed rent, with actual value of the unexpired term and the agreed rent, with the actual value generally being measured by the rental value (Am. Jur.2d, Landlord and Tenant § 621)(Howard v. Simon, 18 Ohio App.3d 14, 480 N.E.2d 99 (8th Dist. Cuyahoga County 1984); F.W. Woolworth Co. v. Russo, 16 Ohio L. Abs. 307, 1933 WL 2293 (Ct. App.2d Dist. Clark County 1933)).

A tenant is entitled to damages for the period during which the landlord breaches the covenant of quiet enjoyment (Hamilton).

The evidence supported the award of punitive damages to the tenants. . . The landlord had resorted to self-help in resolving the lease dispute against the advice of counsel, for the malicious purpose of compelling the tenants to terminate the lease or to obtain a more favorable rental agreement. (Stern Enterprises v. Plaza Theaters I & II, Inc., 105 Ohio App. 3d 601, 664 N.E.2d 981

(11th Dist. Portage County 1995). [▪ Practice Guide: The fact that the jury awarded 15 thousand dollars in compensatory damages to the wife but no compensatory damages to the husband on a claim against the landlord for breach of the covenant of quiet and peaceful enjoyment, even though the husband and wife were both parties to the lease, indicated that the trial court failed to properly instruct the jury on that claim (Hayes v. Heintz, 2002-Ohio-2608, 2002 WL 1041370 (Ohio Ct. App. 8th Dist. Cuyahoga County 2002)).

133. Defendant is has a right of action in tort against Stor-All for its wrongful interference with Defendant's use and access to her property and/or enjoyment of using her storage unit. Stor-All's intrusion in Defendant's storage unit without invitation from her constitutes trespassing in that Stor-All, as a matter of statute/law, had no legal authority to enter.

65 Ohio Jur.3d § 154 – Generally; Right of tenant against landlord:

The act of a landlord may constitute a wrong causing injury to the tenant for which injunctive relief may be sought or an *action of tort will lie. A tenant, therefore, has a right of action against the landlord to recover damages for a wrongful injury to the demised premises which affects his or her rights, and it has been held that a tenant has a right of action in tort against a landlord for a wrongful interference with his or her possession or enjoyment of the demised premises. (Am. Jur.2d Landlord and Tenant § 550).

. . .a landlord's attempted intrusion into a tenant's apartment without invitation from the tenant constitutes a trespass in the absence of a showing that the landlord reserved a right of entry into the apartment. (McGuire v. Corn, 92 Ohio App. 445, 50 Ohio Op. 35, 110 N.E.2d 809 (6th Dist. Lucas County 1952)).

134. Defendant, as a matter of law, has a right to bring this Counter-Claim against Stor-All. The only Rental Agreement that existed at the time of the incurrence of the allegations of Stor-All mentioned in its Complaint was that executed between Crown Storage and the Defendant. Stor-All is a third party who interfered with and caused a disturbance involving the Defendant's storage unit. Stor-All as a third party interfered with Defendant's use of her storage unit. Stor-All interfered with Defendant's enjoyment of her storage unit. Stor-All's interference decreases the value of the use during the period alleged in its Complaint. Stor-All's interference has affected the Defendant's interest therein.

65 Ohio Jur.3d § 155 – Right of tenant against third persons:

It is well-settled that a right of action accrues in favor of a tenant for any injury to the demised premises where the wrongful act of a third person interferes with or disturbs the tenant's possession, use, or enjoyment of the premises, decreases the value of the use during the tenant's term, or otherwise affects the tenant's interest therein. (Am. Jur.2d, Landlord and Tenant § 543)

135. Defendant's Counter-Claim has been filed in good faith to preserve the rights secured to her under the Ohio Constitution, United States Constitution, Ohio Landlord and Tenant Act, and any/all applicable statutes/laws governing said matters. Defendant's Counter-Claim has been brought to recover damages of and against Stor-All for a nuisance – i.e. interference with the use or enjoyment of Defendant's property, etc. – which infringed upon the rights of Defendant.

65 Ohio Jur.3d § 157 – Acts constituting nuisance:

A lessee may maintain an action to recover damages for a nuisance which is an infringement of his or her rights in the demised premises, such as a disturbance of the temporary possession as distinguished from the permanent possession. (Waugh v. Village of Marble Cliff, 19 Ohio N.P. (n.s.) 17, 26 Ohio Dec. 477, 1916 WL 967 (C.P. 1916)).

136. As a matter of law, because there is no written or verbal agreement between Stor-All and Defendant; however, there is a Rental Agreement between Crown Storage and Defendant, Stor-All may be considered a stranger and/or third party who interfered with Defendant's enjoyment or possession of her storage unit; moreover in committing such wrongs against the Defendant, did so as a trespasser and not as Defendant's landlord. Stor-All was aware that Defendant did not want to enter a rental agreement with it. Nevertheless, through the acts of Stor-All tried to force the Defendant into a rental agreement to which she strongly objected. While the actions of Crown Storage amounts to a breach of contract, Defendant is only required to defend this action brought against her by Stor-All and may bring future claims for damages of and against Stor-All as well as a "malicious prosecution" claim against Stor-All in its institution of the January 20, 2009 Complaint to which it knew and/or should have known it was not entitled to bring. From the unrelenting acts of Stor-All, Defendant has a right to bring this instant Counter-Claim and, through said counter-claim, seek injunctive relief.

65 Ohio Jur.3d § 158 – Remedies:

Interference by the landlord or a stranger with the lessees's enjoyment or possession of the leased premises is a basis for the ordinary actions, such as an action of trespass. (Wilber v. Paine, 1 Ohio 251, 1824 WL 1 (1824)). Also, such interference may serve as the basis of an action for breach of lease (Ketcham v. Miller, 104 Ohio St. 372, 136 N.E. 145 (1922)) or as an action for breach of covenant of title or quiet enjoyment (§§ 175 to 184). In proper cases, actions of forcible entry may be available, or injunctive relief may be obtained.

137. Defendant's Counter-Claim has been filed in good faith in that she is entitled to injunctive relief of and against Stor-All who has brought the Complaint against her. Said injunction is permissible as a matter of law to correct and/or prevent the continued violations committed by Stor-All against the Defendant, in its wrongful entry and abuse of statutory right of entry from interfering with her right to peaceable enjoyment and possession of her storage unit. Stor-All alleges it is the owner of the property at which Defendant has a storage unit. Therefore, Defendant, as a matter of law, through this Counter-Claim, is entitled to a permanent injunction against Stor-All (who alleges to be the owner and/or purchaser of the property located at 1109 Alfred Street, Cincinnati, Ohio 45214) for its entry upon demised property of Defendant and making use of said property in a way that has deprived the Defendant of her rights under the tenancy.

> 65 Ohio Jur.3d § 159 – Remedies – Injunctive relief:
> In certain instances, a tenant may be entitled to injunctive relief to prevent a landlord (Galati v. Sabbatino, 2 Ohio L. Abs. 523, 1924 WL 1974 (Ct. App. 8th Dist. Cuyahoga County 1924); Robert Raitz & Co. v. Dow, 20 Ohio C.D. 284, 1907 WL 1140 (Ohio Cir. Ct. 1907); Weiss-Pollak Co. v. Gibson Art Co., 27 Ohio N.P. (n.s.) 354, 1929 WL 2385 (C.P. 1929) – As to the right of a tenant, under the 1974 Landlord and Tenant Act (R.C. 5321.01 et. Seq.), to injunctive relief against a landlord's wrongful entry or abuse of statutory right of entry, see § 130) or a third person (Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. v. Loomis Realty Co., 32 Ohio C.D. 493, 1912 WL 796 (Ohio Cir. Ct. 1912), aff'd 88 Ohio St. 617, 106 N.E. 1066 (1913); Sedaris v. Riley, 27 Ohio N.P. (n.s.) 215, 1928 WL 2743 (C.P. 1928)) from interfering with his or her right to peaceable enjoyment and possession of the demised premises. (Newstedt v. Scarborough, 13 Ohio Dec. 327, 1902 WL 1023 (Super. Ct. 1902)).
> A person out of possession and claim a valid lease may obtain an order restraining another claimant who is in possession from occupying the premises, so as to avoid a multiplicity of actions for trespass. (Sedaris v. Riley, 27 Ohio N.P. (n.s.) 215, 1928 WL 2743 (C.P. 1928)). A tenant in possession is entitled to a permanent injunction against a purchaser of land who enters upon the demised premises and makes use of the premises in a way that deprives the tenant of his or her rights under the tenancy. (Kemp v. Feldman, 84 Ohio App. 154, 39 Ohio Op. 173, 81 N.E.2d 319 (2d Dist. Montgomery County 1948)).

138. As a matter of law, the Defendant has a right to bring this instant Counter-Claim for the injuries and/or harm sustained as a direct and proximate result of Stor-All's legal wrongs – i.e. trespassing, nuisance, etc. – which has affected her use of the storage unit. About April 2008, Stor-All took the laws into its own hands and unlawfully evicted the Defendant and seized her property. Refusing to return said property to the Defendant unless she paid the monies it was demanding. The injuries sustained by the Defendant as a direct and proximate result of Stor-All's actions, involved Defendant's reputation, feelings, and/or loss of employment, etc. Defendant's landlord, Crown Storage, did not encounter any problems with the Defendant in the payment of her rent. Defendant's payments were in compliance with the terms and conditions of the Rental Agreement between Crown Storage and her. Defendant demands a jury trial in this action for the determination and measurement of damages she sustained.

EXTORTION

(OF AND AGAINST STOR-ALL ALFRED, LLC – WHICH INCLUDES STORE-ALL ALFRED, LLC, ITS AGENTS, REPRESENTATIVES, ATTORNEY, ETC.)

Defendant herein incorporates Paragraphs 1 through 147 of her Counter-Claim and Paragraphs 1 through 7 of Defendant's Answer to Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer as if set forth herein with said protection as that argued therein.

Defendant seeks relief acts taken by Stor-All in its efforts of extorting monies from her. In support thereof, Defendant alleges:

148. About early/mid 2008, Stor-All seized the Defendant's storage unit and to date has refused to return it and her property unless she pays the monies it is attempting to extort from her. Defendant has repeatedly been subjected to threats of Stor-All's intent to enforce lien on her property pursuant to RC §5322.01 et seq. A copy of such notices is attached hereto at Exhibit "8." In furtherance of said criminal acts of extortion, Stor-All has now initiated a Complaint against the Defendant in efforts of extorting monies from her to which it is not entitled. Moreover, is attempting to get this Court to assist it in the committal of such criminal acts.

> "Extortion" is the obtaining of property by the use of serious threats. U.S. v. Heller, 579 F.2d 990 (C.A. Ohio 1978)

149. The laws are clear that such criminal acts by Stor-All in its efforts of extorting monies from the Defendant is prohibited by laws. Moreover, Stor-All's unrelenting services of writings is evidenced in its "NOTICE OF INTENT TO ENFORCE LIEN ON STORED PROPERTY PURSUANT TO RC §5322.01, ET SEQ." and now through its January 20, 2009 Complaint against the Defendant. Said writings of Stor-All contain willful and malicious threats of injury. Said writings of Stor-All involve the use of this instant lawsuit for purposes of this Court's aiding in such criminal acts of extortion. Stor-All knew and/or should have known that its acts amounted to extortion. Moreover, Stor-All was timely, properly and adequately placed on notice by the Defendant that they were committing such criminal acts. As with Stor-All taking the laws into its own hands and depriving the Defendant of rights, it proceeded to attempt to extort monies from her.

> Statute providing that no person shall knowingly send or deliver a writing for purpose of extorting money or other valuable thing or containing willful and malicious threats of injury or send or deliver in writing simulating legal process with intent to extort proscribed the sending or delivering of a writing with the purpose to extort, the sending or delivering of a writing containing willful and malicious threats of injury and sending or delivering a writing simulating legal process with intent to extort. R.C. § 2901.39 (State v. Kiser, 235 N.E.2d 126, 13 Ohio St.2d 126, 42 O.O.2d 337)

150. Rather than give in to the criminal acts of Stor-All and pay it the monies it was attempting to extort from the Defendant, Defendant knew that Stor-All would eventually deliver itself to the Court willingly and such criminal activity would further be evidenced in the record. Over the Defendant's protest and objections, Stor-All has now brought this instant lawsuit to extort monies from the Defendant it knew and/or should have known it was not entitled to.

> A petition alleging that plaintiff in response to a warrant was informed by village mayor that plaintiff was guilty of selling intoxicating liquor and that plaintiff must either go to jail or pay $107.20 and that plaintiff paid said sum under protest stated cause of action on ground that plaintiff by reason of such threats and duress was deprived of due process and of the money paid to the mayor. St. Clair v. Teeples, 6 O.L.A. 174 (Ohio Appo. 1928)

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff request judgment of and against Plaintiff, Stor-All Alfred, LLC for:

150. Compensatory damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $150,000.

151. Actual damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) to be determined.

152. Consequential damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $250,000.

153. Future damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $275,000.

154. Punitive damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of 1,000,000.

155. Enter the applicable injunctions and restraining orders requiring Plaintiff, Stor-All Alfred, LLC, their agents, employees, attorneys, representatives and all persons acting in concert with them to cease their unconstitutional and unlawful practices.

156. Reasonable fees and/or attorney fees.

157. Costs of suit; and

RETALIATION
(OF AND AGAINST STOR-ALL ALFRED, LLC – WHICH INCLUDES STORE-ALL ALFRED, LLC, ITS AGENTS, REPRESENTATIVES, ATTORNEY, ETC.)

Defendant herein incorporates Paragraphs 1 through 158 of her Counter-Claim and Paragraphs 1 through 7 of Defendant's Answer to Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer as if set forth herein with said protection as that argued therein.

Defendant seeks relief for Stor-All's retaliation against her. In support thereof, Defendant alleges:

159. Stor-All in Paragraph 1 of its Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer asserts and/or alleges itself as "owner" and Defendant as "tenant" and in its January 9, 2009 "NOTICE TO LEAVE THE PREMISES" (attached as Exhibit A to its Complaint), as "Landlord." Stor-All knowingly doing so because it did not think such slight and craftiness of the pen would be noticed. Stor-All with knowledge it had no claim to a relationship with the Defendant as "Landlord," failed to produce the unexecuted Stor-All Lease Agreement it had.

160. Stor-All is aware that there is no written or oral rental agreement between it and the Defendant to sustain such entitlement as landlord. Even if Stor-All was Defendant's landlord (when it was not) then it would be subject to the statute/laws governing said relationships (Ohio Landlord and Tenant Act and/or applicable statutes/laws).

161. Prior to Stor-All's bringing of the instant lawsuit, it knew and or should have known it was not entitled to do so and neither was it entitled to the relief sought therein.

162. Stor-All's filing of this instant lawsuit is in retaliation of Defendant's advising it of violations – i.e. unlawful entry, depriving her of property, unlawful seizure, unlawful withholding of property, etc. -committed against her. Said retaliation is prohibited by law pursuant to RC § 5321.02.

163. Through this instant lawsuit, Defendant may use her Counter-Claim as a defense to Stor-All's Complaint to recover her storage unit that was unlawfully/illegally seized by Stor-All without probable cause and/or legal process. Defendant is entitled to recover damages for said seizure, deprivation of rights, interference, etc. pursuant to RC § 5321.02.

164. Stor-All's filing this instant lawsuit does not prevent the Defendant from recovering damages for any violations rendered against her. Stor-All knew and/or should have known that the filing of this lawsuit was an abuse of process. See RC § 5321.03.

165. Stor-All's unlawful/illegal seizure of Defendant's storage unit and property deprived her rights secured under the statutes/laws of the state of Ohio. Moreover, governing Landlord and Tenant matters.

166. As a matter of statute/law, the Defendant is entitle to recover damages from Stor-All for the bringing of this instant lawsuit.

> 5321.02 Retaliatory conduct of landlord prohibited.
> (A) Subject to section 5321.03 of the Revised Code, a landlord may not retaliate against a tenant by increasing the tenant's rent, decreasing services that are due to the tenant, or bringing or threatening to bring an action for possession of the tenant's premises because:. . .
>
> > (2) The tenant has complained to the landlord of any violation of section 5321.04 of the Revised Code;
>
> (B) If a landlord acts in violation of division (A) of this section the tenant may:
>
> (1) Use the retaliatory action of the landlord as a defense to an action by the landlord to recover possession of the premises;

(2) Recover possession of the premises; or

(3) Terminate the rental agreement. In addition, the tenant may recover from the landlord any actual damages together with reasonable attorneys' fees.

5321.03 Actions by landlord authorized
(B) The maintenance of an action by the landlord under this section does not prevent the tenant from recovering damages for any violation by the landlord of the rental agreement or of section 5321.04 of the Revised Code.

5321.04 Obligations of landlord.
(A) A landlord who is a party to a rental agreement shall do all of the following:
(7) Not abuse the right of access conferred by division (B) of section 5321.05 of the Revised Code;
(8) Except in the case of emergency or if it is impracticable to do so, give the tenant reasonable notice of his intent to enter and enter only at reasonable times. Twenty-four hours is presumed to be a reasonable notice in the absence of evidence to the contrary.
(B) If the landlord makes an entry in violation of division (A)(8) of this section, makes a lawful entry in an unreasonable manner, or makes repeated demands for entry otherwise lawful that have the effect of harassing the tenant, the tenant may recover actual damages resulting from the entry or demands, obtain injunctive relief to prevent the recurrence of the conduct, and obtain a judgment for reasonable attorney's fees, or may terminate the rental agreement.

521.12 Recover damages.
In any action under Chapter 5321. of the Revised Code, any party may recover damages for the breach of contract or the breach of any duty that is imposed by law.

167. Even if Stor-All would now want to abandon its claim to being "Landlord" to avoid liability, such defense would also fail. Moreover, would only swing the door wide open and/or support any action Defendant may elect to bring for malicious prosecution. Malicious prosecution in that Stor-All initiated the instant lawsuit with knowledge that it was not Defendant's landlord; moreover, knew and/or should have known that it was not authorized to assert such claim and relief requested but nevertheless brought is lawsuit with malicious intent. Malicious prosecution in that Stor-All initiated this instant lawsuit for an improper purpose and without probable cause.

168. Stor-All's instant lawsuit is vexatious.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff request judgment of and against Plaintiff, Stor-All Alfred, LLC for:

169. Compensatory damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $250,000.

170. Actual damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) to be determined.

171. Consequential damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $300,000.

172. Future damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $300,000.

173. Punitive damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $1,500,000.

174. Enter the applicable injunctions and restraining orders requiring Plaintiff, Stor-All Alfred, LLC, their agents, employees, attorneys, representatives and all persons acting in concert with them to cease their unconstitutional and unlawful practices.

175. Reasonable fees and/or attorney fees.

176. Costs of suit; and

177. Such other further relief as the Court deem just and proper.

COUNT SIX
INTENTIONAL INFLICTION OF EMOTIONAL DISTRESS
(OF AND AGAINST STOR-ALL ALFRED, LLC – WHICH INCLUDES STORE-ALL ALFRED, LLC, ITS AGENTS, REPRESENTATIVES, ATTORNEY, ETC.)

Defendant herein incorporates Paragraphs 1 through 177 of her Counter-Claim and Paragraphs 1 through 7 of Defendant's Answer to Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer as if set forth herein with said protection as that argued therein.

Defendant seeks relief for intentional infliction of emotional distress against Stor-All. In support thereof, Defendant alleges:

178. In mid 2008, Stor-All began serving the Defendant with "NOTICE OF INTENT TO ENFORCE LIEN ON STORED PROPERTY PURSUANT TO RC § 5322.01, ET SEQ." Stor-All knew and/or should have known that it was not entitled to the relief sought through said notice. Defendant timely, properly and adequately repeatedly advised Stor-All that it was not entitled to said relief.

179. The acts of Stor-All described in this Counter-Claim in the filing of Plaintiff's Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer, were done willfully, maliciously, outrageously, deliberately, and purposely with the intention to inflict emotional distress upon the Defendant. Such acts were done in reckless disregard of the probability of causing the Defendant emotional distress. These acts did in fact result in severe and extreme emotional distress.

180. On December 9, 2008, Plaintiff's representative, Lori Whiteside, sent a facsimile transmission to the Defendant's place of employment. Whiteside sending said facsimile to fax number (513) 852-6087. Defendant did not authorize Whiteside to send her faxes at (513) 852-6087; moreover, Defendant provided Whiteside with a fax number (513) 419-6453 to which she could submit fax prior to her December 9, 2008 fax. Whiteside may have obtained knowledge that Defendant was presently working with an attorney (Thomas J. Breed) who was a former employee of the law firm (Schwartz Manes & Ruby – a/k/a Schwartz Manes Ruby & Slovin, LPA) of their attorney, David Meranus. With said knowledge a reasonable mind may conclude that Whiteside set her sights to get the Defendant terminated from her place of employment in efforts of or unlawfully/illegally placing the Defendant in financial distress in hopes that it would force her to give in to Stor-All's extortion demands. A reasonable mind may conclude that Whiteside's acts were willful, malicious and wanton and done with intent to place Defendant's employer on notice of the personal matters involving Plaintiff and the Defendant. Thus, establishing and evidencing a causal link.

181. Upon receipt of Stor-All's Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer she observed the law firm (Schwartz Manes Ruby & Slovin, LPA) under Stor-All's counsel's name. From observation, it alerted the Defendant to the fact that the attorney (Thomas J. Breed) she worked with at her former employer (Wood & Lamping) was employed with Schwartz Manes & Ruby prior to coming to Defendant's former employer. To verify this, Defendant retrieved document from the internet (August 28, 1997 Letter to Ms. Bobbie Sterne from William B. Singer at: http://city-egov.cincinnati-oh.gov/Webtop/ws/council/public/child/Blob/12586.pdf;jsessionid=A31B4EA5C076983FC37980F6654496F9?rpp=-10&m=1&w=doc_no%3D'199701890'). See attached hereto at EXHIBIT "10" and incorporated herein by reference. Sure enough there is Thomas J. Breed (approximately fourth names down) on Schwartz Manes' letterhead. Thus, establishing the ill motive for Stor-All's acts and Defendant's wrongful termination – conflict of interest. Stor-All stood to gain from the Defendant's termination. Moreover, an undue advantage over her if it could financially devastate her. Thinking that because Defendant was terminated, she would not be able to defend a lawsuit brought against her. Stor-All realizing that Defendant had been terminated, in furtherance of its criminal and civil wrongs against her, initiated this lawsuit to extort the monies from her that she advised it was not entitled to.

182. Stor-All knew and/or should have known that its egregious acts complained of in this Counter-Claim against the Defendant would cause her injury/harm.

183. The conduct of Stor-All was extreme and outrageous and beyond the scope of conduct which would be tolerated by citizens in a democratic and civilized society. However, in order to deliberately injure Defendant, Stor-All committed the aforementioned extreme and outrageous acts with intent to inflict severe mental and emotional distress upon Defendant.

184. As a direct and proximate result of the Stor-All's acts alleged above, Defendant was caused to incur severe and grievous mental and emotional suffering, fright, anguish, shock, anxiety. Defendant continues to suffer same. For this harm Plaintiff requests compensatory damages in an amount to be determined by a jury.

185. As a direct and proximate result of Stor-All's willful, intentional and malicious conduct, Defendant suffered severe and extreme mental and emotional distress. Therefore, Defendant is entitled to an award of punitive damages as against Stor-All. Defendant has suffered damage as set forth in this Counter-Claim.

186. As a direct and proximate result of the Plaintiff's acts alleged above, and the willful, malicious and wanton acts in placing the Defendant's employer on notice (through the transmittal of a facsimile on December 9, 2008) sent to the Defendant's place of employment for her employer and its employees to view, Defendant was caused to incur severe and grievous mental and emotional suffering, fright, anguish, shock, anxiety, loss of employment approximately one month later (January 9, 2009). Defendant research revealed from information provided that Plaintiff knew and/or should have known that in the Defendant's employment she worked with and or directly assisted an attorney (Thomas J. Breed) that was employed with the law firm (Schwartz, Manes & Ruby) of its counsel, David Meranus. The termination of Defendant's employment coming on January 9, 2009 – the exact date of the beginning of Plaintiff's Amnesty Weekend which included January 9, 10, and 11, 2009 (See Exhibit "19") For this harm Plaintiff requests punitive damages in an amount to be determined a jury.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff request judgment of and against Plaintiff, Stor-All Alfred, LLC for:

187. Compensatory damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $250,000.

188. Actual damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) to be determined.

189. Consequential damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $300,000.

190. Future damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $300,000.

191. Punitive damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $500,000.

192. Enter the applicable injunctions and restraining orders requiring Plaintiff, Stor-All Alfred, LLC, their agents, employees, attorneys, representatives and all persons acting in concert with them to cease their unconstitutional and unlawful practices.

193. Reasonable fees and/or attorney fees.

194. Costs of suit; and

195. Such other further relief as the Court deem just and proper.

ACTION FOR NEGLECT TO PREVENT
(OF AND AGAINST STOR-ALL ALFRED, LLC – WHICH INCLUDES STORE-ALL ALFRED, LLC, ITS AGENTS, REPRESENTATIVES, ATTORNEY, ETC.)

Defendant herein incorporates Paragraphs 1 through 195 of her Counter-Claim and Paragraphs 1 through 7 of Defendant's Answer to Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer as if set forth herein with said protection as that argued therein.

Defendant seeks relief against Stor-All for its failure to prevent the legal wrongs complained of in this Counter-Claim. In support thereof, Defendant alleges:

196. Stor-All as early as April and/or May 2008 had knowledge of the wrong, illegal and unlawful acts complained of herein regarding its employees and/or representatives handling of matter regarding Defendant and the power to prevent or aid in preventing of said wrongs; however, did nothing to deter or prevent such actions. Even upon notification by the Defendant of such unlawful/illegal acts and/or injustices, Stor-All did nothing to correct the wrongs complained of; instead, made a conscious, willful and deliberate decision to continue to threaten the Defendant with lien actions.

197. As early as December 2008 (if not sooner – file submitted in December), Stor-All's attorney (an officer of the Court), David Meranus at the law firm of Schwartz Manes Ruby & Slovin LPA, had knowledge of the wrong, illegal and unlawful acts complained of herein and the power to prevent or aid in preventing said wrongs, did nothing to deter or prevent such actions, but encouraged it and/or participated in such legal wrongs. Then on January 20, 2009, Stor-All under the advisement of counsel authorized David Meranus to file the Complaint for Forcible Entry and Detainer against the Defendant.

198. While Stor-All's counsel, knew and/or should had known that its client had no legal basis and/or statutory right to the lawsuit he filed, he went ahead and on behalf of his client, he did so anyhow. Said acts by counsel for Stor-All being willful, malicious and wanton; moreover, was done with knowledge that his actions and that of his client was an infringement on the Defendant's rights.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff request judgment of and against Plaintiff, Stor-All Alfred, LLC for:

199. Compensatory damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $250,000.

200. Actual damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) to be determined.

201. Consequential damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $250,000.

202. Future damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $500,000.

203. Punitive damages (if permissible by statutes/laws) in the amount of $2,000,000.

204. Enter the applicable injunctions and restraining orders requiring Plaintiff, Stor-All Alfred, LLC, their agents, employees, attorneys, representatives and all persons acting in concert with them to cease their unconstitutional and unlawful practices.

(1) Filing, or having another person file on his or her behalf, a complaint with the Secretary of Labor, or

(2) Filing a private lawsuit pursuant to section 107 of FMLA.

(b) If the employee files a private lawsuit, it must be filed within two years after the last action which the employee contends was in violation of the Act, or three years if the violation was willful.

(c) If an employer has violated one or more provisions of FMLA, and if justified by the facts of a particular case, an employee may receive one or more of the following: wages, employment benefits, or other compensation denied or lost to such employee by reason of the violation; or, where no such tangible loss has occurred, such as when FMLA leave was unlawfully denied, any actual monetary loss sustained by the employee as a direct result of the violation, such as the cost of providing care, up to a sum equal to 12 weeks of wages for the employee. In addition, the employee may be entitled to interest on such sum, calculated at the prevailing rate. An amount equalling the preceding sums may also be awarded as liquidated damages unless such amount is reduced by the court because the violation was in good faith and the employer had reasonable grounds for believing the employer had not violated the Act. When appropriate, the employee may also obtain appropriate equitable relief, such as employment, reinstatement and promotion. When the employer is found in violation, the employee may recover a reasonable attorney's fee, reasonable expert witness fees, and other costs of the action from the employer in addition to any judgment awarded by the court.

This instant Complaint is timely filed pursuant to 29 CFR 825.401 which states:

Subpart D_What Enforcement Mechanisms Does FMLA Provide?

Sec. 825.401 Where may an employee file a complaint of FMLA violations with the Federal government?

(a) A complaint may be filed in person, by mail or by telephone, with the Wage and Hour Division, Employment Standards Administration, U.S. Department of Labor. A complaint may be filed at any local office of the Wage and Hour

Division; the address and telephone number of local offices may be found in telephone directories.

(b) A complaint filed with the Secretary of Labor should be filed within a reasonable time of when the employee discovers that his or her FMLA rights have been violated. In no event may a complaint be filed more than two years after the action which is alleged to be a violation of FMLA occurred, or three years in the case of a willful violation.

(c) No particular form of complaint is required, except that a complaint must be reduced to writing and should include a full statement of the acts and/or omissions, with pertinent dates, which are believed to constitute the violation.

Employees believing they have been denied their FMLA rights may assert a cause of action for FMLA interference. Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993, § 105(a)(1), 29 U.S.C.A. § 2615(a)(1). - Novak v. MetroHealth Medical Center, 503 F.3d 572 (C.A.6.Ohio,2007)

FACTS OF THIS COMPLAINT

VIOLATION OF STATUTE:

1. Wood & Lamping, LLP ("W&L"), Newsome's former employer, is a private sector employer who employs approximately 50 or more employees for at least 20 work weeks in the current or preceding calendar year and is engaged in an activity affecting commerce.

2. Andrea Griffith (Human Resources Manager/Representative) and C. J. Schmidt (Attorney and Managing Partner) at Wood & Lamping, LLP are people who act, directly, in the interest of their employer (Wood & Lamping, LLP) to the employees of said employer.

3. Newsome worked for a covered employer (W&L). Newsome's hire date being effective September 11, 2006. Newsome was employed as Estate Planning Coordinator.

4. Newsome worked for covered employer (W&L) for at least 12 months.

5. Newsome has worked at least 1250 hours over the prior 12 months.

6. Newsome worked for a covered employer (W&L) where at least 50 employees are employed by W&L within 75 miles.

7. Newsome is entitled to take reasonable leave, not to exceed a total of 12 workweeks of leave during any 12 month period, to attend to medical (due to serious health condition) need that may arise.

8. W&L and/or its representatives interfered with Newsome's exercise of her right to take reasonable leave to seek medical attention for the condition it was timely, properly and adequately notified of. Newsome was entitled to the medical leave sought. The FMLA clearly prohibits interference with protected rights under said Act - Interference Claim – 29 USC § 2615(a)(1)

> For an eligible employee to establish liability under Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA), employee must establish entitlement to leave and that entitlement to leave was interfered with by employer. McClain v. Southwest Steel Co., Inc., 940 F.Supp. 295.

Even under Ohio law, such interference is prohibited: Davison v. Roadway Exp., Inc., 562 F.Supp.2d 971 (N.D.Ohio.W.Div.,2008) - To prevail on an Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) interference claim, a plaintiff must establish that (1) he is an eligible employee, (2) the defendant is an employer, (3) the employee was entitled to leave under the FMLA, (4) the employee gave the employer notice of his intention to take leave, and (5) the employer denied the employee FMLA benefits to which he was entitled. Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993, §§ 101(2, 4), 102(a)(1), (e)(1), 29 U.S.C.A. §§ 2611(2, 4), 2612(a)(1) . Novak v. MetroHealth Medical Center, 503 F.3d 572 (C.A.6.Ohio,2007) - To prevail on an FMLA interference claim, an employee must establish that (1) she was an eligible employee as defined under the FMLA, (2) her employer was a covered employer as defined under the FMLA, (3) she was entitled to leave under the FMLA, (4) she gave the employer notice of her intention to take FMLA leave, and (5) her employer denied FMLA benefits to which she was entitled. Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993, § 105(a)(1), 29 U.S.C.A. § 2615(a)(1).

> Newsome was an eligible employee. W&L is an employer as defined under FMLA. Newsome was entitled to leave under the > FMLA. Newsome was entitled to leave under the FMLA and gave both verbal notice in December 2008 and written notice on January 8, 2009. W&L denied Newsome FMLA benefits to which she is entitled and terminated her employment with it.

Federal courts recognize two distinct theories of recovery that arise under the FMLA statute, "entitlement," also called interference, and "retaliation," also called discrimination.
